

Have you seen it? We mean

THE OXFORD CHANCELLOR STEEL RANGE.

To see it is to fall in love with it. To own it is the ambition of all who see it. To use it is to be delighted and constantly singing its praises.

Burns either coal or wood. Fully guaranteed.

Also Buck's Brilliant "Grand Jewell" Cooking Stoves. Write for Catalogue.

James S. Neill,
FREDERICTON'S BIG HARDWARE STORE.

Mabou Coal.

This is a superior Cape Breton Coal which is unequalled for general house purposes. Also in stock:

Oats, Hay,
Corn Meal,
Cracked Corn

MILL FEED OF ALL KINDS.

Lime,
Blacksmith
Coal.

F. H. Everett

Telephone 116.
P. O. Box 88.

DEPARTMENT OF MILITIA AND DEFENCE OTTAWA

SEALED TENDERS (in duplicate) for the supply of Coal and Fuel Wood required to heat the Military Buildings at Fredericton, N. B., for the twelve months beginning 1st July 1906, will be received up to Friday, 16th June next. Each tender is to be marked "Tender for Fuel," and addressed to the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa.

Printed forms of tender containing full particulars may be obtained from the Secretary of the Militia Council, Ottawa, or at the Office of the District Officer Commanding, St. John, who will furnish all information required.

Each tender must be accompanied by an accepted cheque, payable to the order of the Honourable the Minister of Militia and Defence, for five per cent. of the amount of the tender, which will be forfeited if the party making the tender declines to sign a contract when called upon to do so. If the tender is not accepted the cheque will be returned. The Department does not bind itself to accept the lowest or any tender.

L. F. PINAULT, Colonel, Deputy Minister of Militia and Defence, Department of Militia and Defence, Ottawa, May 18th, 1906.

A. T. McMURRAY, D. M. D.
Office Hours: 9 to 5

Dentistry in all its modern branches special attention given to the care of children's teeth. Patients living outside the city can make appointments by mail, and thus do away with an unnecessary delay. By the use of our improved Electric Light appointments can be made for any evening. Lady in attendance. Phone 93

F. St. John Bliss,
Barrister, Notary, etc.
Offices—Orange Building
Entrance—Carleton street

Cook's Cotton Root Compound.
The great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effective Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $2; No. 3, for special cases, $3 per box. Sold by all druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (Formerly Windsor) Nos. 1. and 2. are sold in Fredericton by all Druggists.

At 103½ Prince Wm. street, St. John, N. B., are the offices of

Albert J. Machum,
MANAGER of the

Union Mutual Life Ins. Co.

of Portland, Me.
Established 1848

It is a strictly Annual Dividend Company, the surplus or profits being apportioned every year upon all plans of insurance and a statement of same given to each individual policy holder at the expiration of the first and each subsequent year. The result is that every holder of one of these contracts knows exactly what profits have accumulated every year on his own particular policy. He can make use of such profits any time he so wishes, and in event of his death, such additions are paid, besides the full amount for which the policy is written.

If "A Bird in the Hand is Worth Two in the Bush," how much is a policy worth which guarantees annual dividends as above, compared with a policy under which no profits are apportioned until the end of twenty (20) years? "Union Mutual" policy contracts are the most liberal issued. The guaranteed value is equal to that of any company in the world. If you require insurance of any kind consult a "Union Mutual" agent, or write direct to

Albert J. Machum,
MANAGER.

Agent wanted for York and Sunbury County.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY.

DOMINION DAY
SINGLE FARE

FOR ROUND TRIP.

Good Going June 29th and 30th, July 1st and 2nd.
Returning July 3rd, 1906.
Between all Stations in Canada East of Port Arthur.

W. B. HOWARD, Acting D.P.A., C.P.R.
ST. JOHN, N. B.

PEOPLE'S BANK OF NEW BRUNSWICK

A dividend of 4 per cent. on the capital stock of this Bank, for the half year ending June 30th, will be payable to the stockholders at the Bank on and after Monday, 16th July.

J. W. SPURDEN,
Fredericton, N. B. Manager.
June 16 dead, 2 wks.

COOK'S
The Great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effective Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $2; No. 3, for special cases, $3 per box. Sold by all druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Cook Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (Formerly Windsor) Nos. 1. and 2. are sold in Fredericton by all Druggists.

WOOD'S
The Great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effective Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $2; No. 3, for special cases, $3 per box. Sold by all druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Wood Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (Formerly Windsor) Nos. 1. and 2. are sold in Fredericton by all Druggists.

WOOD'S
The Great Uterine Tonic, and only safe effective Monthly Regulator on which women can depend. Sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, $1; No. 2, 10 degrees stronger, $2; No. 3, for special cases, $3 per box. Sold by all druggists or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: The Wood Medicine Co., Toronto, Ont. (Formerly Windsor) Nos. 1. and 2. are sold in Fredericton by all Druggists.

SUNLIGHT SOAP

Clothes washed by Sunlight Soap are cleaner and whiter than if washed in any other way.

Chemicals in soap may remove the dirt but always injure the fabric.

Sunlight Soap will not injure the most dainty lace or the hands that use it, because it is absolutely pure and contains no injurious chemicals.

Sunlight Soap should always be used as directed. No boiling or hard rubbing is necessary.

Sunlight Soap is better than other soap, but is best when used in the Sunlight way.

5c. Buy it and follow directions. 5c.

$5,000 REWARD will be paid to any person who proves that Sunlight Soap contains any injurious chemicals or any form of adulteration.

Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto

PRACTISING FOR THE TOURNA- MENT.

St. John Sun.—The city firemen met Tuesday night to complete arrangements for the trip to Fredericton on Dominion Day.

Between twenty-five and thirty men have expressed their intention of going. The department will be represented in the hose reel race, the ladder race and several of the foot races. There is some pretty good material among the men and they are expecting to bring home some prizes with them.

The hose reel team had their first practice and made a very satisfactory showing.

MAGIC BAKING POWDER

MAKES YOUR CAKES LIGHT.
MAKES YOUR BISCUITS LIGHT.
MAKES YOUR BREADS LIGHT.
MAKES YOUR LABOR LIGHT.
MAKES YOUR EXPENSES LIGHT.

Order from your Grocer.
E. W. GILLET COMPANY LIMITED
TORONTO, ONT.

J. J. Winslow, B.A., F. H. Peters, B.A.,
C. R. Allen.

Winslow, Peters & Allen
Barristers and Attorneys-at-Law.
Notaries Public, etc.

Offices, Colter Building, opposite
Normal School, Queen st., F'ron.
Tel. 125

HE IS CORRECT.

Dr. Hamilton Proves that Piles are Caused by Constipation and Strong Cathartics.

Knowing the frequency with which people suffer from this ailment, Dr. Hamilton made an exhaustive study into the cause of piles.

He found that the lower part of the bowels is like a network of blood vessels, and if subjected to persistent pressure, a section will bulge out and form what is commonly known as piles.

The only effective mode of curing this trouble is the regular use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, which cleanse the bowels, before retiring. Next day will bring wonderful relief.

"I suffered up to about the limit of human endurance with piles," writes Miss Luaders, from Cornwall, Ont., "I was employed in a factory here but for a while I had to give up work till I got better of this trouble. I read in the Montreal Herald about Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and after using them for two weeks was cured. I can recommend these pills very highly; there are none better. They at once relieve and prevent a constipated condition of the bowels, and from my experience can be depended upon as a perfect safeguard against piles. Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mah-draque and Butternut, I am sure, would be a benefit to every girl or woman."

Take Dr. Hamilton's Pills and your system will be regenerated, revitalized and made proof against disease.

Good for men, excellent for women, and most effective for children. It cures all ages and both sexes find Dr. Hamilton's Pills as marvellous medicine. Although active, they do not gripe or cause inconvenience, still they cleanse and purify the system, thereby maintaining a high standard of health.

Sold by all dealers at 25 cents a box, or five boxes for $1.00 or by mail from N. C. Polson and Co., Hartford, Conn., U. S. A., and Kingston, Ont.

DOUGLAS STEWART,
GEO. W. DAWSON,
Inspectors of Penitentiaries.
Ottawa, May 25, 1906.
June 2, ds31.

SEALED TENDERS addressed "Inspectors of Penitentiaries, Ottawa" and endorsed "Tenders for Supplies" will be received until Monday, 25th June, inclusive, from parties desirous of contracting for supplies for the fiscal year 1906-1907, for the following institutions, namely: Kingston Penitentiary, St. Vincent de Paul Penitentiary, Dorchester Penitentiary, British Columbia Penitentiary, Alberta Penitentiary. Separate tenders will be received for each of the following classes of supplies:

1. Milk, pure fresh.
2. Beef and Mutton (fresh.)
3. Forage.
4. Coal (anthracite and bituminous.)
5. Cordwood.
6. Groceries, Pork, Bacon.
7. Coal oil (in barrels.)
8. Dry Goods.
9. Drugs and Medicines.
10. Leather and Findings.
11. Hardware, Tinware, Paints, Oils &c.
12. Fish, fresh.

Details of information as to form of contract, together with forms of tender, will be furnished on application to the Wardens of the various institutions.

All supplies are subject to the approval of the Warden. All tenders submitted must specify clearly the institution, or institutions, which it is proposed to supply, and must bear the endorsement of at least two responsible sureties. Papers inserting this notice with order authority from the King's Printer will not be paid therefor.

DOUGLAS STEWART,
GEO. W. DAWSON,
Inspectors of Penitentiaries.
Ottawa, May 25, 1906.
June 2, ds31.

FATALLY SHOT. BOY GAMELY SEEKS AID.

True Worthy Fogg, Jr., of Lynn, Walks Out of Woods with Bullet in Body.

Boston Herald: True Worthy Fogg, Jr., the 16-year-old son of True Worthy Fogg of Mudge street, Lynn, a well known heel manufacturer, shot himself, probably fatally, with a 22-caliber rifle in Kitson's woods, Lynn, yesterday afternoon. The rifle had failed to work and he was examining it to see if he could fix it. Suddenly it went off, the bullet entering his body at the pit of the abdomen and going upward in a slanting direction toward the heart.

With him at the time were two younger boys, Leslie Gebow and Henry Fogg. The three were some distance into the woods, being about a 20 minutes' walk from the Fogg house. Fogg retained his presence of mind, told the boys to get one on each side of him and help him along, and walked thus nearly a quarter of a mile to the nearest house.

Mrs. S. F. Porter on New Park St. where he fell on the doorstep from weakness. He was taken in and Drs. F. L. Judkins and W. G. Ward called.

When the physicians reached the boy and saw his condition, a hurry call was sent for the police ambulance, which rushed him at breakneck speed to the Union Hospital, where an operation was performed and 16 holes in the intestines sewed up. It was impossible to find the bullet. At the hospital last evening it was said there was little hope of recovery.

Young Fogg was an attendant at Loring Villa, a private school in Salem, where he was in good standing in his classes and very popular. His parents are almost prostrated at the accident.

TO STOP A CRYING BABY.

Babies cry because they are sick. It may be a pain in the stomach, colic or cramps—but in any case a few drops of Nerviline soothes away the distress and allows the baby to sleep peacefully. Where there are young children there should also be Nerviline. It cures all the minor ailments just as promptly as the doctor—and not so expensive. For nearly fifty years Polson's Nerviline has been the great household remedy of Canada. Sold everywhere in large 25c. bottles.

MYSTERY HAS BEEN CLEARED UP.

Kidnapper of Wealthy Philadelphia Lad Run Down by Police—Found With Boy in Empty House.

Philadelphia, June 19.—Freddie Muth, the seven-year-old son of jeweller Chas. Muth, who was kidnapped from a public school last Tuesday, was found yesterday afternoon in a vacant house and returned to his parents.

John Joseph Kean, a member of a respectable New York family, one time bookkeeper of the Harlem Bank, a stock broker, and more recently a real estate agent, is the abductor. He was taken at the point of a pistol after being fired upon.

Kean is married, and the father of three children. He gave as his reason for his crime that he needed money.

From the day of the kidnapping until his arrest, Kean had kept the child in three vacant houses in West Philadelphia. Meantime the entire detective and police force of this city were conducting an unremitting search, and the authorities of other cities kept a look out for the pair.

Captain of Detectives Donaghy, of the local detective force was convinced that Kean and the child were here the evidence of this being in the five letters which the kidnapper sent to Mr. Muth negotiating for the return of the boy. All of these, with the exception of one received from Wilmington, Del. were from central district of Philadelphia. The Wilmington letter, the police say, Kean denies having written, although he refers to it in a subsequent communication. It is hinted that this missive was mailed by a woman, but the police declare that Kean had no confederates.

Joseph Sager, a baker, told a policeman last week that he had seen a man and a boy answering the description of the pair in an oyster store in Haverford Ave., shortly after midnight last Wednesday. Special officer Clare and Vale were instructed to remain in that neighborhood and their search led them to the very house occupied by the abductor and the child. By means of a rear shed Kean eluded the police, climbing into the back windows of two adjoining houses. A second investigation to-day resulted in the recovery of the boy and the arrest of the kidnapper.

Sager was acquainted with Kean and the police thus obtained his address. They visited his home and learned from his wife that he had not been there with her knowledge since last Monday. She stated, however, that he had evidently crept into the house as a pillow, an overcoat and a cape were in the room.

Chas. J. Cooke, a real estate dealer, subsequently complained to the collector that Kean, who had acted as police and agent for him had embezzled $400. Specimens of his handwriting were shown to the police and they were found to be identical with that in the letters addressed to Mr. Muth.

Clare and Vale again searched the vacant houses in their district, visiting number 423, 425 and 427 North 62nd street. When Vale reached the third floor of No. 425 he observed Freddie Muth standing on the rear shed of No. 427. He cried "Hello, Freddie." Freddie said "Hello,"

GREAT TRIBUTE TO MR. BRODEUR.

Quebec Liberals Greet the New Minister of Marine—Many Distinguished Men Gather in His Honor.

Mr. Fielding Also Receives a Great Demonstration.

Montreal, June 19.—In point of attendance and splendor the banquet given to Hon. L. P. Brodeur by local Liberals last night has never been exceeded in Montreal. It was indeed a great testimonial of appreciation by those who know the Minister of Marine and Fisheries as one of themselves. When the idea of this honor to the Liberal leader in this district was first thought of the question arose, where could a hall be found large enough to accommodate all who would wish to attend? and finally it was decided to engage the drill hall on Craig Street. The somewhat grim interior was transformed by decorators and electricians into a veritable blaze of light. Festoons of red, white and blue and tri-colors were draped in great profusion, and above the head table was a huge portrait of Mr. Brodeur, surrounded by flags and nautical emblems. Seating capacity for four hundred persons had been provided, but even that was overtaxed and many who could not sit down were obliged to wait and when the speaking began crowded into the main passageway. The galleries on all sides were packed with spectators, prominent among whom was Mrs. Brodeur, whose entrance caused the entire assemblage to rise to do her honor.

A DISTINGUISHED COMPANY.

Hon. Lomer Gouin, Premier of Quebec, presided. On his right hand sat the guest of honor, with Hon. Messrs. Fielding, minister of finance; Rodolphe Lemieux, Postmaster-General; Senator Legris, Arthur Brunet, M. P., Richelieu, and on his left hand Hon. Sydney Fisher, Minister of Agriculture; Hon. J. H. Cummins, Minister of Public Works, Prince Edward Island; Hon. J. Israel Tarte, Premier Scott, Saskatchewan, and Premier Rutherford, Alberta. Others at the head table were Mr. J. H. Lamont, Attorney-General, Saskatchewan; Messrs. George P. Graham, M. P., Brockville; Hon. Adolphe Turgeon, Minister of Crown Lands, Quebec; Hon. J. C. McCorkill, Provincial Treasurer, Quebec; Hon. J. B. Prevost and Hon. Jules Allard, members of the Quebec government.

After singing "God Save the King" flattering addresses were presented to Mr. Brodeur from the combined Liberal clubs of Montreal and from the electors of Rouville followed by an eloquent appreciation by Hon. Lomer Gouin. When the guest of honor rose to reply he was received with cheers, the whole gathering rising to signify their appreciation. A feature of the occasion was the striking manner in which Mr. Fielding was received when he was announced to respond to the toast "The Parliament of Canada." Tremendous cheers greeted him when he arose, and when he sat down the whole gathering stood up and with waving napkins sang "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow."

Mr. Brodeur devoted some time to the subject of transportation, dealing particularly with the port of Montreal, in comparison with New York, Boston, and Portland. He did not accept literally the statement that these three American ports were free to all carriers, and that they were, therefore, more attractive than Montreal, because it was to be presumed that railway companies owning facilities there include in their through bills of lading a sum sufficient to pay interest on the money invested.

Freight passing through these ports was called upon indirectly to pay warfarage dues, and it could be said further that when dues are collected at Montreal for the payment of three per cent. interest on money invested instead of six per cent. they would be lower than the rate of interest that would have to be provided by the railway companies doing business at competing ports. The government would introduce legislation to redeem certain bonds, six per cent. of the Montreal Harbor Commission, and then advance money at three per cent. and thereby reduce the port's liability to that extent. It was maintained that the whole country would benefit thereby as well as Montreal.

Mr. Brodeur again took occasion to emphasize his previous assertions, that his department had been authorized to carry on whatever works were necessary in order to facilitate transportation by water, with particular reference to the St. Lawrence.

Before concluding Mr. Brodeur traced his story of the Liberal party. He said the Baldwin-Lafontaine alliance was continued by Mackenzie and Dorian, and even in this late day it was being led by Laurier and Fielding. An appeal was made to the young men to take as political guides men of honor and integrity such as these.

MR. FIELDING.

Mr. Fielding was content to make only a few passing observations. After paying a tribute to Mr. Brodeur, he referred humorously to the changes that had taken place in the cabinet, and predicted many years of active service yet for Sir Wilfrid Laurier. But if the premier should at any time step aside from public life, his monument was already standing, and like the architect of St. Catharines, a person had only to look around to see it in the prosperity of the country, which was evident on all hands, in the great banking houses, great factories, and great commercial and financial institutions of all kinds.

Others who replied to his toast were Messrs. Fisher and Lemieux.

and immediately began to cry. Vale leaped through the window and stepped across the roof to the adjoining house. He was just in time to see Kean hurrying down the stairs. Drawing his revolver, he fired at the fleeing man, but missed him. He crawled through the window and followed, catching up with Kean as the latter was making for the front door. The policeman again pointed his revolver at the kidnapper, who threw up his hands, crying, "I surrender." The child reached the first floor as the arrest was made.

The kidnapper and his captive were hurried to the nearest police station and from there taken in a patrol wagon to the city hall. The news of the capture had reached the centre of the city and a great crowd gathered in the city hall. Kean trembled so that he could scarcely walk. With the boy he was taken into Mayor Weaver's office and the mayor telephoned Mr. Muth, who hastened to the spot. The meeting between father and child was affecting.

When his father had ceased to hug and caress him, Freddie drew several small coins from his pocket and showed them to Mr. Muth, saying that the man had given them to him. The child bore no evidences of ill treatment, beyond a lack of sufficient nourishment. He had been fed on bread and milk which Kean had stolen from doorsteps. Kean never left him alone until he was asleep.

The abductor making his statement to the Superintendent of police Taylor, seemed to be fearful that some one intended doing him some personal injury, and pleaded for protection. Kean told the police that he had embezzled from Cooke. In addition, he said he is in debt with no means of providing for his family. He said he never intended to harm the boy, and declared the statements he made in his letter to Mr. Muth that the child was being dosed with whiskey were untrue. He kept Freddie quiet by giving him candy and pennies, he said.

and immediately began to cry. Vale leaped through the window and stepped across the roof to the adjoining house. He was just in time to see Kean hurrying down the stairs. Drawing his revolver, he fired at the fleeing man, but missed him. He crawled through the window and followed, catching up with Kean as the latter was making for the front door. The policeman again pointed his revolver at the kidnapper, who threw up his hands, crying, "I surrender." The child reached the first floor as the arrest was made.

The kidnapper and his captive were hurried to the nearest police station and from there taken in a patrol wagon to the city hall. The news of the capture had reached the centre of the city and a great crowd gathered in the city hall. Kean trembled so that he could scarcely walk. With the boy he was taken into Mayor Weaver's office and the mayor telephoned Mr. Muth, who hastened to the spot. The meeting between father and child was affecting.

When his father had ceased to hug and caress him, Freddie drew several small coins from his pocket and showed them to Mr. Muth, saying that the man had given them to him. The child bore no evidences of ill treatment, beyond a lack of sufficient nourishment. He had been fed on bread and milk which Kean had stolen from doorsteps. Kean never left him alone until he was asleep.

The abductor making his statement to the Superintendent of police Taylor, seemed to be fearful that some one intended doing him some personal injury, and pleaded for protection. Kean told the police that he had embezzled from Cooke. In addition, he said he is in debt with no means of providing for his family. He said he never intended to harm the boy, and declared the statements he made in his letter to Mr. Muth that the child was being dosed with whiskey were untrue. He kept Freddie quiet by giving him candy and pennies, he said.

and immediately began to cry. Vale leaped through the window and stepped across the roof to the adjoining house. He was just in time to see Kean hurrying down the stairs. Drawing his revolver, he fired at the fleeing man, but missed him. He crawled through the window and followed, catching up with Kean as the latter was making for the front door. The policeman again pointed his revolver at the kidnapper, who threw up his hands, crying, "I surrender." The child reached the first floor as the arrest was made.

The kidnapper and his captive were hurried to the nearest police station and from there taken in a patrol wagon to the city hall. The news of the capture had reached the centre of the city and a great crowd gathered in the city hall. Kean trembled so that he could scarcely walk. With the boy he was taken into Mayor Weaver's office and the mayor telephoned Mr. Muth, who hastened to the spot. The meeting between father and child was affecting.

When his father had ceased to hug and caress him, Freddie drew several small coins from his pocket and showed them to Mr. Muth, saying that the man had given them to him. The child bore no evidences of ill treatment, beyond a lack of sufficient nourishment. He had been fed on bread and milk which Kean had stolen from doorsteps. Kean never left him alone until he was asleep.

The abductor making his statement to the Superintendent of police Taylor, seemed to be fearful that some one intended doing him some personal injury, and pleaded for protection. Kean told the police that he had embezzled from Cooke. In addition, he said he is in debt with no means of providing for his family. He said he never intended to harm the boy, and declared the statements he made in his letter to Mr. Muth that the child was being dosed with whiskey were untrue. He kept Freddie quiet by giving him candy and pennies, he said.

and immediately began to cry. Vale leaped through the window and stepped across the roof to the adjoining house. He was just in time to see Kean hurrying down the stairs. Drawing his revolver, he fired at the fleeing man, but missed him. He crawled through the window and followed, catching up with Kean as the latter was making for the front door. The policeman again pointed his revolver at the kidnapper, who threw up his hands, crying, "I surrender." The child reached the first floor as the arrest was made.

The kidnapper and his captive were hurried to the nearest police station and from there taken in a patrol wagon to the city hall. The news of the capture had reached the centre of the city and a great crowd gathered in the city hall. Kean trembled so that he could scarcely walk. With the boy he was taken into Mayor Weaver's office and the mayor telephoned Mr. Muth, who hastened to the spot. The meeting between father and child was affecting.

When his father had ceased to hug and caress him, Freddie drew several small coins from his pocket and showed them to Mr. Muth, saying that the man had given them to him. The child bore no evidences of ill treatment, beyond a lack of sufficient nourishment. He had been fed on bread and milk which Kean had stolen from doorsteps. Kean never left him alone until he was asleep.

The abductor making his statement to the Superintendent of police Taylor, seemed to be fearful that some one intended doing him some personal injury, and pleaded for protection. Kean told the police that he had embezzled from Cooke. In addition, he said he is in debt with no means of providing for his family. He said he never intended to harm the boy, and declared the statements he made in his letter to Mr. Muth that the child was being dosed with whiskey were untrue. He kept Freddie quiet by giving him candy and pennies, he said.

and immediately began to cry. Vale leaped through the window and stepped across the roof to the adjoining house. He was just in time to see Kean hurrying down the stairs. Drawing his revolver, he fired at the fleeing man, but missed him. He crawled through the window and followed, catching up with Kean as the latter was making for the front door. The policeman again pointed his revolver at the kidnapper, who threw up his hands, crying, "I surrender." The child reached the first floor as the arrest was made.

The kidnapper and his captive were hurried to the nearest police station and from there taken in a patrol wagon to the city hall. The news of the capture had reached the centre of the city and a great crowd gathered in the city hall. Kean trembled so that he could scarcely walk. With the boy he was taken into Mayor Weaver's office and the mayor telephoned Mr. Muth, who hastened to the spot. The meeting between father and child was affecting.

When his father had ceased to hug and caress him, Freddie drew several small coins from his pocket and showed them to Mr. Muth, saying that the man had given them to him. The child bore no evidences of ill treatment, beyond a lack of sufficient nourishment. He had been fed on bread and milk which Kean had stolen from doorsteps. Kean never left him alone until he was asleep.

The abductor making his statement to the Superintendent of police Taylor, seemed to be fearful that some one intended doing him some personal injury, and pleaded for protection. Kean told the police that he had embezzled from Cooke. In addition, he said he is in debt with no means of providing for his family. He said he never intended to harm the boy, and declared the statements he made in his letter to Mr. Muth that the child was being dosed with whiskey were untrue. He kept Freddie quiet by giving him candy and pennies, he said.

and immediately began to cry. Vale leaped through the window and stepped across the roof to the adjoining house. He was just in time to see Kean hurrying down the stairs. Drawing his revolver, he fired at the fleeing man, but missed him. He crawled through the window and followed, catching up with Kean as the latter was making for the front door. The policeman again pointed his revolver at the kidnapper, who threw up his hands, crying, "I surrender." The child reached the first floor as the arrest was made.

The kidnapper and his captive were hurried to the nearest police station and from there taken in a patrol wagon to the city hall. The news of the capture had reached the centre of the city and a great crowd gathered in the city hall. Kean trembled so that he could scarcely walk. With the boy he was taken into Mayor Weaver's office and the mayor telephoned Mr. Muth, who hastened to the spot. The meeting between father and child was affecting.