AYLESWORTH STRIKES BACK.

The "wine, women and graft" speech of Mr. Fowler in Parliament is proving a boomerang to the Tory party which, living in a glass house, cannot afford to throw stones at its opponents.

At a political meeting at Henshaw, South Huron this week, Hon. A. B. Aylesworth, Minister of Justice who gave Mr. Foster such a pommeling in parliament on western land deals, discussed the Tory muck raking campaign, carrying the war into Africa. The Herald has not space to-day to reproduce all of Mr. Aylesworth's admirable speech, but here are a few significant extracts:

"I speak plainly when I say that if you get together anywhere in this country, a body of 214 men, I do not suppose it will be possible to secure a body some of whom are not total abstainers—some of whom are men who drink, perhaps drink more than is good for them.

"But that is a matter between each member and his constituents. The public men of this country who are sent by different constituencies to parliament to make their laws are deemed fit as a whole by the people of Canada.

"Under the circumstances I am not here apologizing. I say I know of my own knowledge many men in the House of Commons who take more liquor than is good for them. I believe the same could be said of any 214 men you picked up in Canada.

"But is this any new thing? Is this something that is only remarkable of the present parliament?

"Of the dead say nothing but good." Mr. Aylesworth quoted, "but is it possible for us to forget that this country has had a prime minister of whom worse than this could be said?

"As to the charge of women, I can point to more than one Conservative constituency in Ontario which in the past has been represented by a member who was living openly with a woman who was not his wife. I speak truthfully. Names could be given—names associated with the history of the legislation of this country.

"But, again I say, are these the matters the people of Canada want investigated in the Parliament of Canada? Are not these matters for the people of Canada, of the different constituencies, to decide? I fully agree that no public man should come before the people of any constituency if he is not a man of character, if he is not a man of fair reputation, a man who conducts his own private business fairly and decently. But nevertheless it seems to be a degradation of the high character of Parliament, and a descent to the depths of political infamy to seek evidence or to manufacture evidence of a character such as the charges I have referred to."

SCHMITZ IS DEFIANT

San Francisco Mayor Refuses to be Displaced.

San Francisco, June 21.—Mayor Schmitz yesterday after a long conference with his attorneys addressed to the Board of Supervisors a letter, which says in part:—"Seeing in this morning paper a statement to the effect that your honorable body at your meeting yesterday decreed that I was temporarily unable to perform my duties as Mayor by reason of my detention in the custody of the Sheriff of San Francisco, and, therefore, appointed James Gallagher as acting Mayor, I hereby notify you that I am not unable or unwilling to perform the duties required of me as Mayor of the city and county of San Francisco, but will continue to do so. I also wish to notify you that any action taken by Mr. Gallagher in the capacity of acting Mayor will be null and void, and will result in complications that will do great injury to the city. I demand that you send to my office all matters passed by your honorable body, that I may have the opportunity of inspecting them and approving or disapproving them."

BANKS EXTRAVAGANT.

Sir Montagu Allan Thinks Premises are too Costly.

Montreal, June 20.—At the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Merchants Bank of Canada to-day the most interesting point of discussion arose out of a question as to bank premises. Sir Montagu Allan, the President, expressed the fear that the Canadian banks had been a little extravagant in that connection of late. He said the general appearance of bank premises in country places was considered as having an important bearing on business, and where one bank put up an imposing building the others would follow. The annual report was adopted.

THE BRIDE OF JUNE.

Here's to the June bride,
Blushing and fair,
Treading sedately
The wedding march rare.
Cheeks like the lilies,
Lips like the rose,
Blessings upon her
Wherever she goes.

Here's to the June bride,
Smiling her face,
Gentle her mein is,
Alluring her grace.
Fairest of maidens,
Queen of today,
May no grim shadows
Darken her way.

Here's to the June bride,
Lovely and sweet,
Picturesque flowers,
Dainty and neat.
What of the bridegroom?
Nothing to say,
He gets the sweetest
Boquet today.

ARMY IMMIGRANTS.

General Booth's Proposal to Purchase Land in Ontario.

In connection with the recent visit of General Booth of the Salvation Army it transpires that the great organization of which he is the head laid before the Ontario Government some months ago a colonization scheme of considerable magnitude. In advancing the tentative plan, the Army pledge on their part the utmost care and effort toward success. Briefly the plan contemplates the setting aside by the Government of ten townships suitable for agriculture in the northern Ontario "clay belt," and preferably townships that would be tapped by the Transcontinental Railway. The area would aggregate some 230,000 or 250,000 acres of land. It is not asked by the Army that this shall be given free. They are reported, however, to have suggested Government aid in this connection to the extent of obtaining the land at somewhat less than the fifty cents per acre usually charged settlers in those districts, and also that payment be extended over a period of years, probably ten, without interest. The price they offer, it has been estimated in Government circles, would pay for the cost of the necessary surveys of the townships.

If the plan goes through the Army will undertake to settle on the usual sized locations—160 acres—immigrants of the very best selected class. In this regard the Government would co-operate very closely by selecting a number of experienced men who would assist members of the Army staff in locating the settlers, building suitable homes, clearing the land, and teaching the rudiments of agriculture.

The settlement would be gradual; there is no idea of bringing in thousands of people together and having them live in tents or rough shanties. As a further aid to the settlers there will be the new experimental farm for New Ontario, the site for which was selected some time ago, and which will be a sort of agricultural headquarters. For a considerable time after location began the settlers would be believed, be able to make enough money from the pulpwood on the lands and in railway construction work to help them considerably toward becoming permanent citizens of the country. At no time would they be left to their own resources, but would always have the experienced assistance mentioned at hand.

New Gold Coins.

President Roosevelt's artistic sensibilities have been offended by the designs on the gold coins now in use, and he has requested a New York artist to prepare new ones. According to law the designs cannot be changed oftener than once in twenty-five years. The law also provides that each coin shall bear the emblem of liberty, the year of coinage and the words "E Pluribus Unum." The present gold coins have been in use almost fifty years.—San Francisco Argonaut.
