GETTING DOWN TO WORK.

Another Meeting of Citizens to Arrange for Old Home Week Celebration.

The meeting of the citizens' committee at the opera house yesterday afternoon was fairly well attended, and great progress was made with the work of organizing for the firemen's tournament and old home celebration here on July 2nd, 3rd and 4th. Mayor McNally was in the chair and among the others present were: Ald. Hooper, Ald. McGinn, Chief Rutter, Patrick Farrell, Geo. Y. Dibble, J. Hugh Calder, George J. Barrett, W. M. Clarke, W. E. Farrell, D. McCatherine and D. J. Stockford.

Acting Secretary Black read a letter from Mr. T. L. Wilkinson, stating that it would be impossible for him to act as secretary to the committee.

Ald. Hooper, in a witty speech, nominated Mr. George Y. Dibble for the position. Mr. W. E. Farrell seconded the motion and it was adopted, but Mr. Dibble gracefully declined the honor.

Ald. Hooper was next proposed for the position and agreed to accept on condition that he be given the assistance of a stenographer. He explained that he did not want one cent for his own services, but he had to earn a living, and time was some importance to him.

Ald. Hooper was appointed secretary and was authorized to employ a stenographer.

Messrs. J. D. Black and R. P. Allen were appointed assistant secretaries, and Mr. H. F. McLeod was appointed treasurer.

It was agreed that the celebration should be called the firemen's tournament and old home celebration.

Messrs. C. H. Thomas, W. E. Farrell, Hugh Calder, Chief Rutter and Ald. Hooper were appointed a committee on publicity.

The programme submitted by Chief Rutter for a three days' celebration was approved and the publicity committee was empowered to elaborate the same.

Mr. Barrett thought that instead of having a firemen's festival on the second evening, that evening should be devoted to water sports or an illuminated parade on the water. He considered this a better method of entertaining the general public.

Mr. Rutter said it was proposed to have festivals on the first and second evenings. On the third evening it was proposed to have a torchlight procession.

Some members of the committee thought it might be possible to get up an automobile race for one evening.

The names of J. H. Hawthorn, C. W. Whelpley, W. A. Adams, N. A. Edgecombe, R. P. Allen, F. L. Cooper and J. D. Black, were added to the general committee.

Mr. Farrell thought it would be a good plan to have somebody deliver an address of welcome to the visitors.

Chief Rutter said that this could be done at the conclusion of the firemen's parade on the first day.

Ald. Hooper said that the silver medals ordered at the time of the coronation celebration, and not used were in his possession, and might be handed over to the B. & B. club to be given as prizes for the water sports.

Messrs. McLeod, Farrell, Calder, McCatherine and Dibble were appointed a committee to wait on the city council Monday evening and ask for a grant.

Mr. McLeod said that in the program submitted only half of one forenoon was allowed for a baseball match. He did not think that was sufficient. Mr. Black was of the same opinion.

Mr. W. E. Farrell was appointed chairman of the committee on transportation.

Messrs. P. Farrell, Calder, Dibble, R. S. Barker and Chief Rutter were appointed a committee to prepare an estimate of the cost of the proposed celebration.

The meeting then adjourned to convene again next Wednesday evening.

After he had finished he asked the Judge what his opinion was. The Judge jumped up and with great emphasis said: "What is my opinion? My opinion is that you are an infernal scoundrel. Five dollars. Five dollars."—The Green Bag.

CASTLE SENTRY FIRED ON GHOST.

Military Enquiry Results From the Experience.

London, March 29.—How a sentry on duty at Windsor Castle thought he saw a ghost and fired several shots at it, chipping a stone elephant with his bullets, was revealed at a military inquiry at the royal borough recently.

It was a story worthy of the Castle's supernatural reputation. But for the injury to the elephant the sentry's experience would probably have gone down to future generations as a legend as thrilling as that of Herne the Hunter.

The man belonged to the Second Coldstream Guards and declares that whilst on sentry go on the historic East Terrace on Saturday night, he saw the figure of a ghost glide up the steps of the East Terrace.

BULLETS WENT THROUGH.

"I challenged it," said the private, "and it made no reply. The thing came to a standstill only a few yards from me and I fired, but, apparently, the first shot made no impression, so I fired the other four."

"The bullets must have gone clean through the ghost but they left it unharmed and then it disappeared."

In the meantime the sentry's comrade heard the shots and hastened to his friend's assistance. He found him absolutely dazed and in a condition that indicated a most unusual fright.

CALLED ON GUARD.

The Castle guard was then called out, and to the officer in command the exciting story was related. The sentry reported that he had seen a "man with piercing eyes and long, flowing robes," and he is certainly not the only man who avers that he has encountered similar supernatural manifestations.

His commanding officer, however, took an unsympathetic view. When the man, whose name is Bentley, was brought before Major Lambton at the Victoria, he was charged with "firing without sufficient cause."

The firing took place under the windows of the King's department. After the mayor had carefully considered the case, Bentley was sentenced to three days' confinement to the barracks.

Bentley, for whom some sympathy is felt, comes from Leicestershire, and is a steady, sober man. There are five marks on one of the ornamental elephants at the entrance to the beautiful sunken gardens, and it is thought that Bentley must have mistaken the elephant for a man in the dim light of early dawn. The elephant is chipped, and that probably is the explanation of that remarkable story.

GHOSTLY VISITANTS.

Windsor Castle has an almost unparalleled reputation for ghosts. Report has it that it is a subject to the uncanny visitations of several of England's sovereigns, including Queen Elizabeth Henry VII, Charles I and all the Georges.

Sir Richard Holmes, the well known historian at the castle, once investigated the statement of an officer of the foot guards, who alleged that he saw the ghost of Queen Elizabeth glide across the floor of the library. A servant, also, recently became upset and very ill because she had seen a ghost, she said, in St. John's tower. But, on the other hand, an old night watch at the castle declares he has never seen a ghost of any description during half a century's service at Windsor—not even Queen Elizabeth.

The judge's decision in a case settled a few years ago in Millinocket, Me., will not serve as a precedent but no exception to it was reported. An Italian laborer was killed while at work on a dam at the pulp mills. At the hearing before the local justice there was found in a pocket a roll of bills containing $25, and hidden in one of the boot legs was found a dark knife.

As there was no probate court within many miles of the town, the Judge was at a loss to know what disposal should be made of the money. The court took charge of the money and fined the corpse $25 for carrying concealed weapons.

Chief Justice Ira Perley, after his retirement from the Bench, opened an office in Concord, N. H. He was a man of the strictest integrity, and his indignation would be aroused whenever he sensed a fraud. One day a man called upon him for advice and set forth the facts, which showed that he had craftily worked a net around another, the circumstances of which he seemed to delight in.
