HIS BODY AND BONES FOR MANUFACTURE.

Utilitarian Believes He Has Solved Problem of How to be Useful Though Dead.

NEW YORK, January 17.—"I Henry E. Sullivan, being of sound and disposing mind, do hereby made, publish, and declare this as my last will and testament '* * *

"I do hereby direct the executors of this, my last will to have made out of my bones, circular buttons, of the dimensions of from one-half inch to one inch in diameter.

"I do further direct my said executors to have the skin of my body tanned and made into pouches.

"I do hereby further direct my said executors to have made of such parts of my body as may be suitable, violin strings, such are usually designated 'cat-gut' strings.

"And I do hereby further direct my said executors to have said violin strings adjusted to the body of a violin.

"I hereby give, devise and bequeath unto my beloved friend and club-mate James Hayes, all and singular, the buttons, violin strings and tanned skin made out of my body, as aforesaid, the same to be by him distributed according to his discretion to my intimate friends."

MEANS IT SERIOUSLY, TOO.

So reads the will of Henry E. Sullivan, a prominent member of the Nameoki Club, at No. 233 West One Hundredth street, made in all seriousness, this queerest of queer wills reflects the utilitarianism that has been a factor in every act of the man's life.

When seen at the clubhouse last night Mr. Sullivan answered that the terms of his will were nobody's business, except his own. Finally he consented to give the reason for making such a testament.

"In the first place," he said, "you must understand that it has always seemed to me as if I had been born a utilitarian. As a boy, I liked such subjects at school as arithmetic, reading and writing, but detested music and aesthetics. To-day I believe that in the present educational system there is too much teaching of the love for the beautiful and too little of the 'Three Rs.' Little wonder that present day school graduates are of little use when they enter a business house. They can't even spell properly. They can sing a three part song.

"I have been a close student of ethics and belong to that section of Bentham's school that maintains it to be a cardinal doctrine of utilitarianism that a man always gains his own greatest happiness by promoting that of others.

WOULDN'T WASTE GOOD MATERIAL.

"Every task we undertake, every thought should have for its object some useful purpose. Every stick of wood, every piece of sod can be utilized. Did each one but train his eyes to see the use to which each object in this world can be put how much happier the world would be.

"Edison is today the greatest utilitarian of them all. I made the will, such as it is, because I saw no reason why there should be such wastefulness, why so much raw material should be allowed to go for naught.

"Granted that such a disposition of their bodies would horrify most people when alive, if they had known that such a disposition was to later take place. Granted that there is a sort of intuitive feeling, born of years and centuries of like thought in father and forefather, that burial is the proper method.

"Why in this age should we cling to such foolish, unhygienic wasteful notions? The body, after the soul has fled, is just so much material to be moulded by man for his own use, as is everything else on this sphere.

"My will is perfectly feasible. My lawyer tells me that it cannot be contested on the ground of insanity. I realize that it is extraordinary; but I so will it as being consistent with my belief and every other act of my life."

John Boyst and William Dolen, friends of Sullivan, when asked at the club yesterday, answered that in all matters Sullivan is perfectly sane, is a good fellow, and that his only peculiarity is his firm belief that everything on this earth should be put to some useful purpose.

A CASE IN WEST ARICHAT.

Mrs. A. P. Ferguson a well known Cape Bretoner has cured asthma by "Catarrhozone." Her statement is convincing: "Although I was troubled for years it was only recently I tried Catarrhozone. When an attack started I got out my inhaler and invariably got quick relief. Feeling satisfied Catarrhozone would cure, I continued the treatment till one bottle was finished. I didn't use more because I was cured and the asthma has never returned." Catarrhozone is sure death to asthma and bronchitis. Try it and be convinced. Two sizes, 15c. and $1.00 at all dealers.

Mamma (in the nursery)— Marie, you shouldn't play store on Sunday.

Marie (aged five)—I'm making out that it is Monday.

Teacher—If your father owed the butcher $17.25, the baker $12.20, and the grocer $18.65, how much would he have to pay in all?

Tommy Harlumm—Nothin'; he'd move.

DROWNED IN BATH TUB.

Suicide of Mrs. Louise McClure in New York.

NEW YORK, Jan 17—The inability of her husband to obtain permanent employment is believed to have led Mrs. Louise McClare to end her life tiday. Her body was found lying in a foot of water in the bath tub in their home in West 24th street by the husband when he arose this morning. The couple were married in Canada two years ago. It was a runaway match, Mrs. McClure had told her neighbors, her parents having objected to the marriage. For some time after their arrival in New York everything went well but about a year ago McClure lost his position and had not been successful in getting any regular work since that time Mrs. McClure became deeply despondent, and when she did not recover her strength after the birth of a child a few months ago she worried continually over the family's desperate condition.

A childless home is a cheerless home. The maternal instinct exists in every woman, and when it is ungratified, she is deprived of much of the happiness of life. It often happens that childlessness is due to some cause, which can be removed, and often is removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The vigor and vitality which this remedy imparts to the delicate womanly organs puts them in a condition of normal health, the lack of which is often the sole obstruction to maternity. Every woman should read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. It is sent entirely free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper bound volume, or 31 stamps for the cloth covered. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce 663 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y.

A newly married couple were taking in the Jamestown Exposition.

"There's our biggest man-of-war, ear," said the husband, pointing to one of the vessels in the harbor.

Justthen a little tug was seen puffing around the bog ship.

"And is the little one a tug-of-war Tom?"
