RARE BOGUS GEMS.

Small Rubies and Sapphires Enlarged to Any Size.

The discovery of a Parisian manufacturer who is making rubies and sapphires of large size by an ingenious process is likely to cause trouble among English, as it has done already among French, jewelers and dealers in precious stones.

A London gentleman, who has learned the secret of the process from the manufacturer himself, said that these rubies and sapphires are made by taking the remnants of cut stones, and also small and badly shaped stones, which by themselves are of little value, and making them up by means of the electrical furnace and high-pressure moulds to any size required.

"I have seen rubies and sapphires thus manufactured ranging in size up to half an inch," he said. "These stones are called 'constructed' rubies and 'constructed' sapphires, and they possess all the quality of the original stone. Indeed, the only way to detect the difference between the 'constructed' and original stone is to look at the grain, or 'silk,' as jewelers call it, through a powerful microscope.

"The 'silk' is straight in the original stone, and curly or cloudy in the 'constructed' one. A firm of London pawnbrokers advanced more than $2,000 a month ago on a 'constructed' ruby. Of course, it was not worth anything like $500; but that was the market price of an original stone of the same size. The ratio of value between the 'constructed' and original stone is about two-fifths.

"You can see, however, that one is perfectly safe in wearing these stones. I am told that the ruby trade in England is already suffering in anticipation for jewelers, who are fully aware of the existence of these 'constructed' stones, also know that large quantities of them will soon appear in the English markets."

Germany and Peace.

Unless an agreement can be reached by Germany and Great Britain regarding the latter's proposal to limit armaments, The Hague Peace Conference will probably be a complete fiasco.

The Russian Government is reported to be greatly discouraged at the result of Prof. de Martens' tour of the European courts, on behalf of the Czar, to urge the participation of the Powers in his scheme of disarmament.

It is stated on reliable authority that Germany objects to Great Britain's proposal for the limitation of armaments, and demands its withdrawal. Should Germany be successful in this, Great Britain will probably withdraw from the conference, and the United States may do likewise.

If Great Britain's proposal is maintained on the program of the conference, it is probable that Germany, and, perhaps, Austria, will withdraw. The Czar is reported to be endeavoring to secure an agreement between Great Britain and Germany on this point, and he is in personal communication with the Kaiser.

Eton's Odd Punishment.

A new form of punishment has been adopted at Eton College. Offenders against the school rules have now to write a certain number of "lines" with the left hand. The scheme has met with general approval among the governing body, though it is said that some boys would rather be birched than have to undergo the new penance.

The headmaster, the Hon. and Rev. E. Lytton, who is a great believer in ambidexterity, is of opinion that everyone should be taught to use the left hand. If the left side was not as active as the right, the left side of the brain was affected. Writing with the left hand would have a good effect upon the brain, and there would be no such thing as writer's cramp. The boys will not be kept in school longer than they were formerly, and the number of lines allotted will be much fewer.

A number of boys, it is said, are practising the art of writing with the left hand during their leisure time.

Farm for Street Beggar.

Through the generosity of a certain woman and man, Charles Ansell, 50 years old, who was charged at Wiltlesden, England, a few weeks ago with singing in the street for alms, took first-class passage with his wife and three children on the steamship Pomoranian for Manitoba, where there is a farm waiting for him to take possession.

When Ansell was brought before Ald. Wright his appearance favorably impressed the magistrate, and Robert Marshall, the court missionary, was asked to investigate the case.

It was ascertained that Ansell was a steady, industrious man and had served under Lord Roberts in India and elsewhere. His wife and three children were starving.

A well-to-do woman took an interest in the unfortunate family, and her husband presented them with a farm of about 200 acres near the town of Minnedosa, Canada.

Lapland Larders.

In Swedish Lapland can be seen curious wooden structures on a single pole which look like monster pigeon cots. These serve their purpose in protecting the contents of the larder from wolves and foxes. They are themselves the larders.

English Sunday Closing.

Public houses were first closed on Sunday mornings in England in consequence of an act of parliament, which received the royal assent on the 14th of August, 1838.

In the Andes.

KITCHEN HINTS.

Try basting fish with French dressing made as if for a salad with olive oil and vinegar, salt and red pepper.

If whitening is used for polishing glass, put it in muslin bags. Dampen the glass lightly, then rub with the bag and polish with crumpled paper.

Shellac poured over the worn places in granite ware and the vessel held over the fire so that the shellac can cook hard will make them last a long time.

Wash the coffeepot with a solution of a tablespoonful of soda and boiling water. It will not be necessary to boil the pot if this solution is used for washing it.

A quick drying glue can be made by putting the glue into a bottle two-thirds full and filling up with common whisky. Cork tight and set by for three days, and it will dissolve without the application of heat and will keep for years.

To Restore Velvet.

Velvet so easily plishes that it is an extravagant article to use.

Grease spots or a stain caused by wear may be removed with turpentine rubbed on briskly with a bit of flannel. Two or three applications may be necessary.

The pile of velvet or velveteen may be raised by stretching it tightly over the top of a basin holding boiling water and stroking it gently in the opposite direction with a soft brush.

Most velveteens will wash, not once, but many times, if they are handled properly. Put them through two lathers of warm soapy water, using a moderately stiff brush along the pile as the material lies stretched on the washing board. Rinse in cold clear water to which has been added salt and hang dripping wet in a shady place to dry. Do not squeeze or rub, but if dirty use the brush liberally.
