FRENCH AND ARABS

The Moorish Difficulty Increasing in Violence—French Sharpshooters Attacked
by Arab Horsemen

CASABLANCA, Aug. 24.—With the idea of relieving the strain of incessant vigilance on the part of the French troops encamped here, made necessary by the constantly recurring attacks of Arab skirmishers, General Drude, the French commander, has sent out reconnoitering parties and cleared the country within three miles of his outposts. Consequently the enemy is no longer in sight. A French column, consisting of a company of sharpshooters, a company of the foreign legion and a section of artillery, which performed this manoeuvre was assailed by a large number of Arab horsemen, who gave evidence of the most reckless courage by riding up to within two hundred yards of the French guns. The fierce shell fire, however, mowed down their ranks and forced them to fly. They carried away a number of dead and wounded. The French column pursued the enemy for over a mile. Captain Benoit and six French privates were wounded. It has been decided that in the future French cavalry patrols shall cover daily the heights which mark the limit of vision from the French camp.

As a result of this reconnaissance General Drude has decided that the moment he can safely take the offensive has arrived.

Consequently, he is preparing to march out tomorrow for a distance of six miles.

It has been noticed that the attacking Arabs are never twice from the same tribe. Those who once undergo the French shell fire do not return.

ORAN, Algeria, Aug. 24.—The transport Nive left here today for Casablanca with a detachment of the army supply corps, a number of army telegraphers and quantities of stores and ammunition on board. The governor of Casablanca will be transferred from the transport Shamrock to the Nive and conveyed by the latter vessel to Tangier.

ROSS RIFLE TRIUMPH

Marksman Who Used it at Ontario Meet
Distanced All Competitors

(Special to Herald.)

At the annual meeting of the Ontario Rifle Association which came to a conclusion at the Long Branch range yesterday. There were interesting finishes in two matches.

The first was in the sewing machine competition, between Sergt. Youhill, 90th, Winnipeg, and Staff Sergt. Mortimer, G. F. G., Ottawa.

The conditions were: Five rounds and righting shot at 200 yards.

Staff Sergt. Mortimer won with a score of 22, Sergt. Youhill making 21.

Sergt. Mortimer then shot off his tie for the bronze medal in the Duke of Cornwall and York match with Sergt. Dymont, of Winnipeg again.

The Sergeant has the honor of being the most successful shot attending the meeting and his wins were really a victory for the Ross rifle which he has used throughout.

Objection was raised against it because he was using a straight bar back of the sight instead of V, but the executive disallowed the protest on the grounds that the rifle was of government issue.

CONFERENCE OF BISHOPS

Over 300 Bishops From all Parts of the World Will Convene

(Special to Herald.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—The next Lambeth conference, of local diocesan meeting of all the bishops of the Anglican communion throughout the world, including the Protestant Episcopal church in this country will meet in London in July, 1908.

This conference was started by Archbishop Longley in 1867, and consequently it has met only three times since, 1878, 1888, 1897.

The last meeting was put forward one year in order to coincide with the Diamond Jubilee of the late Queen Victoria.

The meeting in 1908 will revert to the regular order. The official programme has just been announced by the Archbishop of Canterbury in a letter addressed to 310 or more bishops who are entitled to attend the conference.

According to this letter the conference will assemble Monday, July 6, 1908, and sit during the week. On Saturday, July 11 the meeting will adjourn for a fortnight when the various conference committees will meet and prepare reports. The conference will reassemble Monday, July 27, and will end its session Wednesday, August 5th.

A PLEASANT TRIP.

Mr. C. H. Lee, agent of the Bank of New Brunswick, and his son Master Norman Lee, returned last evening after a most enjoyable canoeing trip to Grand Falls. They were on the route a week, and were favored with most delightful weather. Messrs. Thomas and Martin Phillips acted as guides, and gave every satisfaction. Mr. Lee left last evening for St. George, where he will spend the balance of his vacation.

Miss Annie Fletcher, of this city is visiting at New Maryland.

MARITIME BAPTISTS

Rev. P. J. Stackhouse's "New Theology" Arouses Some Lively Discontent—Large Attendance of Delegates

WOLFVILLE, Aug. 24.—Delegates from all parts of the Maritime Provinces are gathering at Wolfville to attend the annual Baptist convention. It is expected that the number in attendance will be greater than any previous year in the history of the Baptists.

A number of distinguished Baptist clergymen outside of the boundaries of the convention are present. Among them are Rev. Dr. Goodspeed, a former editor of the Messenger and Visitor, but now a professor of theology in a Baptist college in Texas; Dr. O. C. S. Wallace, a former chancellor of McMaster University, but now a leading preacher in one of the New England states; Rev. G. A. Gordon and Rev. Dr. Gates of Montreal. Every train brings new delegates, and by Saturday night the town will be filled almost to overflowing.

The Baptist Institute opened yesterday at 10 a. m. The attendance of ministers was four times larger than last year. This may partly be accounted for because of a general impression that an attempt would be made to get the institute to take some action against the new theology. The expectation was not realized.

The paper read by Rev. P. J. Stackhouse on "What is Christianity?" raised quite a storm, however, one clergyman of the old faith going so far as to call it "a foolish new theology." Another said he did not know what the new theology meant, but he hated it just the same.

A third critic said the paper might have been accepted for soundness, but for the "rumor of heresy in the air."

The paper was warmly defended by Rev. W. C. Keirstead and Mr. Stackhouse. The author also replied to the arguments advanced against his ideas.

At the morning session two very interesting papers were read on the message of the First Thessalonians, the first by Dr. Browell and the second by Rev. Osgood Morse.

BRITISH JOURNALISTS

Tourist Association May Induce Them to Visit Fredericton

Members of the Tourist Association are putting forth every effort to induce Fredericton in their itinerary. They are to be in St. John on Thursday next, and as they are to take the steamer for England at Rimouski, the following day it has been suggested that they could come up the river to Fredericton and make a stop of a few hours.

The following telegram was sent yesterday to Mr. H. A. Price, Assistant General Passenger Agent of the I. C. R. at Montreal:

Fredricton, Aug. 23 '07.
Mr. H. A. Price, Asst. Gen. Pass. Agt., I. C. R., Montreal:

We are anxious to have the party of British Journalists take trip up the river St. John. Can't you arrange to have them include it in their itinerary? They could leave here at 6.30 p. m., via Intercolonial, or Canadian Pacific.

F. B. Edgecombe, for Fredericton Tourist Ass.

The following came to hand this morning:

Montreal, Aug. 14, '07.

F. B. Edgecombe, Fredericton:

I have your message about British Journalists. Mr. Crighton is in charge of the party. I expect him here tonight and will show him your telegram.

(Signed), H. A. Price.

A dwelling house at Gibson, situated a short distance above the York and Sunbury Milling Company's property, was seriously damaged by fire between one and two o'clock this afternoon. The Gibson fire brigade turned out and soon got the flames under control.

'TWIXT YOU AND ME

The Governor General is homeward bound from Charlottetown and about the only thing of importance that he missed during his tour of the Maritime provinces was Ladies' night at the B and B Club.

Mr. McKane's St. John editors looping the political loop with Mr. Fowler's Fredericton man turning the double political somersault would make attractive features at the exhibition side show.

No thanks Effie. We don't care to join the bridge whistlers this winter. There is a stringency in the money market and our wife expects us to be home not later than ten p. m. to fill the furnace and put the dogs to bed.

Oh the Mayor, the Mayor. He's a regular stayer. When anything's sporty's around. At cricket immense. At bowling intense.

And at flirting a success I'll be bound.

A demure spinster of Brunswick Street objects to billiards because the balls kiss so often.

In an impassioned editorial which has set the whole St. Croix region ablaze. Brother Clarke M. P. P. of the St. Stephen Courier declares that "We desire again to call attention to the fact that, under an order in council passed in March last, the export of soft shell, long neck or squirt clams in a raw state, taken in Quebec or any of the maritime provinces, is prohibited from May 1st to September 30th in each year, both days inclusive." (Here's to the soft shell, long neck and squirt clams and may they ever have as valiant a defender as brother Clarke. It is said he is making a great effort to have them with the Tory lobsters put on the Charlotte County voters' list.)

Governor Fraser wires from Halifax that the Herald misrepresented his Gaelic speech. Typographical errors, Your Honor. Our Slug Three who runs the monoline on the front street side, was at the Methodist picnic Thursday and must have imbibed fourteen carat lemonade.

Ratepayers who feel themselves too heavily taxed and neglected to make a statement of assets, liabilities, household goods, income, expectations from the stock exchange gains, or losses at bridge, can only make faces at the assessors. They are all in for this year and should pay up and look pleasant.

They say the prettiest girl at the Methodist picnic was a tourist who just dropped in and scooped the beauty prize. Probably the committee was composed of some crusty old bachelors who have been turned down by Fredericton's maidens.

Since the recent rise in hop beer (the corks flew out at Harry Crawley's brewery) we have drunk nothing but Fredericton filtered water. It's a great tonic and blood purifier, warranted to have suffered the extraction of 98 2-15 per cent in microbes, dead horses and other decaying matter.

The R. C. R. men since their return from Petawawa are most industrious in the pursuit of happiness, as it is found billing and cooing with their lady friends on the Local Improvement Association benches Forety avenue. Femininity was so awfully rare at the camp.

The new band stand on parliament square, for which we have paid our good money—$250 or more—is not burdened with musicians these fine moonlight nights. The picnics have absorbed all the music.

Put this down in your weather calendar. The Baptists (hardshells and freewillers) and the Methodists have held picnics without the regular rain immersion or down pour, and the Kirk people didn't even raise a sprinkle.

Mr. Borden evidently didn't like the company into which he was thrown when last in Fredericton and he has cut this beautiful little city for a look at the Tory fair godmother on the Miramichi. There's more money in it.

After we have built a statue to Queen Victoria in Fredericton, perhaps some of our money raisers will run down to St. John and collect those overdue Champlain monument subscriptions.

The haying season has been so backward that the roadmaster has not yet completed harvesting the wild rhubarb crop on George street.

This column has already made such a hit with the public that the editor is overwhelmed with offers to go abroad, by some for his health, by others for lucrative employment. London Punch wires: "You've struck the right lead. What do you ask for English copyright. Will give you ten guineas a year on permanent job here." We're not looking for money, and besides we have promised to be present at the opening of the Queen hotel bowling alley, and to judge the baby show at the Fredericton Expo. After that Butler's Journal shall have the first chance.
