The marriage of Miss Gertrude Beaumont, former stenographer in the Iron and Steel Works at Sydney, to Percy R. Smith, accountant of the Nova Scotia Furniture Company, Sydney, was solemnized at two o'clock this afternoon at the bride's home here. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. E. Whitehouse, pastor of the First Baptist Church, in the presence of the immediate family and friends. Mr. and Mrs. Smith left this afternoon on a wedding trip to Montreal and other cities. The bride was one of Moncton's bright and highly esteemed young women, and was the recipient of many handsome wedding gifts.

CLASH OF AUTHORITY.

Moncton Constable Arrested for Executing Authority but Parties Responsible Declined to Prosecute.

Moncton, Oct. 17.—(Special).—Constable A. W. Belyea, who was arrested last evening by I. C. R. Officer Perry, charged with violating rules forbidding constables entering I. C. R. shops to execute papers, was discharged from court this morning under strange circumstances.
I. C. R. solicitor Sherren and Officer Perry, who made the arrest, were both present when the prisoner was brought from the cell, but neither would prosecute.
Mr. Sherren stated, that the I. C. R. disclaimed all responsibility in connection with the matter.

Belyea alleges he had a warrant for the party's arrest for theft, when he was taken in charge by Perry. Action for false arrest he says will be brought.
Perry told the court that he was simply carrying out instructions given by the I. C. R. police.
The case has aroused much interest in railway circles.
Jack Jonah, a confirmed inebriate, when brought before the police magistrate this morning, was somewhat startled when the magistrate announced "You are not to be placed in jail again this winter, You can lay out in the cold."

RAILWAY BUILDING.

Mr. Mann Tells About the Progress of a Great Transcontinental Railway--His Tip to Fowler.

Ottawa, Oct. 17.—(Special).—Mr. D. Mann of MacKenzie and Mann, was in the city today.
Seen by your correspondent, Mr. Mann said that the construction of the Halifax and South-Western would be completed this year. There was some bridging and ballasting to be done. When completed, this would finish the work of the firm in Nova Scotia.
"How is your work in Quebec and Ontario getting along?"
"We expect to be running from Montreal to Quebec next year. In Ontario the line from Toronto to Parry Sound is completed, and will be opened for operation in a few days.
"From Parry Sound to Sudbury, about 80 miles, the work is completed.
It will be in operation next summer."

About 40 miles of the road between Hawkesbury and Ottawa is built, and once the capital is reached, we will have a through line from Ottawa to Quebec and we have a charter from the mouth of the French River to Ottawa.
In the Canadian west we expect to lay track on nearly 300 miles of branch lines west of Lake Superior this year.
"What about the Fowler letter before the Insurance Commission?"
"The information to Mr. Fowler, M. P. was neither secret nor confidential. It was given to him just in the same way as it was given to others with a view of settling the lands along our railway. The same information was given to every one who asked for it. A great many people enquired about the location of the Canadian Northern, and in every case it was given to them."

AN AWFUL DISASTER.

Biserta, Tunis, Oct. 17.—The French submarine boat Lutin left this port yesterday morning for plunging experiments. Signals received at 10 o'clock last night reported her disappearance. Two torpedo boats and three tugs have gone out in search of the submarine. No news of her recovery has been received.
The Lutin is a single screw steel submarine boat, designed by Mauges and built at Toulhoute in 125'. She carried a complement of fourteen men. She is 145 feet long, with a diameter of nine feet, six inches. Her displacement is 185 tons and her speed 12.65 knots on the surface, and 8 knots submerged. Her motive power is derived from electric accumulators.
The reported loss of the Lutin recalls the catastrophe to the French submarine boat Farfadet, July 6, 1905, at the entrance to the port of Sidi Abdallah, Tunis. Commandant Rotier, of the Farfadet, notified, at the moment of plunging, that one of the doors was not closed properly men, under command of Lieut. Phoepon. Admiral Bellue, commander of the Tunis naval division, who went out in a tug, returned at a late hour last night and said that owing to the heavy seas and the obscurity it was impossible to continue salvage operations until dawn. The tugs and torpedo boats, however, remained near the place where the Lutin made her final plunge all through the night. One of the boats reports that its drags encountered resistance as if a vessel was lying at the bottom.

The British Consul general here proposed to the French resident general to telegraph to the British admiralty at Malta for salvage assistance. This offer was accepted and powerful salvage apparatus were sent at once to the catastrophe.
Paris, Oct. 17.—M. Thomson, the minister of marine, has received an official despatch from the naval commandant at Biserta, confirming the sinking of the submarine Lutin.
The message says: "The submarine Lutin, while exercising off the Jetties disappeared from the view of the accompanying tug. Search and dragging operations were begun immediately, and resistance was felt at a distance of 130 feet near the place where the Lutin sank."
