The Sultan looked at them and said:
"However long it may be delayed, the day of fate must break at last. Sav, Frank, are you prepared to drink the dregs of that cup I promised you?"

"We are prepared," they answered with one voice.

"Do you grieve now that you laid down your lives to save those of all Jerusalem?" he asked again.

"Yes," Rosamund answered, glancing at Wulf's face: "We rejoice exceedingly that God has been so good to us."

"Two rejoice," said Saladin: "and I too thank Allah Who in bygone days sent me that vision which has given me back the holy city of Jerusalem without bloodshed. Now all is accomplished as it was fated. Lead them away."

For a moment they clung together, then Saladin took Wulf to the right and Rosamund to the left, and she went with a pale face and high head to meet her executioner, wondering if she would see Godwin ere she died. They led her to a chamber where women waited but no swordsmen that she could see, and shut the door upon her.
"Perchance I am to be strangled by these women," thought Rosamund, as they came towards her, "so that the blood royal may not be shed."

Yet it was not so, for with gentle hands, but in silence, they unrobed her, and washed her with scented waters and braided her hair, twisting it up with pearls and gems. Then they clad her in fine linen, and put over it gorgeous, brodered garments, and a royal mantle of purple, and her own jewels which she had worn in bygone days, and with them others still more splendid, and threw about her head a gauzy veil worked with golden stars.
It was just such a veil as Wulf's gift which she had worn on the night when Hassan dragged her from her home at Steeple. She noted it and smiled at the sad omen, then said:

"Ladies, why should I mock my doom with these bright ornaments?"

"Is the Sultan's will?" they answered: "nor shall you rest to-night less happily because of them."

Now all was ready, and the door opened and she stepped through it, a radiant thing, glittering in the lamplight. Then trumpets blew and a herald cried: "Way! Way there! Way for the high sovereign lady and princess of Baalbec!"

Thus followed by the train of honorable women who attended her, Rosamund glided forward to the courtyard, and once more bent the knee to Sala-din, then stood still, lost in wonder.

Again the trumpets blew, and on the right a herald cried: "Way! Way there! Way for the brave and noble Frankish knight, Sir Wulf D'Arcy!"

Lo! attended by emirs and nobles, Wulf came forth, clad in splendid armour inlaid with gold, wearing on his shoulder a mantle set with gems and on his breast the gleaming Star of the Luck of Hassan. To Rosamund he strode and stood by her, his hands resting on the hilt of his long sword.

"Princess," said Saladin, "I give you back your rank and titles, because you have shown a noble heart; and you, Sir Wulf, I honor also as best I may, but to my decree I hold. Let them go together to the drinking of the cup of their destiny as to a bridal bed."

Again the trumpets blew and the heralds called, and they led them to the doors of the chapel, which at their knocking were thrown wide. From within came the sound of women's voices singing, but it was no sad song they sang.

"The sisters of the Order are still there," said Rosamund to Wulf, "and would cheer us on our road to heaven."

"Perchance," he answered, "I know not, I am amazed."

At the door the company of Moslems left them, but they crowded round the entrance as though to watch what would happen. Now down the long aisle walked a single white-robed figure. It was a nun.

"What shall we do, Mother?" said Rosamund to her.

"Me, both of you," she said, "I would hear through the nave trails, and at a sign from me."

the altar, the bishop

PAINS

CANADIAN WOMEN FIND RELIEF

The Case of Ellen Walby Is One of Thousands of Cures Made by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that it is not the plan of nature that women should suffer so severely?

Ellen Walby

Thousands of Canadian Women, however, have found relief from all monthly suffering by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, as it is the most thorough female regulator known to medical science. It cures the condition which causes so much discomfort and robs these periods of their terrors.

Ellen Walby, of Wellington Hotel, Ottawa, Ont., writes:

"Your Vegetable Compound was recommended to me to take for the intense suffering which I endured every month and with which I had been a sufferer for many years getting no relief from the many prescriptions which were prescribed, until, finally becoming discouraged with doctors and their medicines I determined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I am glad that I did, for within a short time I began to menstruate in an incredible short time the flow was regular, natural and without pain.
This seems too good to be true and I am indeed a grateful and happy woman."

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, backache, bloating, (or flatulence), displacement of organs, inflammation or ulceration, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off serious consequences, and be restored to perfect health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and then write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for further advice. She is daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising women free of charge. Thousands have been cured by so doing.

NEEDLEWORK NOTES.

Gunnysacks cut the same as carpet rags and woven with bright colored warp will make splendid rugs for the kitchen. They will last for years and are splendid for use in winter.

Bindings for seams and the neck of a dress, also the feign for the sleeve should be cut on the bias. There is a knack in working with bias facings that one can only learn by experience they must be neither puckered nor pulled, but neatly worked in.

There you have a neat little pin-cushion all ready to put together and nothing with which to stuff it. Did you know that it could be filled with rice.

THE DOCTOR AWAY FROM HOME

WHEN MOST NEEDED.

People are often very much disappointed to find that the family physician is away from home when they most need his services. Diseases like cramps, colic and cholera morbus require prompt treatment, and have in many instances proven fatal before medicine could be procured of a physician summoned. The only way is to keep at hand a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. No physician can prescribe a better medicine for these diseases. By having it in the house you escape much pain and suffering and all risk. Buy it now; it may save life. For sale by all dealers.
