Richard McBean was in this place hiring a man to help to hay. P. Owens has purchased a new road wagon.

James Craig, of Red Rock, was down and moved a house for Luther Evans and a barn for Robert Evans and a barn for John Densmore of this place.

Diarrhoea

MAY attack you at any time of the year, but it is more prevalent during the summer months. When this trouble attacks you, it does not pay you to experiment with untried remedies, but always procure one that has stood the test of time. Such a one is Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry. It has been on the market for 60 years and is considered by thousands of people as the best cure for all bowel complaints.

Mrs. WILFRED TOMLINSON, Victoria Harbor, Ont., writes: "I always keep Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry in the house, knowing from past experience that it is a sure and efficient remedy in diarrhoea and kindred bowel complaints."

It's the Kidneys

Close the sewers of a city and an epidemic rages. The kidneys are the sewers of the body. Let these vital organs become diseased and the whole system is affected, dizziness, headache, dull, listless feeling, shooting pains in the back, tell that the kidneys are in trouble.

AFTER TEN YEARS.

Mr. G. L. Stephenson, of Peterborough, says: "For over ten years I suffered constantly with Piles, first itching, then bleeding; pain almost unbearable, life a burden. Tried everything in vain until I used Dr. Leohardt's Hem-Roid."

"I had taken but a few doses when I began to notice an improvement. I decided to keep on, and now after using three boxes I am glad to say I am completely cured. My general health has also greatly improved. It gives me great pleasure to recommend Hem-Roid to all sufferers with Piles, and I feel convinced that what it has done for me it will surely do for them."

A $1,000 guarantee goes with every box of Hem-Roid. Price $1.00, all druggists, or The Wilson-Pyle Co., Limited, Niagara Falls, Ont.

WHEN 922 SIGHED.

The American Express Company owns a dear bay mare named No. 922. It was very hot in the Bronx yesterday and No. 922's bonnet was old and porous, says The New York Sun. She staggered and fell across the tracks of the Union Railway Co. at 138th Street and Third Avenue.

Two women descended from a stalled car and one of them pressed a bottle of smelling salts on Mr. Harger, the driver.

Doubting even as he did it, Mr. Harger took the bottle and, removing the stopper, slipped it out of sight up No. 922's nostril. The two stylishly dressed women held hands in a moment's agony of suspense. No. 922 sighed and slowly opened one eye in mute questioning, as though she would ask:

"Is my hat on straight?" She sighed again, and with some help got up and was able to go to her home.

In a small country church near Harrisburg not long since a little child was brought forward. The young minister taking the little one in his arms spoke as follows:

"Beloved hearers no one can forth the future of this little child. He may grow up to be a great astronomer like Sir Isaac Newton or a great orator like Patrick Henry, and it is possible that he might become the President of the United States."

Turning to the mother he inquired "What is the name of the child?"

"Mary Ann," was the reply.

I. C. R. CONDUCTOR SUSPENDED.

Special Auditors Appear to Have Discovered Gross Irregularities.

Moncton Transcript—Presumably as a result of the train auditing on the I. C. R. Conductor R. E. Rutnerford, who is an old time conductor, has been indefinitely suspended on instructions from Ottawa. After the train auditors' work on the train was completed an Eastern newspaper circulated a story that everything was found correct and the train audit was a failure. But failure is not the word to use.

When the auditors audit a station-master's account, and the accounts are found correct, the audit is not declared a failure because no irregularities exist. The audit is to be conducted whether irregularities exist or not.

But since rumors are permissible respecting the train audit not revealing any irregularities in the case of one of the Sydney expresses, it may be stated that rumors current in Moncton were exactly the reverse. It was currently reported that every possible irregularity was found existing on that particular express. For a long time past, stories about the heavily loaded trains on sections of the road not earning their mileage were current in railway circles, and it was said that on other sections of the road remote from Moncton considerable irregularities existed.

Rumor further stated that enquiries conducted over the road confirmed such statements, and because of this, the circular letter warning conductors against violation of the rules was issued some months ago. The enquiry was and the warning given. The warning itself was criticized by the "Tory press as an insult to the conductors, precisely the same as is now the principle of train auditing. But the train auditing seems to have resulted in the suspension of a conductor indefinitely and it is regrettable that the suspended man is of long service. If any injustice has been done him, he has the right of appeal, and no doubt the Brotherhood will demand an investigation; but to the meantime this is not being done.

The incident is a regrettable one, but what else can be done under the circumstances? The audit has been established, the reports are going to Ottawa, but no advice or suggestion is given by the train auditor. He simply reports the facts as they are ascertained and the department acts upon the facts.

NUDE WILD MAN.

Roaming the Forest, Terrifies Women and Children in New Hampshire.

Langdon, N. H., July 25.—For a week two New Hampshire towns have been terrorized by a so-called wild man, who, naked, has been seen by children picking berries, and who, at the slightest sound, would disappear into the thick brush that lines the road for miles.

At first little credence was given to the children's tale, but since Saturday, perhaps becoming bolder by hunger, the unfortunate man has been seen by farmers a dozen times, and farmers' wives were also frightened.

On Saturday night the shooting of Farmer Thomas Bushway's colts and the wild rags against Bushway by the unknown armed with a huge revolver, caused the climax, and on Sunday the man hunt was on. Mr. Bushway had gone with his dog for the cows, a short distance from the house. At the loud barking of the dog he investigated. As he saw a man clad in overalls and an old straw hat which came from a scarecrow in his field, six shots rang out, three bullets hitting the dog.

Then the maniac began raving and yelling that Bushway had shot the dog on him, and that he would kill him if the dog was not called off. Bushway replied that he had sent the dog to get the cows and the unknown man ran into the woods.

Yesterday the authorities of Alstead and Langdon enlisted every available man and despite the heavy rain miles of forest were searched in vain. A Herald reporter accompanied one of the parties.

Late yesterday afternoon, four miles from Langdon, while driving through a valley, a face peered from behind a tree some distance away. Enough was seen of the man to show that he was undressed from the waist up. His body was heavily tanned. Before he could be reached he darted away.

Karl E. Waldron of Bellows Falls a photographer, was supposed to have been drowned five weeks ago. His clothes were found on the banks of the Connecticut, but several facts cast much doubt on the drowning theory. The river was dragged for his body. Waldron was of peculiar temperament, and once before disappeared for some time, a revolver that he always carried being missing, with his watch and money. A well founded theory that the wild man and Waldron are identical is growing among his friends. So convinced are his relatives that this may be him that his former pastor, the Rev. C. D. Hooper, arrived here last night from Winchester to join in the search. A reward has been offered for his capture, and the searching parties will continue the hunt tomorrow.

A FORTUNE FOR THE HEIR.

Strange Romance and Tragedy of a British Captain.

New York, July 25.—The Tribune captain of a British steamer. No-says—John Cox, an English baronet, who is staying at the Waldorf. He retired early last fall. Those who are looking for Henry Pollexfen, son of Captain Pollexfen, a retired sea-man, who was murdered in London last winter. He says he has a fortune for the young man; in round numbers nearly three-quarters of a million dollars was found in London banks in his father's name. Mr. Cox had intended, he said, conducting a search for the missing heir quietly, and through the proper channels, but the loss of a Spanish gold piece bearing a portrait of the missing heir forced him to insert the following advertisement in a paper yesterday:

"A reward of $1,000 for the present address in America of Henry Pollexfen, son of Captain Pollexfen, who was murdered recently in London; also suitable reward for Spanish gold piece bearing portrait and inscription on one side, lost on Fifth Avenue yesterday."

Mr. Cox was found last night at the Waldorf, and after saying that he was a member of a firm of English barristers, with offices at Bishop Gate, he told the story of Captain Pollexfen's life. Briefly it appears that he had been for the greater part of his life, the the furs had been stolen, and were asked to watch. Seifter followed on Saturday and he and the police have done some active work on the matter. Kovinsky would seem to have been the receiver, while the others for stealing $16,000 worth of furs from the merchant, Seifter of New York City. The police received the elated at the result of the stroke, in tip a few days ago from Seifter that which Detective Campeau of Windsor,

When the St. Agatha train was nearing St. Jerome, Quebec, Tuesday morning, Engineer Wight noticed a child on the track. He saw that it would be impossible for him to stop the heavy train in time, so after applying the brakes he ran along the running boards and down to the cowcatcher. As the locomotive approached the little one, he leaped forward and at the risk of his own life, picked the little child off the track.
