

FAMOUS HORSE VISITORS.

Interesting Facts About King Edwards' and Lord Rothschild's Shires Which Have Arrived at Toronto for the Exhibition.

Toronto News.—Ten Shire horses, most of them prize winners, the property of the King of England and Lord Rothschild, arrived here yesterday and are stabled in Exhibition. King Edward and Lord Rothschild are famous as among the best breeders of the Shire horse in Great Britain, and the animals they have sent over are said to be absolutely the finest in existence.

In the lot are three mares belonging to the King, two stallions, a yearling colt, a brood mare and a filly foal, the property of Lord Rothschild, and two geldings, owned jointly by the King and Lord Rothschild.

The animals are nearly if not quite as large as Percherons. Eight of them are brown in color. The animals crossed the Atlantic on the Minnetonka.

In padded stalls on the starboard side of the cattle deck amidst the ten animals passed the time. Edmund Beck, representing Lord Rothschild, is in charge of them. He has two stablemen and a horseholder with him. Each ride bears the Rothschild colors, blue and orange.

DRANK DISTILLED WATER.

On the voyage the animals, which were heavily insured—one of them reported has it, for $25,000—drank distilled water. Their bill of fare, compared with that of Rock Sand, a famous racing stallion recently imported by August Belmont, was plain, however, consisting as it did of bran gruel, chaff, hay and cracked oats.

Or King Edward's mares Tacsonia is a three-year-old, and as English shows has won three firsts and seven other prizes. Perseverance is two years old, and has won two prizes

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Some Interesting Information for Busy Housewives.

SUMMER BEVERAGES.

Lemon Syrup.—Take the juice of twelve lemons, grate the rind of six in it, let it stand over night, then take six pounds of white sugar and make a thick syrup. When it is quite cool strain the juice into it and squeeze as much oil from the grated rind as will suit the taste. A tablespoonful in a goblet of water will make a delicious drink on a hot day, far superior than that prepared from the stuff commonly sold as lemon syrup.

Raspberry Vinegar.—To four quarts of red raspberries put enough vinegar to cover and let stand twenty-four hours; seal and strain it; add one pound of sugar to one pint of juice, boil it twenty minutes and then bottle it; it is then ready for use and will keep for years. To one glass of water add a large spoonful. It is much relished by the sick.

Lemonade.—Take half a pound of loaf sugar and reduce it to a syrup, with one pint of water. Add the rind of five lemons and let stand one hour remove the rinds and add the strained juice of the lemons; put one bottle of carbonated water and a block ice in the centre of bowl. Peel one lemon and cut it up in thin slices divide each slice in two and put in lemonade. Serve with a piece of lemon in each glass.

Claret cup.—One quart bottle of claret, one bottle of soda water, one lemon cut thin, four tablespoonsful of powdered sugar, quarter of a teaspoon of grated nutmeg, one liquor glass of brandy, one wine glass of sherry wine. Half an hour before it is to be used put in a large piece of ice, so that it may get perfectly cool.

THE BEDROOM.

If your bed and sitting room is one and the same apartment, and you do not wish your bed to appear for what it is, get a regular bedstead with four solid metal legs, good springs and a good mattress. To cover it in the daytime, get cretonne or some other goods which will harmonize with your other furniture, make a covering exactly the size of the bed, enveloping the head and the foot with fitted pieces of the material. This will make the bed look like a big settle in the daytime.

Be sure that your bedclothes are thoroughly aired and your other reasons the bed must be made up at once after getting up in the morning, put the outer covering over it, having removed the sheets to give them a chance to air at the window. Fold them up in the closet and be replaced at night in the regular way.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS.

For glaze kid shoes that have become sunburned and parched, cold cream or the dressing table will prove a restorer.

Varnish the linoleum on kitchen bathroom and hall floors three times a year to insure its lasting qualities. The varnish should be thoroughly dried before the floor is stepped on.

Cut newspaper sheets into four pieces, put a string through one corner and hang near the sink. If a sheet of paper is placed under any cooking utensils that is set in the sink after being taken off the stove, this year. Buscot Vain Maid is a yearling who has captured two prizes this year. The geldings, one brown and the other bay, are five and six years old, respectively. The first took first prize in the Peterborough show this year.

FAMOUS BROOD MARE.

Blythwood Gelder Rose, of Lord Rothschild's stable, is a famous brood mare. She has won ten first prizes and six others, besides three championships. On her upper lip, which extends something like eight inches below her nostrils, is a perfectly formed blond moustache, which curls in a way that would make any bartender jealous. The other Shire horses show a tendency toward a similar hirsute growth. Rose's foal, Queen of the Rose, last year took second prize in Peterborough this year.

Girton Charmer, five-year-old stallion, and Prem Victor, two years his senior, have a long list of prizes to their credit, while Kismet, a yearling, last year took three firsts and one second and this year a first.

PALACE HORSE CAR.

All the animals were led from the ship and put aboard a float which contained a "palace" horse car fitted with ten stalls. Instructions had been given by Lord Rothschild to spare no expense, and the United States Express Company sent Howard R. Fielding, representative of its foreign department, with the consignment, which left Jersey City by a Lehigh Valley train arriving in Toronto yesterday afternoon. The animals will be exhibited at the Exhibition, beginning August 17, and afterward in Ottawa and London. They will be in Kansas City in October.

ests. While here, Sir Frederick was entertained at luncheon by some prominent business men, among whom were Hon. J. L. Bates, ex-Governor of Alaska, Hon. Willard Howland, chairman of the Massachusetts State Board of Arbitration, Frederic R. Currier, Freeman I. Davidson, Robert G. McMeekin, Benjamin H. Johnson and Colonel Oakes and Major Stover of the Fifth Regiment, M. V. M., which corps is shortly to visit Ottawa, Can., fully armed and equipped, on a mission of international peace, where it is to be entertained by Colonel Rogers and the officers of the Forty-Third Canadian Regiment which visited Boston last year. Politics and speeches were taboed, and the guests passed a very pleasant time in social conversation. Regrets were sent by Governor Gould and quite a number of other prominent gentlemen who could not attend, owing to absence from Boston and prior engagements.

PLAYMATES DIE IN CLOSE EMBRACE.

Two Boys, Sealing Edge of Pier, Plunge into North River and Drown Together.

New York, Aug. 3.—Creeping hand in hand along a narrow stringpiece outside the shed of the enclosed West Shore pier at the foot of Franklin street Monday, James Doyle, nine years old, of No. 147 Hudson street, and Thomas Osborne, eleven years old, of No. 67 Lighthouse street, became frightened, and falling into the North River, were drowned.

Intending to climb down upon a raft, the boys crawled out on the stringpiece. They were almost over the raft when Osborne lost his hold. As he fell he shouted to his playmate and caught his shirt waist, pulling Doyle with him into the river.

Neither could swim but they clung together as the tide took them out toward the open water and shouted for help. Children on the bulkhead took up the cry and John Coughlin, a truck driver, of No. 311 Madison street, undertook to rescue the boys.

There was no way of getting at the lads from the West Shore pier without walking out on the stringpiece, so he ran to pier No. 24 and dived into the water without stopping to remove his clothes. When he came up the boys had disappeared.

By this time a crowd of five hundred persons had gathered about the street bulkhead. Coughlin dived four times, but could not find the children. Finally, almost exhausted, he climbed back to the pier.

For two hours, a crowd of men, women and children watched the spot where the boys were last seen, hoping that the bodies might rise. Policemen finally recovered Thomas Osborne's body with grappling irons. The other body was not found.

Fair Fortune Teller (at a society function).—And now I will tell you from the lines of your hand who is the dearest person on earth to you. Guest (thrusting her hand out to please take my wife out of the room first):

City Man (eagerly).—Whew, but it's hot. I am told the mercury frequently stands at 110 in the shade here. Farmer Summerboard (cheerfully).—Well, yer don't hafta stay in the shade, you know.

"Such a change," said United States Senator Tillman, apropos of a certain bill, "would be about as satisfactory as the change that a landlord once made."

"A woman came to see this landlord. She wanted to look at a house that was to let. The man sent a clerk to show her over the house, and on her return she said:

"I like the house very well. There is only one thing that I object to."

"Well, madam, any reasonable alteration," the landlord murmured, "would be made, provided you took a three years' lease."

"I'd take a three years' lease if only the house had more closets," said the woman.

"The number of closets shall be doubled," said the landlord.

"Very well," said the woman, in a pleased voice, and she signed the contract then and there.

After she had gone the landlord called in his clerk again and said: "John, take a carpenter and No. 37 and have him divide each of the closets in two."

"I understand your boy was severely hazed at college."

"Yes," answered Farmer Cornstout, "the alius was a real trouble. I never could keep him out of it when he was home."

"But aren't you indignant?"

"No, I'm not indignant. But I'm kind o' disappointed that I wasn't there to see it."

One of the students in an eastern university, wishing to turn an honest penny during his vacation, decided to introduce a new and popular cyclopedic into the country districts. Needless to say, he had many queer and amusing experiences.

At one place he found an old farmer working in the fields.

"I'd like to sell you a new cyclopedic," said the agent.

"Well, young feller," said the farmer, "I'd like to have one, but I'm afraid I'm too old to ride the thing."

At Hespler, Ont., while a horse was tied in front of a residence near bee yards, the bees attacked the horse and literally covered the animal, stinging the horse so badly that the veterinary who was called had little hopes of the recovery of the animal.

A GIRL'S KIMONO.

Many mothers do not realize that a girl becomes tired with the day's duties and would enjoy also a loose kimono quite as much as her brother. Every girl should have a dressing sack to slip on while she is attending to the various little tasks attendant upon dressing, and a kimono of this kind may even take the place of a bathrobe. The original silks are most popular for these, but challis, French flannel or rayon may serve as well. This one is very simple to make, having the yoke and full flowing sleeves, the edges being faced with a plain silk which provides a pretty finish for the gown. The garment may be made full or short length, and some serve the purpose of dressing sack if desired. The medium size requires 4 yards of 27 inch material, for the long kimono and 2 yards for the short one.

A gentleman visiting some relatives in Scotland was persuaded to try a game of golf. At his first stroke he aimed a terrific blow at the ball, scattering the turf to right and left, and looked around for the result.

"What have I hit?" he said.

"Scotland, sir," gruffly answered the caddy.
