

MR. GRIMMER'S SPEECH

Member for Charlotte Made Some Criticisms of the Government and also Some Important Admissions.

Mr. Grimmer of Charlotte, who followed Hon. C. W. Robinson in the debate on the budget in the legislature, Saturday afternoon, said:

It affords me much gratification to congratulate the honorable member who has just spoken, upon the excellence of his maiden speech. While he occupied as he did for so many years, the place you now fill, it was our pleasure to know him as one willing to recognize the rights of the minority. I have hopes that his advent into the government will tend in the same direction, and if he does not bring to the government, in these their last hours, a tower of strength, he has the promise of a fine future which I am sure all of us hope will be realized.

It is necessary that I should make some remarks upon the public accounts, and in doing so I will say that I am inclined to agree with the last speaker, that on the whole these accounts are in a little better shape than in previous years, but still that does not alter the fact that better though they be, they are still most inaccurate and misleading. They are not kept as any business firm would keep their books.

Notwithstanding all that has been said by the Premier and his lieutenants, I say that this Province is paying the sum of $146,000 annually into the coffers of the Dominion treasury in order to get back the sum of $130,000 as additional subsidy. We don't say that the bargain was altogether a bad one, but we do say that it could easily have been made very much better.

We on this side of the house were not opposed to taking the subsidy by any means, but what we do say is that the amount is nothing like what we ought to have had, if the ministers of the Province had done all they could have done.

The honorable premier was also at some pains to defend himself against certain charges of inconsistency in his political career. He need not have troubled to do anything of the kind, for we all know he is well able to take care of himself, particularly when the loaves and fishes are being distributed.

The honorable gentleman is a man of parts, at present of three parts. He is premier, attorney-general and provincial secretary. He divided his speech into three parts; subsidy, railway policy and general provincial prosperity, and he took three days to deliver it. I have heard it said that there is an election in the air and that the honorable gentleman's speech was an election speech from start to finish.

He also referred to the great developments which might be expected of the water power at Grand Falls. He has kept himself in touch with all the great railways of the country. Messrs. McKenzie and Mann and other railway authorities. But what is he going to do with the G. T. P. when it comes to New Brunswick? The steam locomotive is to disappear and give way to the electric motor. Fire and destruction in our beautiful forests are to be done away with and all from the wonderful powers of the Grand Falls. There is to be no more speculation in the lands of the province. He knows nothing about such matters as speculation in land himself, he knows nothing of the profits to be derived from speculations in land in the west. He is going to set aside one mile along each side of the line for settlers to obtain the benefit of an easy terms. What is the motive behind all this?

Then again he comes down with the St. John Valley Railway. He told us that the efforts of the present minister of railways, greatest and most wonderful minister Canada ever knew, was going to spread its railways all across the city of Fredericton, and take it up to Woodstock and make a transcontinental line of it, but this vision has now disappeared. It occurred to him that it might be of use to apply to Messrs. McKenzie and Mann and get something of them to apply towards his election campaign.

He got a telegram one day and on the strength of that he told us that he was going to introduce a bill to enable McKenzie and Mann to build this railroad and he would guarantee $15,000 a mile. He tells us that they will come and survey the district and get the work done as soon as the money is found. He didn't go so far as to say that the line would form a part of a transcontinental system, and

What a splendid type of tireless activity is the sun as the psalmist describes it issuing like a "bridegroom" from his chamber and rejoicing like a strong man to run a race. Every man ought to rise in the morning refreshed by slumber and renewed by rest, eager for the struggle of the day. But how rarely this is so. Most people rise still unrefreshed, and leading the strain of the day's labors. The cause of this is deficient vitality and behind this lies a deficient supply of pure, rich blood, and an inadequate nourishment of the body. There is nothing that will give a man strength and energy, as will Dr. Pierce's Medical Discovery. It does this by increasing the quantity and quality of the blood supply. This nourishes the nerves, feeds the brain, builds up enfeebled organs, and gives that sense of strength and power which makes the struggle of life a joy. The "good feelings" which follow the use of "Golden Medical Discovery" is not due to stimulation as it contains no alcohol. The ingredients are plainly stated on the bottle wrapper. It does not "brace-up" the body, but builds it up into a condition of sound and vigorous health.

INDIAN "WIRELESS." The Smoke Signals and Fire Arrows of the Red Men. Ages before Marconi invented wireless telegraphy the Indians of North America had a system of "wireless" communication of their own by means of smoke signals and fire arrows. The settler's wife, looking out from her lonely cabin on the prairie at the band of roving Indians, learned to note and understand the Indian smoke signals puffing lightly into the clear blue of the prairie sky. These smoke signals were sent up in puffs or rings, so that there was no chance of mistaking them for a campfire. The puffs were made by covering a fire with a blanket for a minute. Then the blanket was lifted quickly, and the smoke ascended. The blanketing process was repeated until a column of rings warned the Indians far and near to "look out" or "be on the watch." Two smoke signals built close together meant "Camp here."

Signaling at night was carried on by means of fire arrows. Their meaning was like that of the smoke signals. The fiery trail left by the arrow in its flight through the darkness was the same signal as one smoke. The others followed, and a flight of several fiery arrows said, "The enemy is too strong for us."

Ronald's father is a well known bacteriologist, and the small son shows that he grasps the meaning of a few familiar terms. For, upon coming to the table one morning, he asked his mother if she thought the cereal had germs in it. "Germs! Ronald, of course not. Do not be silly." "That's just what I mean—bacteria," as his instant rejoinder.
