THE SAME OLD TICKET.

The Tories of York, after boasting for months about what they were going to do with the local government in the next election in this constituency, have met and nominated the local ticket that went down to such an overwhelming and ignominious defeat in 1903.

Messrs. Pinder, McLeod, Young and Robinson will not arouse any great degree of enthusiasm in their own party, constituting about the weakest combination ever presented to this constituency.

The selection was not made without many heart burnings and ill-feeling. A determined effort was made to prevent Mr. Pinder from getting on the ticket—his record has been so unsavoury, but the new lights were not strong enough in intrigue to overpower the ex-king of the Nackawick and the party had to take him, Bear Island bar and all.

A compromise was sought by suggesting Mr. George J. Colter, but that gentleman has tasted defeat, a couple of defeats, and anyhow he probably felt that it was more his money than himself that the heeler were after and he kept out of the trouble.

We do not propose at this early stage of the game to discuss in detail the weakness of the Tory ticket—that is evident on its face, but we have no hesitation in declaring that the government's friends in York are more certain than ever of a great Liberal triumph at the polls, now that the Tories have shown their hand.

WANT A PLATFORM.

One of the worst cracks Mr. Borden has received since the defeat of himself and all his candidates in Nova Scotia, in the last election, is administered to the Tory leader by the Conservatives of Winnipeg, who by petition have requested him to call a Dominion convention of his party to arrange a platform.

Think of it! Mr. Borden laid off at a Maine watering place for weeks this summer, constructing a platform for his party, and he thought he had the real thing.

Over at Halifax a few weeks ago he launched it on the public with due ceremony and ever since through Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, Quebec and Ontario he has been repeating, we were told, to wildly enthusiastic audiences.

Such a platform, we were given to understand, was never before presented a political leader, and according to the Tory press, it has warranted to carry the party into power at Ottawa.

It is true that such prominent Tory newspapers as the Montreal Gazette and Star fell foul certain planks of Mr. Borden's platform, but it remained for Winnipeg Tories to reject the whole affair and to petition the leader to call a convention to formulate a new policy.

It must be discouraging and disheartening to Mr. Borden to be met at the very gateway of the west where he is to spend the next month campaigning, with a practical condemnation of his platform and request for an entirely new one.

Duch a lack of confidence in a party leader has never before been exhibited in a party leader by his own friends, and it is a spectacle that must arouse the derision of the country and prove most embarrassing to Mr. Borden.

CURRENT COMMENT

Speaking of graft, what does Mr. Fowler think of that Tory half million?

James Kossouth Pinder, for honest government (?) What are you laughing at!

Mr. Hazen looks terribly crestfallen over the York Tory nominations. And no wonder.

And the Warden and the St. Mary's doctor, what became of them at the Tory convention?

Next question. Who is going to finance for the York Tory ticket. Will Mr. Pinder be expected to put up the whole pot?

Mr. B. Frank Smith, M. P. P. was at the York Tory convention, but there was no mention of stray logs, so he felt quite comfortable.

Pugsley and Graham by acclamation. Well, that was a good enough day's work for the Liberals.

The prices realized at the government sheep sale yesterday were gratifying. The government seems to have got just what the farmers wanted.

Mr. Hazen tried to ruin Fredericton by shutting off its sewerage system, but he did not discuss the subject at the Tory convention. Wait till the electors of this city get at his candidates.

How it will gall that eminent land speculator, Hon. Geo. Eusless Foster, to know that the Liberal Minister of Public Works, Hon. Dr. Pugsley, has been elected by acclamation in St. John, where the land speculator himself a few years ago was defeated by nearly one thousand majority.

The exhibition continues to draw big crowds, and is pronounced far ahead of any of its predecessors in character and extent. All the departments, including the popular amusements, are now in full working order, and everything points to an increased attendance as the week advances.

A Tory campaign fund of half a million dollars in the federal election and $25,000 of it spent in the effort to elect Mr. Powell in Westmorland, Dr. Pugsley makes the declaration, and dares the Tories to bring him to book for it. And all the time Mr. Borden is travelling through the country talking electoral purity.

The Gleaner devoted something over a dozen lines of editorial comment on the Tory nominations in Queens, without mentioning the names of the gentlemen nominated—evidence of still another feud in the party. If Mr. Slipp's name had been Crockett or McLeod, he would have been showered with a column of fulsome flattery.

Hon. George B. McLellan was elected mayor of New York two years ago, but his election was protested by his unsuccessful opponent, Mr. William Randolph Hearst, and the trial is about to commence. Ten thousand witnesses are being summoned and the affair will probably last almost as long as the Thaw trial.

The local Tory organ discusses "Mr. Pugsley's methods" but neglects one of them—his method of always getting elected—this time by acclamation in a seat which went Tory in the last election by a majority of 600. Another of Dr. Pugsley's "methods" will be to take practically a full delegation of Liberal members with him to Ottawa for the next parliament.
