HERALD OFFICE

COMMON SENSE IS THE KEYNOTE OF THE CAMPAIGN AGAINST CONSUMPTION.

"Good food, fresh air and rest; keep your windows open winter and summer."
So we are told by the great scientists, who are certainly doing wonders in reducing the death rate from Tuberculosis. They also want us not to neglect a cold or cough, and it is most important that this advice be followed. While the cough or cold may not bring consumption, it is better to be on the safe side and take no chances.
Here is a simple remedy that will break up a cold in twenty-four hours and cure any cough that is curable. Glycyrrhine, two ounces; Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), one-half ounce; good Whisky, a half pint. Shake well and use in teaspoonful doses every four hours. The ingredients can be secured from any good prescription druggist at small cost, but must be pure to effect the desired results. For this reason, it is always best to purchase the ingredients separately and prepare the mixture at home.
Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), should be purchased only in the original half-ounce vials and put up for druggists to dispense. Each vial is enclosed in a round wooden case, with engraved wrapper, with the name—Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), prepared only by Leach Chemical Co., Windsor, Ontario, plainly printed thereon. There are many rank imitations of Virgin Oil of Pine (Pure), which are put out under similar name and style of package. Never accept these as a substitute for the genuine Virgin Oil of Pine, as they will invariably produce nausea and never effect the desired result. It is always well to remember that the object of an imitator is to deceive.

"PROGRESS OF CITY BEAUTIFICATION."

Fredericton, Jan. 31, 1907.

To the Editor of the Herald:
Sir,—It is gratifying to note the progress being made in beautifying movements to make our city the "City Beautiful."

It is a splendid idea, and only has to be intelligently presented to the citizens to inspire enthusiasm. A beautiful city is always a local pride, and it means a well governed city, too, for no city can maintain all the features which serve to make it beautiful without high class administration.

A scheme for the improvement of our city is under consideration, and it will attract attention. I refer to the action of the council instructing the city clerk to prepare a bill to authorize the appointment by the council of a public works committee, to consist of five (5) aldermen. My opinion is five are too many. The work will never be done properly. The work will fall upon a few with misunderstandings and jealousy, a quorum seldom had. Personally I have always advocated the appointment of a civic engineer to have charge of the outside work, and I am pleased to see they have considered the matter also. This is more in the direction.

The Local Improvement Association, with the assistance of the ladies, should form themselves into a committee and prepare a scheme looking to the artistic development of the lower part of the city, of its physical features and conditions, and be prepared to meet the City Council committee and civil engineer, and talk over matters and decide on something.

Every city has special opportunities for particular development, and the location and surroundings of Fredericton, admirably lend themselves to the work of making her a particularly beautiful city.

Yours respectfully, C. H.

Beggar—Kind lady! I was not allowed to beg like this.
Lady—No, yesterday you had the work will fall upon a few with misunderstandings and jealousy, a

THOSE SENATE APPOINTMENTS.

Hon. H. R. Emmerson's Caustic Speech in Reply to Opposition Criticisms.

Minister Touched Crockett and Stockton on the Raw.

(From Hansard.)

Hon. H. R. Emmerson (Minister of Railways and Canals). Mr. Speaker, parliamentary rules and usages require of us that we should assume at least that my hon. friend (Mr. Stockton) is not simulating. But it does seem to me that my hon. friend has certainly travelled a considerable distance from his real feelings. The argument of the hon. member for York (Mr. Crockett) that the Hon. Mr. Costigan was at one time a resident of Ottawa, that he was a voter in that city, and that his appointment is irregular because he is still a resident of Ottawa, I might as well say that my hon. friend (Mr. Crockett) has no right to sit on that side of the house and associate with their political friends of the present day because forsooth at one time these gentlemen were familiar figures in the Liberal conventions held in New Brunswick.

Mr. Crockett. That was before you became the leader in New Brunswick.

Mr. Emmerson. The men who support me in New Brunswick have my respect and esteem, and it is perfectly natural that I should feel for them. I have not supporting me today men for whom I could not entertain that feeling. Be that as it may, I know as a matter of fact that the Hon. Mr. Costigan has been for a considerable period merely a boarder in the city of Ottawa, he disposed of his property here about two years ago and he established his domicile at Edmundston in the parish of St. Francis, in the county of Madawaska, in the province of New Brunswick.

Mr. Foster. How long ago?

Mr. Emmerson. I cannot say exactly, but I know it was at least a year ago, and since then he has been a native of New Brunswick and the owner property within that province on which he has been qualified. Mr. Gilmore is a resident voter in the parish of St. George, in the county of Charlotte, in the province of New Brunswick, and he has for years been recognized as such. I state that on the authority of Mr. Gilmore himself. My hon. friend (Mr. Crockett) says Mr. Gilmore has simply a summer house there, but I can tell the hon. gentleman that Mr. Gilmore resides in the old homestead in the town of St. George, N. B., the house occupied by his respected father.

Mr. Daniel-Will the hon. gentleman say that Mr. Gilmore lives in the house at any time except in the summer?

Mr. Emmerson—Yes, I have been in that old homestead during other than in the summer months and Mr. Gilmore was residing there with his family and that house is occupied as his residence the year round. There are those in the house who look after it for him and he has what is known as a summer residence on the shore. Mr. Gilmore claims that he never lost his domicile there, and he has always continued to be a resident of the county of Charlotte, and that that is his home today as it always has been.

Mr. Bennett. Mr. Blair says he never lost his domicile either.

Mr. Emmerson. I hope we shall deal with the question before us in a dignified manner, and I have no desire to bring into the discussion the name of any other than of those who are directly interested. Mr. Costigan is quite as much a resident of the province of New Brunswick as my hon. friend from St. John county (Mr. Stockton) is; he spends most of his time there except when parliament is in session, he has no home in Ottawa now; he disposed of his property here some time ago and is domiciled in the town of Edmundston in the county of Madawaska. The very fact that my hon. friend opposite (Mr. Stockton) has dragged into the discussion the names of certain gentlemen in the province of New Brunswick, shows that his desire in this matter is not so disinterested as he would lead us to believe. I cannot see how his reference to the hon. member for Kent (Mr. Leblanc) or an ex-member of this house, who now lives in St. John, can have anything to do with the matter.

Mr. Stockton. I merely mention that to show that the government had many men in the province of New Brunswick about whose eligibility there could be no question, so there was no necessity to run this risk.

Mr. Emmerson. My hon. friend (Mr. Stockton) is of course smooth and pleasant as he always is—when he is not that he is profound—and I can quite understand why he introduced the names of these gentlemen. Well, there are eligible men in New Brunswick, the woods are full of them, and if we could gather them all into the Senate of Canada they would make a representative body. However, the Hon. Mr. Costigan and the Hon. Mr. Gilmore are both residents of New Brunswick; they are old time New Brunswickers; they have lived there all their lives except within the service of the country or their business called them elsewhere. Mr. Gilmore has more property in the county of Charlotte than probably any five members in this house have in any part of New Brunswick. He is a member of the firm of Gilmore & O'Brien, a firm which has been carrying on business for years in the town of St. George, and he participates in the management of this business which requires him to be there a certain portion of his time. Mr. Gilmore has returned from the city of St. John to the county of Charlotte, he is there now and has been there for a week.

Some hon. members, hear, hear.

Mr. Emmerson. Yes, and he will be there for a great deal longer than some of my hon. friends opposite will be here. So far as I am interested in the matter of these appointments, I want to say that I take my full share of responsibility, and I take credit for them. With respect to the Hon. Mr. Costigan, he held a unique position in his country. There is no man in public life in Canada or who has ever been in public life in Canada, who has had the continued esteem and support of his constituents as has the Hon. Mr. Costigan. Elected at the very first election in 1867 as the representative of the county of Victoria in the parliament of Canada, he has sat in this house continuously from that time to the present, and he has not in any sense been compelled to go out of the house now. Probably he could have continued to represent the county of Victoria here to the end of his natural life. I say his position is a unique one. More than that, I say that it is probably without a parallel, not merely in the history of Canada, but in the history of the empire, and I certainly say a word as to his qualifications. He has been a patriot; he has been true to Canada; he has been a lifetime in politics, and today he is a poor man, and I am sure that there is not a man on either side of the house who will say that the appointment of that gentleman to the Senate of Canada is not an excellent one. His experience as a legislator, as an administrator in the government of the country, and as a man of the people eminently fit him for the position. As to Mr. Gilmore, very great credit is due to that gentleman. He is a worthy son of a worthy sire. The name of the Hon. A. H. Gilmore will go down in the history of New Brunswick, and that of his son is respected far and wide. Daniel Gilmore, it is true, has been away from his old home a good deal of the time, doing what? Building up the finest business in the country. The firm of which he is a prominent member has a continental reputation, and Mr. Gilmore's name is widely known as a citizen of New Brunswick. Never has Daniel Gilmore travelled anywhere without signing his name on the hotel register as Dan. Gilmore, from the town of St. George, in New Brunswick.

Mr. Foster. Was it always Dan?

Mr. Emmerson. Yes, always Dan. My hon. friend is generally designated by another name, but everybody designates Mr. Gilmore as Dan Gilmore.

Mr. Foster. My name is not Dan, that is all.

Mr. Emmerson. It is not, but you have another sobriquet. Mr. Gilmore has no reason to be ashamed of his name. In these appointments the government certainly has not committed an error. While they could have made many other excellent selections, the selections which they have made I think are of excellence. Although they might have been equalled, certainly there could not have been any better selections made from the province of New Brunswick. My hon. friend from York and my hon. friend from St. John may speak of the cohorts coming from the counties to the Liberal convention—and they used to be among the cohorts—but there has never been the province of New Brunswick a Liberal convention attended by such great numbers or animated by such enthusiasm—not even in the palmy days when the cohorts could come and listen to the eloquence of my hon. friend from the city and county of St. John. Therefore, I think I can fairly say that I am in a better position to speak for the province of New Brunswick than my hon. friend from York, who claims to speak for it, and I say that the appointment of Messrs. Gilmore and Costigan will be supported strongly and enthusiastically by the people of New Brunswick, and I claim some credit for those appointments.

The Town Council in a small German town had met to inspect a new site for a cemetery. They assembled at a chancel, and as it was a warm day, one of the members of the Council suggested they should leave their coats in the hall.

"Some one could stay behind to look after them," suggested one of the Councilors.

"There is no need of that," said another. "If we are all going out to the cemetery together what need is there for one of us to stay behind and watch our coats?"

BLOOMFIELD RIDGE.

Jan. 30.—A heavy rain commenced on Saturday evening and rained all day Sunday till eight o'clock in the evening and a heavy wind from the northwest blew at the rate of sixty miles an hour on Monday.

Alexander Parker, who has been working for T. Lynch on MacLean Brook, had a misfortune while acting as blacksmith at one of his camps. He got one of his eyes badly burned with a piece of hot iron. We are glad to report that his eye is a little better but very painful at the present.

Berton Parker while working in the lumbering woods had the misfortune of getting his feet frozen quite badly.

On Wednesday Jan. 15 was one of the coldest days in this place for years. A number of scholars while going to school froze their hands and feet. One young lady had to go in to Mrs. James Spencer's residence. It was all Mrs. Spencer could do to keep her alive for half an hour with hot-water and medicine, but she came around alright.

Miss Lea T. Spencer celebrated her sixteenth birthday by a party on Thursday.

Mrs. William H. MacLellan was visiting her mother, Mrs. D. A. Smith on Monday, Jan. 21st.

Mr. Elijah E. Spencer who was home on Tuesday from his camp on Dunganon reports that on Wednesday that the cold was so severe most of the men froze their faces while at work in the woods. Mr. Spencer is working among the burnt lumber which the fire burnt last summer, which makes it so much colder than green lumber-land.

Mrs. C. Spencer gave a number of her friends a five o'clock tea party on Wednesday, Jan. 30.

Mrs. Adam J. Cowie entertained a number of her friends to a quitting party on Tuesday Jan. 29th.

WATERY BLOOD.

Nerves are weak.
Face is Pallid.
You Lack Strength.
You Look Sickly.

Until You Ironize and Fortify the Blood There's No Hope of Cure.

Thousands of tired workers need the invigoration, the strength, the nerve-force which Ferrozone can supply.

Ferrozone imparts strength because it nourishes. Ferrozone is able to nourish because it supplies to the blood the elements it lacks.

Once the blood is vitalized, its tonic influence is circulated to every nook and corner of the body, carrying new life with it.

Cases on record prove that Ferrozone builds up when else fails. Mr. Alonzo W. Douglas of Woodbridge, Ont., says: "I desire to state the results I derived from the use of Ferrozone. Two years ago I was stricken with Pneumonia. So severe was the attack and so reduced was my strength that my life was despaired of. I had the very best medical attention, but made no progress. To my recovery. When reduced to practically a skeleton, a kind friend told me of the remarkable powers of Ferrozone. An improvement began almost at once. I gained steadily in weight and strength until Ferrozone made me a new man. I will gladly answer inquiries from other sufferers if they care to have further particulars about my recovery. Ferrozone deserves its great measure of success."

When a man in Mr. Douglas' low condition can be quickly cured, aren't the chances good for you? Don't fail to try Ferrozone. Price 50c. per box.
