BILLINGSGATE IN THE COMMONS.

Mr. Fowler Promises to Discuss Private Characters and Threatens Ministers.

(Special Despatch to the Toronto Globe.)

Ottawa, Feb. 19.—One of the most unreserved exhibitions of Parliamentary Billingsgate in the history of the House of Commons took place this afternoor, the offender being Mr. Fowler,member for Kings, N. B. chief figure in some remarkable financial deals recently investigated by the Royal Insurance Commission. Mr. Fowler began the row during a discussion of Mr. Lemieux's labor bill, with some disparaging remarks about the ambitions of Mr. Ralph Smith, member for Nanaimo. In defence of his colleagae from the Pacific, Mr. Ross (Yale-Cariboo) protested against Mr. Fowler's allusion. Some ambitions, he said, were honorable and some ambitions were otherwise, Mr. Fowler had had ambitions to be a land proprietor in the Northwest—(laughter)—and he aad had ambitions to be a lumber king in the Province of British Columbia. Possibly later developments would show what kind of other ambitions the member for King's had. (Interruption.)

Mr. Fowler (excitedly)—Let us have the whole story and we will show up your connection with Hill. (Opposition cheers.)

Considerable disorder ensued aroid which Mr. Fowler was heard shouting at the pitch of his voice, "We will get the inside Hyman story, too we will give you all you want,"

NEVER BEEN INVESTIGATED.

Mr. Ross, resuming, said no dount the hon. member for King's was quite prepared to give his fair share of Billingsgate in the House, but he would have to change his tactics in the House if he did not want to get a Raland for an Oliver. (Liberal cheers.)

"I want to tell him," proceeded Mr. Ross, "that my personal record has not been a matter for investigation." (Renewed interruption.)

Mr. Fowler—Neither has mine.

Mr. Ross—And if he wants to investigate my personal record he can do so as soon as he wishes.

Mr. Fowler—So can you mine as soon as you want to.

At this point the disorder broke out afresh, and there were cries of "What about British Columbia?" "The Judas who carried the bag," and "Who got the money?"

Amid the din Mr. Bennett shouted to Mr. Ross: "Follow your bluff or shut up."

Mr. Ross—It is delightful to see the hon. members so excited. They must be hurt. (Interruption).

Turning to the bill, Mr. Ross said that within two weeks the opposition had changed their position.

SOME STRONG LANGUAGE.

Mr. Fowler said he could quite understand the member for Yale-Cariboo feeling very cross. He started out on an excursion a few weeks ago to British Columbia. He was well equipped. He had in his bag what was going to change British Columbia from Conservative to Liberal. (Opposition laughter.) What happened to the bag he did not know. The string must have been untied while in possession of the member for Yale-Cariboo. (Opposition cheers.) If the hon. gentkeman had been as well known to the government as he was in the district in which he lived he would never have been sent. The hon. member (Mr. Ross) had indulged in nasty, dirty, mean insinuations. (Cries of "Order.") None but a man possessing a debased mind would have turned his (Mr. Fowler's) remarks into insinuations against the character of the member for Nanaimo. The sewer which took the place of the mind with him (Mr. Ross) would cause him to take that view. (Interruption.)

MR. FOWLER MAKES A THREAT

Mr. Fowler proceeded to say that in conjunction with other gentlemen he was a land owner in the Northwest. The hon. member for Yale-Cariboo (Mr. Ross) had not very much land or very much of anything else. (Opposition cheers.) Was it a disgrace to have ambitions to become a land owner? He had not discussed the private matters of members in that house, and he wanted the government to understand that if matters connected with his private business were to be discussed he would take an opportunity to discuss the private characters of members of the government and members opposite. (Opposition cheers.)

"I shall discuss them," proceeded Mr. Fowler, "without fear or favor. I shall call a spade a spade, and when I tell of the indisporition of an hon. minister, which keeps him out of the house, I shall tell exactly what it was and what brought it about. (Interruption.) I will not allow any man to make an attack on me without retorting, and I shall discuss the character of members opposite, whether ministers or private members, and their connection with women, wine and graft. (Disorder.) Are you going to allow the character of a man when he enters public life to be besmirched by any dirty cur that comes along the street?" (Cries of order.)

The chairman (Mr. A. Campbell) thought the expression was not a proper one to use.

Mr. Fowler—There are dirty curs along the streets besides any that may be mentioned in this chamber." (Renewed cries of "Order" and voice from the Opposition, "Withdraw.")

NICE CASE OF HEDGING.

Mr. Fowler—I was not exactly referring to any member of this house.

Again being called to order by the chairman, Mr. Fowler said he could not see wherein he had offended. He had not applied the words to any member of the house. He was not afraid of any attack. He was prepared to defend himself and would carry the war into the enemy's country and give not one, but twenty, Rolands for an Oliver. (Opposition cheers.) Concluding, Mr. Fowler blamed the prime minister for the tone the discussion had taken, and protested that he (Mr. Fowler) had done nothing in his public or private capacity of which he need be ashamed.

The incident ended with these remarks.

Gentle Laxative Needed for the Aged and Feeble.

With the advance of years the vital functions of the body slow down.

The organs of secretion grow weak, the paristaltic lessened and dangerous constipation develops.

What is the result?

Poisonous substances over-run the system, the circulation is engorged with wastes, the brain is filled with blood, the hands and feet grow numb with cold, the whole body twitches and trembles.

A drastic cathartic is dangerous.

Nothing will cure but a gentle laxative like Dr. Hamilton's Pills;their action not only extends to the stomach, liver and kidneys, but is directed to the recretory glands, and increases their fluidity and volume.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are different from other pills. Their activity in moving the secretary apparatus is profound, but their action is so mild, so free from gripe that it seems scarcely possible you have eaken a medicine at all. Yet they do the work efficiently, and this is why they are so widely prescribed for old folks who need a laxative and system tonic.

Cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills

Headache	Constipation
Billiousness	Sallowness
Dizziness	Colicky Bowels
Vertigo	Dyspepsia
Slow Liver	Bad Breath
Bad Dreams	Poor Appetite

INTERCOLONIAL RAILWAY NAMES.

By Andrew Braid, Windsor.

The time table folder of the Intercolonial Railway contains many striking names, and is responsible for the following, supposed to be written from Hackmatack:

We've wandered many a pleasant foot,
Since we left Windsor toon;
And seas between us Braid hae roared,
But didnae cast us doon.

Here there are Indian names galore,
With English, French and Hieland;
And just to mix things up, we find
A Denmark and New Zealand.

Though epicures we never were,
One day at Hackmatack,
Much to our great delight the cook
Produced a Stewiacke.

But though we've had a pleasant trip,
There's some things bother me;
I'd greatly like to know of what
Did Shubenacadie?

And where did Miss Nauwigewauk?
And why did she Passekeag?
And how did Petit-codiac
When bounced from the ball league?

And what made thick-tongued Sandy Cove
Exclaim Tatamagouche?
(He'd hit me if I called him names)
Did he harbour au Bouch?

With curiosity I'm filled,
And wonder what would happen
If Laurier let Torey-Burn,
And Bedford was caught Nappan.

I wonder if sweet Miscouche
And Charlotte Town (k) New Annan?
I wonder who tin-canned its tail,
And sent poor Pug-wash Howlan?

When we get home, which will be soon,
In quiet talks and cracks
I'll tell of all the folks and freaks,
The fads and Halifax (all the facts).

G. T. P. CONTRACTS.

Ottawa, Feb. 21.—(Special)— The tenders have not yet been all extended in connection with the Transcontinental railway contracts, but it would appear that the Grand Trunk Pacific stands a good chance of getting most of all of them.

Give some men a dollar and they will believe anything you tell them.

To put the brake on the wagon going down the hill is a help to the horse, when the wagon is heavily loaded wagon going up hill? If he did, his sensible horses would probably balk. Many a maniis in the condition of pulling a load up hill with the brake set against him.
