CHURCH UNION.

A sermon which Rev. Dr. Symonds preached at the Anglican Cathedral in Montreal Sunday evening, on "The Historic Episcopate," is attracting considerable attention, and is not entirely in accord with the views generally supposed to be held on the subject by members of that communion.

"He must be stone blind that sees not churches standing without Episcopal Government," words spoken by Archbishop Bramhall, was one of the notable quotations Dr. Symonds used in introducing his subject, and he made many other quotations from eminent Anglican divines to uphold his contention that the church of England does not maintain that episcopal ordination is necessary to constitute a true church.

Dr. Symonds declared "there was no reason to suppose that our Lord gave any fixed constitution to his church. He did not define whether it was to be Episcopal, or Presbyterian or Congregational. Nor is there any evidence that the Apostles had any fixed constitution for the Church, which they imposed upon it in the course of their missionary labors."

After discussing at length the immediate subject of his sermon, Dr. Symonds proceeded to show that any notion which Anglicans had of the sacred character of the historic episcopate was not a bar to joining in the negotiations for church union in Canada, and this was the practical object of his eloquent deliverance. Proceeding Mr. Symonds said: "Now I have not dragged these somewhat dry historical details out of the darkness of the distant past without a practical object. They have a very real bearing upon present conditions in Canada. And for this reason:

"Here in Canada we leave behind many of the old grounds of dispute. We have no Established Church. We have no Nonconformists. And therefore it appears to me that instead of regarding our relations to Presbyterians, Methodists or Congregationalists in the same way in which such relations may with some excuse be regarded in England, we should rather regard them as similar to those between the Anglican Church of the Reformer period and the Continental Reformed Church of France and Germany."

"To deny the title of church to the Presbyterian communion, for instance, in the light of history and experience, seems almost ludicrous."

"With respect to the Methodists I may once more remind you that the rationalistic historian Lesky, the historian par excellence of the 18th century, declares that the Wesleyan movement accomplished more for England than all the brilliant statecraft of Pitt and the victories of Nelson and Wellington."

Dr. Symonds asked "what is the form the appeal for church union is taking in Canada today," and answering his own question said:

"The Presbyterians, Methodists and Congregationalists are uniting in an earnest endeavor to promote in this new land a larger measure of unity than exists today. They have no doubt an eye on the great Northwest. They feel the importance now, when that country is just beginning to be populated, of the question 'How is Christianity most effectively to be presented to the millions which the prophetic eye sees in a not far distant future, swarming over those vast prairies.' Can you imagine a more worthy object?

"I call that a worthy object. I can conceive of none more Christian. Can anyone seriously suppose that if Christ stood on earth today, He would hold coldly aloof from such a movement. And we are asked to unite with it, at present only to send a committee to discuss the question."

"Our rights and privileges and traditions will be guarded, and from my heart I believe that it is in the highest interest of the country, and of our own Anglican Church, because it is a noble work, the noblest kind of work that can be done, that we should accept this invitation."

The St. Andrew's Beacon suggests that the Woodstock court house bible should be disciplined or chained.

A COOL PROPOSITION.

Under the law, the city of Fredericton is compelled to pay one third of the administration of justice expenditures incurred by the authorities of the York Municipality, although the city is not permitted to have a representative on the committee that makes these expenditures, thus violating a well recognized principle of responsible government.

Frequently an effort has been made to secure to the city a representative on that committee, but it has proved fruitless. The time, however, seems to have arrived when the abuse should be removed, and the city authorities will make another effort to that end.

The Municipal authorities are forcing the issue by adding unreasonable items to the administration of justice account. For instance in this year's account they have charged up to administration of justice the cost of fitting up the Secretary-Treasurer's office, and the expenses of light and heat therefor, and also the cost of improvements made to the Municipal Council chamber, and the city is asked to pay one third of these amounts.

Does not that seem an unfair and unreasonable proposition? Take it the other way. What would the ratepayers of the county say if they were invited to stand one third the expense of fitting up offices for the city clerk, lighting and heating them, and of furnishing the City Council chamber.

The city authorities are not kicking because it has to pay one third of the actual administration of justice account, but they do think, and the citizens feel that they should have representation on the committee that makes these expenditures.

No matter how extravagant this committee may be, no matter what expenses they may unwarrantably add to the accounts, (note those we have mentioned in this year's accounts), the city must put up one third of the amount.

But surely the line should be drawn at paying a third of the cost of fitting up and maintaining the Municipal offices.

CURRENT COMMENTS.

Bishop Sweetman of Toronto, has had double honors thrust upon him in his election to the position of archbishop and primate of all Canada.

So it seems the Municipal authorities of York were paying two auditors for about three weeks last January.

The Albert murder trial is making good progress. On Wednesday Father McAuley was on the stand, and told what he knew of the tragedy, and was submitted to a lengthy cross examination.

The Kingston disaster is really much worse than the earlier reports indicated. Evidently the city has been practically destroyed, with an enormous loss of life. Fortunately those in whom Fredericton was particularly interested, are safe.

Mr. Fowler's newspaper has made the startling discovery that the Dominion government stole the Canada Eastern railway from Mr. Gibson. What a remarkable thing to happen in this otherwise peaceful community. Mr. Fowler is a member of parliament and presumably has some influence. Why does he not have every minister concerned in the enormous crime indicted for grand larceny, and put every mother's son of them in the penitentiary. What an absurd and ludicrous little paper Mr. Fowler is running in this city.

There are well founded complaints that the rooms of the Charlotte Street school building are miserably cold these days, making it most uncomfortable and dangerous for the children seeking instruction there. The rooms are also represented as unclean, the floors, desks and other furniture reeking with dust. These are conditions which should not be permitted for an hour. If the janitor is not up to his work, it is the duty of the trustee board to look into the matter and apply a remedy. Parents in Fredericton are paying a heavy school tax, and are entitled to comfort for their children in the school rooms as well as efficient instruction.

BLOOMFIELD RIDGE.

VIRTUE IN COPPER.

The Metal is a Death Dealer to All Disease Germs.

"Copper is a marvelous preventive of disease. If we returned to the old copper drinking vessels of our forefathers, typhoid epidemics would disappear."

The speaker, a filtration expert, took a copper cent from his pocket.

"Examine this cent under the microscope," he said, "and you will find it altogether free from disease germs. Examine gold and silver coins, and you will find them one wriggling and contorting germ mass. Yet copper coins pass through dirtier hands than gold and silver ones. You'd think they ought to be alive with micro-organisms. But no. Copper kills germs. Diphtheria and cholera cultures smeared on a copper cent die in less than two hours."

"They have many cholera epidemics in China, but certain towns are always immune. These towns keep their drinking water in great copper vessels. Travelers have tried to buy these vessels, for they are beautiful, but the villagers will not sell them. They have a superstition that their health and welfare depend on their retention. I wish all superstitions were as true and salutary as that."

Rheumatism.

Rheumatism may often be cured by adding a little oil of turpentine to the warm or hot bath. Again, a little of the mixture formed by using fifty grams of green soap and thirty grams of oil of turpentine poured into the bath will be effective. It should be used at once after mixing, when the liquid becomes a foaming froth.

Don't express a positive opinion unless you perfectly understand what you are talking about.
