One of the physicians at a popular winter health resort was looking over his books one day, comparing his list of patients.
"I had a great many more patients last year than I had this," he remarked to his wife, "I wonder where they have all gone to?"
"Well, never mind, dear," she replied, "you know all we can do is to hope for the best."

"Ah, my love," sighed the ardent lover, "if you only knew how beautiful you are."

"You mustn't speak of it," protested the modest girl, "I don't want to know."
"Because it would make me too conceited."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Some Interesting Information for Busy Housewives.

To prevent salt from lumping mix cornstarch allowing one teaspoonful of cornstarch to six of salt.

After broiling or frying, wipe off all the fat that splattered on the range with old newspapers.

After scrubbing the floor, take old newspapers and lay them in front of the doors, and wherever the most walking is done. It keeps the floor clean much longer.

To clean granite ware where mixtures have been burned on. Half fill the dish with cold water, add generous pinch of washing soda, heat slowly to the boiling point, then empty, when dish may be easily cleaned.

To keep sinks free from grease, pour down once a week a potash solution made from one-half cup of potash dissolved in one quart of hot water.

Windows can be kept clean from ice and frost and be highly polished by dipping a sponge in alcohol and rubbing the glass.

For glassware, mirrors, etc., mix calcined magnesias with enough gasoline to make a liquid the consistency of cream. This will polish them excellently.

To clean paint put one tablespoonful of ammonia in one quart of hot water, dip a flannel cloth into this and wipe woodwork. It cleaned this way no scrubbing is necessary.

To wash feather pillows choose a bright windy day, fill the wash tub with hot suds and plunge the pillows (with feathers) in them. Put them through several waters, shaking them briskly, then hang on the line in the open air. When perfectly dry, shake well. They will be light and smell sweet. After they have been washed this way they ought to be hung out in the warm fresh air for a week every day, but never in the hot sun, as the heat draws the oil out of the feathers and gives them a bad odor.

RECEIPTS.

BAKED INDIAN PUDDING.
Stir into a cupful of yellow cornmeal a half teaspoonful of salt. To this add gradually a quart of boiling water, beating hard to avoid lumps. Have five cupfuls of milk heated in a double boiler and stir into this the meal. Boil for an hour beating often. Beat four eggs light, adding to them half a cup of molasses, a tablespoonful of melted butter and a quarter teaspoonful each of ground cinnamon and nutmeg. Take the meal mixture from the fire and add it gradually, beating steadily, to the beaten eggs. Turn all into a deep pudding dish, well greased, and bake, covered, for nearly an hour, then uncover and bake to a golden brown. Serve with hard sauce.

WEDDING CAKE.

Cream a pound of sugar with a pound of flour and add a dozen beaten eggs to the mixture. Stir in two teaspoonfuls each of powdered nutmeg, cloves and cinnamon, a pound of flour, a pound each of cleaned currants and seeded and chopped raisins and half a pound of minced citron, taking care to have the fruit well dredged with flour. Last of all add two tablespoonfuls of rosewater, wine-glassful of brandy, and turn into a well-greased tin with a funnel in the middle. Bake in a steady oven, covering the cake with paper for the first half hour, until a straw comes out clean from the thickest part of the loaf.

CORNMEAL DODGERS.

One cupful of cornmeal sifted with one-half teaspoonful of salt. Add enough boiling water to make a thin batter, stirring constantly while adding the water to prevent lumps from forming. Have ready a hot griddle. When brown on one side turn and brown the other. These take longer to brown than do ordinary griddle cakes.

CHOCOLATE CREAMS.

Cook together a pound of granulated sugar and gill of cold water. Do not stir, and when the syrup runs from the side of the pan, flavor with blunt end, rake from the fire, flavor with vanilla and beat to soft cream. Form with the hands into cone-shaped candies. Set these aside until dry. With a candy-dipper dip or roll in melted butter or sweet chocolate.

BOILED BEETS.

Wash the beets carefully in cold water, taking care not to break the skin. Cover with cold water, boil this off and cover with salted boiling water. Boil for one hour, then drain, scrape off the skin and slice the beets into a vegetable dish. Serve with a sauce made of melted butter, to which a tablespoonful of vinegar has been added.

STIFF CHOCOLATE FILLING FOR CAKE.

Break the white of one egg into a bowl, add a cup of powdered sugar and beat steadily until smooth and white. Stir in three tablespoonfuls of grated, unsweetened chocolate and spread on the cake layers.

CANADA'S TRADE POLICY.

First to Maintain Preference Given British Goods, then to Negotiate Treaties with Other Nations.

London, May 24.—The Paris correspondence of The Express says Sir Wilfrid Laurier has enabled him to state that it is proposed to negotiate treaties with certain countries, including France, Italy and Switzerland.

The policy of the Canadian Government, which is thoroughly understood and appreciated by Downing street, may be said to be the maintenance of the preference given Britain and the development of trade with Britain's least dangerous competitors under the intermediate tariff.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier believes that the idea of colonial preference is growing very fast in England. He entertains a hope that it is being an scheme which might prevent Canada at some future date from joining it is unlikely that he will consent to put into practice. For that reason it, and the press that works for this will not regret it.

The Standard's Paris correspondent confirming the statement in The Express, says he was struck by Sir Wilfrid Laurier's perfect confidence in the future of Canada, his loyalty to Great Britain and the British Government, and the practical philosophy with which he accepted its decision on preferences, but as to the soundness and wisdom of which he had great doubts. It is evident that he regrets sincerely the government's refusal to take it up. It appears certain that his attitude towards the preference proposals at the Conference was dictated by the necessity of admitting the fact that Britain must judge what suits her best.

WE WANT INDUSTRIES.

To the Editor of the Herald.
Sir—We want industries, manufacturers might get together and consider the best means of bringing about an increase in the number of industrial enterprises in our city.

We need more factories, the Board of Trade might discuss this question with profit, as this is a central place and can be reached by rail or water.

We should welcome any newcomer, who shows an inclination to branch out in any industry and there is no reason why he could not succeed. The climate is favorable, we have good weather here and everything that is needed for successful work, also good filtered water, good sewerage, taxes reasonable, rents reasonable, good fire protection and well governed.

Labor is not more expensive than in almost any other center, and much cheaper than in many.

Our market for produce is well supplied every week at fair prices, and we have the whole Dominion to sell to, this is a fair field and I see no reason why Fredericton could not succeed and increase her manufactures and flourish, provided things were properly managed and the men undertaking them are familiar with the business in which they intend to engage.

There are men in our community just as smart as those on the other side, and just as capable to do business. So I say by all means boom Fredericton as a manufacturing center.

Whenever little Johnny fell down, bumped his head, or had the smallest sort of a mishap, he would cry. One day his mother was passing the window and saw him fall to the pavement. He got up and rubbed his face, but didn't cry. An hour later he came in and she said:

"Why, Johnny, you fell down, didn't you?"

"Yes, I did."

"Didn't it hurt you?"

"Yes."

"Well, why didn't you cry?"

Johnny, beginning to sob, said:

"There wasn't anybody to cry to."

ROBBINS FOUGHT THE CAT.

Birds Make a Fierce Fight to Protect their Young.

Toronto Globe: The yard of a McCaul street house was the scene yesterday of a remarkable occurrence. High up in an old apple tree there two robins had this spring made a home for themselves, and as a result of their union were engaged in the task of providing for and protecting two or three young birds.

This fact had not gone unnoticed of an old cat, of no particular ownership, which infested the neighborhood of a temporary absence of Father Robin and his mate, she quietly made her way up the tree in which the birds and their family resided.

No sooner had she got within almost reaching distance of the nest where the darlings lay, however, than the birds hove into view. With her claws holding fast to the tree trunk, Madame Cat could do nothing to protect herself from the attacks of the birds, and when, a moment later, two other robins came upon the scene, and joined forces with the parent birds, she began to cry plaintively for help. Strange as it may seem, several sparrows also came to the robins' aid, and for a time the air was full of the rustling of quick wings and the calls of angered birds, mingled with piteous cat-mews.

Slowly and with difficulty the offending cat backed down the tree, and the birds, seeing that victory was theirs, finally ceased their attacks upon her. On reaching the ground Madame Cat quickly made herself scarce, saddened and no doubt much wiser as a result of her experience.

With the advance of years the vital functions of the body slow down. The organs of secretions grow weak, the peristaltic action of the bowels is perceptibly lessened and dangerous constipation develops.

What is the result? Poisonous substances over-run the system, the circulation is engorged with wastes, the brain is filled with blood, the head and feet grow numb with cold, the whole body twitches and trembles.

A drastic cathartic is dangerous. Nothing will cure but a gentle laxative like Dr. Hamilton's Pills; their action not only extends to the stomach, liver and kidneys, but it is directed to the secretory glands, and increases their fluidity and volume.

Dr. Hamilton's Pills are different from other pills. Their activity in moving the secretory apparatus is profound, but their action is so mild so free from gripe that it seems scarcely possible you have taken medicine at all. Yet they do the work efficiently, and this is why they they are so widely prescribed for old folks who need a laxative and system tonic.

Cured by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Headache. Constipation. Billiousness. Sallowiness. Dizziness. Colicky Bowels. Vertigo. Dyspepsia. Slow Liver. Bad Breath. Bad Dreams. Poor Appetite.

A Guarantee in Each Case. For your own sake, keep Dr. Hamilton's Pills within reach. Take them whenever you feel unwell; they clean out the entire system, keep it pure and in working order. Purely vegetable in composition, safe for young or old, no system tonic compares with Dr. Hamilton's Pills, 25c. per box or five boxes for $1.00, at all dealers.

WHEN YOU EAT TOO FAST.
you have indigestion, perhaps cramps or in any case the system is overloaded with matter that should be eliminated. Breath gets bad, eyes look dull, headaches are frequent.

Why not cleanse and purify the whole system, why not strengthen the stomach, enrich the blood and assist your overtaxed digestive organs? Easily done with Dr. Hamilton's Pills; their action is most gratifying. In every case they give the exact assistance the ailing organs require.

You'll feel fit and fine, eat with a relish, sleep like a top, have clear color, and restful sleep if you regulate your system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Price 25c. per box at all dealers.

A young bridegroom, after the wedding was all over and the bride's old father had gone off to the club, began to search anxiously among the wedding gifts.

"What are you looking for, dear," said the bride.

"That $2,500 cheque of your father's," he said anxiously. "I don't see it anywhere."

"Poor papa is so absent minded," said the bride. "He lit his cigar."

"You're not so strict with youngsters of yours as you used to be," said Popley's friend.

"No, for economy's sake I'm not," replied Popley. "Every month I used to have to buy myself a new pair of slippers and him a new pair of pants, with it."

ROSY CHEEKS FOR PALE GIRLS.
Don't be debarred from strength and spirit, don't give in to illness and despair. Ferrozzone supplies tone and vigor through which all functions of womanly life are maintained and fortified. From New Richmond, Que., comes the following statement from Mrs. Isidore Boissoneault: "I take deep pleasure in testifying to the powerful influence of Ferrozzone. For years my daughter has been pale and sickly—showed signs of advanced anaemia. Her lips got so white and her cheeks so devoid of color I feared consumption. I can certify Ferrozzone made an excellent cure, and to-day my daughter's health is the best." 50c. per box at all dealers.
