EUCHE AND POKER.

William Thompson of Toronto "Separated From His Money."

Niagara Falls, Jan. 26.—William Thompson of Toronto was swindled on an old game on a Grand Trunk train between Buffalo and this city this morning. Shortly after the train left Buffalo he was approached by a stranger and invited to take a place in a four-handed euche game. The stranger said he was Arbuckle, the great coffee man, and introduced two friends as Edward Gurney of Toronto and Thomas Sells, the circus king. The game was changed from euche to poker, and Thompson promptly lost all the money he had, then one of the men produced a check book, and all three agreed to let Thompson stay in the game if he would sign a check in blank and fill it in if need be after the next hand. In a minute it was up to him to pay again, but Mr. Arbuckle did not ask him to fill in the check, but put it in his pocket as it was. The train reached the Suspension Bridge station just then and the three got off. Thompson began to think it over when the train had entered Canada, and concluded that he was liable to be relieved of his bank balance through the check he had signed. He left the train at St. Catharines, came back to the Falls, and reported to the police. At the Tenth street station he spotted "Mr. Arbuckle," who was promptly arrested by Officer Curry. He was taken to the Police Court, found guilty of being a disorderly person by Judge Banks, and fined five dollars, all the money he had on him. He said his real name was George Monroe. Two packs of cards, a check book and a "bankers' and brokers' directory" were taken from him and also gave up Thompson's blank check. The other two men could not be found. The directory taken from Monroe is believed to have been used in another swindling game.

FOUGHT WITH A DEER.

Buck Attacks James Huson of Chatham Township, Ontario.

Chatham, Ont., Jan. 23.—News of a terrific fight for life between a man and a deer, which lasted an hour or more, came to this city to-day. Jas. Huson, aged 68, concessioner 6, Chatham township, has for years kept two deer on his place. On Sunday morning he noted that they had escaped from their enclosure. He secured a pan of oats, and whistled for them. When they put in their appearance he noted that the buck was in bad humor, and a moment later it dashed at him. He grasped its horns, and an hour's tussle ensued. When nearly exhausted and blinded from blood, Huson was being pressed against a gate by the animal. While in this position he managed to get the gate opened, and, quickly letting go of the animal, he dashed through and closed it after him. He ran for his house, hardly reaching the door when the deer leaped over the fence and sprang after him. The deer furiously encircled the house, waiting to continue the fight, when Huson emerged with a rifle and shot the animal. Huson's wounds, though bad, are not dangerous. Only the knowledge that his life depended upon it enabled him to so long withstand the fury of the beast.

CURLERS' BANQUET.

Five Hundred Guests Sit Down to Dinner at Montreal--Sentiments of Good Fellowship Freely Expressed.

Montreal Herald, Friday:—Possibly one of the most enthusiastic gatherings which ever took place in the Windsor Hotel was held last night, when the Montreal Curling Club gave a banquet in celebration of the hundredth year of existence as a club. There would be quite five hundred sat down to dinner in the large dining room, which was appropriately decorated with Union Jacks, and beacons were hung all round the room. Above the seat of the chairman, was a large sign which bore the inscription:

Welcome Curlers,
1807-1907.

Rivalry and good friendship.

Veteran curlers were out in force, all seemed to enjoy themselves in the very fact that they were participating in the celebration of a club which had been leader of the roarin' game for 100 years.

To the skill of the pipes of Piper Matheson the members and guests advanced into the dining room to partake of the excellent menu which there awaited them. Sentiments of good-fellowship were expressed right throughout the evening. Many speakers had kind words for our sister colony, Newfoundland, and many eulogized the United States.

On the president's table lay four beacons which had been sent from Scot, commemorative of the occasion.

PRESIDENT WAS GRATIFIED.

Mr. R. W. Tyre presided, and after the repast, proposed the health of Our Sovereign, King Edward, which was honored by all with great sincerity, and many fervent "God bless him." The chairman then made his opening remarks. He said that the club had had a unique existence, and he was greatly gratified at the large number present. They had passed through many strenuous times. He felt it would not weary his hearers if he said a word as to the history of the club. The club had been in existence since the 21st of January 1807, and had been continual in its existence up to the present day, with one exception between the years of 1812-1820, when owing to other circumstances, it had been non-existent. (Laughter.) That was the time when they had had to cast aside the besom and shoulder the musket. The club all through had been extremely conservative, so much so that for many years the membership had been restricted to twenty. Their first president had been Mr. Blackwood and possibly they might know that Mr. Blackwood was the business partner of Mr. McGill, the founder of the present day famous McGill university. The celebration of their jubilee, 1857, had been held in the Donegana Hotel, on which site there now stood the Notre Dame Hotel, and at that time the members had subscribed for and presented this (holding up a very large, beautifully chased trophy) massive piece of silver, which was a hundred per cent, more valuable now, and he doubted if the workmanship of the silversmith could be reproduced to-day. He hoped that the club would keep growing. Curling was a grand game. It enabled them to accept defeat with grace and to score victory with modesty.

The health of the Governor-General who had sent a letter conveying his regret at his inability to be present, was proposed by Mr. M. McLaughlin. He said that from Dufferin down they had had sporting governors in the Dominion. The present Governor was no exception. They all knew him as a thorough sportsman. He was in fact a grand man in a grand country.

COL. WHITEHEAD'S TOAST.

Col. Whitehead proposed the health of the president of the United States. He said he had known him personally and could speak as to the sterling qualities of the man. Our President here tonight has referred to the period of 1812-1820, but if the present state of affairs had existed then I verily believe that instead of muskets they would have crossed with "stanes and besoms." The President of the United States while acting in this capacity was not allowed to leave the country, or he really thought that he would have been with them, tonight.

Major Church Howe, United States Consul-General here, responded. He said that in 1906, 63,856 persons emigrated from the United States into Canada. Good sturdy farmers, with years of experience on the bare Western prairies of the United States, States which with their labors they had made to bloom and yield bountiful crops. They will be good neighbors and law-abiding citizens. The United States is not jealous because they leave, for they realize that the government here is offering inducements to the agriculturist which they themselves had offered forty years ago and moreover, they realized that in their adopted country they would find good government, justice and liberty.

The toast of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club was proposed by Mr. G. A. McMurtry, and was spoken to by Mr. Sanderson and Colonel Stevenson. The Colonel in a most happy and humorous speech raised the utmost good feeling. He said that he must thank the club for their generous osity and hospitality on this centenary occasion. Curling was a grand center of good friendship and he hoped that it would ever increase. He only wished that it was played more by the French section of their population, and he was sure it would lead to a better understanding.

The toast of the Grand National Curling Association was proposed by Mr. McGaw, of the Brookline Club, Boston. There were five ex-presidents of that club here to-night and he said that that ought to show what they were doing in the States for the game. In the town where he came from there were more Yankees than Scotsmen playing and he hoped that some day they would be able to say they had done more for the game than the Scotsmen had, and that was a big thing to say. It was a help to all. When a man got on the ice he had to do a fair thing and the tendency was it would make a bad man good.

Rev. Dr. Mowatt gave the toast of the "Roarin' Game." He said that he was not used to speaking at this late hour, as his wife and hairness would be expecting him home. "I am trying hard to be a Scotchman although I am a Canadian and a New Brunswicker, and won a thistle at one time, so when he was about to come here to attend the Bonspiel he thought he must get a Scotch bonnet to go with the thistle. He had done so and had been wearing it for the past few days but he did not think it was much good. One paper had got hold of him in it, but they presented that that paper had misrepresented him in it. Of the roarin' game he could say nothing but what they already knew, and he therefore asked them to drink to the long life of the game."

HEALTH OF THE GUESTS.

Colonel Gardner proposed "Our Guests." They were delighted to have Scotsmen, they were delighted to have United States, and more especially the Brookline club, Boston. There was one body of guests, he wished they could have had with them. They were prominent curlers and were four hundred strong. He referred to the ladies. They owed something to the ladies and it was his regret that they were not present tonight. He said that the Montreal club was deeply grateful to the other clubs in Montreal for the valuable aid they had given them in making this banquet a success.

Mr. Simms of St. Johns, Nfld., was the first to reply. He, like many others, had sacrificed his voice in the interests of the game. These Americans, he said, who were coming in the line were merely foundlings who were coming back to find a nest. Some men were born to be great, others had greatness thrust upon them. He felt that in being asked to respond to this toast he had had greatness thrust upon him. We have had such kindness lavished upon us on this visit to Montreal as we shall never forget and we hope that we shall come back to another centenary. He then spoke of the resources, the railroads and the moneyed institutions of Canada. Proceeding Mr. Simms said in Newfoundland they could offer fishing, and hunting which was unsurpassed in the world. They had no reptiles, no snakes. Nothing more harmful than the friendly mosquito. They had no burglars, no pickpockets. One could go to the other end of the island to the other without fear of molestation.

In conclusion he gave voice to the sentiment that Newfoundland and Canada would soon be joined. A vote of thanks to the chairman and to the club was moved by Dr. Finnland Mr. O. L. H. Thereafter a most enjoyable evening was brought to a close with the singing of Auld Lang Syne and the National Anthem.

COLD WAVE IN EUROPE.

As Cold in France as it is in Ontario.

London, Jan. 25.—The cold wave which was recorded from the continent has reached Great Britain. The temperature fell twenty degrees yesterday, and there is a boisterous east gale with snow. Almost the whole of Europe is now involved in this cold wave, a feature of which is the suddenness in fall in temperature in heavy fall of snow at Naples, and in the Swiss Alps, while in Germany, Austria and Russia the severity of the weather is increasing and causing intense discomfort and suffering. Vienna reports the lowest temperature recorded in fifty years.

There have been heavy snowstorms in Bohemia, and hundreds of school children in Galicia have been frostbitten. At Trieste a blustering wind that blows over the Adriatic is raging, and navigation has been suspended.

All of southern Russia and the Black Sea are being swept by a blizzard of extraordinary violence and the harbor of Odessa is frozen over. Many vessels are ashore in the neighborhood of Odessa and it is impossible to send them aid. The railway lines are buried in snow and communication cannot be maintained. Numerous deaths have been reported and the temperature is still falling.

Paris, Jan. 25.—The cold prevailing in eastern Europe has extended its grip westward. In France today the temperature is 10 to 17 degrees below zero, resulting in considerable suffering and a number of deaths from freezing. The River Seine and the lakes in the parks of the capital are frozen over, and the Parisians are enjoying the unusual sport of skating in the open.

STUDENTS WENT WILD.

Hacked Conference Hall to Pieces With Hatchets.

Lemberg, Austria, Jan. 26.—There were riotous scenes at the university here yesterday, which resulted in the arrest of one hundred students. The students began demonstrating against the action of the University Board in refusing to accept the usual statutory declaration made by the students on matriculation in the Ruthenian language and insisting that it should be made in Polish. The demonstration consisted in demolishing the conference hall, the students using hatchets to break up the furniture, chandeliers and various ornaments, wrecking the offices of the university and several classrooms and piling a number of desks and the smashed furniture in the quadrangle.

Dr. Wintarz, secretary of the university, was seriously wounded before the police were called in to make a stop to the disorders. The police formed a cordon around the university and took one hundred students into custody. The demonstrations then came to an end.

A CORDIAL INVITATION TO DISEASE.

This is an apt description of constipation. It's an unnatural condition to begin with, and it's more, because it brings about blood deterioration, interferes with digestion, renders you susceptible to infectious diseases and causes anaemia. Not so much a purgative as a natural stimulant to the bowels is what you need. You get it in Dr. Hamilton's Pills which increase liver activity, restore the bowels to perfect action and positively cure constipation and its attendant evils. Insist on having only Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut, 25c. per box at all dealers.

"Now," said the teacher, "here is one more problem: If a cat fell down a bottomless hole and then tried to climb up, and for every two feet per second of climbing it slipped back three feet, how long would it take her to get out of the well?"

Nearly every member of the class was ready at once to give an answer and several told amid considerable laughter the way to solve the problem, but one boy was seen hard at work figuring in large sums at his desk.

"What!" said the teacher to this boy, "don't you know that the cat would never get out?"
"I beg your pardon," proudly responded the serious little fellow, "the cat would get out somewhere in the Indian Ocean in 484 days 14 hrs. The class applauded while he smilingly clinched his arguments, saying the diameter through the earth is 7,926 miles."

WHY SUFFER FROM RHEUMATISM?

Do you know that rheumatic pains can be relieved? If you doubt this, just try one application of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. It will make rest and sleep possible, and that certainly means a good deal to any one afflicted with rheumatism. For sale by all dealers.

"Yes, sire," said the patient salesman, "I've shown you our entire stock of gold and silver watch chains."
"Well, they ain't the kind I want," replied the cranky customer, "and so I ain't goin' to buy what I don't want."

"Certainly not, sir. Perhaps you want a steel one?"
"What's that?" I'll punch your head off if you say I want to steal one."—Philadelphia Press.
