

A SPRING NEED

Weak, Tired and Depressed People
Need a Tonic to put the Blood
Right.

Spring blood is bad blood. Indoor life during the winter months is responsible for weak, watery, impure blood. You need a tonic to build up the blood in spring just as much as the trees need sap to give them vitality for the summer. In the spring bad blood shows itself in many ways. In some it breeds pimples and eruptions. In others it is a variable appetite, perhaps twinges of neuralgia or rheumatism, or a lazy feeling in the morning and a desire to avoid exertion. For these spring ailments it is a tonic you need, and the greatest blood-making, health-giving tonic in all the world is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose helps to make new, rich, red, health-giving blood, which reaches every nerve and every organ in the body, bringing health, strength and energy to weak, despondent, ailing men and women. Here is proof. Mrs. Geo. Merritt, Sandy Cove, N. S., says: "I was weak, feeling miserable and terribly run down. The doctor whom I consulted said I had anæmia, but he did not help me. A friend advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and it is simply impossible for me to over-estimate the good they have done me. I shall always recommend them to ailing friends."

$80,000,000 TUNNEL.

Plans of the English Channel Company Rapidly Crystallizing.

The channel tunnel scheme is now rapidly approaching the stage of practical discussion, says the London Chronicle. In a few weeks we may expect to hear its merits and demerits echoed from the great sounding board of the House of Commons. A bill was yesterday deposited in Parliament to incorporate the "Channel Tunnel Co." Powers are sought to execute such works up to the three-mile limit, and it is proposed that a new company shall hereafter be registered for the purpose of carrying out the entire project. The bill empowers the Southeastern and Chatham Railway Companies to avail themselves of the authority given by Parliament in 1874 for the application of their capital towards the works, and also to take shares in the capital of the company created.

It is estimated that the scheme will involve a total outlay of £16,000,000. Half of that amount is to be raised in this country, and the remainder is promised in France as soon as the scheme shall have received parliamentary sanction in England.

A limited liability company, to be registered in London, with a capital of £8,000,000, will subscribe and consequently hold all the securities of the statutory company and provide the balance of funds necessary to carry the tunnel from the three-mile limit to midchannel, where it will connect with the French portion of the undertaking. Two parallel tunnels will be constructed, the total length of the same under the sea being 24 miles, and, with the land approaches on either side, 30 miles. Calculations (it is claimed by the promoters) show that in the first year after the opening of the railway—the "Calvados Tube," as it has already been named—1,300,000 passengers will be conveyed through the tunnels, and the gross receipts from all sources of traffic in the same period are put at $1,540,000.

The tunnels, each 18 feet in internal diameter, will be driven from Dover to Sandgate throughout the whole distance in the gray Rouen chalk, which, 87 feet thick on the English side and 80 feet on the French side, is a stratum very homogeneous, practically free from and remarkably impervious to water.

Powers for the electric motors which are to be employed in the tunnel traffic will be obtained from large generating stations, which are likewise to supply the current required for lighting, as well as the compressed air necessary for the purposes of ventilation. The trains will be made up of the rolling stock of all British and continental railway systems, excepting those of Spain and Russia, which at present possess gauges differing materially from those of Great Britain. When the trunk line now in course of construction through Greece has been completed the opening of the channel tunnel will shorten the mail route to India by 25 hours. Mr. Balfour Browne, K.C., has been retained as leading counsel for the bill and Messrs. Sharwood & Co. are but parliamentary agents for the promoters.

A Very Busy Man.

A school inspector went to investigate the case of a man who, although he could well afford to keep his children at school, had obtained labor certificates for them all and was taking frequent holidays while the poor little fellows worked to keep the home on.

To his wife's plea that the youngsters' wages were useful when "they" was out of work the inspector replied:

"A mere quibble, ma'am. Your husband has constant work, but is too lazy to do it. His employer told me so."

"Then it's a wicked story, and I'm not particular who hears me say it!" cried the woman indignantly. "My husband is the busiest man in England, bar none. Why, he was up at day-break this mornin' teachin' my youngest lad to swim, an' he's walked ten miles across plowed fields to fly a pigeon an' won a bounce ball contest an' a boxin' match since dinner, an' now, to wind things up," she added as a final proof of her husband's amazing industry, "he's down in the wood yard trainin' his dog to catch an' kill rabbits without leavin' the marks of his teeth on 'em. If you want more work than that crowded into a day, you must be a regular nigger driver!"—London Tit-Bits.

When Buttons Were Big.

Bachmann writes in his "Secret Memoirs," Nov. 18, 1786: "The mania for buttons is today extremely ridiculous. They are not only of enormous size, some of them as big as six pound crowns, but miniatures and pictures are made upon them, and this ornament is extremely costly. Some of them represent the medals of the twelve Caesars, others antique statues and still others the Metamorphoses of Ovid."

Isabeau, in his biographical notes, says that when he came to Paris he worked for a living by making copies of Vanloos and Bouchers on the lids of snuffboxes and that for these medallions he was paid from 6 to 8 francs each. "As it was still the fashion," he said, "to wear buttons as big as a five franc piece, upon which Cupids, flowers and landscapes were cut in cameo, I went into that business. I got 12 sous for each."—Paris Figaro.

BABY'S SMILE.

Baby's smile indicates that he is well and happy. It is only the sick child who is cross and restless. And the mother ran depend upon it that when her baby cries he is not crying simply to be ugly—that is not his nature—he is crying because he is in pain—most probably his little stomach is out of order. The mother will find Baby's Own Tablets a never failing cure for all the minor ailments of little ones. In the homes where the Tablets are used there are no cross, crying babies—nothing but bright, happy and playful babies—the kind that are a joy to the home. Mrs. Jos. Le Gros, Caranquet, N. B., says: "At the time I sent for Baby's Own Tablets my little one was weak and ailing. He would cry night and day, and I did not seem able to get anything to help him. After giving him the Tablets there was a great change and he has since thrived finely." The Tablets are sold by druggists or by mail at 25 cents a box from the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Trinity College Pays Tribute to the Memory of Archibald Lampman.

A handsome bronze medallion of the late Archibald Lampman, M. A., the poet, who was a distinguished graduate of the college, was unveiled at Trinity College at the recent annual convocation service. The ceremony was performed by Prof. Pelham Edgar, of Toronto University, who paid a tribute to the gentle spirit of the great Canadian poet who had, he said, never been clamorous for public reputation, who wrote in no spirit of rivalry, but labored ever in the sense of duty, contented only with the approval of his own severe genius and the purpose of a discerning mind.

Source of Inspiration.

Spiritual truth, moral strength and natural beauty were the unending source of his inspiration, and it is because he never wavered under the responsibilities which these great themes imposed upon him that his fame today rests upon so secure a foundation. His love of nature was more than a mere cult of beauty; it had in it something of the rapture of religion, and the conviction of a reasoned philosophy.

SOME JUMPER OVERALLS FOR LITTLE FOLKS.

It is useless to imagine that a child can play without coming in contact with a great deal of dirt and the only way to preserve his apparel is by jumpers or jumper-overalls. Some very practical overalls in jumper style are sketched and intended for both the boy and the girl. These combine the good features of the two garments, being full enough at the bottom to include the dress and undergarments, and slip on easily, and finished like overalls at the top so as to be easily made and laundered. A button at each side below the waist two at the upper edge in front which hold the suspenders, serve as fastenings. A durable stuff is desirable for the development, crash, denim or percale being suggested. For the medium size 1½ yards of 36-inch material are needed.

WOMEN WHO WEAR WELL.

It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and motherhood, not understanding that this secret drain is robbing the cheek of its freshness and the form of its fairness. As surely as the general health suffers when there is derangement of the health of the delicate womanly organs so surely when these organs are established in health the face and form at once witness to the face in renewed comeliness. Half a million women and more have found health and happiness in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Ingredients on label.

"A woman should always depend on her husband for advice," said the devoted wife.

"Yes," answered the visitor, "but it does good monotonous not to get any advice except to economize."

Kept Pledge to Highwayman.

The fourth Earl Stanhope, when on his homeward way late one dark night, was held up by the most gentlemanly of highwaymen, who preferred his request for money or the nobleman's life in quite the nicest way. It happened that Lord Stanhope had not any money with him and was disinclined to yield the alternative.

"Your watch, then," suggested the gentleman at the opposite end of the pistol. That watch, the earl explained, was dear to him. He valued it at a hundred guineas, and would not surrender it. "What I will do," he said, "is to bring and deposit in this tree the worth of the watch in money, and you can call and get it to-morrow night."

"Done, m' lord," said the highwayman.

The law knew nothing about this arrangement, and the earl did as he had promised. He placed the hundred guineas where the highwayman might at his leisure collect it. And there, so far as he knew, the matter ended.

Years afterward he attended a great banquet in the city, and found himself pleasantly entertained by an extremely well known man, whose signature was good for a sum in several figures. Next day came to Lord Stanhope a letter enclosing the sum of 100 guineas. Accompanying it was a note begging his acceptance of a loan granted some years previously to the man who now forwarded it.

That loan, said the latter, had enabled the sender to gain a new start in life, to make a fortune and to repay the debt to his lordship. The city magnate and the highwayman of earlier days were one and the same.—London Evening Standard.
