BEASTLY ENGLISHMAN

(Special Despatch to Herald.)

MONCTON, N. B., August 1.—An Englishman, somewhat intoxicated, made a murderous and dastardly attack on J. C. R. Baggage-master John Forbes at the depot here this morning about one o'clock.

The stranger, who was a big strapping fellow, struck the baggage-master treacherously and jumped upon him and would undoubtedly have inflicted more serious injury had not the station officials arrived on the scene.

This insane acting Englishman called at the baggage room and asked to have his baggage checked to Boston.

As is customary, he was asked to show his ticket, which he refused to do.

He was then informed by Baggage-master Forbes that his baggage could not be checked, whereupon he attacked Mr. Forbes, striking him in the eye, which was cut and badly discolored.

He attacked Mr. Forbes and

The Orange Sentinel, which generally turns its soft side to the Tory party, has not much use for Mr. Borden. In its last issue it says that "Mr. Borden has no clear cut, definite policy. His critics charge that he is just sitting on the job, waiting for Sir Wilfrid Laurier to pass away, hoping to inherit the support of Quebec. This is a very hard thing to say. Still his actions supply strong presumptive evidence that it fairly indicates his policy."

jumped on top of him, beating him about the face and head.

By this time Mr. Craig had hurried to the baggage room and taken the man away. He took him to the waiting room and then went in search of a policeman. In the meantime the Englishman fell in conversation with Mr. Craig, and discussed the way Englishmen should be used in Canada.

A little later he worked himself up into passion and finally dealt Mr. Craig a treacherous blow.

Officers Brown and Wilson arrived and took the man in charge. On the way to the lock-up he put up a stiff fight, but was safely landed.

He refused to give his name to the police. He was charged this morning with assault, calculated to do grievous bodily harm.

Baggage-master Forbes, who is seventy-one years of age, was badly marked up about the face and says he might have been killed had assistance not arrived when it did.

Man Named Hanson Caught in Dishonest Act

A man named Hanson who is employed with a gentleman living on the Back road above town tried his hand at the harness business on a small scale yesterday but was not so successful as he anticipated he would be.

He came to the city and visited J. D. Reid's harness shop where he ordered a nice set of harness which he wished charged to a gentleman residing on Smythe street. Later in the day he again visited the same establishment and ordered a set of double harness with the request that they be charged to the account of the same gentleman for whom he professed to order the first set.

Mr. Reid's suspicion being aroused he put the police authorities on the trail of the would be customer.

Detective James Roberts was not long in running Hanson down. The detective visited the farm where Hanson worked but the latter denied all knowledge of the affair. On being asked to come to town he struck out at a lively rate for the woods.

Detective Roberts was more anxious to recover the property than he was to bother with Hanson so he made a search of the premises and discovered the harness concealed in the
