Appreciate the Worth of Sleep.
The amount of sleep required by a person can be determined better by the effects obtained than by the number of hours consumed, for it differs greatly with age and the condition of health. Few fallacies are more dangerous than that which is often adopted by busy people, more especially by those engaged in scientific or other forms of intellectual work, when they assume that the duration of sleep is largely a matter of convenience. The harmfulness of deficient sleep may not reveal itself until the age of decline has been reached, but it will surely hasten the decline.

It Had to Come.
Mrs. Cakebread was entertaining some ladies at a select little 5 o'clock tea, and Bobby, who had been exceptionally well behaved, was in high feather.
"Ma," he said as cake was being handed around, "may I have some tongue, please?"
"There isn't any tongue, Bobby."
"That's funny," commented Bobby. "I heard pa say there would be lots of it."

AN ASSIZE OF BREAD.

Mobile's Regulation of Bakeries Early in the Last Century.

In the latter half of the seventeenth and the early part of the eighteenth centuries the regulation of the price of bread by public authority was a familiar principle in the English colonies of America. In New Haven, for instance, the weight of the penny loaf was regulated by law about 1690, and in 1693 the Massachusetts general court also provided a regular assize, fixing the weight of the loaf according to the price of flour. At various times during the first quarter of the eighteenth century the selectmen of Boston likewise performed this duty.

It is interesting, however, to note a survival or perhaps a revival of this principle as late as the nineteenth century in the town of Mobile, a place whose economic history is marked by many peculiar features. After fifty-two years of French, seventeen years of English and thirty-three years of Spanish rule Mobile came under the control of the United States government in April, 1813, and was included in the Mississippi territory. On Jan. 20, 1814, by an act of the territorial legislature the town received a charter of incorporation, and at two meetings of the inhabitants, on March 11 and 14, the municipal government was organized and the charter publicly read in English and in French. The population at this time was composed of French, English and Irish elements. On April 4 following, three weeks after the organization of the municipal government, a "tariff for bakers," or assize of bread, was drawn up by the commissioners (the governing body of the town) and proclaimed in English and in French. This fixed the weight of the loaf for the ensuing month in accordance with the price of flour. Instead of changing the price of bread it was more convenient to make the loaves lighter or heavier as the price of flour rose or fell. On May 2, 1814, the weight of the bit loaf (the bit being a coin worth 12½ cents) was fixed at twenty-eight ounces, and the weight of the half bit loaf was fixed at fourteen ounces.

On July 8, 1815, Mr. Martin, the baker, appeared before the board and paid the sum of $10, a fine inflicted on him for having his bread too light, one-half of which sum was paid to the police officer. On Jan. 24, 1817, a regular scale of weights for the bit loaf was adopted.

Beginning May 3, 1817, the assize of bread was proclaimed weekly instead of monthly, as before, and this system was continued for a little more than two years. The records do not show that the assize was proclaimed after 1810, but the town continued to exercise a control over the business of baking. Every baker was required to procure a license and to register his trademark, which was stamped on his loaves. A public bakehouse was also established and seems to have been managed in the same way that municipalities control public markets, the bakers renting the stalls from the town and being subject to inspection. As late as 1826 in the annual statement of the city clerk the following entry occurs in the statement of receipts during the year: "Sales of condemned bread, $1.87."—Quarterly Journal of Economics.

Working the Minister.
"Don't imagine ministers have an easy time," remarked the Brooklyn preacher, "if I gave to every one applying for alms, I would be bankrupt. Then there are agents who always want a minister to purchase their wares so that they may use his name when going to other houses in the neighborhood. Last week a dapper fellow called with an oil painting. He was a good talker, and although I did not buy the picture, he did persuade me to give him one of my photographs. The next day several of my church people told me that he had visited them, showed them the photograph and succeeded in making sales. A minister's life may seem like a path of roses when viewed from the pew on a Sunday, but there are certainly thorns in it during the week."

Chippendale.
Chippendale not only made chairs, but almost everything in the furniture line, except the one article with which his name has been most frequently associated in later days. We refer to sideboards. It is doubtful if he ever made a sideboard. In his book there is no reference to sideboards, though there are several large tables which he calls "sideboard tables." Though the word sideboard was used long before his day, it is probable that the early English sideboards were merely tables.

The Samian Letter.
The letter Y is called the Samian letter. It is so called because its Greek original was referred to by Pythagoras, the philosopher of Samos, to illustrate how deviation from the straight path of virtue becomes constantly wider as the lines are extended. The poet Pope refers to this idea in the lines: "When reason, doubtful, like the Samian letter, Points him two ways, the narrower the better."

His Bluff.

WELCOMED THE COADJUTOR BISHOP.

Episcopal Church at Rothesay Presented Him with an Address.

(St. John Sun.)

Two years ago the people of Rothesay knew Rev. J. A. Richardson as the rector of Trinity, and as one of their summer residents. On Saturday evening they met and greeted him as the coadjutor bishop of the diocese. The attendance at the reception which was held in St. Paul's school room was large and representative. The arrangements for the reception including the decorations of the beautifully finished schoolroom, reflected the usual credit upon those ladies of the church who took an active part in the affair.

Rev. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Daniel, Mrs. J. Simeon Armstrong with Mrs. J. H. A. L. Fairweather, and the Coadjutor Bishop, greeted the members of the parish congregation as they arrived.

There was a little music, many pleasant greetings before the formal business of the evening, the presentation of an address took place.

Rev. A. W. Daniel, the rector of Rothesay, read the following short address, which was cleverly engrossed upon parchment.

THE ADDRESS.
Right Reverend John Andrew Richardson, D. D., Bishop Coadjutor of the Diocese of Fredericton.

My Lord—On hearing of your Lordship's intended visit to the parish of Rothesay, it was unanimously decided to present you with an address of welcome, which we on behalf of the church corporation now offer.

It is especially gratifying to note that since your consecration you have so promptly and energetically taken up the responsible and arduous duties of your office.

May we assure you that the kindly feelings entertained towards you while Rector of Trinity Church, St. John, have now become deepened.

It has always been a pleasure to listen to your earnest discourses in our churches on your occasional visits and to meet you in the ordinary walks of life.

One of the marvelous developments of modern life is the advent of woman as a co-laborer with man throughout the entire industrial field.

It follows, then, that woman must adapt herself to new conditions. But this can't be done in one generation, nor in ten. In consequence she lives in an environment of unhygienic conditions, unsuited to her temperament and constitution.

The incessant strain upon her nervous system by reason of the new vocations she has taken up, strikes at the very foundation of her physical stability.

Works becomes worry, and this means destruction to the nervous system.

Very complex in her physical relations to life, disease early seizes upon the woman who works, and she must therefore guard jealously anything that would tend to destroy her vitality or health.

Probably nothing is of more service than Dr. Hamilton's Pills, and every girl and woman can employ this grand remedy with gratifying results.

As a system tonic and blood renovator, no treatment gives such results.

For maintaining good digestion, healthy appetite and the proper performance of the duties of the liver and kidneys it is impossible to equal Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Dark, sallow complexion is changed to healthy, ruddy glow, which proves that Dr. Hamilton's Pills circulate blood that is rich and nourishing.

Weak organs are filled with new life and vitality, irregularities and the common ills are prevented, and this means much to those who have lived in that half-sick, half-well condition that seems so tardy to overcome.

When you feel poorly, when the head aches, back feels lame, and a tired feeling creeps through you—that's what tells of the need of Dr. Hamilton's Pills; try them.

Sold in yellow boxes, 25 cents each or five for $1.00, at all dealers, and satisfaction guaranteed.

MAUGERVILLE.
Mr. Alexander Dunphy of Nashua was a guest at the Baptist parsonage lately.

Miss Orchard and Miss Branton of Fredericton were the guests of Miss Mary Dykeman on Sunday last.

Miss Hazel Long who has been confined to her home with quinsy is able to sit up we wish her a speedy recovery.

Mrs. W. M. Clark spent Saturday with Mrs. Upton Sheffield.

Miss Nellie Thurott spent Wednesday with Miss Birlah Sables.

A very interesting prayer meeting was led by Dr. Camp of Sheffield last Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Wisely is visiting her daughter Mrs. R. A. McFadden.

The many friends of Mr. Henry Clark will be glad to hear of his recovery.

The farmers are very busy putting in their crops.

The weather has been all that could be desired of late.

To those of us who have enjoyed the privilege of intimate relations with you in the past, it is a special delight to have you with us.

From a united parish we offer you a cordial welcome.

Trusting that you will long be spared to carry on the important work to which you have been called and assuring you of our active support and sympathy. We remain,

Yours Humbly,
In the Service of God,
A. W. DANIEL, Rector,
CHARLES PRINCE,
J. H. A. L. FAIRWEATHER,
Wardens.

Rothesay,
June 8, 1907.

THE BISHOP'S REPLY.

The reply of the Coadjutor was brief and appropriate. He referred to his four months' residence in Rothesay two years ago in pleasant and complimentary terms, and thanked the framers of the address for having said little about the man and much about the people.

He spoke earnestly upon his wish to get near to the people, and of the necessity there was for all ministers to do. Apt anecdotes impressed his meaning very clearly to his listeners.

The necessity of constant effort on the part of the people as well as the minister, the arduous life of ministers' wives, the need of increasing missionary stipends, were all referred to in an earnest talk which was varied so pleasantly that it was plain the bishop's dignity had not interfered with his sense of humor.

Among those present were the rector of Trinity, Rev. Mr. Armstrong, Rev. G. F. Scovill of the West End, St. John, and Rev. Mr. Trumpp of the Rothesay College staff.

Coffee and cake were passed round at the close of the Coadjutor's reply and at 9.30 the very pleasant reception came to a close.

BASE BALL
FOOD FOR THE FANS.

Philadelphia has sold McCloskey, of last year's Greys, to Baltimore.

McDonald, drafted from Utica by McGraw, has been sold to Burnham, and will play short stop.

Critics around the Eastern League circuit are wondering if Cleary will be in condition at all this season.

Owen is credited as being the best umpire in the Eastern League. Who's the worst? Don't all pick one man.

Grant, the leading Eastern League hitter last year, will resume play with the Philadelphia, after his graduation from Harvard on June 22nd.

Duffy has added McQuillan to his Gray pitching staff. He pitched for the Skeeters last year, and went to Philadelphia with Murray, but was not all gold.

For umpire baiting, First Baseman Merrill of Jersey City, has been indefinitely suspended by President Powers. Rowdy ball has no place in the Eastern League.

Jimmie McAleer's St. Louis team has come out of its deep sleep and is commencing to climb. The Browns made a great finish last season, but went away too badly this year to be dangerous to the leading clubs.

Nicholas Gacetas, a Greek, has purchased the Butler (Pa) team in the West Penn League. He is said to be the only full blooded Greek magnate in the business.

The Charleston News and Courier produces a "hokey" editorial deploring the fact that the Charleston League team does not produce anything. The News, etc., would put the eighteen men at work in the cotton fields, where they could raise $4,000 worth of stuff each year.

Clean up $3,000 on other products of the soil and make their living expenses. "If they do no better on the farm however, then they do on the diamond, they might properly be arrested under the vagrant law as possessing no visible means of support."

is the cruel way in which the gentle thrust ends.

WHEN THAT COLD COMES.

How is it to be cured? This method is simplicity itself. Rub the chest and throat well with NeveLine, use it as a gargle and take some in hot water before retiring along with one of Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Next morning finds you refreshed, free from cold and bright as a dollar. These household remedies are wonderfully successful, and certainly won't fail in your case. For sale at all dealers.

KINGARTH.

The weather for the past week has been rainy and dull.

Mrs. Byron Kilburn and four children, Central Kingsclear, Mrs. Sanford MacKenzie and two children, Kingsclear, Mrs. Judson Dunphy, Lower French Village, Dr. E. W. Henry and Mrs. (Dr.) J. W. MacNeill all left for the province of Saskatchewan on Wednesday, June 5th.

Mr. I. K. Good, Mr. Tyler Mills, Mr. Cook Mills, Mr. Samuel Gallagher and Mr. George Kilburn have returned home from Mr. John Kilburn's drive this week.

Mr. Samuel Hagerman, agent for Clark and Sons was a guest at the Kingarth, June 7th.

Miss Jennie Forsey of Fredericton is visiting friends in Kingsclear and Prince William.

Mr. Thomas V. Clayton visited Kingsclear on a business trip.
