FREDERICTON SHUT OUT.

Our Hockeyists Struck a Snag at Marysville Last Evening.

A very fast game of hockey at the Marysville rink last night between Fredericton and Marysville resulted in a victory for the latter team in a victory for the home team in the third of the series for the Gibson trophy. The other two games resulted in ties, therefore the game last night was the first won in the series, and Marysville let herself loose and played hard, especially in the last half, when they outplayed the Fredericton team at every point. At times the play was rather rough and several men were sent to the platform for slashing, checking, tripping etc., among them being for Fredericton, the Staples Brothers, Coleman and Rowan, and for Marysville, Robinson, Hovey and Dennison. Shortly after 8 o'clock Referee Geo. Ferguson of Fredericton, blew his whistle and the teams lined up as follows, with H. F. McLeod and Clara Downie as timers:

FREDERICTON.	MARYSVILLE.
Finnimore	goal
F. Staples	point
S. Staples	c. pt.
Malloy	rover
Coleman	centre
Rowan	wings
Morrison	Hovey

THE GAME.

The first few minutes play was not very fast, and was in the Fredericton territory most of the time. In about three minutes Cain scored N. 1 for Marysville, which was the only goal made in the first half, although both teams played hard to win and at times it was very fast hockey. Both Finnimore and Fullerton were called upon to make several stops while they handled in their good style. The half ended honors about even.

THE SECOND HALF.

started out with more force than the first, Marysville having the advantage and they certainly outplayed the Fredericton team who were not in it at anytime throughout the later part of the game. The Marysville boys watched their men and would not give them a chance to shoot while they themselves shot three goals. Inch getting one and Hovey two, Marysville 4, Fredericton 0.

During the last half the playing was inclined to be a little rough and several players were put off the ice on different charges, at one time both teams playing with only five men. It is the first time this winter that Marysville has beaten Fredericton and it is said that quite a large amount of money changed hands on the result. After the game Arthur Finnimore, the Fredericton goal keeper, told a Marysville man that they were clearly out-played, and he considered that Marysville had the best team in the league. Such is the opinion of other fair minded sporting men, as the Crescents are certainly playing gilt-edge hockey. There were about four hundred people at the game including a large number from Fredericton, and all were pleased with the game.

The next game between these two teams will be played at the Fredericton rink tomorrow evening, it will be a benefit for the Fredericton boys.

MURDERED HIS WIFE.

Ontario Man Seventy Years Old Committed an Awful Crime.

Bellevue, Ont., March 6.—(Special)—Frederick Klingbell, seventy years of age, is in jail here, on a charge of murdering his seventy year old wife.

The woman was an invalid for two years, and it is alleged that the couple had frequent quarrels.

Yesterday afternoon at five o'clock the last quarrel took place. The old man in a fit of anger beat his wife in a terrible manner.

A boy went to the house and the old man came to the door with blood on his hands and face.

The boy notified the authorities, and on investigation the old woman was found with her head in a terribly battered condition. She died at the hospital this morning.

A VERY SAD CASE.

Man Died from Cancer Just When a Heavy Burden was Being Raised from his life.

London, Ont., March 6.—(Special)—Thomas Fenn, who came here from England last fall, having secured work in the G. T. car shops, began saving money to bring out his wife and four children.

Some months ago he learned that owing to a shut down of the cotton mills, his family were out of work and starving.

The car shop's staff and fellow workmen here, came to Fenn's aid, and raised money enough to bring out his family.

The poor man was greatly encouraged, and started buying furniture for a house he had engaged, when he was attacked with malignant cancer, from the effects of which he died in the hospital yesterday.

His wife and family are now on their way to Canada.

HOUSE BUSINESS.

The House met Monday at three o'clock.

The following bills were read a third time To divide St. Leonard's, Madawaska Co., into two parishes; relating to the town of Dalhousie; to authorize a county valuation in Restigouche this year.

The bills to amend the St. Stephen Tax Levying act, and the N. B. Pharmacy act were read a second time.

Mr. Speaker announced he had re-

TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

Delegation Heard by the Government on the Bill to Amend the Liquor License Act

The local government this morning heard arguments for and against the bill introduced in the legislature by Premier Tweedie a few days ago, to prevent express companies from carrying liquor into Scott Act counties. The wholesale licensees of St. John were represented by Hon. C. N. Skinner, K. C., and A. P. Barnhill, K. C., and the temperance interests were represented by Rev. Thomas Marshall, E. J. Everett, H. C. Tilley, J. A. McCavour and James Miles, all of St. John. Among the spectators present were J. D. Hazen, George Robertson, Parker Glasier, J. F. Tweeddale, A. B. Copp, G. I. Clarke, I. W. Carpenter, O. P. King, E. Lantallum, M. P. P. S. Revs. J. J. Colter, Dr. Rogers, A. A. Rideout, J. H. MacDonald, and J. H. Barry, K. C. The hearing took place in the executive council chamber before the Lieutenant Governor, Premier Tweedie, and Hon. Messrs. Farris, Sweeney and Jones.

Premier Tweedie said that as the bill was now before the legislature and public property the government decided to hold a general hearing of those interested in the measure.

Mr. Skinner said that there were others interested in the bill who were not present, and he would like to have an adjournment made.

Mr. Barnhill, who was first heard in opposition to the bill, contended that it was ultra vires of the provincial legislature.

He admitted that the government had power to enact prohibitory legislation, but contended that they had no right to pass legislation that would interfere with trade and commerce. That power was vested only in the Dominion parliament. The bill, if passed, he contended, would certainly interfere with the trade and commerce of the province. He had nothing to say against the measure from a moral standpoint, but was opposed to it from a legal standpoint.

Premier Tweedie said that if the legislature exceeded its authority in passing the act, it would be disallowed by the Dominion government.

Mr. Barnhill agreed with the premier in this, but thought the delay and uncertainty would seriously inconvenience the wholesale dealers.

Mr. Skinner, who was the next speaker, declared that the legislation was based on an unreasonable proposition. No legislation could be enacted in New Brunswick to prevent a wholesale dealer in Montreal from shipping liquor to New Brunswick. The Scott act he declared did not prohibit the use of liquor, but only applied to its sale. The bill, if passed would prevent the wholesale dealer in St. John from sending liquor to Scott Act counties, but would not interfere with the business of a dealer in Nova Scotia or Quebec. Therefore, it was plain that no good could result to the cause of temperance, but injury would be done to wholesale liquor dealers in this province. All over this country there are men who will have liquor to use in moderate quantities, and public opinion does not go with those who seek to make its sale a criminal act. The bill, if passed, would only introduce the element of ugliness and incongruity, and injure or destroy business in our province for the benefit of dealers in Quebec and Nova Scotia. He thought the legislation proposed too much from the standpoint that the use of liquor is a crime. He thought the temperance men who are promoting the bill should report the opinion of other people and not seek to trample upon it. He was not present to encourage intemperance, nor was he opposed to restraining the liquor traffic, but he wished to say that all attempts to prevent those who drank in moderation from obtaining liquor had failed in the past and always would fail. He did not think that intemperance could be stamped out by interfering with the rights of others. He was content to leave the legal phase of the question with the law officers of the crown.

Premier Tweedie said that the government wanted the fullest discussion in regard to the bill, and were quite willing to grant Mr. Skinner's request for an adjournment in order that all interests might be heard.

Rev. Thomas Marshall, who was chief spokesman for the temperance delegation, was next heard. He said he had every confidence in the government on questions of law, and he had the opinion of a constitutional lawyer, that the bill was good law.

The very fact that it was introduced by the government went to establish that. Mr. Skinner had promised to make a legal argument, but the speaker declared that he had gone out of his way to impeach the motives of others. As anti-temperance, Mr. Skinner's speech was not very effective. All the temperance people wanted was for the government to assist in the enforcement of a law already in force in Canada. He declared that no man could live in a civilized country without having restrictions placed upon him. He had a great deal of confidence in the government, and believed the whole question had been fairly put in the act submitted to the legislature.

The rev. gentleman added that he had some amendments to propose to the bill, but they would not interfere with the principle. He thought it would be unfair to stop wholesale men from shipping liquor to Scott Act parts, and allow it to be done by brewers, and this would be dealt with by an amendment. It was also proposed to place steamboats and railroads on the same plane with express companies.

Premier Tweedie did not think the government would be able to prevent railways from carrying liquor. He wanted to know if Mr. Marshall thought the government would be able to fine the minister of railways.

Rev. Mr. Marshall—We might find some way of influencing the minister of railways.

Premier Tweedie—That is not the point.

Rev. Mr. Marshall said that he wanted the bill amended so that it would apply to all public conveyances. He thought the prospects were good for having a similar bill enacted by the Nova Scotia legislature in the near future.

Premier Tweedie read extracts from a letter from Dr. Stockton, M. P., suggesting amendments to the bill.

Rev. Mr. Marshall said that he on what day the bill was likely to come before the legislature. He said that he, himself, and his associates would like to be present on that occasion.

Premier Tweedie stated that the government would be ready to hear Mr. Skinner's clients on Friday if that date would be satisfactory.

Rev. Mr. Marshall said that if the arguments to be advanced against the bill were no stronger than those already put forward, it would not be necessary for the temperance people to be represented at the next meeting.

Mr. Skinner remarked that he thought that there was no need of Mr. Marshall being impertinent.

After some further remarks by the premier the delegation withdrew.

GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC.

Choice of Central or River Route Will Depend on Engineers' Report.

Ottawa, March 6.—Notwithstanding reports to the contrary, there has been no decision reached as to the location of the transcontinental railway in New Brunswick. It is expected that as soon as the snow departs the location survey work will be resumed and that sometime during the spring or the early summer the commissioners will have enough information at their disposal to enable them to select a route and recommend it to the government through the minister of railways. At the present time there are no surveying parties at work and there have been none for the past two months. The route which will be eventually selected through New Brunswick, will be one the surveys show to be the best consistent with reasonable economy in the matter of construction. Whether it will be the central or the river route will depend upon what the engineers report.

The Misses Upton of 518½ Congress street, Portland Me., have leased the brick house in the new brick block of Mr. George Gilman over his furniture store, York street for a dressmaking establishment and will take possession on June first.

Capt. H. W. Clinch was expected to arrive at St. John today from Woolwich (Eng.). His marriage to Miss Mona Thomson will take place in St. Stephen's church Thursday afternoon.
