Stay on the Farm.

They tell me that you are thinking of leaving the farm this spring. Don't do it; keep close to the soil. You are tired of feeding the cattle, the sheep and the pigs, tired of chopping the wood, tired of cleaning the stable out, tired of the store on the corner—tired of it all. You have visited the city, and its roar fascinates you. Everyone seemed well dressed and happy, and the laughter and conversation of the passers-by were music to your ear. Stay with the farm, for it is a healthy spot to live on, where you get a complexion from nature's brush and an arm made strong in God's gymnasium, where you need no medicine to make you eat. Stay with the farm, where life is natural and friendship more real, where you can wear what you want when you want, and there is none who will criticize. Stay with the farm, with its spirit of trust and friendliness, from the collie who follows you up and down the line to the swallow who builds in the barn.—Charles F. Raymond in the Record.

MR. GEORGE Y. DIBBLEE, DRUGGIST OF OUR CITY, INTERESTED.

The Public Marvel, and Doctors Everywhere Pleased.

Probably no branch of science has made such wonderful strides as has been made in the practice of medicine. Diseases that a number of years ago were considered fatal, are now known to be curable. Even consumption is no longer looked upon with the dread that it formerly inspired.

Every one is familiar with methods that have been employed by physicians for ages, in cases that they were afraid would develop into a decline. In all troubles of the throat, lungs, bronchial tubes and other similar ailments that were known to end disastrously, about the first thing the doctor would do would be to recommend cod liver oil, for cod liver oil has been recognized for a great many years as possessing peculiar medicinal properties, particularly adapted for the cure of such troubles.

Every one knows the objection, however, to the use of this nauseating remedy. So extremely disagreeable is the taste and smell of cod liver oil that many people have actually been unable to take a single dose of it. Many others have made heroic efforts to take the medicine, but have been obliged to abandon it after struggling with the horrible stuff for a few days.

The consequence is that thousands have drifted into incurable diseases who might have been saved, had it been possible to administer this potent medicine. Enough people have been able to assimilate cod liver oil to prove to the medical profession and the world at large, its intrinsic value. Such patients as were blessed with unusually strong stomachs derived benefit from cod liver oil. Why, then, could not a form of it be devised, to be administered to patients whose digestive organs had been weakened by disease.

This is exactly what scientists and chemists have been aiming at for years, and this is exactly what has been accomplished by two prominent French chemists. Their secret has been brought to America, and our well known drugist, Mr. George Y. Dibblee, has succeeded in connecting himself with the prominent firm of Boston Chemists, who are placing this new preparation on the market. The preparation in question, now made of cod liver oil, is a simple, but a peculiar process the liver of the cod liver oil is treated in such a manner that there is obtained an extract which contains all, and only all, of the curative properties that have made cod liver oil famous. Not a drop of the oil and grease of the cod's liver enters into the composition of this new and modernized remedy.

This curative extract is the basis of Vinol which Mr. Dibblee is presenting to the public. It is placed in a delicious table wine, and in itself being tasteless, the consumer is unable to distinguish the fact that he is taking anything more than a pleasant port wine.

Mr. Dibblee has indeed been fortunate in making arrangements to handle this new remedy, which goes under the name of Vinol, the cod liver preparation without oil. It is worth any one's while to talk to him about it and to learn directly from him the good that is being done by finding a way to administer what has always been a horrible and much dreaded medicine, in a form that is actually pleasant, to say nothing of being a hundred times more efficient.

TO DUTY AND DEATH.

Another Name Added to the Roll of Canada's Noble Women.

Montreal has many stately monuments, but there is need for another in one of the most conspicuous places in the city. No braver deed is to be found in Canadian annals than that of Sarah Maxwell, the schoolmistress of Hochelaga, who on Tuesday gave her life for her pupils. The story is heroic in its simplicity says The Globe.

In those few terrible minutes one woman was at work, untiring, unflinching. One after another she carried the little ones out to the windows and to safety, groping her way back each time to rescue those behind. There was not time to carry them down the narrow stairway. It was impossible with smoke and flames. Burned, blinded and bruised, she still battled with the smoke and flame until after handing out one little girl, the agony she suffered forced her to cry out, "Oh, I am burning."

But even then she did not hesitate for a moment. Back she went into the blistering heat and the roaring smoke, where, groping in search of others, whom she could not see, but whom she knew had not been saved, Fireman Bennett found her as he climbed the ladder and broke in one of the windows of the second story, himself almost blinded by the smoke and badly scorched by the terrible heat. He cried to her to come out and save herself while there was yet time, but she stayed on.

To the post, the statesman and the soldier Canada has raised not a few fine monuments of bronze. These men are worthy of remembrance, but not more worthy, not nearly "so worthy most of them" of having their names graven on imperishable tablets as this girl, who with the agonized cry, "I'm burning," went back to duty and death.

A CORNER BENCH.

Attractive Seat, Easily Made at Home at Little Cost.

A very pretty corner seat is shown in the illustration. This was made by a young bride of limited means. The wooden seat she painted white to match the rest of the woodwork in the room. She then fastened green denim behind the seat and finished it off at the top by nailing up a piece of white picture molding. She made the cushion of cheap hair and covered it with green denim. On the picture molding she arranged little cups and saucers, which give a pretty little touch of color. She made a few cushions for the seat from remnants she picked up in the stores for a few cents. So she is now the proud possessor of a delightful corner seat which, owing to her capability, cost almost nothing.—Philadelphia North American.

SEX AND CRIME.

Drunkness Theory to Be Viewed With Caution.

Some striking facts are given in the "Judicial Statistics" just issued in a Blue Book.

The returns as to indictable offenses for the year under review show a distinct increase over the figures for 1904, over the latest quinquennial average, and over the previous ratio of such offences in proportion to the population. But taking the figures relating to all classes of crime since 1867, a gradual decrease is noticeable.

Sir John Macdonell points out that the men sentenced to death for murder since 1885 are about seven times as numerous as females. This fact is the more remarkable because the figures affecting women include cases of child murder.

The great majority of persons murdered are women. They are as three to two. Murder means to a very great extent the murdering of women by men. On the other hand the men who are killed by manslaughter exceed women by about two to one. The great majority of murders are committed by persons from 21 to 40 years old.

Most of the men and women convicted of murder belong to the laboring classes, murder by tramps or vagrants being rare.

The majority of murders appear to be committed in densely populated urban districts, seaports, manufacturing towns, and mining districts, on Thursdays and Saturdays, between 10 and midnight.

The principal causes or motives of murders during the last 20 years are as follows:—

Jealousy and intrigues, 92; Drink, 90; quarrels or rage, 88; revenge, 77; robbery, 50; extreme poverty, 33; illegal operations, 12; for insurance money, 3.

"Drunkness," says Sir John Macdonell, "is no doubt the cause of many crimes, and is the accompaniment of many others. But the theory of the close correspondence between crime and drunkenness must be viewed with caution."

RESIGN FROM THE WORRY

Life is a rush, but we can't get all there together. In consequence, we worry—Can't help it because nerves are weak, vitality is burnt up and there's no staying power left. Cut out the worry part, and build up. Let Ferrozone help you. It's a most strengthening nutritive tonic. The merino sheep has the peculiarity of living to a greater age than other breeds of sheep.

The House Fly.

The common house fly is often literally devoured by parasites, and it has been proved that these parasites are also infested with minute creatures that threaten their destruction.

Minute Writing.

Thackeray considered calligraphy one of the fine arts, and sometimes, to puzzle his correspondents, he would write in so small a hand that the note could not be read without the aid of a magnifying glass.

HASH POISONS 900 VETERANS.

In the Soldiers' Home at Leavenworth, Kansas—One Man is Dead.

Leavenworth, Kas., March 26.—Nine hundred of the veterans in the National Soldiers' Home, poisoned by hash, are in the hospital. While one death has already resulted, there are several hundred men in a critical condition. The government physicians and nurses at the home have worked to the utmost since noon Saturday without ceasing, and probably succeeded in saving a score of men who were in a dying condition when found. The infection worked slowly, nearly four hours elapsing between the eating of the meat at breakfast and the development of the symptoms. Then the men began to drop by scores. Ambulances and stretchers were in demand, and many old men lay for hours without the possibility of attention.

The dead man is, William J. Cook, aged sixty-four, a member of the Fourth Missouri Cavalry. He leaves a widow at Cayah, Mo.

A QUESTION OFTEN ASKED.

Why so many people feel worse after taking pills than before? Trouble is that drastic pills are used. No remedial action is obtained, the bowels are irritated and dreadful constipation follows. In using Dr. Hamilton's Pills you are scarcely conscious of having taken medicine. Although very mild, Dr. Hamilton's Pills do regulate the bowels, stimulate normal action of the glands, and create neither nausea, gripping or violent action. Positively guaranteed for biliousness, indigestion, stomach and kidney ills. For a safe family pill rely on Dr. Hamilton's 25c. per box at all dealers.

NO LONGER A FRINGE

CANADIANS PROUD OF THEIR HERITAGE AND INSTITUTIONS.

Mr. Charles Marcell Talks to New York Newspaper Men — Says There Can Never Be Political Union With the United States—Canada Is In Every Sense a Nation—Is Loyal to the Motherland.

Speaking recently at the annual banquet of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association in New York, Mr. Charles Marcell, Deputy Speaker of the Canadian House of Commons, after referring to the kindly feelings now existing between the people of the United States and those of Canada, and the peace which reigned between them for now almost a century, said:

A Great Celebration.

"I may state that we are organizing a gigantic celebration to be held in the historic city of Quebec on the occasion of the ter-centenary of its foundation, in which it is contemplated that Great Britain, the United States and France will participate, and it will be represented by detachments of their navies and armies, in a grand gathering on the Plains of Abraham, on which, in the past, scenes so momentous in the history of the continent have been enacted.

An Altar of Peace.

"This will be another offering on the Altar of Peace. With peace assured through the interest and common-sense of the countries concerned, there may be relations between us of the most intimate kind. Let me say at once that we in Canada do not believe that there ever will be political union with the United States. We came to that conclusion when the British flag replaced the flag of France upon the citadel of Quebec.

Are One People.

"Canadians to-day—French, Anglo-Saxon, Celtic—regardless of their origin or their creed, are one people, faithful in the allegiance to their motherland, but loyal, first and above all, to their native country.

"Proud of their heritage, their free institutions and the stock from which they sprang, they are doing to-day for the northern part of the American continent what the people of the United States have done for their own country. They are building up a nation to share this continent with their cousins of this great republic. Canada is, indeed, to-day, in every sense of the word, a nation.

Boundaries.

"Canada is no longer a fringe of territory on the border of the United States. We are going towards the north, in the climate where strong races live and prosper. We are building a new nation in the western hemisphere, prosperous, God-fearing, self-reliant, progressive.

"Canada extends to you the hand of fellowship in the great work of making of America, the whole of America, what God intended it should be, a land of liberty, freedom and civilization.

Foster Friendliness.

"Let us all, brethren alike in our common ideals and common aspirations, resolve, each in his own sphere, to do all that in him lies to foster friendly feelings, come what may, with the mother country, the greatest empire in the world's history, and the common mother of our North American nations. Let there be peace between the United States and the British Empire and Canada, her eldest daughter, and the peace of the western world, at least, is for all time assured, and a tremendous influence will be exercised for the good of the world at large."
