The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon, with services at St. Anne's church by Rev. Mr. Forster. Undertaker George W. Adams has charge of the arrangements.

CALLED TO ST. JOHN.

As an outcome of the trouble in Zion Methodist Church, St. John, a new pastor has been called. Last night, at the meeting of the quarterly board, Rev. James Crisp of Gibson, N. B., was extended a call by nearly an unanimous vote. Rev. Mr. Crisp passed through St. John yesterday and it is understood that the church officials had a conference with him. The call followed immediately, and it is thought that the reverend gentleman will accept.

THE BEARER CORPS.

At a meeting of the Bearer Corps at St. John last evening, says The Sun, it was decided to attend camp at Sussex this summer. It was further decided to double their numbers so that they will attend camp this year ninety strong. There will be eight officers in charge of the company. Five of these were decided upon last evening. Major McLaren, will, of course, be at the head of the company. Others already selected are Dr. T. D. Walker, Dr. Bishop and Dr. Weaver of Fredericton.

The piece represents a regiment of Scotch Highlanders coming in the distance, led by their band, at first the music is hardly audible but it grows louder and louder as the regiment approaches, and when they pass the observer dies gradually away in the distance until they can no longer be heard. All lovers of Scotch Military music can not help being struck with this selection.—d.

THE HIGHWAY BRIDGE

The Canada Foundry Company's crew are getting along splendidly with the new spans of the highway bridge, and are hopeful of having them ready for traffic by Saturday. All the heavy iron pieces have been placed in position and preparations are now being made to put down the floor. The new spans are of splendid design and loom up very conspicuously in contrast with the old wooden structure. Some day in the course of a few years Fredericton is going to have the longest and finest steel bridge in the maritime provinces.

STEEPLE JACKS.

Professional steeple climbers, White Brothers, who lately arrived in this country from England and have been filling some engagements on the North Shore, have been employed by the Scott Lumber Company to install a new spire on the big chimney at the Victoria mill. Rev. Willard MacDonald performed the ceremony in the presence of relatives and a few intimate friends of the contracting parties. There was no bridesmaid nor groomsmen. The bride was the recipient of many valuable presents, the list including a clock from the employees of Cooper's carriage factory.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross will leave by this evening's train for Red Deer, Alberta, where they will make their future home.

MR. LEMONT HOPEFUL.

Thinks Railway Commission Will Have Arbitrary Freight Abolished.

In June last the Fredericton Board of Trade forwarded a memorial to the railway commission at Ottawa, protesting strongly against the action of the railway in imposing an arbitrary freight rate upon Fredericton, and requesting the commission to look into the matter. Copies of the memorial were also forwarded to the Canadian Pacific, Grand Trunk and Intercolonial authorities. It was set forth in the memorial that the arbitrary rate applied to all goods shipped to Fredericton from points west of Montreal, while other cities and towns in the province were more generously treated. The secretary to the Board of Trade since forwarding the memorial, has had come correspondence with the secretary of the railway commission, and learned from him the Fredericton memorial had not been taken up by the commission.

Mr. William Lemont, during his recent visit to Ottawa, acting for the Board of Trade, called upon Judge Killam, chairman of the railway commission, and reviewed the subject dealt with by the memorial. He explained the whole matter to the chairman and received his assurance that the matter would receive the careful attention of the commission. Mr. Lemont is satisfied that the protest of the Board of Trade will ultimately result in this city being placed on an equal footing with St. John in regard to freight rates from the west.

ELKINS-FANJOY.

Popular Young St. John Citizen Secures a Bride at Sydney.

Sydney, N. S., April 11.—(Special)—The first marriage to take place in the new Falmouth Street Presbyterian Church, was solemnized at 6:30 this morning, between Stanley E. Elkin, secretary-treasurer of the Maritime Nail Works, St. John N. B., and Miss Ethel Fanjoy, daughter of F. Fanjoy of this city, formerly of New Glasgow.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. W. H. Smith, in the presence of a large number of the relatives and friends of the bride and groom, and the church was beautifully decorated with flowers and potted plants for the occasion.

Miss Fanjoy wore a brown traveling costume with hat to match, and was attended by her sister, Miss May Fanjoy, Byron E. Elkin, a brother supported the groom.

The bridal party took their departure by the early express, and after spending their honeymoon trip in Canadian and American cities, will return to St. John, where they will in future reside.

ROOM FOR THE CATS.

(From the Chicago Tribune.) The tribune recently noted the introduction of a bill in the Massachusetts Legislature giving the cat a status of equal dignity with the horse and cow. This would amount to making it personal property, the establishing it as an asset, investing its owner with legal rights in negotiation for sale, rendering any person liable for mal-treatment or larceny, and raising it to the dignity of pianos, sewing machines and stocks in the personal tax schedules. The bill is still pending, and at last accounts the prospect for its passage was favorable.

That this latest "motion" in the Bay State is attracting attention here is shown by a recent return to personal property made by a man in this city who has scheduled among his items of clocks, sewing machines, pianos, jewelry, bad debts, and a parrot, his dog, and a "yellow Angora cat which has fits." He specially insists upon the latter as personal property, and why not? An Angora cat of any color has as fixed a price as Boston terriers, Guernsey cows, or Percheron horses. That price depends, of course, upon the "points" of its ruff, the fluffiness of its lineage, etc. Among the Angoras the yellows or the oranges, as they are denoted at the catteries, are most in demand and are specially esteemed, though some connoisseurs affect the black with yellow eyes, notwithstanding Poe's grewsome tale, their association with witches and hellbranes, and the various superstitions which attach to black cats of all varieties. This particular yellow Angora is also remarkable because it has fits. The Angoras gifted with the accomplishment of "throwing a fit" are exceedingly rare and are thus all the more valuable. Their habits are denoted by them to fits. Their food is of the daintiest kind, their sleeping quarters most luxurious, and they are not exposed to unpleasantness or any description. As exercise is loathsome to them, they spend most of their time sleeping upon soft cushions, and when they are not sleeping they are eating, provided their meals are served in the drawing room. When neither sleeping nor eating, they suffer themselves to be admired by a few privileged persons.

Should not a yellow Angora be personal property, especially a yellow Angora that has fits? If a lion, or a goose, or a jack rabbit, which has never risen high enough in the scale of being to demand and obtain any privileges from man, is recognized as personal property, how much more worthy is an orange, a silver, a black, or a brown tabby Angora? And if an Angora cat, why not all cats, down to the wall-eyed bruiser of the alley? Has it been sufficiently considered how far the revenue from cats as personal property might go toward diminishing our much talked of "wave of crime?"
