TO BREAK UP A COLD IN 24 HOURS AND CURE ANY COUGH THAT IS CURABLE.

Mix one-half ounce of the Virgin Oil in Pine (Pure) with two ounces of Glycerine and half a pint of good Whiskey. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses every four hours.

A famous throat and lung specialist who established a camp for consumptives in the pine woods of Maine, and whose wonderful cures there have attracted the attention of the civilized world, declares that the above formula will strengthen weak lungs, relieve the cough, heal the bronchial tubes and cure any case of lung trouble that is not too far advanced, providing the patient will assist by taking plenty of out-door exercise, inhaling long, deep breaths every few minutes.

It is said the mixture will break up an ordinary cold in twenty-four hours, and being free from opiates and drugs, is far preferable for use among children to the ordinary cough mixtures.

The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost and easily prepared in your own home. Inquiry at the prescription department of one of our leading druggists elicited the information that Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) is put up only in half-ounce vials, securely sealed in a round wooden case with engraved wrapper, showing the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure) prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Windsor, Ontario—plainly printed thereon. There are many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), which are being put out under similar names and styles of package. Never accept these as substitute for the Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), as they will invariably produce nausea, and never effect the desired results.

A local physician who is familiar with this treatment says it is undoubtedly the most effective known to medical science at the present time, and, save for the open air life in the forest, would prove just as effective if used in the home. He says the formula given above is the one used in the pine woods, and that it has the unqualified endorsement of the leading physicians of the country.

The physician added, if this formula was known and used generally by the people, throat, lung and bronchial affections would rarely reach an acute stage.

The Pure Virgin Oil of Pine is also a perfect neutralizing agent for uric acid. A few drops taken on sugar night and morning will heal and regulate the kidneys and relieve the most obstinate case of rheumatism, if caused by uric acid in the system.

LEGISLATION BY STEALTH.

How Congressmen Got a Bar in the Capital.

London, Feb. 25.—British Parliamentarians are greatly amused at the news cabled from Washington that a clause was sneaked into the immigration bill repealing the law prohibiting liquor-selling in the national Capitol. The Pall Mall Gazette says: "No doubt it would delight some of our own legislators if the channel tunnel could be smuggled into a government bill about tinned meats, or the deceased wife's sister quietly emancipated as a detail of the decimal system measure. But we cannot do that kind of thing, and perhaps they could hardly do it even at Washington, except in such a case as this, where a good many congressmen probably convinced at the dodge for personal reasons.

Once a Scotsman was visiting New York, and coming across a statue of Washington stood gazing at it.

Just then a Yankee came up and said to Sandy: "There's a good man. A lie never passed his lips."

"No," said the Scotsman. "I suppose he talked through his nose, like the rest of you."—New York Paper.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Some Interesting Information for Busy Housewives.

The following are several excellent recipes for good home cooking kindly contributed by a reader of this department:

POTATO SOUFFLE.

Into two cups of mashed potatoes work 2½ cups of hot milk in which two tablespoonfuls of hot butter have been half-melted. Beat out all the lumps and pour into a smooth puree. Season with salt and pepper. Beat four eggs very light and whip them into the potatoes and milk. When thoroughly mixed pour into a deep greased pudding dish and bake in a good oven until "set" and delicately browned.

Here is a lovely Macaroni Dish.—Break into inch lengths half pound of macaroni. Boil it until tender in weak broth; drain off the liquor; put the macaroni into a pudding dish that will stand the fire; pour over it a half cupful of the stock in which it was boiled; put a table-spoonful of butter, broken into pieces here and there through it; stir over it fine bread crumbs and grated cheese; dot with bits of butter and brown in the oven.

BOSTON BEANS.

Soak over night a quart of beans in cold water; in the morning soak for two hours in warm water; drain and put into a pot with enough cold water to cover them; bring them slowly to a boil; when tender enough to rick with a pin, turn into a deep bake dish, first pouring off the surplus water; cut gashes in half pound of parboiled salt pork; place this in the centre of the dish; then add a pint of water in which the beans were boiled, add a gill of molasses and a salt-spoonful of French mustard; mix well and pour this over the pork and beans; cover the dish and bake in a steady oven for six hours.

USEFUL TO KNOW.

Frozen meat should be cooked at once, as it loses its flavor if it thaws out some time before it is put on the fire.

A few drops of essence of pepper-mint on a cloth laid against the ear

(not inside it) will relieve an ear-ache.

A mustard plaster mixed with white of egg will not blister.

Candle grease may be eradicated with alcohol.

Impure air in a room is even more injurious to a baby than to an older person.

White silks and satins which are to be laid away should be first wrapped up in blue paper to prevent the purity of the tone from being injured.

Ribbons and delicately figured silks are preserved better in brown paper wrappings, as the chloride of lime in white paper would bleach the colours very soon. The best way is to slip ribbons in brown paper bags pasted shut at the end.

During the cold weather, particularly, it should be impressed upon children and grown people both that they should keep their mouths closed as much as possible when out in the open air, and breathe entirely through the nostrils.

It is said that after brushing a mud stain on dark cloth the spot should be rubbed with a freshly cut raw potato to remove any stain that remains.

Tepid water with good soap and pinch of salt in it is a good way to clean colored embroideries. Care must be taken not to rub the soap into the embroidery, and when it has been gently pressed rinse it out in a basin of clean tepid water. It must be wrung out carefully and then placed right side down between two clean cloths and ironed while still wet.

A heavy baby should not be put much on his feet. Babies should not be hurried on with walking. Children, on the average, do not walk alone at fourteen months.

If a child's clothes catch fire, at once put him on the ground and throw something thick over him, such as a blanket or a mat, etc. Rolling on the floor will also extinguish the flames. Never let him run about, as this will make the flames worse.

Don't curl or plait a child's hair tightly if you want it to grow long and thick. Many a scanty crop of tresses in later life is due to straining the hair while the child is growing.

QUEBEC'S GOVERNMENT HOUSE.

Legislature Discussed Resolution Favoring Abolition of Spencerwood.

Quebec, Feb. 22.—Spencerwood, the official residence of the Lieutenant Governor, was the cause of an interesting discussion in the Assembly yesterday afternoon. Mr. Godfrey Langlois moved a resolution to the effect that Spencerwood was too expensive a luxury for the province.

His speech brought three of the ministers to their feet. Hon. W. A. Weir as minister of public works, eloquently defended the maintenance of Spencerwood.

Hon. Alclard Turpin, as one of the few Liberals who had supported the resolution of condemnation of 1895, made one of the most graceful speeches of the session in explanation of his change of mind.

Finally the prime minister joined in the fray and dealt clearly with the changes which had taken place since the days when the Liberal party had endorsed such resolutions, and enlarged upon the importance of having an official residence worthy of the representative.

THE RESOLUTION.

Mr. Godfrey Langlois moved that, whereas the expenses for repairs and maintenance of Spencerwood since 1867 amounted to $355,998.46. Be it resolved, that this house is of opinion that, in view of the finances of this province, it is necessary to cease spending money for the repairs, maintenance and improvement of Spencerwood, and to dispose of such property at the expiration of office of the person who now occupies it.

That this house relies on the enlightened patriotism and disinterestedness of men appointed to the honorable and amply remunerated position of Lieutenant-Governor to help it in realizing so great, and economy.

Mr. Langlois himself considered that in 1882 a similar resolution had been moved by the late Mr. Gagnon.

Mr. Langlois himself considered that in 1882 a similar resolution had been moved by the late Mr. Gagnon.

Mr. Langlois then compared the salary of $10,000 received by the Lieutenant-Governor with the salary he received as premier of the province, since the time of Mr. Dechenne, and what a marked decrease there was now in the annual expenses of Spencerwood.

For instance in 1894, over $13,000 had been expended on its maintenance, in 1893 over $23,000 in 1892 over $23,000, in 1891 over $28,000, in 1890 over $64,000. Last year the expense had been only some $9,000. Of this over $4,000 went to wages and $1,400 to the care of the ground and hot houses.

The debate for the resolution was not finished when the house adjourned.

THEATRICAL TEMPESTS.

The Way a Rainstorm is Produced on the Stage.

Probably not more than one person in a hundred stops to consider how a rainstorm is produced on the stage. Few perhaps have ever given the subject any serious thought.

During the coming up of the storm there is seen vast clouds of dust, the wind blows a gale, and suddenly the rain comes down in torrents. It is an effect so natural that one almost imagines the elements are genuinely on the warpath. Yet, though the rain is real water, not a person is actually drenched, because the water comes down at the very front of the stage, while the players are well back and not at all exposed to its moisture.

It might be thought that to produce a storm many intricate bits of machinery would be necessary, yet such is not the case, for the simplest devices produce the effect desired. These are some gas pipes punctured by myriads of holes through which the water runs from small barrels, each about half full, at either end. The sound of the wind is made by a revolving barrel which touches a heavy piece of canvas in its rounds. The thunder effect is caused by the artistic manner in which a man beats a bass drum, and the gusts of dust are blown across the stage by an electric fan. The flashes of lightning come from an electric battery connected by wires which when placed in contact throw out the dazzling flashes. A metal plate, which had been specially prepared by first being heated to white heat and then scratched by a knife, is placed in a calcium light machine and gives the effect of lightning in the distance.

POETICAL DEATHS.

Welcoming the Grim Reaper With a Greeting in Verse.

There have been numerous instances of poetical deaths. The Emperor Adrian made a poetical address to his own soul as death was entering the seal of final silence over his lips, and Margaret of Austria while almost within the grasp of death in a terrible storm at sea calmly sat down and composed her epitaph in verse. The ship weathered the gale, however, and the epitaph was not needed.

Philip Strozzel when imprisoned and awaiting death on the gallows resolved to commit suicide. Before he killed himself he carved with the sword upon which a few minutes later he impaled himself the following verse from Virgil on the wall: "Rise some avenger from my blood."

The Marquis of Montrose when he was condemned to have his limbs nailed to the gates of four cities said that he was sorry that he did not have enough limbs to nail to all the cities in Europe, and this he put into beautiful verse as he was walking to his execution.

Patric, a poet of Caen, finding himself at the door of death, composed a poem, and De Barreux, it is said, wrote while on his deathbed a well known sonnet which was soon afterward translated into English.
