MARINE DISASTER

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 7.—(Special)—The barquentine, Fanny Breslau, owned by C. Robin Collas & Co., of this city, was abandoned Jan. 2, off St. Ann's, English coast. A cable reports the captain lost and part of the crew saved. The Breslau sailed from Santos, Brazil, Sept. 27th for Halifax, in ballast.

HOCKEY NOTES.

The first game in the local league series will be played at the Arctic rink this evening between the Victorians and St. Dunstons.

The Marysville Crescents are getting in some great work at practice these days, and promise to deal out a pretty stiff grade of hockey when they go up against the Fredericton Capitals at the Arctic rink on Thursday evening. The Capitals are also pretty well tuned up for the game, and it promises to be one of the swiftest ever seen here. For the accommodation of Marysville people, Mr. John Hatt will run a bus to Fredericton on Thursday evening.

COUNCIL IN COMMITTEE.

The city council met in committee last evening, and in addition to passing the monthly accounts, disposed of several other matters. The tract for city printing was awarded to Major Cropley, and the Herald was awarded the contract for advertising, its tender being slightly lower than one submitted by the Gleaner. On account of the absence of Ald. Scott, chairman of the sewerage committee, action in regard to the claim of Hyde and Webster was deferred until the regular meeting this evening.

OFFICERS INSTALLED

Oddfellows' New Staff for Current
Year—Pleasant time at Parsons' Cafe

Last evening was Oddfellows' night in the city, and among the members of the fraternity were a number of the three-liners from Marysville. The new officers of Victoria Lodge were installed in their lodge room by A. D. Macpherson, acting for Ald. Hooper, who is the Grand Master's representative in this district. All the other acting grand officers came from Marysville, and included Geo. A. Tapley, Elbridge Staples, Free Gilbert, S. J. Hallett, Hayward Brown, Major Gray, W. E. Minnie and Wallace Brown.

The chief officer of Victoria Lodge is Duncan McDermaid, a long-time Oddfellow and very popular among his brethren. The second officer is Percy Simpson, who is expected to prove a valuable aid to his chief. These officers were duly installed together with the following:

Stanley Ebbett, P. G. R. S.
W. S. Hooper, P. G., F. S.
H. B. Clarke, P. G., T.
D. Carruthers, Chap.
Alex. Sinnott, P. G., War.
Ed. Langille, Cor.
Ernest Grant, P. G., R. S. N. G.
Robert Green, L. S. N. G.
Isaac Kilburn, R. S. V. G.
C. A. Hall, L. S. V. G.
Jesse Green, N. S. S.
Charles McCutcheon, L. S. S.
Stephen Dunn, I. G.
W. Peterson, O. G.
John Hood, P. G., Deg. Mas.
Jos. Desaulniers, J. P. G.

A jolly time was spent in the lodge room until after 11 o'clock, when at the invitation of the Noble and Vice Grand, about fifty of the members attended a banquet in the commodious room in Parsons' restaurant. Noble Grand McDermaid occupied the head of the table, and Vice Grand Simpson the other extreme. D. D. Macpherson and other Grand officers, with Past Grand Master Sampson, occupied prominent positions around the festive board. After Grace was said by the Past Grand Master, the oysters, coffee, cake and fruit was heartily partaken of and Mr. Parsons, the proprietor of the establishment received lots of praise for his catering. Speech followed speech until after midnight, and many expressions of appreciation went out to the Marysville contingent. Congratulations were profuse to the new officers of Victoria Lodge and led by the Marysville quartette the National anthem closed a delightful function. Free Gilbert safely guided the visitors to the busy town where work was prosecuted as usual today.

Origin of Two Familiar Proverbs.

It was the habit of the great Greek painter Apelles never to let a day pass, however busy he chanced to be, without practicing his hand by tracing the outline of some object, a custom which has now passed into a proverb—"No day without a line." He also made it a rule, when he had finished a canvas, to exhibit it to the view of those who visited his studio, while he himself, hidden behind the picture, would listen to their comments. It is said that once a shoemaker censured him for having painted a pair of shoes with one latchet too few. Next day the shoemaker, revisiting the studio, saw that the painter had corrected the mistake. He then began to criticise the leg of the portrait, upon which Apelles came forward and reminded him that a shoemaker should not go beyond the shoes, a piece of advice which has also crystallized into a proverb, "Let the cobbler stick to his last."—Pliny the Elder.

At Sea in a Coffin.

It was the French assassin Lupi who escaped to sea from Cayenne in a coffin. He managed to get some nails, tar and cotton, and one dark night he got into the coffin shed. He selected a fine, stanch and seaworthy coffin and fastened the lid in order to turn it into a deck, leaving a cockpit sufficient to enable him to crawl in. He calked all the joints as well as he could, and when this work was finished he made a pair of paddles out of two planks. Then he brought out his craft with great precaution. Without much difficulty he reached the water's edge. Silently and slowly he proceeded in the hope of reaching either Venezuela or British Guiana, 150 nautical miles distant. Fortunately or unfortunately for Lupi, the steamer Abeille, returning from the Antilles, off Paramaribo picked him up, half drowned and almost in a fainting condition, and a few hours later he was in irons in his cell.
