ONE OF THE SADDEST STORIES

First it was a cold, neglected of course and catarrh developed. Nothing was done and consumption followed. Watch the little cold, keep it from growing by using "Catarrh-ozone." Nothing simpler than inhaling the germ-killing vapor of this grand remedy. Colds and catarrh flee as before fire. Every trace of throat and bronchial trouble yields immediately. Catarrh-ozone is scientific preparation of pure oxygen preventing and curing catarrh and kindred ills. Two sizes, 25c. and $1.00 at all dealers.

Hyker - My hearing is unusually keen.

Pyker - Is that so?
Hyker - Yes. For instance, at the distance I am from you now I can hear your watch ticking.

Pyker - Marvellous! My watch is six blocks away, but I have the ticks for it in my vest pocket.

Hyker - What is the matter, Bum-mer? You look sick.

Bummer - I tried so hard to chop as little wood as I could for my last meal that it sprained me.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS.

Some Interesting Information for Busy Housewives.

CHICKEN CREAM SOUP.

One fowl, four quarts cold water, one cup boiling milk, one onion, two eggs boiled hard. Boil the fowl and onion in the water until there remains but two quarts. Take it out and let it get cold. Cut off the breast and chop very fine; mix with the pounded yolks of the hard boiled eggs and rub through a colander; cool, skim and strain the soup into a soup pot, season, then add the chicken and egg mixture, simmer ten minutes and pour into the tureen, then add the boiling milk.

TOMATO SOUP WITHOUT MILK.

Peel and slice two large onions, put in kettle with about one pint of water, and cook until tender. When almost done add one quart jar of tomatoes and let boil about half an hour. Strain through fine sieve put back on slow fire and add two dessertspoonfuls of flour, blended with one tablespoonful of melted butter. Let come to a boil, then add about a cupful of boiled rice (or more if you like), season to taste.

CHEESE FONDU.

One tablespoonful butter, one cup of fresh milk, saltspoonful mustard, one cup bread crumbs (fine), two cups grated cheese, two eggs. Put butter in chafin dish, when melted add milk, bread crumbs, cheese and mustard; season with little cayenne; stir continually, and just before serving add eggs well beaten; serve on toast.

LITTLE HELPS.

To revive flowers sent by post, plunge the stems into hot water and let them remain until the water is cold; then cut the ends of the stems afresh and put the flowers into fresh cold water.

To remove bad odors from a room, burn a piece of dried orange peel on a hot shovel or old tin. The odor will disappear, leaving a pleasant one in its place.

In buying table linen remember that Irish linen is considered the best. The French loses its gloss, which is its chief beauty, and the Scotch is partially bleached with chlorine, which weakens the fibre. The Irish grass bleached and improves with time.

Match marks on the kitchen wall, which have been caused by carelessly striking matches on them, will disappear if rubbed first with the cut surface of a lemon, then with a clean cloth dipped in whiting. Al-terward wash the surface with warm water and soap, and then quickly wipe a clean cloth wrung out of clear water.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY.

Weak and tired eyes are refreshed by bathing with warm salt and water.

Victims of insomnia often try to get themselves to sleep and fail. They might with advantage, try to persuade themselves that they want to keep awake.

Here is a remedy for earache, never known to fail. Take a bit of cotton batting, put upon it a pinch of black pepper; gather it up and tie it in a sweet oil and insert in the ear. Put a flannel bandage over the head to keep it warm. It will give immediate relief.

From whatever source bleeding arises prompt remedial measures are imperative. If from an artery or from a vein, the best method is to put pressure on each side of the wound (that nearest the heart and that most remote from it), so as to prevent further access of blood to the part. Ordinary bleeding from a cut or bruise may be arrested by the application of cold water.

To scent the hair delicately a specialist advises pouring a little of the oil of jasmine or bergamot in the palm of the hand and pass the hair brush through it. Then brush the hair lightly, but well, until every strand has been reached. This will give it a delightful odor, but one must first be sure that the hair is clean, and do not use any perfume in which alcohol is included, as it will take away the gloss from the hair.

When the edges of the eyelids are red the following will be found of use: Two drams of glycerine of borax are beaten with the white of one egg; one wineglass of cold water is added and the mixture is again beaten. This is applied to the lid edges nightly. When all soreness has passed away—which will soon be the case, for the preparation is healing—the lids may be touched nightly with white of egg beaten up with three times its quantity of cold water. It must be freshly made each night. This preparation is very astringent and should be applied as a film only and by means of the finger tips. If some accidental over-use causes an unpleasant tightness this will disappear on bathing the part with water.

DO NOT CROWD THE SEASON.

The first warm days of spring bring with them a desire to get out and enjoy the exhilarating air and sunshine. Children that have been housed up all winter are brought out and you wonder where they all came from. The heavy winter clothing is thrown aside and many shed their fannels. Then a cold wave comes and people say that grip is epidemic. Colds at this season are even more dangerous than in mid-winter, for there is much more danger of pneumonia. Take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, however, and you will have nothing to fear. It always cures, and we have never known a cold to result in pneumonia when it was used. It is pleasant and safe to take. Children like it. For sale by all druggists.

Ronald's father is a well known bacteriologist, and the small son shows that he grasps the meaning of a few familiar terms, for, upon coming to the school one morning, he asked his mother if she thought the cereal had germs in it.

"Germs! Ronald, of course not. Do not be silly."

"That's just what I mean—bacteria," as his instant rejoinder.

BE A STRONG MAN.

Increase your vitality and nerve energy, restore vim and force to your overworked body. Ferrozone will do this as it did for Walter Wood of Beaumont, N. B., who writes: "I can say Ferrozone has given me a new lease of life. A year ago I suffered so from nervous exhaustion I was scarcely able to drag myself around. My appetite was gone—I had no color or ambition and felt used up. One box of Ferrozone started me back to health. I took a number of boxes and my health was completely restored." For men who are tired, pale, nervous and thin-blooded nothing compares with Ferrozone, 50c. per box at all dealers.

Medicine Man—What is the matter with your Majesty?
Cannibal King—Oh, I've an awful indigestion.

Medicine man—What have you been eating?
Cannibal King—I've just polished off an American millionaire.

Medicine Man—Good heavens. No wonder you're ill. I've told you all along to beware of anything too rich.

60 Specialists on the Case.—In the ordinary run of medical practice a greater number than this have treated cases of chronic dyspepsia and have failed to cure—but Dr. Von Stan's Pineapple Tablets (60 in a box at 25 cents cost) have made the cure, giving relief in one day. These little "specialists" have proven their real merit. Sold at Central Pharmacy, A. J. Ryan.—72.

A visitor from another city, here on a tour of inspection of the public schools, came to a West Philadelphia School the other day when the pupils were writing original sentences on the black board, and found an opportunity to air his pet hobby of avoiding superfluity in the use of words. One boy had written:

"The man suddenly fell down."

"What is the need of the word 'down' in that sentence," asked the visitor. "How else could the man fall?"

"Over!" promptly replied the little boy who had written the sentence.

"Backwards," suggested another. "Against a wall," volunteered a third.

"Upstairs!" said still another. The visitor promptly gave up criticism and was silent during the remainder of his stay.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY IS BOTH AGREEABLE AND EFFECTIVE.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has no superior for coughs, colds and croup, and the fact that it is pleasant to take and contains nothing in any way injurious has made it a favorite with mothers. Mr. W. S. Polham, a merchant of Kirkville, Iowa, says: "For more than twenty years Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been my leading remedy for all throat troubles. It is especially successful in cases of croup. Children like it and customers who have used it will not take any other." For sale by all druggists.

Gunner—I tried to tease my wife about women getting off the street car backwards. She said it was etiquette.

Gunner—Yes, she said they considered it impolite to turn their backs on the conductor.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING.

Neatly describes the celerity of Putnam's Corn Cure Extractor. Roots come out in short order. Causes no pain, leaves no scar, and gives perfect satisfaction. Remember there is only one "best"—that's Putnam's—fifty years in use.

Judge (to lawyer)—Mr. Sharp, are you defending this prisoner?
Lawyer—I am, your honor.

Judge—And how much is he charged with stealing?
Lawyer—Fifty dollars, your honor.

Judge—Well, we'll let him go; he'll be punished enough anyhow.

Lawyer—What do you mean, your honor?
Judge—Why, by the time you get that fifty, and then he work out the other hundred you'll charge him; he'll be sorry enough he ever was dishonest.

A REIGN OF TERROR.

The Kind of Life They Lead in Baku, In Southern Russia.

Henry M. Nevins, a British newspaper correspondent, writes as follows of present day events in Baku, southern Russia: "You parasite! When you open a letter at breakfast and find that written at the top instead of 'Dear sir' or 'My darling love' your attention is immediately drawn to the contents. But here in Baku, if you happen to be the hardworking manager of a rich field with lots of wells yielding some 200,000 pounds of oil apiece every twenty-four hours, you will not be so much surprised. You will know at once what is coming, and your first thought will be a visit to your banker's. 'Our agents,' the letter goes on, 'will call on you tomorrow afternoon at 5 o'clock and you will give them the sum of $750. Should you refuse you will be killed tomorrow or next day. Should you betray our agents or give the smallest hint to the police the whole of your family will share your fate. Signed and sealed on behalf of the committee.' The seal is a rubber stamp in red, sometimes bearing the words, 'Social Democratic Federation,' sometimes 'Anarchist Commune.' The sum demanded varies considerably. I think it is seldom over $1,000, for one must be reasonable in these matters, and usually it is less. I have known a popular and capable English manager to get off with $25, which is a ludicrous exchange for life. But when the agents ring at the door and ask the servant if you are at home and disengaged, the only thing to do is to pay.

"For there is no pretense about the threats. Refusal or betrayal means death without pause, probably within the day. It has been proved over and over again. It was proved last week in the case of a well known and powerful manager who was murdered with revolvers. It was proved the day before yesterday when a Russian manager was dismembered with knives and lived a horrible time. Anyhow, if you think it worth while to live a little longer here below, you must pay and try to reclaim from the company. Whether the company will ever get anything by reclaiming from the Russian government heaven knows. The government is too busy with the troublesome and expensive task of shooting its political opponents or sending them to Siberia to undertake the protection of commonplace citizens who have no perilous notions about freedom.

"Most conspicuous men employ armed retainers to protect them or avenge their death. Some publish from time to time in the local papers a list of the men who will be at once assassinated if anything happens to themselves. This is thought very efficacious and certainly helps to preserve the peace. I know one manager who boasts he has 200 men in his pay, each pledged to kill some one if the manager is harmed. Pride may have exaggerated the number, but there is no doubt about the system."

A Cigar Store Secret.

Every tobaccoist has on his counter a machine for cutting off the ends of cigars. These machines are popular for the reason that they pay for themselves many times over every year.

The ends that smokers cut off are carefully gathered from the counter, and it takes but a few hundred of them to make a pound of good tobacco. This can be sold for 40 or 50 cents.

Some cigar store clerks are very solicitous to see that the patron does not overlook the cutting machine. They push it toward him, and he is much impressed with their politeness. These clerks have for a perquisite the machine's cuttings. This adds several dollars weekly to their salaries.—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Australia's Wealth in Sheep.

The greatest industry of Australia is sheep raising, mainly for the sake of the wool, but also in part of course for the meat. Australia now ranks second among the great sheep raising countries, Argentina being first with 92,000,000 sheep, Australia second with 72,000,000 and Russia third with 70,000,000. But a few years ago Australia was first, possessing no less than 100,200,000 head of sheep. That was in 1891. Prolonged droughts were the cause of the destruction of many millions of Australian sheep, but since 1902 there has been an annual gain. Yet these sheep were not indigenous to Australia. They were first introduced in 1787, being of the Spanish merino species.

Platinum Vanishing.

A prominent French writer deplores the vanishing stock of the world's platinum, says the London Globe. All the known deposits are becoming exhausted, and the price is going up to a prohibitive extent. In 1870 the metal could be bought for $100 the kilogram. Four years later it had doubled, in 1901 it had quadrupled, and today the price is $1,200 per kilogram, or twice the price of gold. Even that is for crude platinum. This worked metal is twice as dear again. Considering how many industries are now absolutely dependent on platinum, the question of replacing it by some really efficient alloy or combination is acquiring vital importance.

Aged Golf Players.

One of the great advantages of golf is its suitability as a recreation for the middle aged and the old. A "four-some" was played lately on an English golf course in which the aggregate age of the four players was 231 years. The competitors on one side were eighty-six and eighty years old and on the other side eighty-four and eighty-one. The putting green makes a green old age.
