

SHRINERS' DISASTER.

Pathetic Scenes at the California Train Wreck—Bride and Groom among the Killed.

San Francisco, May 13.—(Special.)—Three trains bearing Mystic Shriners arrived yesterday from the scene of the Saturday's wreck. An excursion train containing 25 Shriners which had been but a few miles behind the wrecked train, arrived last night. The train was switched around the wreck, and the passengers agree in the statement that it was the most deplorable sight ever witnessed.

Dr. Wade of Cincinnati, who was the first physician to reach the scene arrived last night and told a graphic story of the terrible scenes.

The most pathetic sight was the death of a bride and groom at almost the same instant, each believing the other still lived. L. D. Ellene Bigen and his bride were members of an excursion party and were thrown from the coach in opposite sides and were both mortally injured.

The wife's first thought was for her husband, and the husband's first thought for his wife.

"Tell my wife I am all right," murmured Ellene Bigen to his physician, "Give my love to her and let me know how she is."

Mrs. Bigen, in return, sent a message of love to her husband with the assurance that she was all right.

Before the physician could carry another message both had passed away.

Dr. Wade was compelled to use drift wood for pillows and cut up the sheets on the train for bandages. H. Thornton, head of a large party of Shriners from Mariden, Miss., who came through from Los Angeles on the wrecked special is at a hotel here. He is a railroad man of many experiences and is not satisfied that disaster was caused by defective switch. According to his statement the sleepers were badly affected by the wreck. They were flung in all directions, one of the engine.

San Francisco members of the Mystic Shrine consisting of Islam Temple and wives and daughters, who were in attendance at the Conclave of the order at Los Angeles returned here yesterday and were the first to arrive since the wreck.

The train which carried the Shriners doomed to death in wreck, left Los Angeles ten minutes after Islam Temple special. By some unaccountable working of fate, the first train, containing the party that arrived yesterday, passed safely at a mile a minute clip over the very spot at which the following train was wrecked.

Los Angeles, Calif., May 13.—A despatch received here encloses how the first news of the accident at Honda reached the railroad officials. After the accident Conductor Jones climbed the nearest telegraph pole with a telegraph instrument provided for such purposes tapped one of the despatchers with connection with San Luis Obispo division and told of the wreck.

Men at the other end of the line doubted the story, believing some one was playing a prank. Consternation followed when in confirmation of his identity, conductor Jones sent a copy of his last order.

Losing Muscular Power?

The First Sign of Mental Decay—The Warning of a General Break-Down.

Changes in the nervous system manifest themselves slowly.

They show first by muscular weakness—a feeling that threatens paralysis, or by a fullness in the head that indicates approaching apoplexy.

It seems like stiffness, but you soon discover there's a lack of power—that the endurance of this or that muscle is not what it ought to be.

Your friends may notice a slight thickness of speech or that your memory is decidedly failing.

These symptoms may grow worse very quickly if they are not treated by Ferrozene. You must build up the nervous system. This can be accomplished in no other way as thoroughly and permanently as by the use of Ferrozene.

This remarkable remedy, which has cured tens of thousands of Canadian people, increases enormously the digestive power, stimulates the formation of blood, the rich, red kind that puts new life into the nerves.

The first result of these changes is increased strength.

Natural circulation quickly follows, and that fullness in the head, so disturbing and alarming, too, quickly passes away.

These changes are wrought in a natural way, for the reason that Ferrozene treats the causes that excite these troubles.

For the aged and weak who need strength—for those run down and thin—for the sickly and nervous who lack staying power—nothing compares with Ferrozene.

No tonic gives such lasting good health; try it yourself. Sold by all all dealers in 50c. boxes.

STEELE TO COMMAND.

Chosen District Officer Commanding New Western Provinces.

Col. S. B. Steele, C. B., M. V. O., who commanded Strathcona's Horse in South Africa and until a few months ago held the command of "B" division, South African Constabulary, has been appointed District Officer Commanding for Saskatchewan and Alberta. He is now in England, but will shortly sail for Canada to assume his new duties.

Col. Steele is one of the picturesque figures of the Dominion, and his return to Canada will be welcomed by many. He first saw service in the Red River expedition of 1870, and took a prominent part in the supervision of the Riel rebellion 1885, having charge of the operations against Big Bear and his band, and seeing action at Frenchman's Butte and Loon Lake. When Strathcona's Horse was organized he was given command, and upon arrival in South Africa took part in the operations in Natal in June, 1900, and then went on to the Transvaal east of Pretoria, taking part in the actions at Belfast and Lydenburg. Thence on the close of the war he was engaged in the Orange River Colony. As reward for his service he was created a Commander of the Bath and a member of the Victorian Order, and appointed an honorary lieutenant colonel in the army.

Colonel T. D. B. Evans, C. B., A. D. C., has been confirmed as D. O. C. of Military District No. 10, Winnipeg. He has been acting D. O. C. for some months.

BADLY INJURED.

Mr. F. D. Corbett, a Halifax Merchant, Met with a Serious Mishap on Shipboard.

Boston May 11.—Even in the middle of winter, worse weather is seldom encountered in the North Atlantic, than fell to the lot of the Conard Saxonian arrived yesterday morning from Liverpool and Queens-town.

During one of the gales one of the passengers, F. D. Corbett, a prominent merchant of Halifax, and who is well known in this city, was painfully and almost fatally injured. He was preparing to get into his berth, when an especially heavy wave struck the ship and threw Mr. Corbett against the wall, rendering him unconscious. He fell on his left side, and his face struck and remained on top of the electric radiator, which had been placed in the room at Mr. Corbett's request. He remained on the floor with his face on the radiator until the left cheek was burned to a crisp, and his throat was burned nearly to the jugular vein. He was finally rescued by one of the steamship's attendants, probably just in time to save his life.

Mr. Corbett's left eye was completely closed and it was feared he would never regain its use, but two days later it opened and proved to be all right.

Mr. Corbett is a guest at the Bellevue during his stay in the city and will remain here for several days in order to receive careful medical attention. He is still in a very bad condition, but his face is burned to a crisp on the left side, and his throat is in about the same condition. His body is badly swollen and his nerves injured. He is unable to walk unless assisted. He is accompanied by his daughter, Miss Corbett, who was a passenger with him on the steamer and who also has suffered terribly from worry over her father's condition.

BABY'S HAIR.

How to Make It Curl When It Is Inclined to Be Straight.

Straight hair is certainly not becoming to small children, however pretty the color may be, and mamma and nurse may be excused if they resort to fair means so as to induce a natural curl in babyhood.

It has often been noticed that where a little care has been taken to foster an inclination toward wavy hair in earliest youth this has resulted in a becoming growth in later years, and by means of brushing and washing the head in the correct fashion much may be done to encourage a tendency to curl when the child is young.

A baby's hair should always be brushed upward instead of downward, and as each lock is treated it should be given a little twist with the finger, this operation having a particularly good and lasting effect when the hair is damp. Persevered in daily, this will be found to work wonders, even in cases where the natural growth was perfectly straight, although it must be noted that for the first week or two before the hair has become accustomed to the upward trend the effect is hardly pleasing.

One of the best shampoos for a child's hair, especially when long and thick, consists of a well beaten egg rubbed into a froth with hot water and rubbed into the roots of the hair. Borax and ammonia, especially the latter, should be sparingly used, ammonia in particular being inclined to damage the color and shimmer of fair hair, while it frequently causes it to become brittle and split at the ends.

Foreign British Peers.

There are three peers, if not more, who belong to families that have for generations been settled in distant countries, and which have practically had nothing to do with our own land for very many years. Indeed, some of these peers have never even set foot in England at all.

There is, for instance, the Earl of Seafield. Early in the last century the then earl emigrated to New Zealand, and married there. His sons have never seen their father's native land. The family has remained, and to-day James Grant-Ogilvie, of New Zealand, thirty years of age, and also married, is the undoubted Earl of Seafield, though he never uses the title, but works hard with his hands to earn his living, just like any newcomer into the colony.

Then there is Baron Fairfax of Cameron, whose forefathers went out to Virginia long ago. The present lord was born in America in 1870, and certainly never used his rightful title, nor even came to England until he was well past thirty.

Even more striking is the case of Baron Aylmer, who is a Canadian in every way, for both he and his father were born in Canada. Lord Aylmer is practically unknown in this country, says the London Express.

Shelley's Notebooks Sold.

Following the manuscript of Milton's "Paradise Lost," three unique note books of Shelley, which were the distinguishing feature of the recently sold library formed by the late Dr. Richard Garnett, who was for many years chief librarian of the British Museum, have entered into the possession of F. R. Halsey, owner of the best Shelley collection in the United States.

These note books were given by Shelley's widow to her son, Sir Percy Shelley, who passed them on to Dr. Garnett.

All his other note books are in the Bodleian Library, at Oxford, and it is much regretted in England that the three books in question were not saved for this country. They are especially valuable, as so much of the matter contained in them is unpublished.

A PRETTY FASHION FOR DRESSING UP THE SHIRT BLOUSE.

Among the newest fads displayed by the young matrons and girls is the ribbon girdle and bretelles which go on over the shirt blouse and dress it up wonderfully. These accessories, which are so easily made and so inexpensive are most flattering in effect as they invariably broaden the shoulder line and lend taper to the waist. The bretelles shown are broad enough to be shirred a bit on the shoulder and at the belt so as to avoid any tendency to stiffness. The shoulder portions consist of two pointed tabs held together with narrow velvet straps and tiny pearl buttons. Not only ribbon but soft silks, velvet and satin fabrics are employed in the making of them and whether they be elaborate or plain remains with the owner to decide. These accessories usually match in color the skirt with which they are worn. For the ladies' size 4 yards of ribbon 6 inches wide are needed.

The Demon of all Disease.—Kidney diseases are rightly called—they're inexplicable, unaccountable and insidious. It is the function of the kidneys to filter out all impurities. If they're clogged South American Kidney Cure will put them to rights and defy the ravages of so grim a visitant as diabetes or other kidney complications. It relieves in six hours.—Sold at Central Pharmacy, A. J. Ryan's.—118.

Samuel Taylor Coleridge.

"The largest, broadest, deepest and most ineffectual genius of the nineteenth century"—thus has Coleridge been described, and probably no better description of the great philosopher and litterateur can be found. He was a youth of impulses and tried in turn to become a cobbler, a surgeon and a soldier before he settled down and gave proof of his vast literary attainments. Some of his poems have been accepted as the noblest pieces of imaginative writing produced by a modern poet, while as a literary critic he had few equals in his generation. He was a born journalist and lecturer too.

No Coat For Nineteen Years.

During the journey from Victoria falls to Kimberley a big, sun-browned man boarded the Zambesi express minus his coat, with his shirt sleeves rolled up. He took a seat at dinner, and the chief steward remarked to him that as there were ladies present perhaps he would have no objection to putting on his coat. "Great Scott," the man replied, "I haven't worn a coat for nineteen years. You will have to wait, my friend, until I can buy one at Kimberley."—South African Railway Magazine.

Between the ages of fifteen and forty-five, the time when womanhood begins and motherhood ends, it is estimated that the aggregate term of woman's suffering is ten years. Ten years out of thirty! One third of the best part of a woman's life sacrificed! Think of the enormous loss of time! But time is not all that is lost. Those years of suffering steal the bloom from the cheeks, the brightness from the eyes, the fairness from the form. They write their record in many a crease and wrinkle. What a boon, then to woman, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It promotes perfect regularity, dries up debilitating drains, heals ulceration, cures female weakness, and establishes the delicate womanly organs in vigorous and permanent health. No other medicine can do for woman what is done by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.
