CRICKET.

COLTS TRIMMED THE VETERANS BY 19 RUNS.

The "Veterans," cricketers who were prominent in the game a few decades ago, played the "Colts" a one inning match yesterday afternoon on the College athletic field, and lost to the youngsters by nine runs.

Such giddy old fellows as Harry Rutter, Jimmy Hawthorn, Johnny Fleming, "Cornie" Bodkin, "Sammy" Babbitt, William Henry Norton-Taylor, Tommy Fowler, Odubon Sharpe and others formed the Veterans team, and they were easy marks for the Colts. When the old fellows got limbered up, however, they will easily make mutton of the youths who downed them yesterday. For the Veterans, Bodkin and Norton-Taylor batted nicely, making 20 and 32 runs secured. Mr. Rutter promised well but popped up a little fly, which was accepted after he had broken his goose egg, and Major Hawthorn, one of the most graceful and dashing bats in all Canada, hit a beauty almost a half a mile, but was greedily gathered in by Coleman.

For the Colts, Powell, Douglas, Roberts and Coleman led in the batting, the first named putting 14 runs together by vigorous play. The bowlers for the Veterans were Fowler, Norton-Taylor and Rutter, and the first named was in something of this old time form.

The Colts had Capt. Theodore Roberts, Oxley and Coleman to bowl, and all were fairly effective. The umpires were King's Printer Tibbitts and Deputy Receiver General Babbitt. The score in detail was as follows:

NO MORE BETTING.

Gambling, according to the Boston Post, is to be stamped out at both local baseball parks. Captain Hanley sat in the grand stand at the South End yesterday and had conference with Messrs. Soden and Conant. Hanley is determined and will wage a relentless war against the baseball gamblers. For the present the war will be waged at the South End, but when the Collins team returns home the police will go after the gamblers at the Huntington Avenue grounds. "Both clubs will be treated alike, and the police will demand the co-operation of the club owners." We have just received complaints concerning the betting at both parks," said Captain Hanley. "I am out to stop it entirely and will insist on the co-operation of the club owners." There is no denying that gambling flourished at both parks. It was the same last season when the Post's baseball editor waged a fruitless crusade against it. According to the police a list of the gamblers will be furnished to both clubs, and the club owners will be asked to refuse to sell them tickets or to allow them inside the parks. If they refuse there is sure to be something doing, and continued refusals to help the police will probably result in a request to the Mayor's office that the licenses of the two clubs be revoked. At yesterday's game no less than a dozen policemen in citizen's clothes sat in the first base seats among the sports, but the latter had been tipped off.

NOTES FOR FANS.

Chicago Americans only made one hit off Orth, but won by 1 to 0 from New York, who had light hits to their credit. Chicago's solitary run was scored on a couple of errors. Montreal has a fast, hustling team. Bill Massey looks even younger, and is in reality pounds lighter than he was when with Toronto. Jimmy Bannan and Wagner have not forgotten their cunning.

Big First Baseman Meek belied his name at Providence in the last game, being chased from the grounds by Umpire Kelly. Manager Ewings was also given his "walking papers" and The Providence Tribune says that "the crowd took Barrow's part in the case and subjected the umpire to some more abuse."

Manager Burnham has recalled Pitcher Jack Burke, the St. Bonaventure College boy, who made a good record with the team two years ago. Although playing with western Pennsylvania clubs last year, Burke remained the property of Newark.

McCoy, the Southern League pitcher secured by Newark from Washington this spring, has been turned back to the American Leaguers. He failed to make good in the Eastern circuit.

The Boston Americans have been shut out six times, and the Nationals 10 times—each scoring the most in their respective organizations.

The Philadelphia Press says that Outfielder Clay has been flogging the ball in a way that reminds one of old times and leads his team in hitting.

Walter Brodie of Providence keeps up his hitting, 321 in 39 games; La Chance, 303 in 38 games, and a fielding percentage of .493. Bully for Candy.

Up to the last of last week the Chicago "Clubs" had three leading batsmen in the first four of the National league—Steinfeldt, Schulte and Chance.

Manager Donovan thinks that the chances of the New York "Giants" are the best for the flag. Wonder what in the world he bases this belief upon.

Jack Kerin, the umpire of the New England staff last season, was not allowed to go on the field the second game at Newark Sunday by the police, and Rochester began the game under protest.

Fred Lake's confidence in Maroney, who was tried by Boston Nationals in a few games, seems not to have been misplaced, as the youngster has been doing very good work, indeed, for the Lowell team.

With New York in its present enfeebled condition it looks as if the race would be between Chicago and Pittsburg. The latter team had landed 20 out of 24 games up to yesterday. That's going some.

President Shettsline will file a protest against the award of Saturday's game in Philadelphia to Pittsburg. "Shetts" says that in all of his experience he never witnessed such arbitrary rulings by an umpire.

The attack of diphtheria suffered by Mathewson is responsible for his condition. The great pitcher is as weak in his knee joints as a baby. What he ought to do is to get away from his present haunts, seek new scenes and gain complete rest. He will be of no use to his team for a long time to come.

THE TURF.

SADDLE AND SULKY.

There will be no pool selling on Massachusetts tracks this year. The Hamilton stewards have taken Stopelesse Jockey Archibald's badge from him and turned him away from the track.

Muriel Wilkes, a pacing mare by Harry Wilkes, has been bought by L. Bennett, Port Hope, who used to handle Looking Glass.

The Nova Scotia government are in the market for another trotting stallion. They purchased some time ago the stallion Achilles, 2:15, and his book is full.

M. Daly, known as "Little Mike," to distinguish him from the owner of Claude, and well known on the Canadian circuit, will handle the jumpers of J. W. Colt.

The three-cornered match for $2,500 a corner between Sweet Marie, 2:04, Tiverton, 2:04, and Wentworth, 2:04, will take place over the Readville, Mass., track. The second payment of $1,000 each has been made. The date set for the race is July 4.

The Ashley Stock Farm, Foxboro, near Belleville, has secured through its manager, Hartford Ashley, the standard-bred stallion Noble Lad, whose sire, Noble Wilkes, has a trotting record in a race over a half mile track of 2:13. He is pure gaited, trotting in all his races without boots or weights of any kind.

The success of Spearmint in both the English and French Derbys has brought to light the fact that at one time James B. Haggin and Marcus Daly were trying to buy his famous sire, Carbine, for $65,000, but the deal fell through because of the drop in silver. Carbine was one of the greatest horses in Australia. He won many notable races, including the Melbourne Cup, in which he defeated nearly forty horses with 145 pounds on his back.

The famous broodmare Cinderella, regarded as the queen of the American studbook, is dead at the Kindergarten Stud of Dr. J. D. Neet, in Woodford county, Lexington, and that noted breeder will erect a fine monument over the mare's grave. Cinderella cost Dr. Neet $500, and she raised him from an obscure country physician to a wealthy land-owner. She was the dam of Hastings, Plaudit, Migraine, Handsome, Foreigner, Frier, Glanheim, Glanheim and other noted turf performers and sires. Dr. Neet refused to sell the mare to the late W. C. Whitney for $15,000, on the ground that it would break up his family, consisting of himself, wife, daughter and the mare.

THE RING.

FEW DEATHS DUE TO BOXING.

In an article in the medical record relating to mortality among athletes and fatalities in athletic games Dr. Robert E. Coughlin of Brooklyn, who has been making a special study of the subject, marvels at the opposition which glove contests have aroused. The statistics which he presents show that during the past two years foot ball has been responsible for 28 "accidental" deaths; base ball 12; horse racing, 9; and boxing 6.

For a period of 15 years no fatality or serious mishap has occurred among the notables in the prize ring, the struggle against death being confined to the set-to can readily be followed, not only by referees and seconds but also by the spectators, and for the most part, the rules are rigidly enforced. A foul blow or an attempt to take any unfair advantage, disqualifies the offender. There is afforded, moreover, the opportunity, frequently embraced, to stop the contest in case it becomes apparent that the contestants are not evenly matched, while what is termed the speed required to fight even for a limited number of rounds makes necessary careful preparation and training.

That it is a rough game is cheerfully admitted; to the eye it could not be well be rougher. Nevertheless, the table of averages, taking contest with contest and race with race, proves that it does not call for the sacrifice of life and limb demanded by the National pastime, by foot ball as played by the colleges or by trials of speed and endurance on the running, trotting, and steeplechasing courses, none of which has been pronounced illegal. Dr. Coughlin is by no means alone in his failure to comprehend the public sentiment which has found strong expression against prize fighting, as it is commonly called; but unfortunately, comparatively few possess the courage of their convictions, the vast majority being content to popular prejudice, and that there is a violent prejudice against fistfights is obvious enough.

And there is reason for it. In the nature of things reports of encounters in the roped arena give to them a color which does not belong to them, and make them appear far more brutal than they are; they arouse the passion for somewhat reckless speculation and they are patronized by an element which in the estimation of the community does not stand as high as it might and deserves, perhaps, to stand no higher than it does.

Yet to a considerable degree, at least, the more dangerous pastimes mentioned are open to precisely the same criticism, apart from the description of them which do not happen. With New York, whether of assent or dissent when Dr. Coughlin insists that the law blindly discriminates against the "least objectionable" of the diversions in the category, it must be confessed that his conclusions are not wholly without foundation.

BRADLEY'S HARD LUCK.

If Ike Bradley, the British bantam who fought Tommy O'Tole in Philadelphia, had followed the advice of Eddie Keavin he would not be a discredited pugilist who will find it difficult to get even a good preliminary match.

Walsh's manager knew that Bradley was not a short-distance fighter, and repeatedly warned him against engaging in any six-round battles with clever boys. He is a rugged boxer, with two wallops, who delight in a long bout. Ike was an utter stranger to the six-round game, and had no earthly chance to outpoint O'Tole.

If Bradley had played a waiting game and had refused to be led around by the nose by a graffer, he would now be in the line for a 15-round bout with Jimmy Walsh. This match would have brought him a good pot of money. He can now eat snowballs next winter and hike back to England on a cattle ship.

Monuments have been erected over the graves of most of the famous English pugilists. In America many of the top-notchers lay in unmarked graves, but in Britain it is customary for the followers of the boxing to subscribe funds to provide suitable slabs. No headstone marks the place where Jack Dempsey sleeps his last sleep. Pugilists are more considerably treated in England after their death than they are in America.

Athletes and trainers regard the "440" as the man-killer of an athletic program. No event so exhausts the athlete's energy as the quarter. The 440 is merely a prolonged 100-yard dash. Speed, staying qualities and sand are the chief requisites of the successful quarter-miler. A runner with a long stride a deep chest and a strong heart is well equipped for this distance. Most of the top-notchers have been athletes of the tall, rangy type.

"Why is it Willie, that you have to stay after school nearly every day?"

"Well, ma, I hate to blow about myself, but I'm beginning to believe that teacher must enjoy being alone with me."

When the bread or cake or pastry comes from the oven light, crisp and appetizing, you are wont to say you have had good luck with your baking.

The "good luck" idea is a relic of the time when housekeepers pitted their competency against poor flour.

To-day good baking isn't a matter of good luck in any home where Royal Household Flour is intelligently used.

In the hands of competent housewives it never fails because it is the whitest, lightest, purest and best baking flour to be had.

If the goodness of your baking is due to chance, your grocer is giving you the wrong kind of flour. Ask for Ogilvie's Royal Household.

USED MEN AT THE OFFICE UP AND TIRED OUT

Every day in the week and every week in the year men, women and children feel all used up and tired out.

The strain of business, the cares of home and social life and the task of study cause terrible suffering from heart and nerve troubles. The efforts put forth to keep up to the modern "high pressure" mode of life in this age soon wears out the strongest system, shatters the nerves and weakens the heart.

Thousands find life a burden and others an early grave. The strain on the system causes nervousness, palpitation of the heart, nervous prostration, sleeplessness, faint and dizzy spells, skip beats, weak and irregular pulse, smothering and sinking spells, etc. The blood becomes weak and watery and eventually causes decline.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are indicated for all diseases arising from a weak and debilitated condition of the heart or of the nerve centres. Mrs. Thos. Hall, Keldom, Ont., writes: "For the past two or three years I have been troubled with nervousness and heart failure, and the doctors failed to give me any relief. I decided at last to give Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills a trial, and I would not now be without them if they cost twice as much. I have recommended them to my neighbors and friends."

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills 50 cts. per box or 3 for $1.25, all dealers, or The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ELLEN TERRY'S JUBILEE.

Marked Affection of English Playgoers.

London, June 14.—The lasting and affectionate regard in which English playgoers hold their stage favorites found splendid exemplification to-day in the matinee at the Drury Lane Theatre in commemoration of the theatrical jubilee of Ellen Terry. It was the most remarkable manifestation of its kind in the history of the British stage, not only attracting to the great historic auditorium an immense audience representative of all walks of life, but crowding the stage with the most notable names in the dramatic and musical profession, including playwrights and composers, in an unprecedented programme which continued from 12.30 to 7.30 o'clock. The most conspicuous, of course, was the first act of "Much Ado About Nothing," with Miss Terry as Beatrice, and twenty-two other members of the Terry family in the cast, but perhaps the most moving and memorable event was reserved for the end in the reception scene on the stage. Here Miss Terry was surrounded by 500 of her friends, embracing the participants in the programme and other well-known members of the profession, including Sir Charles Villiers Stanford and Sir Alexander Campbell MacKenzie among the musicians. The enthusiasm of the audience was unbounded, and each appearance of Miss Terry was greeted with cheering and nomenclapping lasting many minutes.

Before the performance began Miss Terry was given a tribute by the pit and gallery gods, who for more than 24 hours had waited patiently for the performance to open, amusing themselves in good-natured fashion, the long vigil being rendered eventful by the appearance of Miss Terry at the gallery doors at midnight to look at these friends through tear-dimmed eyes. Her youngest brother Fred Terry, at 5 o'clock this morning, played the part of commissariat officer to the waiting crowd.

Keep thy shop and thy shop will keep thee. What is given shines, what is received is rusty.
