

SEASONABLE SPORTS.

A Peep Into the World of Base Ball, Racing, of Bowling and Athletic Sports Generally.

BASE BALL.

OTHER IRONS IN THE FIRE.

If McGraw, Fielder Jones and Isbell made good their threat to leave the major leagues, of which they have been shining lights for many seasons, the game will lose three of its greatest stars, opens an exchange.

The retirement of McGraw does not come in the nature of a surprise. The little manager of the New York Giants has taken little interest in baseball in the last two years. So long as his team was a pennant winner he managed to struggle along under the strain, but when reverses struck him, he tired badly of the game and has been wanting to get out of it.

McGraw is a lover of horse racing. He has been for ten years, and is very anxious to follow that sport. Every winter he goes to the Coast during the racing season there, and it is a matter of fact that he hates to tear himself away from the sport to go into training with his team. Just how successful he has been in his speculations on the turf is a matter of conjecture, but there is no reason to believe that he has been more fortunate than the average man who tries his hand at beating the races.

But it is a fascinating game, and McGraw will probably follow that when he gets out of baseball and he is not the only one who has left the diamond for the turf.

The great Mike Kelly quit baseball and became a race track frequenter. It was he who remarked, after being on the turf for a year: "I would rather carry a blanket and a bucket on the race track than be the king of the diamond," and no doubt McGraw feels just that way about it.

Fielder Jones has wealth, and wants to look after his interests, while Isbell is anxious to become the owner of the Wichita franchise in the Western Association, and, it is understood, has been promised his release by Conkley at the end of the season.

To lose Jones and Isbell will leave two holes on the Chicago team which may take years to fill, and it will not be an easy matter for John T. Brush to dig up a man good enough to replace McGraw at the head of his ball team.

USED TO IT.

"Great Scott, Billy!" exclaimed the excited bath attendant. "That chap's been in the hot room for over an hour and the temperature is 120. Why, he'll roast to death!"

"Oh, don't worry," laughed Billy. "He can stand all the roasting that's coming to him. He's a baseball umpire."—Chicago News.

ADVICE FROM NILES.

Harry Niles, the St. Louis Browns' best hitter, says that in addition to having a good eye, a batter must have courage and not flinch when the ball comes whizzing over the plate. "Always get your base on balls, if it is possible," he says. "Don't swing at the ball just for the pleasure of hitting it. If it does not come right for you to hit it let it go. A base on balls helps just as much as a hit in starting off. The main idea in batting—that is, to help toward victory—is to get to first base, no matter how. With men on bases it is time to hit, but even then do not fail to take a base on balls if you can get it. The next batter is good enough to be depended upon. If he isn't he ought not to be on the team."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Some Interesting Information for Busy Housewives.

TOMATO FRITTERS.

One quart stewed tomatoes, one egg, one small teaspoonful of soda, stir in flour enough to make a batter such as is used in griddle cakes. Fry some large very hot on the stove, drop the batter in a teaspoonful at a time and fry.

BOILED POTATOES.

Cut cold boiled potatoes into slices a third of an inch thick. Dip them into melted butter and fine bread crumbs. Place in a double boiler and broil over a fire that is not too hot. Garnish with parsley, and serve on a hot dish, or season with salt and pepper, toast till a delicate brown, arrange on a hot dish, and season with butter.

POTATO SALAD.

One quart bowl mashed potatoes, two finely minced onions, one teaspoonful made mustard, one scant half tea-spoonful pepper, three table-spoonfuls melted salt pork, ham or bacon fat, mixed with six table-spoonfuls sharp vinegar. Mix all through the potatoes, at least two hours before serving. A good and cheap salad.

PRUNE PUDDING.

Stew a pound of prunes until they are soft, remove the stones, add sugar to taste, and the whites of three eggs beaten to a stiff froth. Make a puff paste for the bottom of a pudding dish. After beating the prunes and eggs together until they are thoroughly mixed, spread them on the crust. Bake for half an hour or until you are sure the crust is done.

WATER POUND CAKE.

One pound of butter, one pound of powdered sugar, four eggs, one cupful of boiling water, one pound of prepared flour, flavor with lemon. Beat butter, sugar and the yolks of the eggs to a cream, then add the boiling water and beat thoroughly until cold, then the pound of flour with the whites of the eggs beaten to a stiff froth, the lemon last, bake one hour. This cake cannot be told from real pound cake and will keep two weeks.

BAKED MACARONI.

Throw some clean macaroni into boiling broth or water, when it is soft and swollen take it off the fire and pour in a little cold water to prevent its boiling any more. Take out the macaroni and drain it quickly, mix it with a quarter of a pound of cheese to a pound of macaroni. You can mix the cheese half of each, always have good cheese, more cheese can be used if the cheese is mild. Season with pepper and salt, put it into a buttered dish, put in bits of butter among the macaroni. Put some grated cheese on top and brown in the oven.

SANDWICHES.

Bread for sandwiches should be a day old, and neither too compact nor too porous. Cut the bread with a sawing motion, in slices about a quarter of an inch in thickness. Spread each slice with butter, which is not too hard, as it may, otherwise, tear or crumble the bread and lay the slices together, two and two, letting the buttered slices meet. They are then ready for the filling. After each sandwich has been filled, remove the crust with a sharp carving knife. Then press the sandwich down firmly—a rolling-pin is excellent to use for this purpose—and cut it diagonally across. Pate sandwiches are filled with a pate of cold meat, that left from a previous meal being excellent. steak, roast beef or pot roast. To make beef pate, pass either cold steak, roast beef or pot roast through the chopper, after having removed all gristle. To a cupful of the ground meat add one-half teaspoonful of English mustard, a pinch of salt, a pinch of pepper, a suspicion of paprika, a little finely-chopped green pepper of parsley, half a tomatoe finely chopped, and enough vinegar to moisten thoroughly. Spread this between slices of bread. Chicken pate is made of cold chicken or veal passed through the chopper. To a cupful of meat and one-half teaspoonful of English mustard, a pinch of salt, a pinch of pepper, a little paprika and finely chopped green pepper and enough lemon juice to moisten. Should the lemon juice be too acid, dilute it with a little water. Dainty sandwiches are made by passing ham through the chopper and adding a suggestion of lemon peel and by adding a layer of lemon pulp to thinly sliced tongue.

By dressing cold half with a little mayonnaise and capers.

By using chopped Spanish onions with or without the lettuce.

By mixing fine chopped walnuts with cream cheese, and adding a little heavy cream and a pinch of salt.

By preparing a filling of stoned olives and green and red (sweet) peppers, both chopped fine.

By covering the bread with thin slices of cucumber over which chopped chives, or grated American cheese, should then be sprinkled.

By seasoning cold crab meat with a little Worcestershire sauce.

By passing cold pork and celery through the chopper and seasoning with salt and Worcestershire slightly diluted with water.

In packing sandwiches, wrap them two by two, in paraffin paper. If then enclosed in a moist napkin and placed in the ice box they may be kept fresh for several hours.

To clean a sewing machine a stiff paint brush or mucilage brush will be found handy, particularly to reach those parts which it is hard to reach with a cloth.

SNOW CUSTARD.

Use one pint of milk, one pint of cream, one quarter pound of white sugar, two eggs, one stick of cinnamon. Put the milk, cream, sugar and cinnamon in a farina kettle and set on the fire; when the mixture begins to boil, pour in the yolks of the eggs having previously beaten them up in a few spoonfuls of milk; keep stirring the mixture till it begins to boil again; then take out the cinnamon and stir in the whites, previously well beaten, stirring quickly all the time to prevent running over; when done put it into a dish garnished with small cakes.

Losing Muscular Power?

The First Sign of Mental Decay—The Warning of General Break-Down.

Changes in the nervous system manifest themselves slowly.

They show first by muscular weakness—a feeling that threatens paralysis, or by a fullness in the head that indicates approaching apoplexy.

It seems like stiffness but you soon discover there's a lack of power—that the endurance of this or that muscle is not what it ought to be.

Your friends may notice a slight thickness of speech or that your memory is decidedly failing.

These symptoms may grow worse very quickly if they are not treated by Ferrozene. You must build up the nervous system. This can be accomplished in no other way as thoroughly and permanently as by the use of Ferrozene.

This remarkable remedy, which has cured tens of thousands of Canadian people, increases enormously the digestive power, stimulates the formation of blood, the rich red kind that puts new life into the nerves.

The first result of these changes is increased strength.

Natural circulation quickly follows, and that fullness in the head so disturbing and alarming, too, quickly passes away.

These changes are wrought in a natural way, for the reason that Ferrozene treats the causes that excite these troubles.

For the aged and weak who need strength—for those run-down and thin—for the sickly and nervous who lack staying power nothing compares with Ferrozene.

No tonic gives such lasting good results; try it yourself. Sold by all dealers in 50 cent boxes.

"Well," said the proprietor, "I see you have at last sold that ugly hat we expected to have on our hands."

"Yes," replied the saleslady, "I got a middle-aged woman to try it on yesterday and then told her that it would not, of course, do for her because it was intended for a very young woman."

The Story of a Medicine.

Its name—"Golden Medical Discovery"—was suggested by one of its most important and valuable ingredients—Golden Seal root.

Nearly forty years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that he could, by the use of pure, triple-refined glycerine, aided by a certain degree of constantly maintained heat and with the aid of apparatus and appliances designed for that purpose, extract from our most valuable native medicinal roots their curative properties much better than by the use of alcohol, so generally employed. So the now world-famed "Golden Medical Discovery," for the cure of weak stomach, indigestion, or dyspepsia, torpid liver, or biliousness and kindred derangements was first made, as it ever since has been, without a particle of alcohol in its make-up.

A glance at the list of its ingredients printed on every bottle-wrapper, will show that it is made from the most valuable medicinal roots found growing in our American forests. All these ingredients have received the strongest endorsement from the leading medical experts, teachers and writers on Materia Medica who recommend them as the very best remedies for the diseases for which "Golden Medical Discovery" is advised.

A little book of these endorsements has been compiled by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., and will be mailed free to any one asking same by postal card, or letter addressed to the Doctor as above. From these endorsements, copied from standard medical books of all the different schools of practice, it will be found that the ingredients composing the "Golden Medical Discovery" are advised not only for the cure of the above mentioned diseases, but also for the cure of all catarrhal, bronchial and throat affections, accompanied with or without discharges, hoarseness, sore throat, lingering, or hang-on-coughs, and all those wasting affections which, if not promptly and properly treated are liable to terminate in consumption. "Take Dr. Pierce's Discovery in time and persevere in its use until you give it a fair trial and it is not likely to disappoint. Too much must not be expected of it. It will not perform miracles. It will not cure consumption in its advanced stages. No medicine will. It will cure the affections that lead up to consumption, if taken in time.

A. T. McMURRAY, D. M. D.

In Galacia, in Austrian Poland, there is a remarkable underground city, which has a population of over 1,000 men, women and children, scores of whom have never seen the light of day. It is known as the City of Salt Mines and is situated several hundred feet below the earth's surface. It has its town hall, theater and assembly room as well as a beautiful church, decorated with statues, all being fashioned from the pure crystallized rock salt. It has well graded streets and spacious squares, lighted with electricity. There are numerous instances in this underground city where not a single individual in three or four successive generations has ever seen the sun or has any idea of how people live in the light of day.

Don't Stoop When You Read.

The habit of stooping over when reading or writing has a bad effect on most eyes and should be avoided, especially if one is nearsighted. When people approach the age of forty the morning paper is apt to appear blurred, and they complain the printing is getting bad. The trouble is they need glasses. If they do not get them, later on their eyes will deteriorate so rapidly they will be obliged to wear them all the time. On the other hand, if a person puts on glasses when the first warning of "tired eyes" is received he will never be obliged to wear them the rest of his life except when doing fine work.

Backing His Theory.

"Do you still believe in inherited weaknesses?" "Yes." "How do you account for the fact that little Mary Bingle cries so easy and so often?" "Her mother worked in an onion canner and her grandmother was an emotional actress."

A Winner.

Mrs. Goldington—I am amazed, sir, that you should propose to my daughter. You have not known her a week. The Willy Suitor—True, madam. But I have known you for some time, and everybody says your daughter takes after you. (He got the girl.)
