

FIVE HOURS' TRANCE.

Hours of Agony Described by Supposed Corpse—Marvellous Escape from Being Buried Alive.

A commercial traveller, James Fegan, who was laid out in his shroud for the grave at his lodgings in Dane street, Rochdale, Eng., and was subsequently found to be only in a trance, relates a marvellous story of his adventure with death.

He is now under the kindly care of a devoted sister, regaining his strength by slow degrees at Blackpool.

Words cannot adequately convey Fegan's sensation as he lay in the cements of the tomb, consciously "dead," so to speak, for at least five hours.

"LIKE ETERNITY."

"It was like an eternity," he says, "an eternity of unspeakable mental agony. I knew that I was alive the greater part of the time, and made terrible inward struggles to manifest some outward signs of life. May no human being—not the worst enemy I ever had or ever shall have—pass through such tortures."

"When the undertaker came I thought I should go mad. How awful it seemed that I should be unable so much as to open my eyes or even wink while I could plainly feel the undertaker measuring me. I hoped for something to happen that might so startle me as to produce a sign of life."

"Imagine my despair when I thought the undertaker had done with me, and imagine my joy, coupled with an awful dread, when I felt him lower my head from the pillow and repeat the process of measuring me. I made desperate efforts to raise myself, and once actually succeeded in making a slight movement over my stomach, but no one observed it. My despair was heart-breaking. After all my ineffectual attempts to show a sign of life, was I to succeed unobserved?

"MY RESURRECTION TRUMPET BLAST."

"I pulled myself together for a final effort, as it seemed to me my last chance. Once more I could distinctly feel that I had moved, and this time the undertaker noticed it. I heard him shout, 'He's not dead! He's alive! Bring cold water! Bring brandy! Bring the doctor! Look! look! look! He's moving. Look at his eyes, they're twitching.' Then the undertaker whistled for those downstairs to come up. That whistle was my resurrection trumpet blast. It fairly woke me up. (The undertaker afterwards described how he whistled with his fingers.) And in a few minutes I found my own voice saying, 'I am cold, cold, so cold.' Of course, I must have been as cold as death, otherwise they would not have taken me for dead."

FOSTER ARRAIGNED.

Independent Toronto News Flays the Ex-Prohibition Apostle on His Land Deals.

Toronto News.—Mr. Foster as the Conservative candidate in North Toronto, will urge the electors to condemn at the polls the reckless handling by the government of the public funds he will talk of the decline of the contract system of purchase, of the alienation of public lands to speculators, of the outfit of the steamer Arctic and of the furnishings of the ice-breaker Montcalm. His whole argument will rest on the fact that the government is extravagant with its money, careless of its future obligations and "good" to its friends. Moreover, he will show that all the money pouring into the Ottawa treasury, at the rate of over $1,500,000 a week, comes from the people of this country and is held in trust by the administration, for the public good. And all this will be true.

Yet the men of North Toronto will be urged, as a protest against this extravagance, to elect Mr. George E. Foster, ex-manager of the Union Trust Company. It was Mr. George E. Foster, who was unable to see any conflict of duty in his dual position as manager of this company and partner in a Western land company which used Union Trust money to carry on its speculative and hazardous business. It was Mr. Foster who, believed, or affected to believe, that the mere transfer of money from the Independent Order of Foresters to the Union Trust Company left that money free for speculative investment, that it ceased to be held in trust for the assured in the Independent Order of Foresters. It was Mr. Foster who knew perfectly well the laws of this country concerning the investment of trust funds, and who violated those laws by borrowing money on behalf of a syndicate from the Union Trust Company, of which he was manager, on the security of stock in a speculative land company. Later the present Supreme Chief Ranger insisted on the return of the stock and the substitution of a mortgage.

It was Mr. Foster who, in the face of these undeniable facts, alleged with the most remarkable assurance that the Insurance Inquiry was instituted solely to injure him, and that it probed unduly into his private business. And it is a man of such remarkable obliquity of moral vision and such superb quality of "nerve" who asks for election as a condemnation of the mishandling of trust funds by the Ottawa administration. Mr. Foster would have made a better figure before the public if he had admitted the impropriety of his act like a man instead of waiting about for political prosecution and private business to handle trust funds. It is public business, and the more public it is, the better for the owners of the money.

BRITISH FOR MISSIONS.

Dr McLaren Secures Fifty Men to Work in the West. They Will Come Out This Fall.

Toronto Globe.—Rev. Dr. E. D. McLaren, Presbyterian Home Mission Secretary, who arrived home on Friday from his extended visit to the British Isles in quest of men for the Canadian mission fields, had better success than he hoped for, having secured about fifty men to come out this fall. Most of them he obtained in Scotland, two or three in England, and some ten in the north of Ireland.

The people over in the old land, Dr. McLaren says, are prepared to take an unlimited amount of interest in Canada, "the pet colony just now of the British Empire." The interest of religious people in Canada is naturally great because of the rapidly-increasing emigration to this country. From fifteen hundred to four thousand a week have been sailing hither from Glasgow port alone.

"One of the significant things over there, in my opinion," said Mr. McLaren, "was the movement towards union of the Presbyterian Churches. It originated, strangely, in the Established Church, the desire of the leaders of the Church of Scotland being to heal the old breaches and make the Presbyterian Church of Scotland a united Church. Of course very serious difficulties are in this country, but when you find such men as Dr. Scott of St. George's Parish Church, a recognized leader of the Assembly, Dr. Mitford Mitchell, the present Moderator, Dr. Norman McLeod, the Senior Clerk of the Assembly, Dr. Fisher of Morning-side Parish Church, and the men like them, expressing their sorrow over the division of Presbyterianism and their desire for the reunion of the Church, you cannot help feeling that sooner or later the obstacles that stand in the way will be removed.

"A deep interest is manifested also," added the doctor, "by a great many people in the question of the proposed Church union here in Canada. Of course there is a difference of opinion about it; some think it chimerical, others earnestly hope for it, but all are greatly interested."

SHAKE HANDS WITH ASTHMA.

Awfully distressing is asthma. But worse if possible when combined with Bronchitis. Relieved quicker by Catarrhzone than anything else—cured so thoroughly by "Catarrhzone" that it doesn't return. Catarrhzone's healing vapor is breathed right into the lungs, destroying the cause of Asthma and succeeds in the most chronic cases. Try it. Two sizes, 25c. and $1.00 at all dealers.

I often wonder about those professional loungers on our streets when there is so much needless land for the landless man.

ELECTION NOT SO VERY NEAR.

Mr. R. L. Borden Had Forgotten His Talk With the Herald Man, but Now Remembers.

Montreal Herald: In a statement attributed to Mr. R. L. Borden in to-day's Gazette, it was made to appear that the leader of the opposition had repudiated the substance of a conversation that took place at the Windsor Hotel with a Herald representative, regarding the political situation, and had denied that he had any interview, or had been approached by a newspaper man.

Upon the circumstances being brought directly before Mr. Borden's mind today he very frankly admitted his recollection of the incident, which had escaped his memory.

The conversation took place in the rotunda of the Windsor Hotel before he went up to Ottawa at the end of last week and when it was found that Mr. Borden had returned again this week from the capitol and had made enquiries at the Windsor for a room in which conferences might take place without danger of those participating in them being overheard or interrupted, the significance of what he had previously said became so apparent as to warrant its publication as a matter of political news.

Mr. Borden stated today that he was misunderstood, however, when definiteness was given to a belief on his part that the general election was so near at hand, or that it might take place before the next session of Parliament. Mr. Borden says that he does not believe that there will be a general election before next session—and that he has no reason for doubting that assurances given by the ministers that the elections are still some time off, are correct.

Mr. Borden spent this morning in conference with prominent members of the party.

THE BEST GUARANTEE OF MERIT IS OPEN PUBLICITY.

Every bottle of Dr. Pierce's world-famed medicines leaving the great laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., has printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients entering into its composition. This fact alone places Dr. Pierce's Family Medicines in a class all by themselves. They cannot be classed with patent or secret medicines because they are neither. This is why so many unprejudiced physicians prescribe them and recommend them to their patients. They know what they are composed of, and that the ingredients are those endorsed by the most eminent medical authorities. The further fact that neither Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, the great stomach, tonic, liver, invigorator, heart regulator and blood-purifier, nor his "Favorite Prescription" for weak, over-worked, broken-down, nervous women, contains any alcohol, also entitles them to a place all by themselves.

Many years ago, Dr. Pierce discovered that chemically pure glycerine, of proper strength, is a better solvent and preservative of the medicinal principles residing in our indigenous, or native, medicinal plants than is alcohol; and, furthermore, that it possesses valuable medicinal properties of its own; being demulcent, nutritive, antiseptic, and a most efficient antiferment.

Neither of the above medicines contain alcohol, or any harmful habit-forming drug, as will be seen from a glance at the formula printed on each bottle wrapper. They are safe for use and potent to cure.

BEWARE OF OINTMENTS FOR CATARRH THAT CONTAIN MERCURY.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co. Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by druggists. Price 75 c. per bottle.

Coin Collections.

The United States is said to have the smallest collection of rare coins of any government possessing a coin collection. At the present time the collection contains not more than 20,000 pieces, and the government expends only $300 annually for additions to this collection. The Bibliotheque Nationale of Paris owns 350,000 pieces, the Royal Cabinet of Coins at Berlin contains 270,000 coins, the British museum possesses 250,000, the Numismatic Cabinet of Munich contains 180,000 and the Archaeological museum at Madrid contains 120,000 coins. There are thirteen other government coin collections in Europe, containing from 20,000 to 95,000 coins.
