MCADAM SHOOTING.

Some More Details of Thos. David's Attempt on His Wife's Life--Jack Power's Timely Interference.

WOUNDED WOMAN WILL RECOVER.

Thomas David, the Assyrian who shot his wife at McAdam Junction Monday morning, will be arraigned before Col Marsh at the police court on Thursday morning. As the women's condition is still quite serious Col Marsh will adjourn the case for perhaps a week to await the outcome of her injuries. Should the woman die in the meantime David will be arraigned for murder, and should she recover attempted murder will be the charge.

David when taken before the police magistrate yesterday intimated that he was not conversant with the English language, but since his incarceration in a cell at the county jail he has changed his tune in this respect. He has had several conversations with his jailer in broken English, and it is scarcely likely that he will need the services of an interpreter at the examination. He does not seem to be worrying very much over his position.

A Woodstock despatch says, Mrs. David, who was shot at McAdam by her husband, is resting easily and will recover. She told her friends that she would rather not go to Lowell, and after arriving at McAdam she made up her mind to return to Woodstock, which angered her husband to such an extent that he shot her.

David and his wife, both of whom are under middle age, lived in Lowell (Mass.) David says she left him some months ago with another Syrian, and he followed a few days ago. He wanted her to return to him and take up life anew together in Lewiston, and yesterday morning, with their two children, they started from Woodstock.

At McAdam the woman made up her mind to return to the New Brunswick town, and persuasions of her husband were useless. Then he pulled a revolver and fired at her as she stood facing him, but the bullet missed its mark. A second shot was fired and the woman fell wounded. Then Mr. Power and Policeman Gardner's prompt action ended the affair.

TELLS OF POWER'S ACTION.

Rev. G. M. Young, of St. Stephen, formerly pastor of the Fairville Methodist church, was at McAdam station when the shooting occurred. "I was just entering the door of the ladies' waiting room," he said, "when the affair occurred. The man fired two shots, one of which lodged in the plaster in the wall and the other struck the woman, going into the abdomen. Its course was apparently deflected by one of the steels of her corset. "Just as the man fired, Mr. Power who was standing near, jumped over to the man's side and struck him a terrific blow on the chin and laid him out. He was then handcuffed by the officer.

MR. POWER SPEAKS OF IT.

"I saw the couple get on the train at Woodstock, said Mr. Power, and sat in the same car with them on the way to McAdam. I heard no talk or quarrel as I was sitting in the other end of the car, but soon after reaching McAdam I heard the two talking excitedly in their own language on the platform.

"The woman seemed anxious to get away and the man seemed to be following her. She went through the public waiting room and he was close behind trying to induce her to accept something he had been proposing. They passed me and an instant later I heard the report of a revolver.

"My first thought was that some boy had let a firecracker off, but when I turned and saw the man pursuing the woman with a smoking revolver in his hand, I knew he meant business. He looked desperate and seemed absolutely without fear of consequences.

"There was a number of women and children standing about, and it is a wonder to me that some of them were not shot. Screams from the alarmed travellers and the struggle which followed caused great excitement, but it was soon over. When the Syrian fired the first shot the woman was facing him, but she turned and fled and he was close after her. She ran around a corner and it seemed miraculous that the second shot did not strike some one in the large room.

"As soon as the report sounded the police officer started for the man. He caught hold of one of the would-be murderer's hands and began wrestling with him, but it occurred to me that the best thing to do would be to disarm the desperado at once. I simply reached out and dropped him, and the rest was easy.

"He was disarmed and handcuffed and, following out my suggestion, was at once searched. I understand that the seven chambers of the revolver were full and if he had not been prevented I believe he would have emptied them all. I cannot say too much for the policeman, who was so prompt and effective. I did what any man would have done, and I am glad none of the women and children were hurt."

THE HOSPITAL BOARD.

Dr. McGrath Succeeds Dr. H. H. McNally on the Medical Staff--Plumbing Must be Renewed and Improved.

The regular monthly meeting of the Hospital trustees was held Monday, when considerable important business was transacted. Hon. F. P. Thomson, the president, occupied the chair, and the other gentlemen present were Vice President Allen, Mayor McLeod, Mr. Willard Kitchen, Dr. VanWart, Mr. A. H. P. Randolph, Judge Barry, and Secretary Sampson.

From the Secretary's report for the month, it was shown that the expenditure was unusually large, but the receipts were also large, the hospital being filled to its utmost capacity. In her report, the matron showed that forty-nine patients were treated. Two deaths occurred, and the personal effects of one of these was ordered to be handed to his mother. Maud Baker, an immigrant child suffering from trachoma, has been in the Dowling wing for several weeks. The child passed the quarantine officer at Halifax with the recent importation of children from the Mid-dlemore home, and was taken to a home in Northumberland County, where the disease developed, and she was sent back to Fredericton and has since has special treatment at expense of the hospital. Trustee Barry has been in communication with several parties and hopes to have the patient shipped back to England in a day or two.

City Engineer Grimmer has condemned the system of plumbing in the hospital and contagious ward, and Engineer Barbour did the same thing when he examined it some months ago. The trustees have been waiting until the public sewerage was ready with the intention of making a complete modern change in the plumbing and heating. Mr. Ed. Hurley is at present making temporary connection with the city sewer, and the entire work of heating and plumbing has been placed in the hands of President Thompson, Mr. Allen and Mr. Randolph to push it to a finish.

Dr. H. H. McNally, resigned his position as a member of the medical staff as the work interfered with his private practice. Applications for the position were received from Dr. R. H. McGrath and Dr. B. M. Mullin. Dr. Irvine, a previous applicant did not apply. Some of the trustees thought it might be well to reduce the number on the medical staff to four, so that each physician could be on duty three months. However after consideration the vacancy was filled by the appointment of Dr. McGrath. The Secretary was instructed to convey the thanks of the board to Dr. McNally for past services. The thanks of the board was extended to Mr. George Armstrong for services connected with the books and accounts of the board. The Secretary was instructed to dispose of the grass on the hospital premises.

Mr. Allen, Mr. Barry and Dr. VanWart, were appointed a committee to prepare a formal finding of the board upon the evidence re the recent escapade through a window, of a patient named Allen. Although this man was exposed to the weather for ten hours with only his night clothing, no serious results ensued. However, he is still a patient in the hospital.

After the disposal of many other matters the meeting adjourned.
