LOSING SANE AND RIGHT IDEAS.

Tendency of Civilization of This Continent—Rev. Mr. Gandier's Sermon.

Preaching from the text, "He hath not dealt with any nation," Rev. Alexander Gandier at Sunday morning's service in St. James' Square Presbyterian Church, Toronto, made a comparison between the development of Canada and the United States. In his opening remarks he referred to those who settled the lands of Canada, their rugged intelligence, their religious convictions, and how the home, the family altar, the church and the school have been vital factors in our civilization from the first. No nation ever had a better start and brighter outlook.

Comparing the growth of both countries, Rev. Mr. Gandier pointed out that it was natural that the southern half of the continent should be settled first.

SLOW GROWTH A BLESSING.

"The slow growth of wealth in Canada," said the minister, "was really a blessing in disguise, for it developed those inner, stronger and sterner qualities of character which are so much needed now when our day of prosperity and trial is upon us. A change is coming in the twentieth century, and it is likely to do for Canada what the nineteenth century did for the United States. The wonderful development of the past few years was an indication of that."

It is easy for Canadians to be optimistic in these days, but thoughtless men cannot see that all that is going on today without some misgiving. In the United States which is fully half a century ahead of Canada in a great many respects, in national and commercial development, what startling revelations of political and commercial dishonesty, high-handed robbing of the people, selfish disregard of the public good have recently been made?

TO GET AND TO HAVE.

Rev. Mr. Gandier referred to the address of President Schurman at the commencement exercises at Cornell University, in which he said: "To get and to have is the motto not only of the market but of the altar and the hearth. The love of money and the wrecklessness of the national character. We are dealing with the virus of a universal infection."

"How did that state of things come to the United States?" continued Mr. Gandier. "The answer is, that the people who would show industry and enterprise in the development of the raw materials of nature. The general ambition to better one's condition."

ASTONISHED THE DOCTOR.

Mrs. Eaton Recovering, Although her Physicians said she Might Drop Dead any time.

"The Doctor told me I had heart disease and was liable to drop on the street at any time," says Mrs. Robert Eaton, of Dufferin, Ont. "My trouble began four years ago with a weak heart. I was often afraid to draw my breath, it pained me so. I was bothered with nervousness, shortness of breath, dizziness, loss of appetite, smothering and sinking spells, and I could not sleep."

"Sometimes a great weakness would seize me and I would have to lie down to keep from falling. My hands and feet would seem to go to sleep and a numbness would come over me and perhaps immediately after the blood would rush to my head and a series of hot flashes would envelop me."

"I took all kinds of medicines, but kept gradually growing worse until about eight weeks ago when I began using Dr. Leonard's Anti-Pill. From the start I improved until now my appetite has returned, I can sleep well, and have no nervousness, dizziness, palpitation, faintness, or any of my other troubles. They have all entirely disappeared. I feel much stronger, look better, and altogether Anti-Pill has made a new woman of me."

"I am entirely cured and cannot say too much for this wonderful remedy. I would most heartily recommend Anti-Pill to anyone suffering as I did."

All Druggists or the Wilson-Fyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

awakened a thirst after wealth in all classes. Owing to the tremendous emigration the cities grew with narrowness and rapidity, the prairie lands were settled and towns sprung up as if by magic. The knowing ones, getting possession of the lands, forests, mines, town and city sites, held them until the population had so increased as to render them of almost incalculable value."

MAKING MULTI-MILLIONAIRES.

By this unearned increment the foundations were laid of the fortunes of America's multi-millionaires. Never before in the world was the continent filled up so rapidly. Touching upon the policy of high tariff and protection, the preacher said that as increasing millions poured into the United States an immense market was opened up to the manufacturers, in which they were protected from all foreign competition. The large firms began to come together and say if we agree among ourselves we can charge the people what we please. If the smaller men won't agree we can afford to buy them out, if they are obstinate we can crush them out, and so came the age of combinations and trusts. It is a simple matter of history when the capital thus concentrated bought up the State Legislature and secured senators as their henchmen until they practically made laws, obtained ancient Rome never saw the like. The multi-tudes submit to all manner of wrongs to social and business systems that are unjust, because each one hopes that his chances to outdo others and get what he never earned will come some day. They are touched by the same thing and it is a natural infection. The tremendous evil is that the moral sense of the nation is losing all sane and right ideas of the end and meaning of life. We in Canada are traveling fast along the same road, and the evils which blight their civilization will inevitably be found among us, unless we call a halt.

HOW TO BE UPRIGHT.

There are three things we ought to do to be upright; first, let us make sure that no class of people, however wealthy or influential, shall control our legislation, and fix our tariff in their own interests; second, that in this fair land none shall corner the raw material of wealth as it comes from the hand of God, and charge others for the right of access thereto; and, thirdly, that we must aim to shape our laws and social system so as to minimize speculation, to take away the chances of wealth without industry; to make the rewards of life more commensurate with the industry, ability and integrity displayed. Only thus can we save our people from the gambling craze and the soul-benumbing materialism which threatens to engulf us."

In conclusion Mr. Gandier said that the duty of the church was to keep alive among the people that sense of the unseen, of the further reaches and worth of life within the veil which is coming to us through Jesus.

BIG SHOW WILL BE HERE.

Barnum & Bailey Coming With New Circus Acts and Sensational Thrillers.

The Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth will exhibit at Fredericton on July 27th and an arena of entertainment of more than unusual interest may be anticipated with confidence. The character of the performance is indicated by the comments of the press, which has been unanimous in declaring that all previous records of magnitude and novelty have been surpassed this year.

Although it is announced, a few of last season's most notable acts have been retained, the performance is in the main a new one, and many feature acts, never before presented in this country, are given prominence in the very comprehensive program. Among this season's most notable announcements are a new military spectacle, allegorically portraying the closing days of the Russo-Japanese war in Manchuria and the triumph of "Peace," three distinct sensations, in one of which an automobile, driven by a beautiful French woman, turns a complete somersault in mid-air; a great circus company of 300 European and American artists, who present the latest achievements in riding, acrobatic and aerial daring several troupes of remarkably trained horses; an exciting battle scene, presented by the central group of the three great herds of elephants, an entirely new hippodrome, with genuine Kentucky racing stock and jockeys of international reputation, and a largely augmented Zoo of rare wild beasts.

"The standard set by the public for the Barnum & Bailey circus," said a representative of the big show, "places a responsibility upon the management that is accepted with all the untiring effort and heavy expense that it involves. What the public will accept, and, perhaps, applaud, in a smaller show, will not suffice when judging of the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on earth. The public has learned to look to this big institution for all that is newest and most novel in the line of arena entertainment, and in order to justify this expectation and to satisfy the demand for new sensations, an expensive staff of foreign agents, with offices in nearly all the leading capitals of the world, has to be maintained. The duty of these foreign agents is to keep in touch with every new development in the foreign circus world, to engage any and everything of a novel sensational character worthy of importation and to make absolutely certain that the Barnum & Bailey circus shall be the first to introduce the big foreign acts to the American public."

"The result of the show's foreign service is especially noticeable this year. More novel features than have ever before been seen in a single entertainment crowd each other in the program, while, I am sure, this season's thrilling aerial automobile and bicycle acts will repeat in this city the startling sensation they have created in every other city where they have been presented. It may also be incidentally interesting to the local public to know that the comprehensive seating scheme originated by this show is still continued, and that everyone purchasing an admission ticket is entitled to a foot-rest seat."

Parades have been entirely eliminated by the Barnum & Bailey circus.

DEPENDING ON PEOPLE.

Experience Teaches a Wife What to Expect When he Goes to a Club.

When a married man starts for his club at 8 o'clock and tells his wife he will be back at 12, she smiles in a far-away style and does not sit up for him. As she expected he gets home between three and four. She knows him of old. There are a good many people and things in the world that cannot be depended upon. Grocers there have been who said eggs were strictly new-laid, drygoods merchants who said the cloth was all-wool. Then, too, there have been chairmen who have collapsed at unexpected times. But there are some dependable things. One is the Gourlay Piano. It has taken the musicians and the music-lovers of this country only two years to find out that the Gourlay takes first rank among the bright pianos of this or any other country. The firm of Gourlay, Winter & Leeming, Toronto, know their instrument from top to bottom, they know the high quality of the material out into it, they know the capability of the workmen assembling the parts, they know the satisfying character of the tone and the artistic beauties of the case. And knowing all this, they say they have no apologies to make for the Gourlay. Purchasers of the instrument have been delighted and have published the praises of the Gourlay among all their friends. It is a piano well built and worthy of the confidence the public has reposed in it.

"Now, Tommy," said Mrs. Bull, "I want you to be good while I'm out."

"I'll be good for a penny," replied Tommy.

"Tommy," said she, "I want you to remember that you cannot be a son of mine unless you are good for nothing."

"Yes," said the veteran of many wars, "I have participated in seven-ten engagements."

"What," exclaimed the pretty young widow, "and you are still a bachelor?"

MILLIONS IN NEW CARS.

Canadian Northern Places Big Order for Rolling Stock.

Toronto Globe.—Orders have just been placed by the Canadian Northern Railway for 550 new box cars to be delivered in time for use in moving this season's wheat crop in western Canada. The orders have been given to the following companies: Rhodes, Curry & Co., Amherst, N. S.; 250; Canada Car Company, of Montreal, 200; Crossin Car Manufacturing Co., Cobourg, 100.

These cars are in addition to 1,600 ordered earlier in the season from Canadian car manufacturing companies, also including 1,000 box cars, 400 flat cars, and the remainder of stock and refrigerator cars.

Although several lines in Eastern Canada are controlled by Canadian Northern interests, nearly all of this rolling stock, together with 50 engines, which have been ordered for this season's delivery, is being placed on lines in western Canada. Some of the cars and engines have already been delivered, but all are to be placed at the service of the railway by October 15.

The 550 cars just ordered and the other equipment for this year represent an outlay of between $3,750,000 and $4,000,000, and Canadian locomotive and car companies have been successful in filling nearly all these orders.

Mr. D. B. Hanna, Third Vice President of the Canadian Northern, was asked yesterday for a statement as to whether Canadian companies manufacturing rolling stock were meeting the requirements of railways in the Dominion in every respect, and as to what conditions necessitated such a large outlay as nearly $4,000,000 for this year.

Canadian companies are becoming more and more impressed with the fact," said Mr. Hanna, "that Canadian roads are demanding first-class rolling stock. Canadian railways are growing so rapidly and the passenger traffic they carry is increasing in volume so fast that rolling stock which would have answered a few years ago, is not quite suitable now. Our Canadian roads are looking for the best equipment they can get to handle this increased business and locomotive and car companies appreciate this and are making an effort to turn out as high class rolling stock as companies in the United States.

"It is not to be presumed," he continued, "that slightly inferior rolling stock will satisfy the larger roads of the Dominion. They require first-class equipment, particularly for the better class passenger traffic, and naturally this requirement will be met by the companies turning out the best rolling stock. It may be said to the credit of the Canadian companies that they are studying the needs of the railways and are fast getting on a firm basis of competition with shops of the United States."

In regard to the new equipment of the Canadian Northern, Mr. Hanna said this big outlay of money was necessitated by the ever-increasing business in western Canada.

"The flow of settlers into the west has meant the development of more agricultural territory and naturally heavy traffic for railroads if the result. This year will see a heavy crop of wheat, it is expected, and in ordering the new rolling stock we are simply keeping abreast with business conditions. We have made reservations also for considerable rolling stock for next year, and while the orders have not yet been placed, we expect the equipment for 1907 will cost quite as much as or more than it has cost us this year."

SAVE BABIES FROM EARLY DEATH.

Race Suicide Condemned in Unmeasured Terms by a Toronto Physician.

(Toronto News.)

There was some plain talk at the meeting of the provincial board of health yesterday. It was brought about by the pointed and forceful comments of the secretary, Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, who, dealing with the statistics of infant mortality, drew the conclusion that infant life was a sacrifice to ignorance and social ambition and that race suicide in Ontario was a fact.

The members of the board were equally outspoken.

The chairman, Dr. Kitchener, of St. George, attached the blame to "the strenuous life pursued by modern women in their devotion to society."

Dr. Cassidy declined to let husbands escape. They were equally responsible with their wives and very often primarily to blame.

BAD MORAL ATMOSPHERE

"A bad moral atmosphere is at the bottom of the whole trouble," was Dr. Cassidy's observation.

The board finally decided by resolution to prepare a pamphlet for circulation among women, in which the points touched upon in the report as adopted will be brought to their attention.

I would not be surprised if such practices were confined to the criminal class," commented Dr. Hodgetts, "but church-going people, class leaders and others of that sort are just as bad."

The annual statistics of Dr. Hodgetts showed a decreased birth rate, an increase of children born out of wedlock, a falling off of marriages and an alarming increase of 724 in the number of deaths of infants under one year of age. He added:

THE DUTY OF PARENTS.

"He often found that the life of the first-born is sacrificed during the early months of its life by reason of the lack of knowledge on the part of the parents in the care necessary in the feeding of this valuable portion of our population, and a lack of knowledge as to the care in toilet and personal hygiene of these dear little infants."

"The same attention given by the parents as to how to bring up the baby as is given by them to the rearing of young chickens, or the thoroughbred calf, or other denizens of the barnyard, particularly as regards feeding, would be followed by equally good results."

"The people of this province have yet to realize the importance of this branch of education, and that no false modesty must be permitted to exist in regard to it."

"The study of the infant life is more important than that of animal and vegetable life, or the making of butter, the baking of bread and the all-devoured American pie."

"The young women of our cities must be taught how to feed, clothe and nurse the baby, and be shown how much more important to the state is this delicate subject than the feeding, the making of a bicycle or the dog or cat or the fascination of gambling associated with bridge whist and other like social fads."

ABERDEEN'S HEIR TO WED LINENDRAPER'S WIDOW.

Almost Old Enough to be His Mother, and a Descendant of John Bunyan.

London, July 6.—Society was a bit staggered at first by the announcement that a marriage has been arranged between Lord Haddo, eldest son and heir of the Earl of Aberdeen and Mrs. Cockayne a Linendrapers widow, heretofore unknown among the fashionable elect, but recovered its composure on learning that his fiancée has lots of money. This is a commodity with which the earldom of Aberdeen is not abundantly blessed.

Such a marriage, even if it lacked the financial justification would be quite in accordance with the traditions of fraternity and equality in which the future earl was brought up. His mother Lady Aberdeen, as far as concerns her own household, carried her democratic notions even further than does the Socialist Countess of Warwick, and it was from the arrangement of her marriage, that J. M. Barrie gathered some of the ideas that were turned to account in "The Admirable Crichton."

When the engagement was first announced, various society papers, knowing nothing about Mrs. Cockayne, took refuge in the statement that she was young and beautiful. They risked no libel action thereby, but as a matter of fact, neither statement is true. Mrs. Cockayne married her first husband in 1861, and she is almost old enough to be the mother of Lord Haddo, who is only 27 years of age. She has a son 24. He and Lord Haddo were at Balliol together. There the linendraper's son proved far the better scholar and carried off the highest honors in natural science.

In mating with a woman who has much the advantage of him in seniority, Lord Haddo is following a custom somewhat in favor now. Lady Magheramorne and Florence Astley, brides of the last year were both much older than their husbands as to go back further, were Lady Randolph Churchill, Mrs. Langtry, Lady Lathian and Lady Howard de Walden.

Like most of the members of his family, Lord Haddo has no great liking for London life. He is never seen in a smart crowd here unless he is passing through Piccadilly on a bicycle comes under that definition. He happened to do that on the wrong side of the street once, and was sentenced to a fine in London police court in consequence. He is a tall, well-set-up young fellow, and tried farming for a time, as his younger brothers tried shipbuilding. He abandoned agriculture for politics, but did not succeed in getting into parliament at the last general election. Demos having got into his head that he was a lord, he served as a member of the House of Commons. At present he is aide de camp to his father, who is Lord Lieutenant of Ireland. Of course, Lord Haddo has lots of blue blood, but Mrs. Cockayne can boast some-thing in the hereditary line which is great-great something or other of the greys, equally good. She is the inspired tinker, John Bunyan.

"Yes," said the veteran of many wars, "I have participated in seven-ten engagements."

"What," exclaimed the pretty young widow, "and you are still a bachelor?"
