THE LEGISLATURE.

The session of the New Brunswick legislature which opens tomorrow afternoon, will be the last of the present term, and no doubt the proceedings will be of an interesting and active character.

Both parties will desire to make the best impression possible before the appeal to the electorate, and there is likely to be a large amount of talk and considerable legislation. There is only one change in the personnel of the House since the last session. Mr. Currie succeeding Mr. McLatchey in Restigouche, and the parties remain in numerical strength as they were.

The speech from the throne will give a general view of the legislation which the government propose for the session, and will doubtless refer to the continued prosperity with which New Brunswick is blessed.

There may also be a congratulatory reference to the success which the government has achieved in securing a large addition to the federal subsidy paid to the Province, a matter which the premier and his colleagues pressed on the Ottawa authorities with great energy and with results most satisfactory.

MICHAUD FOR OTTAWA.

Mr. Pius Michaud, who has been nominated by the Liberals of Victoria and Madawaska for the vacant seat in the House of Commons, is a native of Kent and a young lawyer who has won a prominent place at the Provincial bar.

His choice was practically unanimous at a convention of the party at Grand Falls, Tuesday afternoon, and his election by a substantial majority may be quite confidently predicted.

Senator Costigan was present at the convention and tendered his hearty support to Mr. Michaud, and among those who took a prominent part in the proceedings were the local representatives for the two counties, French and English uniting in support of the nominee.

Ever since Confederation the constituency has been represented by an English speaking member, and the French Acadians, who form a large majority of the voters, are naturally elated because one of their nationality has been chosen to succeed Mr. Costigan.

THE CARLETON NOMINATIONS.

The Liberals of Carleton, a militant, united body, have put a strong ticket in the field for the legislature, and feel confident of winning.

At a large and representative convention of the party in Woodstock, Tuesday afternoon, Solicitor General Jones, Coun. Harry Carvell and Mr. Andrew D. McCain were unanimously selected to carry the government standard to victory.

Mr. Jones needs no introduction to the public. No young man who has ever been sent to the legislature has more rapidly made his way to the front, and he is most highly esteemed for his ability and high character, energy and courteous bearing.

Mr. Carvell, who is an ex-warden of Carleton, is a brother of Mr. F. B. Carvell, a representative farmer, and a gentleman of excellent reputation, and if he has the same fighting qualities as his distinguished brother, he will prove a force to be reckoned with in the contest.

Mr. McCain is a son of Mr. Henry H. McCain, a former representative of the county, and is a young man who enjoys a large degree of popularity, and is well known throughout the constituency.

The Solicitor General is very much pleased with his colleagues on the ticket, and the party is hopeful of a substantial victory at the polls.

Features of the nominating convention were forcible addresses on current issues by Mr. F. B. Carvell, M. P., Hon. C. H. LaBilloy and Hon. W. P. Jones.

THE PENSION BILL.

Mr. Emmerson has secured the passage of his L. C. R. pension bill through the committee of the house of commons, and it will become law. There will be satisfaction in these parts at the provision made for counting the time which the employees of the Canada Eastern railway spent in the service of the company before that road was taken over by the government.

Mr. Foster opposed the Canada Eastern men coming in for the benefits but Mr. Emmerson pressed this feature of the measure and carried it. Many of the men whom Mr. Foster attempted to shut out were his former constituents in York county, and voted for him, and they are repaid by his opposition to their sharing in the benefits of the provident fund.

CURRENT COMMENT.

Fredericton will take its "sessional" character tomorrow when the legislature opens.

Men of brains are wanted in the Fredericton city council this year, but they seem to fight shy of civic honors.

Mr. Fowler, M. P., has found speech in parliament at last, and was forced to commend Mr. Emmerson's L. C. R. pension bill.

In the up river counties, politics local and federal, are occupying the attention of the people. There is nothing like getting candidates in the field early.

The Tory organizer who has been trying to catch candidates for Mr. Hazen in the various constituencies now appears before the F. and D. Association as an adviser on the best means of catching dogs that destroy sheep.

Mr. Whitehead is supremely indifferent as to the opinion Mr. Fowler's Fredericton newspaper may entertain respecting him. Only a short time since the same newspaper was really gushing in commending Mr. Whitehead and his colleagues in York, but that was before it executed its fourth political flop.

Forests of Stone.

Stone forests are found in various parts of the world. In many cases they are hardened by some peculiarity of the atmosphere and are found standing just as they were when clothed with green foliage thousands of years ago. The Little Colorado river, in Arizona, has long been famous as a locality for such finds. At one place more than 1,500 cords of solid stone, tree trunks, sections, limbs and logs, were found by the government surveyors. Most of them were silicified, many seven to ten feet in diameter and from twenty to eighty feet in height. Geologists say that the petrified trees of the Little Colorado were once covered with more than 1,000 feet in depth. Some of the trees have been changed to jasper and have assumed various hues; others resemble opal, and when broken open the core is often found lined with crystals of the most beautiful tints.

He Wins the Palm.

Many stories have been told of mean men, such as he who used a wart for a collar button and he whose birthday gift to his son consisted in washing the windows so that the lad might watch the cars go by. This man, however, seems to have won the palm. There was an extremely mean man in New Hampshire who was the proprietor of a hotel. By his direction rules were posted in the hostelry forbidding almost every conceivable privilege to those not guests of the place. There was absolutely no chance for the casual loafer to get newspapers, pens, ink, stationery, etc. There were not even free seats in the office. One day he chanced to observe a chronic loafer gazing at the old clock that hung on the wall. The next day a sign was placed over the clock. It read, "This clock is for the use of the guests of the hotel only."—Success Magazine.

Profligate Spendthrifts.

The wealth of many of the ancient Romans was reckoned far into the millions. Mark Antony during his somewhat checkered career squandered no less than $735,000,000, and Tiberius left at his death over eighteen millions, which Caligula spent in less than a year. Records show that this spendthrift paid $150,000 for one supper. Horace tells us that Pegasus, a singer, could in five days spend $40,000, and Clodius on a small wager swallowed a pearl worth nearly $40,000. The estate of Crassus was valued at $8,400,000. Lucullus dined at the rate of $8,000 a meal for several weeks. Lentulus was worth not less than sixteen millions, and Apicius squandered nearly five millions of dollars in a few weeks.

Irritating Americanisms.

One of the most irritating of Americanisms is the use of "limb" for "branch." "Limb" for "leg" has always been accepted as an Americanism, but what is the matter with "branch?" Careful Anglophile writers are beginning now to reintroduce this latter word, but "limb" has hitherto been the transatlantic word with all authors. If it is also old English we shall not mind so much, but is it? The joke of the verse is at least 1,300 years old, but how old is the English version?—London Chronicle.

TILLERS OF SOIL

Mr. McPhail of Kincardine, thought that a good dog was all right. If dogs would not stay at home they should be put out of business. They had no friends dogs in Kincardine.

VICE PRESIDENTS REPORTS.

The remainder of the afternoon session was taken up with reports from county vice presidents and delegates. Mr. William Currie, M. P. P., of Campbellton, although not a farmer, spoke a few words on behalf of Restigouche County.

Mr. Alexander Johnson of St. John, said that he had the honor of being one of the oldest members of the association. He made a brief address, and wished the association every success.

Rev. J. Hunter Boyd, read a report prepared by Vice President Richardson of Charlotte County, which gave statistics in regard to crops.

Mr. Dickson of Sackville, who reported for Westmorland County, stated that all branches of farming were being vigorously carried on there. Horse raising was receiving considerable attention and good results were expected. Poultry raising was yet in its infancy, but interest in this branch of farming was awakening. The crops in Westmorland last season had been fairly good. It was the first meeting of the association the speaker had ever attended, and he hoped to derive much benefit from it. He advised farmers to keep a sharp watch on the work of inventors and scientific men who made a study of agricultural subjects.

Mr. H. J. Smith reported for Sunbury County. He reported crops being the average. Farmers in the river parishes engaged extensively in market gardening with considerable success. Small fruit was grown in considerable quantities. The illustration orchards had been set out and were doing well. Dairying was carried on to a considerable extent along the line of the I. C. R. and the cream was shipped to St. John. Mr. Smith remarked that the people of Sunbury were wearing an air of importance these days on account of their rights having been vindicated in the Fredericton sewerage case.

Mr. W. E. Hoyt of Prince William, submitted a written report for York County. He said that the farmers were preparing to increase their acreage of potatoes this year. There were two roller mills in Victoria county which were doing good work.

He presented a report on agricultural conditions in Carleton county. He reported progress and good prices all along the line.

Mr. David Currie read a very encouraging report for the county of Victoria. He said that the farmers were preparing to increase their acreage of potatoes this year. There were two roller mills in Victoria county which were doing good work. He presented a report on agricultural conditions in Carleton county. He reported progress and good prices all along the line.

Rev. Father Babineau read a very interesting report for the County of Madawaska. He expressed a willingness to do all in his power to help such a deserving class as the people engaged in agricultural lines, but splendid results had accrued from the progressive policy of the local government. Twelve years ago, when the government first sent a delegate to Madawaska, dairying was almost unknown. Since then it had made wonderful progress. He hoped the government would continue to send officers to Madawaska to look after agricultural and dairy interests. The rev. gentleman after further reference to conditions in Madawaska thought that greater attention should be given to colonization. It would mean the enlargement and betterment of farming, and the increase of population, and should be encouraged in every way.

THE DOG NUISANCE.

Mr. B. M. Fawcett of Sackville moved that the government be asked to amend the dog law, so that it would afford greater protection to the sheep industry.

Mr. Hoyt of Prince William, seconded the resolution.

Mr. Ferguson of Kent made a vigorous speech, covering a rather wide scope. He spoke of the conditions in Kent, and praised the government for the splendid results achieved from institute work. He also took occasion to state that he considered the new highway law the best ever enacted in New Brunswick.

Hon. Mr. Fawcett said that the various county councils could put the dog law in force whenever they saw fit. They could by vote of the council tax dogs and make the owners pay for the damage to sheep. He explained that it was really a local option law.

Several other delegates in discussion.

ing the question said that the government had done about all that could be expected in the way of enacting a suitable dog law. So far as Albert county was concerned no effort had ever been made to enforce the law, therefore the people themselves were to blame for the present state of affairs.

Mr. McPhail, thought it would be a good plan to get a copy of the act and read it to the meeting. It seemed to him that many of the delegates did not know what they were talking about.

Hon. Mr. Farris promised to have a copy of the law brought to the meeting. After the chairman had appointed finance and nominating committees, the meeting adjourned until eight o'clock.
