TOBY AND THE PANTHER.

How a Fox Terrier Saved His Master's Life.

The London Daily Mail has been publishing some true stories of missionary adventure. Here is one from central India:—It was dark, and the windy darkness was full of the mysterious noises of the jungle. Two men were huddled silently on a platform built in the boughs of a tree on the edge of the jungle. Below them the undergrowth was black and still, for the moon had not yet risen. Suddenly there was a movement as though a portion of its blackness had detached itself from the rest and began to creep away. Just at that moment the moon rose and revealed to the eyes of Mrs. S. D. Price and his shikari the lithe body of a panther slinking through the undergrowth.
A shot rang out, and, with a yelp of pain, the panther disappeared into the bushes.

With the sunrise, the missionary-hunter and his shikari descended from their platform, and began to examine the panther's trail. The effect of the shot was shown by the patches of blood on the ground, which led them through a couple of hundred yards of thick jungle. After crawling on hands and knees under the brushwood they reached a narrow nullah. A little beyond this they came upon the wounded panther scaling a tree. Mr. Price fired, but the range was too long, and the shot proved futile. The disturbance had the result, however, of startling the animal into falling from the tree to the ground, when it once more recommenced its flight.

The missionary and his shikari followed quickly on its track. It led them finally to a deep and thickly-wooded nullah, which had taken the form of a horse-shoe. The panther entered the nullah at the centre of the bend and turned along the left arm, growling angrily as it covered the ground in heavy strides. Its pursuers kept about twenty yards from the nullah and skirted it along the right until the top of the bend was reached. Here a half was made while Mr. Price approached the nul-lah, the panther growing away at the other end about two hundred yards distant.

Then all was still. The animal seemed to have vanished. Suddenly it sprang out right under Mr. Price's feet, having doubled back along the watercourse without making the slightest noise. Mr. Price fired rapidly and stepped back to avoid the animal's spring, and in so doing fell into the nullah. The next moment the panther was on him, and had fixed his teeth in his arm.

Suddenly Mr. Price's little fox-terrier, Toby, flew at the panther and fixed itself on its back, tearing hard at its neck. This diversion caused the panther to leave the man and attack the dog, and Mr. Price was able to stagger up and out of the nullah and run to where the native trackers were covering. There he fainted, and was carried back to his bungalow bleeding from fourteen wounds.

TWO STUDENTS DROWNED.

A. C. Moorhouse and W. W. Hart Upset out of Their Canoe—Were Paddling on the Lake Opposite Mimico.

Toronto Globe:—Almost on the eve of their graduation from Trinity University, Ashleigh Crofton Moorhouse son of Dr. H. H. Moorhouse, 285 Spadina avenue, and Wm. Walker Hart, son of Wm. Hart, Assessment Commissioner at Guelph, were drowned while canoeing on the lake on Saturday afternoon. The bodies have not been recovered. This couple was the first boating fatality of the season and has cast a gloom over Trinity University. Hart had just turned twenty and was headman of his year. Last year he carried off the Wellington scholarship in classics, but was probably best known as a keen debater in connection with the inter-collegiate series. Moorhouse was also in his third year in arts and came next to Hart in the contest for the Wellington scholarship. He lived at his father's home and Hart in the college residence.
Both were members of K company Queen's Own Rifles.

With the intention of visiting at the home of Mr. F. B. Petherstonhaugh on the Lake shore road at Mimico the two young men hired a canoe about 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon at Capt. Robert Maw's boathouse at Sunnyside. There was a strong wind blowing off the lake and the water was quite rough. They took a diagonal course and were soon lost sight of, there being a heavy mist over the lake. When last seen they were about half a mile out from shore and heading almost directly west.

Nothing more was heard of them till towards 6 o'clock, when the upturned canoe was noticed floating near the shore about opposite Mim-ico Creek. Word was sent to the city police, but no information as to who the occupants might be was obtained till early Sunday morning, when the absence of the two young men was reported by Dr. Moorhouse.
After daylight, Ashleigh Moorhouse's coat was picked up on the beach along with three canoe cushions. A search party was organized, composed of students and directed by Hector McDonald of Fisherman's Island, Island Constable Wm. Ward and Chas.
Nurse of Humber Bay. Later they were joined by Policemen Cronin and Dent of the city force.
The spot where the canoe was found is about 50 feet deep, with a rocky bottom, which makes dragging a difficult matter. The search will be resumed at daylight this morning by the police officers and will be kept up till the bodies are found.
Sympathetic reference to the tragic deaths of the two young students were made in St. Margaret's Church and in the chapel of Trinity College yesterday morning.

ARMY THEIR RELIANCE.
Revolutionists to Make the Empire a Republic.

New York, April 9.—Some inside facts in connection with the new revolutionary movement in Russia were told to a Times reporter by one of its chief agents, who for the last five weeks has been in hiding in this city with a price of 50,000 roubles on his head, laid by the Czar's government.

Although only 36 years old, this man who for the present appears as Ivan Narodny, has made Russian revolutionary history for the last seventeen years, under half a dozen different names.

"Our next move," said Mr. Narodny, in speaking to the reporter, "will be more far-reaching and entirely different from any of the movements that have preceded it. These have been little revolts, this will be a revolution. The uprisings that have gone before have been more or less local in nature, and generally started by some party or organization. This movement will sweep the country, and will have behind it every organization working for social reforms. Its ultimate goal will not be a constitutional monarchy, but a republic."

"That is the programme. A few months ago many of the liberal organizations would have been satisfied with a constitutional assembly and a constitution. Now we will not stop short of the republic."

RUSSIA MUST BE FREE.

"The underground propaganda and work of reorganization is progressing satisfactorily in every part of Russia, and in many other countries, including this, and when we raise the flag of freedom next fall we will have behind it men with weapons in hand in sufficient number to make victory assured. Russia will be free."

"Here is a peculiar thing," continued Mr. Narodny; "in the coming revolution we place almost our chief reliance in the army. If we could not do so an armed uprising would be a folly. But the army is more prone to start a revolution than almost any part of the Russian people. I know the army very well, for I have been in intimate touch with it for many years. A majority of the officers and men in practically every infantry and artillery regiment in St.
Petersburg and in Northern Russia are in sympathy with our movement now."

SIX YEARS DYSPEPSIA CURED

"No one knows what I suffered from stomach trouble and dyspepsia," writes Mr. A. B. Agnew of Bridgewater. "For the last five years I have been unable to digest and assimilate food. I had no color, my strength ran down and I felt miserable and nervous all the time. I always had a heavy feeling after my meals and was much troubled with dizziness and specks before my eyes.
Dr. Hamilton's Pills was just what I needed. They have cured every symptom of my old trouble. My health is now all that can be desired." By all means use Dr. Hamilton's Pills;

RECOVER LOST TREASURE.

Excitement aroused in Lincolnshire by Attempt.

New York, April 9.—A special cable to the Sun from London says: Excitement has been aroused in Lincolnshire by the projected attempt to recover the royal jewels and treasure lost by King John in the Wash when he fled across the marshes in 1216.

Mr. St. John Hope, assistant secretary of the Society of Antiquaries, asks support for the scheme. He has made a study of the tides over since the date when King John lost his baggage and calculates that heavily laden wagons will be found at Sutton Bridge, where there is 23 feet of silt, the Wash having changed its course greatly since 1216.

Apart from its great actual value the lost treasure would be greatly prized by antiquaries and numismatists.

"That's my wife, and I tell you she's one in a thousand."
"For goodness' sake, how do you escape the law?"

A SPRING DANGER.

Many People Weaken Their Systems
By Dosing with Purgative Medicines.

A spring medicine seems to be a necessity. Nature demands it as an aid to enriching the blood and carrying off the impurities that have accumulated during the indoor life the winter months. Thousands of people, recognizing the necessity for a spring medicine, dose themselves with harsh, gripping purgatives. This is a mistake. Ask any doctor and he will tell you that the use of pur-gative medicines weakens the system and cannot possibly cure disease. In the spring the system needs building up—purgatives weaken. The blood should be made rich, red and pure—purgatives cannot do this.
What is needed is a tonic, and the best tonic medical science has yet devised is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.
Every dose of this medicine actually makes new, rich blood, and this new blood strengthens every organ and every part of the body. That is why these pills banish rashes and dis-easily skin eruptions. That is why they cure headaches and backaches, rheumatism and neuralgia, and a host of other troubles that come from poor, watery blood. That is why the men and women who use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills eat well and sleep well and feel active and strong.
Mrs. Albert E. Sampson, L'Ardoise, N. S., says: "I have used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills with the greatest benefit. I know of no medicine that can equal them in building up people who are weak or run down."

When buying these pills see that the full name, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, is printed on the wrapper around the box. You can get the pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr.
Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

AMERICAN ADMIRAL'S ROMANCE AND A LONDON MARRIAGE.

While Paymaster of a Warship He Met a Pretty Girl Who Became His Second Wife.

London, Eng., April 10.—The wedding at St. George's Hanover Square recently of Rear-Admiral Joseph H.
Foster, of the United States Navy, of Portsmouth, New Hampshire, U. S. A., and Miss Josephine Hunt, a Gravesend schoolmistress, formed the sequel to a romantic courtship.

The bridegroom, who retired from the United States Navy with the rank of rear-admiral, was, over 10 years ago, the paymaster of a warship which anchored for a time off Gravesend, while the bride was one of a party of visitors who at the invitation of the captain then visited the vessel, and accepted the hospitality of the officers on board.

Paymaster Foster, as he was at that time, had then a wife living in the States, but some ten years later he having been left a widower in the meantime, and finding in his possession one of Miss Hunt's cards, a correspondence was opened up which led up to the marriage. The bridegroom crossed the Atlantic and met his future bride some months ago.

The ceremony was performed by the blind rector of Gravesend, the Rev.
Canon E. L. Gedge, assisted by the Rev. John Sawley, vicar of Brox-bourne, Herts, where the bride's parents reside. It was attended by only a few personal friends of the bride, who wore a purple travelling dress, the bridegroom wearing his admiral's uniform.

A reception at the Tudor House Oxford Street, followed the marriage and the honeymoon will be spent in the Isle of Wight.

Miss Poetik—Ah, I should like to know again the charms of vanished childhood.

Mr. Grosswaite—Well, now, I used to know them, but I've forgotten every one except a charm for warts.

Bad
Blood

At this time of year the system is clogged up with waste and poisonous matter, the blood becomes thick and sluggish, and causes that tired, listless, dull, all-gone-no-ambition-don't-care-
