FIVE BOYS KILLED.

Two Fatally Injured by Dynamite Explosion—Loading Four Inch Pine With Explosives.

New York, July 7.—(Special)—The Herald publishes a special from Wilkesbarre, Pa., as follows:—Five boys were killed and two fatally injured at Wanamie, a mining town of dynamite and giant powder, with which they were loading a four-inch pipe which they had converted into a cannon. The dead are: John Sals, fifteen years old; Evan Long, sixteen; John Salsinsky, thirteen; John and Thomas Rachulis, aged thirteen and sixteen. The injured are: Alexander and Frank Shukowitr, both so badly that they are not expected to recover.

The boys had obtained a quantity of giant powder and sent it from the mines and had been shooting off their improvised cannon during the afternoon. Last evening they resolved to give a final discharge which would eclipse any explosion the town had heard during the day. They filled the pipe with the dynamite and the powder and were tamping it home.

with some stones, but in their zeal they struck the tamping too hard a blow, and the explosion occurred.
Its force was so great that the town was shaken and three of the boys were killed outright, while two others died in a few minutes, and the two who are injured are not expected to live long. The iron pipe was blown to fragments, which pierced the bodies of the victims, tore off the arms and legs of some, crushed their heads and made the scene look like a shambles.

Residents of the town startled by the explosion, rushed to the spot and found the seven lying around, the scene of the explosion torn and black, while not a vestige remained of the pipe. How much powder and dynamite they had used it is impossible to say, but from the dreadful havoc caused it must have been a large quantity. All the victims are sons of Polish and Lithuanian mine workers.

MR. PHINNEY EXPLAINS.

Takes Exception to Remarks by Coun. Scott at County Council Meeting.

To the Editor of the Daily Herald, Sir,—My attention has been called to some remarks, alleged to have been made by Councillor Scott, during the debate at the recent session of the county council with reference to the payment of the Canada Temperance Act Inspector.

The Herald reports him as saying "he remembered an occasion when a bill from the same inspector came before the council and payment was refused because it was not itemized." The Gleaner's report is "that some years ago the same man who fights with him, had come to the council with a big bill for legal expenses.
He (Coun. Scott) had opposed the payment of the bill until it was itemized and sent back to the council. It was an altogether different bill and much smaller in total." If these reports are correct and the councillor means, or wishes it to be inferred that I, as "the man who fights" with the Inspector, ever rendered to the council an unitemized bill for my services, or altered or reduced my account for professional services rendered, because of any objection thereto, the statement is absolutely incorrect, the statement is absolutely incorrect.

At the January, 1905 session of the council, I was requested to render my account in connection with Scott Act prosecutions, and submitted an itemized bill of $30, which I presume the councillor regards as "a big bill," and it was paid without objection.
At the January session my account amounted to $87.50, was itemized and was paid.
For professional services rendered to the Inspector since his appointment last January, in the prosecution at his instance—which have resulted in the addition of $500 to the Scott Act fund, held under the law "for the purposes of the act," I have not rendered any account to the council.
If, and when I do, I will be prepared to meet any criticism Councillor Scott or any other member of the board may have to offer.
Yours, etc,
J. D. PHINNEY

WORMS CAUSE APPENDICITIS.

Microscope Has Shown Their Presence in Every Case Observed by French Doctors.

Paris, July 7.—(Special)—The charge of too great eagerness to operate for appendicitis, which was recently made before the Academy of Medicine by Professor Delecloux, continues to stir the French physicians, and has resulted in much discussion of the disease itself.
Dr. Blanchard, a prominent physician, has pronounced a new theory of the cause which, he says, Dr. Metchnikoff also favors. It is that appendicitis is caused by three kinds of intestinal worms of which the dreaded trypanosome is the most dangerous. It is this accompanying appendicitis. The microscope has shown its presence in every case observed by Doctors Blanchard and Metchnikoff.

They attribute its presence to the
recently made before the Academy of
tinues to stir the French physicians,
of the disease itself.
Dr. Blanchard declares that the use of sewers, however skillfully treated, ought to be made illegal. Appendicitis is the rare occurrence of a cherry stone or something of that kind lodging in the vermiform appendix, and this is the only cause in which an operation is necessary, or excision. Thymol should be used to combat the disease, when, as is most often the case, it is caused by worms.

AN EXCELLENT SHOT.

Admiral Prince Louis of Battenberg Showed Gunners How to Hit the Target.

London, July 6.—Admiral His Serene Highness Prince Louis of Battenberg, whose visit to New York last year is not likely to be soon forgotten, has been distinguishing himself by some smart tactics during the British naval manoeuvres now in progress. He still flies his flag on the Drake as admiral of the second cruiser squadron.
By a very daring ruse at the beginning of the mimic war he carried his fleet through the close blockade of the narrow Straits of Dover without losing a ship. Prince Louis is particularly keen on the subject of naval gunnery. The other day he was standing unperceived at the entrance to the fore barbettes of the Drake watching a mariners' gun crew trying to lay one great ponderous weapon.

He soon saw that the gun captain was but indifferently familiar with the use of the range finder. Stepping forward he said: "Let me show you how to do this." The Prince took the lever of the adjusting gear in his hand and brought his eye down to the right.
Suddenly he pulled the electric trigger, there was a terrific roar, and the projectile of 250 pounds in weight flashed fair through the floating target. Nothing but the strong sense of discipline restrained the men from raising a cheer at this clever marksmanship of their popular admiral.

HOME FROM CAMP.

Gallant Seventy-firsters Returned This Morning.

The five companies of the 71st regiment, having their headquarters in York County, returned from Camp Sussex by the nine o'clock train this morning. They formed up after disembarking from the cars and headed by the band, marched in York street to the barracks square.
The men, although slightly dust-be-grimmed, from their journey, marched well, and looked as if they had suffered no ill effects from their ten days sojourn under canvas.

Major McLeod, who was in command of the parade, addressed a few words to the troops on the barracks square and dismissed them.

Surgeon Capt. Weaver and the men of the army service corps, also returned from camp this morning.

The officers of the 71st speak of the camp as being one of the most successful in the history of the Province. The weather was favorable, the rations were good and all ranks seemed to have a good time.

No. 8 company of the Royal Regiment remained at Sussex to strike the tents and are expected home this evening.

DREYFUS TO BE REINSTATED.

Paris, July 7.—Procureur General Baudouin in the supreme court recently concluded his argument in the Dreyfus case, formally asking the court to quash the verdict of the Rennes court martial without retrial.

"The peace of the country," the prosecutor said, "demands it, and the whole world awaits the court's summary disposition of the subject, which will be a triumph for justice and truth."

Maitre Monard, counsel for Dreyfus, immediately began his closing address.

It is stated here that Captain Dreyfus will receive reparation at the conclusion of the present enquiry before the court of cessation.
It is declared that the Dreyfus judgment will be annulled without a new trial for the accused man and that he will be rehabilitated in the service as chief of a squadron. He will be placed in the same order for promotion as before his trial. Dreyfus will also be proposed for the Cross of the Legion of Honor.

Colonel Picquart, the same authority says, will not receive like exoneration, as his case might go to the council of state.

SENT TO REFORMATORY.

Bad St. John Boys Sentenced—Fear of a Slide.

St. John, July 7.—(Special)—Two boys of thirteen, named Reynolds and Hallahan, were today sent to the reformatory for four years for stealing.

Neither of them could read or write.
It is feared that South Rodney street wharf west side, will slide in, as a result of dredging. The engineers said today that the danger was serious.

BILL PASSED.

Lord's Day Measure Went Through Commons Early This Morning After Tribulent Discussion.

Ottawa, July 7.—(Special)—After an exciting and turbulent night the Commons at 3.30 o'clock this morning finally passed the Sunday observance bill.

The discussion created considerable feeling and the whole business is sharply criticized.

AWFUL TRAGEDY.

Woman and Six Children Burned to Death.

Lafayette, Ind., July 7.—(Special)— Mrs. Sarah Gobba and her six children were burned to death last night in a fire that destroyed her home here.

Solomon Gobba, the father and husband, was badly burned, but will recover.

proceedings in the police court, the Philip Richard, former clerk of the Victoria Hotel, may be charged with perjury.

Roosevelt, Jr., and George C.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

During the storm on Sunday, lightning struck the barn of Mr. George A. Vanwart of Queensbury, setting it on fire and killing three sheep. The flames were extinguished before they did much damage.

At Bloomfield Ridge the barn of Alex. Smith, Jr., was struck by lightning in two places and caught fire. The flames were extinguished, however, after having made considerable headway.

TROUBLE WITH THE FIREMEN.

There is a misunderstanding between the city council and the firemen. The latter demand an increase of pay, $10 per man and $15 for each of the captains, and have sent a communication to the city council declaring they would resign in a body unless their demand was complied with. The city council on Tuesday night refused to consider the demand for an increase of pay whereupon the firemen resigned in a body, handing over everything to Assistant Chief Engineer Hatt. Citizens who saw it, were no doubt startled by the notice given last evening by Ad. Wilson, chairman of the fire committee, telling them that they must protect themselves in case of fire. In the meantime citizens generally must hold themselves in readiness to turn out at a moment's notice in case of fire and be prepared to enroll themselves in volunteer companies, if the council and firemen cannot come to terms.

BRAKEMAN KILLED.

Vernam, Sask., July 7.—(Special) At Buchanan, a flag station on the C. N. R., Brakeman F. Sandison, while placing a car of lumber on a shingle, fell from the top of a moving car underneath the wheels and the car passing over his body, was almost instantly killed.

THE STRAWBERRY CROP.

Wild strawberries were quite plentiful in the market this morning and sold readily at eighty cents a half pail. This popular fruit is said to be quite plentiful this season in some sections of the country.

and Mrs. George Jackson of St.
John, registered at the Queen yesterday.

SOME PRINTERS' ERRORS.

The unhappy poet has often written under the consciousness that his most carefully prepared flights of fancy, are hopelessly ruined by the substitution or omission of a letter in the printing, and by some unhappy chance it often seems that the mistake is made in just such a manner and place as will do the most mischief. The unhappy poet who wrote—"See the pale martyr in his sheet of fire!"
must have been completely crushed when the line appeared as "See the pale martyr in his shirt of fire!"

Others of less mythologic fame have suffered as badly at the hands of the printer. Burns, in a cheap edition of his works, is made to say—"Oh, gin my love were yon red nose.
A well-known temperance lecturer was indignant at finding the sentiment ascribed to him that "drunkenness" was jolly," whereas he had declared that it was "folly."

The blame of such errors does not always rest with the compositor, however. Incorrect spelling and slovenly writing have much to answer for, especially in the case of proper names and quotations from foreign languages. Boerhaave becomes "Boershave," and Et tu Brutel "Eh, the Brutel!" Authors should remember that the proof-reader is fallible; he is not, as is sometimes expected, a "Universal Compendium" of facts, people, and places.

In the following instance it was no doubt a bachelor compositor who, in setting up the toast, "Woman, without her, man would be a savage!" got the comma in the wrong place, and made the sentence read, "Woman without her man, would be a savage!"

Bishop Potter tells a good story of himself regarding his first visit to the old country.

"Englishmen often address me as 'my Lord,'" he said. "This was not easy for a good Democrat to hear, but I got accustomed to it, and was in a fair way of being spoiled, when a little incident set me down. I was in Southampton, and an old friend a fellow countryman, recognized me. Rushing up to me, he seized me by the hands, 'Hullo bish!' he cried. 'How are you?'"

"Father," said the small boy,
"what is a pessimist?"
"A pessimist my son, is a man who when the home team wins kicks because the score wasn't larger," — Washington Star.
