Health of Canadian Women

A Subject Much Discussed At Women's Clubs—The Future of a Country Depends on the Health of Its Women.

Miss Helena McKinnon Mrs. Anna McKay

At the New York State Assembly of Mothers a prominent New York doctor told the 500 women present that healthy women were so rare as to be almost extinct.

This seems to be a sweeping statement of the condition of women. Yet how many do you know who are perfectly well and do not have some trouble arising from a derangement of the female organism which manifests itself in headaches, backaches, nervousness, that bearing-down feeling, painful or irregular periods, pelvic catarrh, displacement of the female organs, indigestion or sleeplessness? There is a tried and true remedy for all these ailments. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has restored more Canadian women to health than all other remedies in the world. It regulates, strengthens and cures diseases of the female organism as nothing else can. For thirty years it has been curing the worst forms of female complaints.

Such testimony as the following should be convincing.

Mrs. Anna McKay of 326 Spadina Avenue, Toronto, Ont., writes:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"Being a mother of five children, I had had experience with the general troubles of my sex. I was lacerated when one of my children was born, and from that hour I date all of my afflictions. I found that within a few months my health was impaired. I had female weakness and serious inflammation. I became weak and dizzy, but kept on my feet, dragging through my work without life or pleasure. A neighbor who had been helped by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound insisted that I take at least one bottle. I did so and felt so much better that I kept on the treatment and it made me a strong and well woman. The few dollars I spent for the medicine cannot begin to pay what it was worth to me."

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Succeeds where Others Fail.

CURED BY THE KNIFE.

London Daily Mail: Opening the closed lung cavities of the consumptive is the keynote of the new surgical treatment for pulmonary tuberculosis. A well-known London surgeon, who has had great success with the new treatment, has explained to an Over-Seas "Daily Mail" representative the method used in operating in an advanced case recently.

"No local treatment," he said, "can reach a closed cavity in the lung, since all inhaled vapours, etc., are drawn into the healthy portions of the lung, where they are not needed. By opening the cavities through the chest wall they can not only be drained, but local applications can readily be made. Hitherto it has not been considered feasible to cut into the lung on account of the tremendous bleeding that follows. With my method of cauterising the lung no appreciable bleeding takes place."

The new cauterising instrument used in these operations is most simple. Boiling water, the testing power, is poured into a funnel held by the nurse, and runs along a rubber tube to a loop made of flexible leaden pipe, the handle of which the surgeon holds. When a cut is made through lung tissue, the leaden loop which can be bent into any shape, and is raised to the exact temperature necessary to cause the shrivelling up of the blood-vessels without destroying too much tissue. It is made to follow along the course of the knife.

In the case in which the operation was performed last week, two incisions were made, one at the base of the shoulder blade, and the other in the arm-pit. Portions of the ribs were removed, and the cavities were opened. All bleeding was easily stopped by the new cautery, and the cavities were thoroughly drained.

POVERTY DARKENED OUIDA'S LAST DAY

Well Known French Novelist Died After Long Illness

FLORENCE, Jan. 27.—Louise de la

Rame, better known by her pen name of "Ouida," died at Viareggio, after an illness extending over a long period. She died in distressing poverty her only attendant being an older woman, in whose arms she expired. She was completely blind of one eye and the other eye was badly affected through her having suffered from exposure and privation. In July last there was general surprise and curiosity when it was announced that Miss Louise de la Rame, novelist, had been granted a pension of $750 from the British civil list, it being known that she was formerly wealthy and she having made a fortune from her writings. It was even a greater surprise to learn that the venerable author was in such poverty that some times she was compelled to go with out food.

A Florence correspondent tells of her recent life. He says that until 2 years ago Miss de la Rame occupied a splendid three story villa at Lucca. She was known as "The Lady of the Dogs," as she invariably had thirty and was always seen with a number of them around her. Her intense fondness for dogs, with certain megalomania, caused her on one occasion to give a meal of milk, bread and meat to every dog at Lucca. She paid the bill for this extraordinary banquet willingly, although heavy debts were crowding upon her value of money. It is stated on several occasions that about this time she went without food for a whole day, remarking it was sufficient her dogs

Some dispute with her landlord about some furniture led to three law-suits, which Ouida won, but the costs further crippled her purse and her landlord turned her out. After staying alone at one or two places, she went to a first class hotel in Florence. Again thoughtless expenditures exhausted her resources and her plight was such that in September, 1906 she passed a night under the trees on the sea front. The remaining few of her large family of beloved dogs were at her side. When her maid's mother found her at 5 o'clock in the morning on the beach she took her to her humble cottage at Monti, and kept her there several months. But that homeless night on the cold beach caused Ouida to totally lose the sight of her left eye and also brought about deafness, from which she never recovered.

After she went to one or two places, she went to a first class hotel at Viareggio, where she stayed until July 6, when, being again in financial straits, she went with her ex-maid's mother to the village of Masarosa, five miles distant, where she lived in a milkman's squalid cottage. She rarely went out doors and had few visitors. Her health was broken down.

SOUTH HURON REDEEMED

Liberals take great Comfort out of great Victory in that Riding

Toronto Globe: A Conservative

majority of 111 was last Thursday in South Huron changed into a Liberal majority of 144. Mr. J. Y. McLean, editor of The Huron Expositor, was the Liberal candidate, and he is to be congratulated not only on carrying the constituency, but also on reversing the vote so completely in his own town. Parliament will gain a member more than commonly well-versed in public affairs, with a keen insight to public opinion in this province, and familiar with the wants and views of the people of his own particular locality.

The result in South Huron is important from two points of view. It is another intimation to the Ottawa opposition that the country takes no stock in mud-throwing, where the mud is so obviously manufactured in the opposition puddle. Before a fair-minded constituency can be induced to convict an administration of wrong-doing something that may reasonably be regarded as proof must be offered. The Liberals of Huron, like the Liberals of every other part of the Dominion, remember that in the days of Conservative administration specific charges were made and proved before hostile committees, so that those against whom their accusations were levelled were driven out of parliament. What is the situation now? There is not one of the alleged "scandals" of which we hear but which could be riddled before any impartial audience in Ontario. They cannot be honestly maintained by those who make them, because in order to give them the least semblance of seriousness, it is necessary to suppress important facts. There is no constituency in Ontario at least that can be stamped by shouting "graff" or "deal." That being the case, the little group of scandal-mongers should cease fouling their own nest.

The other application of Thursday's election is to the political situation in the province. In the election of 1904 it was a matter of sincere regret among Liberals that such Liberal constituencies as North Bruce and the three Hurons should be lost to the Liberal party. Since the general election Mr. John Tolmie recaptured North Bruce, and now South Huron has by Mr. McLean's victory been put in the column to which it belongs. When the proper time arrives they will, it may be said without arrogance, be all restored to the cause of good and progressive government.

Hon. Mr. Graham, who has been in charge of the Liberal forces in Ontario since his own unopposed election in Brockville, is to be congratulated on this second notable victory achieved within the past few weeks. They have been campaigns of intelligence, in which the main issue has been the government's record, its program for the future, and its worth, patriotism and public spirit of its great leader.

Ulcers in the Flesh

Mean Bad Blood

As a result of debility, sickness or improper diet, the blood often becomes weak and unable to free itself of poisons.

Morbid, unhealthy matter accumulates and breaks out in sores that discharge and will not heal.

Washes, salves and ointments are useless because they have no action on the poisoned blood.

But Dr. Hamilton's Pill cleanse and enrich the diseased blood, drive out impurities and fill it with nutrient and strong building material.

Ulcers, boils and sores heal up. Likewise all weakness due to impoverished blood is cured by these famous pills and anaemia, erysipelas and rheumatism go before it as chaff before fire.

The skin grows smooth, complexion clears, health, vigor and strength are evident on all sides.

A blood remedy for blood diseases, the formula of a famous physician—no improvement can be made on Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Their use, extends to the people of many nations and thousands have proved that they do cure when all else fails.

No matter what your ailment may be, if it has its origin in the blood it is curable with Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Sold everywhere, 25c per box, or five for $1.00, and be sure to refuse a substitute.

DEATH OF T. F. WALLACE.

WOODBRIDGE, Ont., January 25.—West York last a valued and highly respected citizen in the death here yesterday of Thomas Frazier Wallace. For the past five weeks Mr. Wallace had been seriously ill. Dr. Charlton, of Weston, the attending physician, after consulting Dr. W. P. Caven, of Toronto, decided that an operation was necessary. When this had been performed yesterday by Dr. Bruce, with Drs. Caven, Charlton and Johnson assisting, it was found that Mr. Wallace was the victim of cancer of the bowels in an advanced stage, and that he could not recover. He died in the afternoon.

Mr. Wallace was born in Woodbridge January 28th, 1843, and was, therefore in his 65th year. His whole life has been spent here, and it was an active one in local affairs. From 1884 to 1901 he was Reeve and he also served as chairman of the school board. The Woodbridge annual fair has been built up largely by his efforts in his capacity of secretary of the society for the past twenty years. Last week he was re-elected secretary treasurer and director of the society.

In 1902 he contested West York unsuccessfully, following the death of his brother, Hon. N. Clarke Wallace. At that time he withdrew from the mercantile business and succeeded his late brother as head of the mills managed by him.

A widow and two daughters, the Misses Bessie and Mary Wallace, and a sister survive.

Mr. Wallace was a warden of Christ church and the funeral will take place to the cemetery of that church on Monday afternoon.

STEEL KNIFE IN THE FLESH.

That's the sensation experienced by Robert Price of Hecton, Ont. He knew it was sciatica and of course used "Nerviline." As usual it cured and he says: "No liniment can excel Polson's Nerviline. Severe pains made my side lame. It was like a steel knife running through the flesh. I rubbed in lots of Nerviline and completely cured." A regular snap for Nerviline to ease Sciatica and rheumatism. It sinks into the core of the pain, cures it in short order. Large 25c. bottles at all dealers.
