SAD, VERY SAD

Salisbury Lad Drowned in Sight of Parents and Friends who were Unable to Succor Him.

Moncton, July 3.—(Special).—Before his parents' eyes, Frank Barnes, age sixteen, son of H. C. Barnes, a well known merchant of Salisbury, was drowned last evening at a place called Mitton's Dam, on Little River fifteen miles from Salisbury. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes and family and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Rayworth went on a fishing excursion yesterday morning to Little River. Towards evening the party were fishing at Mitton's Dam and all but Frank Barnes had given up and were resting. Mrs. Barnes stood on the flume of the dam and the plank below shippery, he lost his footing and fell into a large pool below.

His father and mother and others were sitting on the bank within a few feet from where the lad went in. The father immediately rushed to his son's assistance but, being unable to swim, could not reach the spot. Planks were formed into a raft, but the boy could not be reached. The mother heard her son vainly call for help, but Rayworth, who was rendering all aid possible, says that he never came up. The body was recovered in about fifteen feet of water shortly after the catastrophe. Mrs. Barnes, who, with others were helpless witnesses of the sad affair, were completely prostrated by her son's untimely death.

The will shows that the estate was probated at $94,000 and of that amount $6,000 goes to seven institutions in different sums. The deceased also left personal bequests to the amount of $6500. The will was presented for probate today and letters testamentary were granted to Ernest H. Turnbull, W. Rupert Turnbull and Grace F. Turnbull, the executors and executrix named. Estate principally personal was probated of $94,000. The charitable bequests are: St. John's Stone church for poor, $2,500. Protestant Orphan Asylum, $1000. James Miles and Rev. Mr. Deinstedt for benefit of Glad Tidings' Mission, $1,000. Salvation Army for rescue home $500. Old Ladies' home $500. Free Public Library, $500. The personal bequests are as follows: Mrs. A. A. Tucker, mother of Mrs. A. H. F. Randolph, $1,000; Mrs. Judge Steadman, Fredericton, $500; Mrs. H. Chestnut, Fredericton, $500; Georgianna Gill, $500; Mrs. Julia Smithson, $500; Miss Amanda L. Mayberry, $500. Half interest of deceased in a summer cottage at Westfield, probated at $1000 is devised to Grace F. Turnbull and the balance of the estate is divided equally between the five children, Ernest Turnbull, W. Rupert Turnbull, Grace F. Turnbull, Mrs. Silas Alward and Mrs. Francis P. Starr. Mr. Silas Alward, K. C., son-in-law of deceased is proctor for the estate.

JUDICATURE ACT.

Minister of Justice Introduces Bill to Facilitate Proclamation of New Law in This Province.

Ottawa, July 3.—(Special).—Hon. A. B. Aylesworth in the House this afternoon, introduced a bill found necessary because of the abolition of the supreme court in New Brunswick, and the creation of two new courts instead. The Dominion act does not touch the provincial act but merely makes the changes necessary for its coming into force. Mr. Foster asked what would happen to the present judges of the supreme court. Mr. Aylesworth said that no mortal could very well say what was the position of the judges when their court was abolished, but in this instance it was intended to appoint the six judges to the new courts. Mr. Lake read from a Regina newspaper that R. G. Moberley who he said was concerned in the Prince Albert election case, was appointed enumerator to take the census. He wanted to know if this was correct. Mr. Fisher said that he could not tell the names, but they were no doubt in the department and he could not find out. Col. Hughes called the attention of the minister of the interior to a cable from London that the Salvation Army was sending one thousand immigrants to South America and desired to know if the minister of the interior would not try and get them for Canada. Mr. Oliver said he had an interview with an officer of the Salvation Army this morning, and he was told that these immigrants were not of so suitable a class as the army desired to bring to Canada.

THE WATER SPORTS.

Enormous Crowd of Spectators in Attendance.

The water sports on the river opposite the Bicycle and Boating club this morning attracted thousands of spectators. The conditions were ideal for the sports, but there was a hitch somewhere and things did not go off quite as smoothly as was expected. There were long and unnecessary delays between the events which were deadly tiresome for the spectators. This disadvantage, however, was somewhat offset by the excellent music furnished by the Marysville band, and a variety entertainment given by the jolly Tororo firemen.

The first event was the half mile canoe race, four paddles, which was won easily by Messrs. H. R. Babbitt, H. G. Chestnut, B. Wicket and Geo. H. Ferguson.

D. B. Winslow's team was second and Charles Fleet would have been third, but for an upset near the finish line.

The twenty-five yards swimming race was won by G. Yeld of St. John, with Percy McAvity second, and Hazen third and Arthur Finemore, fourth.

There were three starters in the single scull race, viz., Nice, Coates and Ross, all of St. John. The course was three-quarters of a mile with a turn. Nice took the lead at the start and finished five lengths ahead, with Coates second and Ross third.

The quarter mile swimming race was won by McAvity, with Yeld second and Hazen third.

Mr. S. W. Babbitt was an easy winner of the greased pole contest. The four-oared race was won easily by the Ianson-Belva crew who had a lead of over fifty yards at the finish.

The Neptune crew was the only competitor and they seemed to be easily outclassed. The distance was three quarters of a mile with a turn.

MONCTON ACCIDENT.

Man Had Both Legs Crushed by Train and May Die.

Moncton, July 3.—A bad holiday accident occurred at the I. C. R. depot yesterday morning at the time of the arrival of the morning trains, about 9.30. Anthony Landry, a hostler at Riverside Hotel, was struck by the incoming Springhill express and had both legs so badly crushed that amputation was found necessary. The left leg was taken off above the knee and the right above the ankle.

Landry's death may occur at any moment. The unfortunate man was going to Port Elgin to attend the horse races and was walking up the track to the station when he was struck by the train. The maritime express and Springhill train were arriving at the same time and Landry had his back to the Springhill train watching the maritime. One or two persons saw the dancer and shouted at him, but being a little deaf he apparently did not hear the warning. The driver saw the man too late to stop the train, although going slow at the time.

Landry was knocked down, his feet falling across the rails and the body outside. The engine trucks passed over his legs and horribly crushed them both. Hundreds of people were around the depot bent on excursions and the sight was shocking. The man was picked up for dead, but he revived. Landry is forty-seven years old and belongs to Memramcook.

TRADES PROCESSION.

This Morning's Parade a Very Inspiring
Sight Exhibiting Fredericton Industries
to Good Advantage—The Prize Winners

The weather conditions for the second day of Fredericton's old home celebration are all that can be desired. The crowd of visitors seems larger than ever and the success of the celebration is already assured. Yesterday was firemen's day and today the program prepared by the citizens committee is being carried out under ideal conditions.

The first big event was the mammoth trades procession, and it was successful beyond all expectations. It was booked to start from Smythe street at eight o'clock, but the floats were slow in assembling, and it was 10.30 o'clock before the procession was set in motion. The principal streets of the city were thronged with people, the great majority of whom appeared to be strangers, but they did not lose patience while waiting for the procession to come along. When at last it did come they considered their patience amply rewarded. There were upwards of twenty floats in the procession and they furnished a splendid illustration of the extent and importance of Fredericton as an industrial centre.

Chief Marshal D. J. Stockford and City Marshal Roberts rode at the head of the procession. Next came a barouche containing H. C. Mackey and C. K. Palmer, the energetic members of the committee.

Following this came a barouche containing Mayor McNally and Ald. John McGoldrick, and another containing Alds. Hooper, Hanlon, Moore and Maxwell. Next came a decorated barouche in which rode Mrs. C. K. Palmer, Mrs. A. A. Brewer, Mrs. H. H. Hagerman and several other ladies.

The Fredericton Brass Band came next, preceding J. S. Neil's mammoth float, carrying forth the merits of the famous Sherwin-Williams paints. A large globe, partially covered with paint, was mounted on a large truck wagon, and loomed up very conspicuously.

The next float was that of McManus & Company, shoe dealers, and attracted much attention. A large shoe, handsomely trimmed in yellow and white, was mounted upon a wagon, and driven by a single horse. Little Christine Colwell, dressed in white from her perch in the heel of the shoe guided the horse with a pair of silk reins.

The next float was that of the York and Sunbury Milling Company, showing an engine boiler and shingle machine in operation. It was driven by a team of four horses.

A float displaying the products of Mr. Michael Ryan's brick yard came next and made a fine display. Following this came J. C. Risteen & Company's delivery wagon, showing doors, sashes, blinds, etc., of their manufacture.

The Scott Lumber Company had three large double teams in the procession, showing the products of their Victoria Mill. The first team was loaded with planed hemlock, boards ready for shipment, another was loaded with high grade cedar shingles one with lath, and one with firewood. It was a fine display, and reflects credit upon this enterprising concern.

Another float gotten up by J. C. Risteen & Company, showed some splendid designs in church seats of their manufacture.

Among the best individual floats were two shown by the John Palmer Company, Limited. One showed green hides imported from South America, another goods boxed ready for shipment, and the third a crew of larrigans makers at work. A placard in large letters informed the public that there was nothing like leather and another stated that the Palmer Company are the largest manufacturers of oil tanned larrigans in the world.

Louis Lavine, the enterprising junk dealer, driving a load of junk, attracted a good deal of attention.

Probably the most interesting float in the procession was that of Emack Bros., the up to date taxidermists. They showed a neat log cabin, Indians in buckskin and feathers and game of all kinds, including the famous stuffed ducks, which figured in an interesting episode in a short time ago. Jim Paul, the celebrated guide who seemed to be in charge, entertained the spectators to exhibitions of the moose call. Miss Emack in the character of a hunter, added to the picturesqueness of the scene.

Another very handsome float was that of the Fred B. Edgecombe Company, Limited, showing a magnificent array of dress goods and ladies ready to wear suits. Misses Louise and Zilla Edgecombe, wearing pretty costumes, occupied a position on the float.

Another splendid industrial display was that of the Hartt Boot and Shoe Company. They showed goods fitted up ready for shipment to all parts of Canada and also a mammoth shoe, which occupied a separate float.

The Fredericton Carriage Company exhibited a big float showing a force of men engaged in building a carriage.

Messrs. J. Clark and Son exhibited the famous Deering mower rake and hay tedder.

Harry Niles drove a prettily decorated rig from Macpherson's stables, drawn by a pair of horses hitched tandem.

Another handsomely decorated turnout was driven by Mr. Dell Gunter of Gunter Bros. livery stable keepers.

One of the novelties of the procession was a truck wagon propelled by a stickney gasoline engine on the automobile principle. It was a good illustration of the utility of the Stickney engine for all kinds of work. This ingenious contrivance was the work of Mr. George J. Barrett.

The route taken by the procession was down George street to Regent, in Regent to Brunswick, down Brunswick to Church, in Church to Queen, up Queen to Smythe street where it disbanded.

The streets traversed by the parade were thronged with spectators, and the many splendid floats called forth a great deal of favorable criticism.

Much of the credit for the success of the trades procession was due to the efforts put forth by the energetic committee, composed of Messrs. H. C. Mackey, C. K. Palmer and J. A. Edwards.

THE JUDGES' REPORT

We your judges wish to report our decisions as follows:

Most handsome representation—F. B. Edgecombe Company Limited, 1st. prize $25; second prize McManus & Co., $10.

Best industrial representation—John Palmer Company, Limited, 1st. $25; Hartt Boot and Shoe Company, 2nd; $10.

We wish to make particular mention of the exhibits of J. C. Risteen & Co., Sherwin Williams Paint, Emack Bros., and George J. Barrett, the latter representing skill and ingenuity, which in our opinion should have received recognition. But the classification handed us would not permit of our awarding either of these a prize. We would suggest that your committee consider the advisability of donating a prize for each, placing Emack Bros. first and George Barrett second.

Barwick Will Not Put former
Out of Politics.
