BLOCKS THE WAY.

Prorogation of Parliament Deferred Through Action of Senator Landry Who Objects to Urgency in Repealing Pension Bill.

Ottawa, July 12.—(Special.)—In the House today there were very few members present.

Dr. Daniel of St. John, called attention to the overcrowded condition of the post office at St. John.

Mr. Leneux, postmaster general, said he had a report from the inspector on the matter, and would look into it at the very earliest opportunity.

A resolution by Mr. Smith of Nanaimo, asking for legislation from the British parliament to prevent persons from inducing or deterring parties to come to Canada was adopted.

The Canadian parliament has already passed an act to this effect, and similar imperial legislation is necessary.

There will be no prorogation today.

Senator Landry is obstructing the bill repealing the ex-minister's pension act, and, as it requires the unanimous consent of the House before it can be put through, this forenoon, it is necessary to meet again at 3 o'clock and go on with it.

If Landry desists, prorogation may take place late in the day, but it will not likely occur until tomorrow.

WORK OF THE SESSION.

Parliament Has Dealt With Some Important Matters During the Past Four Months.

The session of the Dominion parliament which was just taken four calendar months has been more prolific of political tactics than of legislation.

The opposition has conducted a scandalous session with a good deal of activity. They compelled the government to defend itself in the public accounts committee against allegations under the North Atlantic Trading contract, and for purchases for the marine department.

The only important tariff feature of the session was the promise of a new tariff at the November session.

An interesting feature of the session was an invitation to the King to visit Canada. Another was the laying down of his portfolio by Minister of Justice Fitzpatrick for the chief justiceship, involving the appointment of Mr. Aylesworth in his place and the promotion of Mr. Leneux to the post office at St. John.

In both the lower and upper houses there were interesting debates on senate reform.

The Maritime Province members tried to secure the adoption of a resolution providing that the representation of a province shall not be less than it was at the time of confederation, but were unsuccessful.

IMPORTANT LEGISLATION.

The most important piece of legislation of the session was the Lord's Day Bill.

Next to this is probably the Grand Trunk Pacific branch line bill, which authorized the building of branch lines in all parts of Canada with a total length of five thousand miles.

The railway act was so amended that telephone and express companies are placed under the jurisdiction of the railway commissioners.

The immigration law has been strengthened against undesirable aliens by providing for their transportation within two years of landing. A measure was enacted against usurers fixing the legal limit on a loan of five thousand dollars or under at twelve per cent.

A forest reserve was created in the Northwest.

The fruit laws were revised and another grade adopted.

The grain inspection law was enlarged to take in a new variety, Alberta Red.

The Montreal harbor board was reduced from eleven to three members and practically taken over by the government.

Power was taken to establish a lazaretto in British Columbia, and Tracadie lazaretto was completely taken over by the government.

The date of the fiscal year beginning was changed from July 1 to March 1.

A provision was made for securing the pension rights of imperial soldiers taken over at Halifax and Esquimaux.

A court of appeal was provided for in Manitoba and the abolition of the supreme court in New Brunswick and the creation of two courts in its place.

The Grand Trunk Pacific was allowed to give bonds instead of cash as security for the fulfilment of contracts.

A milk can was defined as a receptacle holding eight gallons.

For whaling in Hudson Bay a fee of fifty dollars was fixed.

Provision was made for the marring of gold, silver and plated goods and the punishment of false parics for the redemption of worn silver coins, for the re-tolling of worn rails.

The deckload law was enlarged.

Members and senators are prohibited from receiving a fee for promoting a bill under penalty of expulsion and fine.

THREE BALLOTS==NO CHOICE

Anglican Synod Having a Wearisome Time Balloting for Coadjutor---Canon Richardson Leading.

The Anglican Synod opened at ten o'clock this morning with the usual devotional exercises. Mr. Wallace gave notice of motion in regard to a revision of the constitutional canon.

Mr. Fairweather read a communication from the Lord Bishop, submitting the names of the twelve candidates for the office of coadjutor bishop.

The commissary appointed Rev. G. F. Scovill and Hon. J. P. Lurich, tellers of the clerical vote and Rev. H. E. Dibblee and Col. H. M. Campbell tellers of the lay vote.

Judge Hannington suggested that, as the names of the delegates were called, each step to the front and vote.

The commissary stated that Sheriff Sterling had kindly provided two ballot boxes for the use of the synod.

At the suggestion of the commissary, business was suspended, and the delegates knelt in prayer.

Ballots were then distributed among the members and as the names were called by the secretary each stepped to the front and voted.

It was explained in reply to a question that two-thirds of both clerical and lay vote was necessary for an election.

The secretary reported that fifty-six clergymen had answered to their names and voted.

The vote of the lay delegates was next taken. Mr. Henry Wilnot of Oranmore, being the first to cast a ballot.

Capt. the Hon. Thomas Ashburnham and Mr. A. D. Thomas voted as the representatives of St. Ann's Church, this city.

The chairman made the announcement that fifty-one laymen had cast their ballots.

While the scrutineers were counting the ballots, the Ven. Atchdeacon Forsyth presented the report of the nominating committee, which was adopted.

Judge Hannington nominated Rev. J. DeWolfe, Cowie and Mr. A. G. Fairweather for membership of the board of King's College. In doing so he made reference to the great loss the institution had sustained by the death of Rev. Dean Partridge. The judge spoke hopefully of the future outlook of King's college. He thought it very unnecessary that the university should be maintained and kept at a high standard.

In regard to the church school for girls at Kingston, he considered it one of the best in Canada.

Rev. Mr. Cowie appreciated the honor, but pointed out that he was already a member of the board of governors.

Judge Hannington then proposed the name of Rev. Mr. Dibblee, but that gentleman declined in favor of Rev. A. B. Murray.

Col. Campbell proposed Rev. Scovill Neales for the position.

Rev. Mr. Murray declined the nomination in favor of Rev. Mr. Dibblee, and the latter and Mr. Fairweather were appointed.

Judge Hannington was appointed trustee of the girl's school at Windsor for the ensuing year.

1ST BALLOT.

The result of the first ballot for coadjutor bishop was then announced, as follows:

In the afternoon defendant withdrew his plea of not guilty and admitted guilt on all counts. He was fined $200 for moose, $50 for caribou, $350 for deer and costs, totaling $623.95.

The magistrate threatened the maximum penalty in each case if another offense was proved.

The chairman declared that under the provisions of the canon there had been no election as one of the candidates had received the required two-thirds vote. On motion of Judge Hannington it was resolved to proceed with another ballot. The vote was then taken as before, the same number of ballots being cast.

On motion of Mr. Wallace the committee on the constitution were authorized to make amendments to the canon and report at the next meeting.

Rev. Canon Richardson moved that the synod meet in St. John next year on the first Tuesday in October.

Mr. Jarvis in seconding the motion, said that it was the wish of the St. John churches that the synod should meet in October after the people had returned from their summer cottages.

After a few remarks from Judge Hannington, the resolution was unanimously adopted.

A motion by H. B. Scovill that the synod proceed to elect delegates to the general synod of Canada, was carried after a short discussion.

The chairman in reply to Mr. Tilley said that the names of the candidates who were practically out of the race could not be dropped from the list. He announced that there had been no election.

As will be seen by the returns Rev. Canon Richardson has a two-thirds vote of the laymen.

At 3.30 p. m. the synod decided to take another ballot.

Rev. J. W. McConnell, the newly appointed pastor of the Methodist church, is expected to arrive on Saturday to take up his residence here.
