A FOUL MURDER.

Woman at New Ireland, Albert County,
Found in Cellar, With Throat Cut.

HIRED MAN WHO HAS DISAPPEARED SUSPECTED OF THE ASTROGIOUS CRIME.

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Meagre particulars have been received here of the murder of the housekeeper for Rev. Father McAulay, parish priest at New Ireland, Albert County. She was murdered some time on Monday by having her throat cut with some sharp instrument, presumably a razor. The crime was discovered at 8 o'clock on Tuesday evening. The hired man at the priest's house named Colling is missing and is supposed to be the guilty party.

Further particulars of the New Ireland tragedy are to the effect that Father McAulay left home last week, leaving in charge his housekeeper, Miss McAulay, a cousin of the priest, and a French youth about 20 years of age, whose name is unknown. Father McAulay returned home yesterday and was horrified to find the dead body of Miss McAulay in the cellar with her throat cut. The young man left in charge had disappeared.

It is stated that Father McAulay had met the young man in Sussex Monday, and asked him how everything was at home. The youth's answer was somewhat evasive and left some uneasiness in the mind of the priest, who decided to hurry home. He reached New Ireland Tuesday evening, finding his housekeeper dead as described.

Miss McAulay was about 50 years of age, and had made her home with Father McAulay for some time.

Dr. Murray, coroner at Albert, was notified of the affair and an inquest is now being held at the home of Father McAulay, New Ireland.

No tidings can be found of the youth left in charge by Father McAulay, and suspicion naturally rests upon him, as being the guilty party. There is little doubt in the minds of those investigating the case but it is murder most foul. The Moncton police have been wired a description of the young man wanted asking them to be on the lookout for him.

A SWEEPING REFORM.

Bill to Prevent Combines Introduced in the Australian Parliament.

Toronto, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Mr. J. H. Stewart, general secretary of the Canadian Manufacturer's Association, has received a copy of a bill introduced in the Australian Federal House by Hon. Sir William Lyne, minister of trade and commerce, which provides that any person guilty of an indictable offense and liable to a penalty of 500 pounds or one year in prison or both, who whether, as a member or agent of any association, enters into any kind of an agreement or combine to aid or abet the restriction of trade by unfair competition.

The same penalties are imposed on any person or corporation conspiring to prevent the employment of men or to cause men employed to lose their work and the bill is equally severe on those who organize or assist in organization of any monopoly for the control of supplies or prices. Any one who suffers injury in either person or property through a combination of conspiracies, or monopolies resorted to, shall be entitled to sue and recover in the courts three times the amount of damage he suffers. The bill also prohibits merchants from buying goods in European markets at slaughtered prices and then selling them after paying duty at a loss partially.

HFLD UP BY FOG.

Sussex Excursionists Spent the Night on The River.

St. John, Aug. 22.—Four hundred picknickers from Sussex were held up by fog on the Kennebecasis last night. The party arrived at Rousesay by train yesterday morning and took the steamer May Queen there for Gagetown. The trip to Gagetown was made all right and on the return the steamer got to the entrance of the Kennebecasis when fog became so thick the captain thought it wise to anchor the steamer for the night. This he did and the party landed at Rousesay at 9.30 this morning. There was much anxiety at Sussex over the delay of the picknickers.

FOR BETTER TERMS.

Hon. Mr. Brodeur Holds Out Little Hope for the Provinces.

St. Hilaire, Que., Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Before an audience of at least 2,500 persons at the annual Rouville County picnic at Otterburn Park yesterday, Hon. L. P. Brodeur made some interesting declarations regarding the provincial subsidy. After congratulating the people of Rouville on the sacrifices they made to keep their schools up to the highest possible standard, he continued: "Distrust those who demand the readjustment of the Federal subsidies. Many of the fathers of Confederation, its principal author even, would have preferred legislative union to provincial autonomy. That belief is not dead in Canada. Let us take care that the complaints of the provinces do not re-awaken it."

Beware lest an amendment to the constitution for readjusting the Federal subsidy be made a precedent, a justification, for those who would like to ask this further amendment of the constitution; the transformation of our system into a legislative union. We must guard against shortsightedness. We must guard against the assaults that provincial autonomy may have to undergo in twenty-five or forty years. Let us shun everything that might enfeeble our right, our dear-bought right to local liberty."

Mr. Alfred Girard, M. L. A. for the county, denounced the system of seigniorial rents as a relic of mediocrity. He objected also to the system by which the farmer alone bore the cost of maintaining the roads, which served the whole population, and had to pay taxes on his land, when the man who put his money into loans and mortgages enjoyed his revenues untaxed.

CONTRACT JUMPING.

C. P. R. Adopting Stronger Measures to Prevent It.

Montreal, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—Reports from Winnipeg and various points throughout the west indicate that laborers are taking advantage of the scarcity of help, and contract jumping is a frequent occurrence. Prosecutions have been entered in several cases and at Saskatoon the C. P. R. has issued summons against seventy men who were brought from Ontario recently, but who left the service of the company summarily for the harvest fields and higher wages.

THE TELEPHONE MERGER.

St. John, Aug. 22.—(Special.)—President T. H. Estabrooks of the Central Phone Company announced this afternoon that the Company had agreed to merge with the New Brunswick Company. This will end the 'phone war and will also end any chance of a cut in the telephone rates.

Messrs. Norman Gregory, A. G. Gregory and W. B. Gregory are at the Queen.

A POPULAR OFFICIAL.

Mr. T. C. Allen Has Seen Nearly Twenty-five Years of Public Service.

The New Freeman says:—Mr. T. C. Allen of Fredericton, was in the city this week. Mr. Allen has been clerk of the Supreme Court for nearly a quarter of a century. Under the provisions of the Judicature Act, which creates a new court, the position now held by Mr. Allen is changed to that of Registrar, and duties have been added to the office which formerly fell to the lot of one of the judges. The labors of Mr. Allen being thus very materially increased, there is no doubt that provision will be made for a substantial increase in his salary, which is now $2,200 per year. It has been Canadian for many years past, considering the importance of his work, that Mr. Allen was the poorest paid official in Canada. Now that judicial duties are to be added to his work no serious objections could be made to a proposal making his salary nearly double what it is at the present time. Mr. Allen, besides being one of Fredericton's most highly esteemed citizens, is one of the most efficient and popular officials in New Brunswick. His important duties bring him into close contact with members of the judiciary and bar and all can bear witness to his uniform courtesy and peculiar fitness for the office he holds. The Herald sincerely hopes that the rumor given currency by the New Freeman, "that provision will be made for a substantial increase in Mr. Allen's salary" is well founded.—Herald.)

ANOTHER FATALITY.

Charles F. Hewitson Fell over the Star Line Wharf and was Drowned—Inquest to be Held.

The St. John River added another to its long list of victims last night in the person of Mr. Charles F. Hewitson of Doak Settlement, who walked over the edge of the Star Line wharf and was drowned. The accident happened at 10.15 o'clock, and although the body was quickly recovered, all efforts at resuscitation proved fruitless.

It was Miss Ladds, a waitress on the steamer Victoria, who first discovered the accident and gave the alarm. She heard a splash on the port side of the steamer and peering over the railing made out what appeared to be a man struggling in the water. Capt. Taylor and the officers of the Victoria were at once notified, and immediately began an investigation. The discovery of a black felt hat floating on the water between the steamer and the wharf seemed to corroborate the young woman's story.

A boat belonging to Mr. Edwin Smith was quickly launched and manned by Mr. Charles Harris, an employee of the Victoria, and two other young men. They procured a set of grappling irons which the Star Line Company keep at the end of their warehouse ready for use, and commenced dragging the river bottom. A large crowd of people quickly collected on the wharf and watched the operation with much interest. After about fifteen minutes' work Mr. Harris, who was working the grapplers, succeeded in bringing the body to the surface. It was placed on the bottom deck of the Victoria and the usual methods of resuscitation were resorted to under the direction of Dr. J. McNally. The doctor worked over the body for upwards of an hour, but was unable to restore the spark of life. A gold filled watch taken from the unfortunate man's clothes had stopped at a quarter past ten, and it is supposed that he had been in the water about twenty-five minutes.

When it was seen that there was no chance of reviving the unfortunate man, Undertaker George W. Adams was sent for, and Dr. McNally, in his capacity as coroner, gave him permission to remove the body to his undertaking parlors on Queen Street. Dr. McNally has decided that the circumstances justify the holding of an inquest.

The deceased was a son of the late Col. John Hewitson, who at one time commanded the 71st regiment, and was about forty-two years of age. He is survived by his mother, three brothers, and four sisters. A sad feature in connection with the affair is that the deceased was to have been married today to Miss Dorcas Thornton, daughter of Mr. Charles Atherton of this city. Only yesterday he visited the provincial secretary's office and took out a license, and later bought a wedding ring. The late Col. Hewitson, father of the deceased, died suddenly under tragic circumstances here about five years ago.

Officer King took charge of the coat worn by the deceased, and found two flasks of liquor in the pockets. The unfortunate man had been drinking some during the evening, but his friends say that he was not intoxicated.

Hewitson is the sixth person to meet death by drowning here this season, and the third to fall from the Star Line wharf. The city council has been strongly urged to have an act light placed on the wharf as a precaution against accidents, but took no action in the matter. Probably last night's fatality will result in some steps being taken to provide greater safeguards for human life.

Coroner McNally this morning selected the following jury, S. L. Morrison, Joseph Walker, W. S. Hooper, Robert Vandine, C. K. Palmer, Geo. J. Barrett and Dell Guter.

After viewing the remains the jury went to the Star Line wharf and discussed the advisability of placing a light on the wharf and of having several holes repaired. They then adjourned to meet at the county court house at eight o'clock tomorrow evening.

The remains were taken to the late home of the deceased at Doak Settlement this afternoon. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock.

TELEPHONE WAR OVER.

New Brunswick Company Have Bought Out
Business of Central.

(St. John Sun.)

The telephone war is over. Beyond the fact that the Central Company will be absorbed by the New Brunswick Telephone Company no details are available, as the presidents of the two companies decline to talk for publication. There is, however, no doubt that the purchase of the Central by the older company has been concluded. Although the wise ones have predicted such an outcome in spite of the tirades of the representatives of the two companies, against each other, few expected a cessation of hostilities so soon.

According to the Central people the New Brunswick Telephone Co. was an arrogant corporation, who trampled on the rights of the people and endeavored to hamper their courageous and altruistic rival by refusing them certain important connections, and the public were skillfully led to believe that the entrance of the new company in the field would provide relief from the obnoxious conditions that the New Brunswick Company were imposing on them. The people were really unaware what a tyrannical and grasping corporation this company were, until the newspapers began to be filled with statements by and interviews with officers of the Central, and they will be surprised and shocked to learn that for mercenary and sordid reasons the Central has sold out to their rivals.

There will, however, no doubt be a general feeling of satisfaction that it will not be necessary to have two different 'phones, which would have been the case had the Central Company persisted in its attempt to parallel the lines and service of the other company. This would have resulted in more or less confusion and annoyance, and by duplication made the cost of telephone greater than at present.

The Sun has reliable information that the deal is completed, and it is understood that the transfer will not be to the disadvantage of the Central Co. Hon. A. G. Blair, president of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, when interviewed in reference to the reported transfer, declined to confirm or deny the report. He referred the scribe to the article in this morning's Sun, with a request that he read that and draw his own conclusions.

(Mr. W. T. Whitehead, M. P., a director of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, when interviewed in reference to the reported transfer, declined to confirm or deny the report. He referred the scribe to the article in this morning's Sun, with a request that he read that and draw his own conclusions.)
