HOLDING A SKIRT.

The Way It May Be Done Gracefully and With Comfort.

To hold a circular skirt in a becoming way bend the body slightly at the waist line, dropping the right hand as far down the back as it will reach. Then, with the finger tips, take opposite the knees the edges of two of the back folds, or gores, gather them into a light but firm loop and pull gently around the body to the right, lifting the material upward until on a line with the hip; then bend the wrist slightly, so it will be comfortable, and rest the hand on the hip bone, so that there will be no strain on the muscles of the arm.

If the skirt is so long that the bottom on the opposite side touches the ground, a few horizontal folds should be made in the material. At the same time the gores in the back are gathered together, and then there will be no chance for the skirt to drag, for the cloth will be held so tightly that the improvised plaits will stay in place, says an exchange. Or if a woman wishes and has both hands free she can hold the folds and give a balance to her figure that it would otherwise be without.

Carrying a full gathered skirt, such as is often worn to the opera, receptions and for dinners, is quite a simple matter, for it is nothing more than making a bag by folding the ends of a handkerchief together.

The skirt is picked up with thumbs and forefingers at the back by the bottom or edge of the hem and straightened out at the waist line, while the hands are extended as far to right and left as they will reach. When the material has been settled in folds around the waist, with one hand holding the two sides together in front, the skirt is caught up directly in the middle of the front, and the three edges are held firmly in either the right or left hand. Held in this way under an opera cape or long cloak, a frock with a train or one that is unusually long can be managed with little difficulty.—Exchange.

HOME DRESSMAKING.

Avoiding the Long Strain of Standing to Have a Skirt Hung.

I am sure this will help home dressmakers. Finish the skirt all but the hem, put it on and adjust it properly. Take a yardstick, place one end on the floor close to the feet and allow the stick to rest against the front of the skirt. Mark the top of the stick on the skirt with a pin. Move the stick along to the side, being careful to see that it is always vertical and not slanting, and place another pin. Proceed in this way till a circle of pins is completed around the skirt. Now the skirt is marked an even thirty-six inches from the floor. Take it off, lay it on a table and with the yardstick mark off the desired length below the row of pins. I usually allow thirty-four and one-half inches, which is one and one-half inches off the ground. The pins can be very quickly placed even by a man, who seems to find no objection to the yardstick, and it does away with the long strain of standing to have a skirt hung.—Good Housekeeping.

Soul Loveliness.

Near acquaintance with loveliness shows whether it is genuine or not. It is the kind of beauty that bears daily inspection that lasts to and through old age. One may have perfect features, a dazzling skin, ideally perfect teeth, a wonderfully graceful figure, but if one is fretful, whining, childish, selfish, the arrogant—well, what's the use of the beauty part? The spirit must manifest itself with beautiful thoughts and beautiful acts, else the physical perfections will appear absolutely ugly and tiresome. Many a woman has started in with cosmetics and physical culture and while beautifying the physical self has discovered the possibilities of soul loveliness.

Bagginess Under the Eyes.

To treat bagginess under the eyes make a cream of five drams of lanolin, five grams of vaseline, two and a half grams of almond oil and one and a half grams of sulphate of aluminum. Mix by melting the fats in a basin set into a pan of hot water and when liquid remove from the heat and beat in the almond oil and lay over the eyes. Renew this for five minutes and then wipe. Gently massage the cream for about five minutes and wipe off what is left. Do this just before going to bed.

Making a Skirt.

In making skirts be sure to have all creases pressed out before arranging pattern on material, if material has a nap, or should it be a large design, lay pattern on the one way. If not, you may reverse pattern up and down, which would prevent its making when put together. Be sure that the pattern is arranged in the correct way.

TO TEST OLIVE OIL

Four Things to Be Considered in Determining Its Quality.

By these four tests one should be able to discover if one has purchased pure olive oil or a cottonseed adulteration:

First.—The price. A first class imported article cannot be purchased under 80 cents and frequently reaches the dollar mark per quart. California oil of good quality is even higher. When the price of a small bottle is proportionately much below this, you may be sure it is adulterated with peanut or cottonseed oil.

Second.—The color. The finest virgin oil—that is, the first press grade made from olives hand picked from the trees and carefully selected—is pale green with an opalescent shimmer. If a deep green or yellow, it is some other oil or has been artificially colored. A deep yellow oil is mainly cottonseed.

Third.—The taste. Pure olive oil tastes of the olive. If it is tasteless, it has been adulterated. Oil adulterated with cotton seed has a disagreeable taste, leaving an after suggestion in the mouth like lard.

Fourth.—Test by cold. Fine, pure olive oil is easily affected by the cold, losing its brightness and turning cloudy. A simple test is to pour some of the oil in a small bottle and lay in a pan of cracked ice for two or three hours. If it remains clear and fluid, it has been adulterated. If genuine, it will become separated into little white grains, holding them apparently in solution. If the contents of the bottle are then placed in a warm spot, the cloudiness will disappear and the oil resume its brightness.

Bird Seed.

Bird seed is sure to attract mice. A deep ruffle tied tightly under the cage and held over the feed cups by an elastic will help appreciably. When a new box of seed is opened it should be emptied into a clean tin box and the seed poured into the cup through a wire funnel. In this way none is wasted, and there is no invitation to four footed partakers.
