PARLIAMENT'S DOINGS.

Tuesday's Sitting Devoted to Amendments to the Railway Act.

Ottawa, June 27.—The house yesterday had a long steady session with the railway bill. The results were important. The clauses placing the express companies under the control of the railway commission were put through committee. These have been two of the most contentious proposals of the session, though strictly non-partisan.

Yesterday afternoon the house passed railway votes rapidly and with little discussion. The process took until almost six o'clock, a few questions being asked here and there and no general objections being made. Resolutions were concurred in by the house and the bill founded thereon introduced.

Mr. Emmerson's bill to amend the railway act by providing for the regulation of rates was taken up.

Dr. Sproule denied that provision should be enlarged to include express charges by stages, as often parcels were carried long distances in that manner.

Mr. Emmerson offered to amend the clause to make it provide for regulation if carriage was by rail.

Mr. Alcorn renewed his request for regulation of tolls where carriage was all by water.

In the opening Mr. Emmerson's amendment was carried. He offered several amendments putting express business on the same basis as railway traffic under the control of the railway commission. He explained his amendments would broaden the line. Mr. Alcorn proposed to control interprovincial business but his amendments gave the railway commission the control of rates throughout Canada.

The express clauses were all passed and the telephone control clauses taken up. Mr. Emmerson offered an amendment for the compulsory exchange of telephone business, declaring that whenever a province, municipality or corporation desires to use a long distance line of another company and cannot obtain the company's permission, it is authorized to apply to the railway commission, and the board may order the connection to be given upon terms the board deems just and expedient.

It was argued that this only compelled the Bell to give connection with its long distance lines, and did not go far enough.

They should be compelled to give connection with local exchanges. This point was the subject of a long but non-partisan debate.

Mr. Emmerson's proposal found many supporters on the conservative side and some opponents on the opposite side.

The amendment of W. F. McLean striking out the word "distance" and inserting "local" was carried.

The house then adjourned.

If you desire many things, many things will seem but a few.

NEW YORK'S SENSATION.

Developments in Thaw's Murder of Architect White—Mrs. Thaw Has Appeared on the Scene.

New York, June 27.—"Harry did just right. I think he did a noble act. The world should be rid of men like Stanford White. I tried to persuade White to cease his persecution of me but could not. For a time I succeeded but every time he saw me he annoyed me. I loved Harry and wished to go away entirely from everything that reminded me of my old life.

"It was cruel of White to persist in reminding me of it to continue making appointments to see me." This statement was given out last night on behalf of Mrs. Thaw by Harry Bruders, a close personal friend of the murderer, who had come from a visit to Mrs. Thaw at the hotel Touraine.

Why Harry Thaw should have lived for over a year in apparent happiness with his chorus bride and then suddenly discover that White had ruined his life, is the missing link the police are searching for to clear up the mystery. Today developments show that the events which turned Thaw from a don't care night-bird to the murderer, are of recent date. The police believe Mrs. Thaw can supply the key to the situation.

Frankly admitting that he killed Stanford White, the famous architect and pleading in justification of the deed that White had ruined the life of his wife, the beautiful former chorus girl and artist's model, Florence Evelyn Nesbitt, Harry Kendall Thaw of Pittsburgh, brother of the Countess of Yarmouth, occupies a cell in the Tombs awaiting the action of the grand jury on a charge of murder. His counsel will offer the defense of insanity.

Not since the assassination of Col. James Fiske by Edward W. Stokes on the staircase of the Grand Central Hotel, more than 30 years ago, has the metropolis been shocked by so startling and dramatic a tragedy as which was enacted last night in the presence of an audience of more than one thousand people in the roof of the Madison Square Garden. The least dramatic feature of the tragedy is the fact that Mr. White met his death in the structure which is perhaps the most conspicuous memorial of his architectural genius.

The whereabouts of Mrs. Thaw, who disappeared from Madison Square Garden in the confusion that followed the tragedy, remained a mystery until yesterday afternoon when, accompanied by his intimate friend, Miss May McKinstry, she arrived at the offices of Deland and Longfellow, No. 60 Wall street, where she remained in consultation with counsel for several hours. While there she was served with a subpoena requiring her attendance before the grand jury on Thursday.

So when Harry Thaw, half crazed by alcohol and opium, came to the psychological moment, he killed Stanford White. That is the whole story.

THE ARCTIC INQUIRY.

Majority of Investigating Committee Report No Evidence that Supplies Were Diverted. The Minority Report.

Ottawa, June 27.—The committee appointed to investigate the expenditures in connection with the steamer Arctic prepared its report yesterday for presentation to parliament tomorrow. The report sets forth in part:

1. That in the year 1904 the Dominion government steamer Arctic was provisioned and outfitted for forty men for 1,200 days for a voyage to explore and patrol Hudson's Bay.

2. That in view of the contemplated expedition of more than three years and of the hardships and contingencies naturally attendant upon such a voyage, and the impossibility of replenishing stores, the quantity and variety of stores, merchandise, supplies and provisions were reasonable and necessary and were of the best quality.

3. That all the stores, merchandise supplies and provisions purchased by the department of marine and fisheries for the said steamer for the purpose of the said expedition, were placed on board.

4. No part or portion of the said stores, merchandise, supplies and provisions were in whole or in part improperly diverted for other use than originally contemplated, or for the profit of any person or persons.

5. That fair and reasonable prices were paid for the said stores, merchandise, supplies and provisions, with the exception of a quantity of tobacco from the Elie Anquet at Fils of Quebec, which are as follows: Eight hundred and five pounds speaking tobacco, at ninety-five cents; 200 pounds chewing tobacco at seventy-eight cents.

BATHING IN THE SEA.

Originated in England in the Eighteenth Century.

Sea bathing had its origin in England before 1750, when Dr. Richard Russell published his treatise on the virtues of sea water. The healing virtues of the sea bath were not understood, nor was the practice of sea bathing generally resorted to. There seems to have existed a horror of the sea; indeed, in mediaeval times a compulsory dip in its waters was a sentence often passed on the public offender. In the earlier decades of the eighteenth century western Europe suffered heavily under "king's evil," the popular name for that tubercular affection which scourged all classes from peer to peasant.

Dr. Russell, a Sussex practitioner, had observed that dwellers on the coast used to drink of the sea water, bathe in it, even wash their sores in it and bind them up with sea weed.

Having satisfied himself as to the efficacy of the practice he began to prescribe for his patients with roost satisfactory results. His treatise resulted in the coast becoming largely patronized by the ailing and the demand for seaside lodgings was soon a growing quantity. This gradually spread to the continent. Then people commenced to see that fresh water was a good thing, and the vital importance of the skin as an excretor of waste was greatly emphasized somewhat later (in 1834), when the morning "tub" was instituted and has since acquired a worldwide reputation.

CANADA GIVES AND TAKES.

Differences in Trade in Agricultural Products With the United States.

—An Instructive Return.

A return just brought down in answer to a motion in the House of Commons the import and export figures of certain agricultural products as between Canada and the United States. In 1903 Canada imported 37,527 head (value $472,839) of horned cattle, having 334,537 thereof in 1904 36,456 head ($412,242), with $2,452 duty, all of which, less about a thousand head, went into the Northwest Territories. In these years Canada's imports exceeded 30,000 horses per year, valued at $300,000, the great bulk of which went to Manitoba and the Territories. The duty on these was about $160,000 a year. Canada bought 30,000 pounds of beans from the States, each of these years. British Columbia imports more beans than any other Province.

Canada imported and paid duty on 113,275 pounds of corn in 1903 and 1,112,420 pounds in 1904, yielding over $33,000 in this latter year. All this was for distilling. Our import of free corn in 1903 was 6,033,896 pounds, and in 1904 5,687,123, in this latter year valued at almost five millions of dollars. This great increase in imports of corn is surprising. Quebec alone imported nearly 7,000,000 pounds of corn. We bought over 500,000 dozen eggs from the United States in 1903 and

WHAT CAUSES SNORING?

When asleep, people that snore breathe through the mouth instead of the nostrils, which are choked with catarrh. Just use "Catarrhazone" before retiring, and you will be very quickly cured of that snoring habit.

By destroying the cause of catarrh, and healing the membrane of the throat, Catarrhazone makes a complete cure in every case; it cleans the nostrils, stops the discharge and prevents dropping in the throat in a few minutes. Nothing so pleasant or certain to cure snoring, catarrh or colds as Catarrhazone—that's worth remembering.

What is the cause of snoring?

"Mrs. Elderly seems to be a person of advanced ideas."

"Well, why not? In these days an old woman may be a new woman."

A Story of Disraeli.

Among the stories told of Benjamin Disraeli (Lord Beaconsfield) is the following: The statesman was in love with a widow, Mrs. Lyndham Lewis. One day he went to call the lady, sitting by the window, saw him approaching, and ordered the servant to say that she was not at home. When the maid reached the hall the statesman was hanging up his overcoat.

"Mrs. Lewis, sir, is not at home," said the furred maid. "I did not ask for Mrs. Lewis," was the calm, statesman-like reply. "But I don't know when she will be back," urged the maid, "Neither do I," philosophically replied Disraeli, "but I am going to wait till she comes back, so please make me a cup of tea." He did wait, he got his tea, and he married the widow.
