THE RING

JOHN L'S GREATEST FIGHT.

Was His Seventy-five Round Go With Jake Kilrain at Richburg.

(John L. Sullivan, in Toronto News.)

I am often asked the question, "What was your greatest fight?" To a man who has been through as many battles under as many different conditions as I have, that is a rather hard thing to decide. I have knocked out 143 men, and only one man beat me because I was not in condition, and he would not stand up to me. Mitchell and Paddy Ryan gave me great battles, and Corbett beat me, wore me down, thought he did not hurt me.

But I think the greatest fight of my ring career was the one in Richburg Miss., when I beat Jake Kilrain, in 75 rounds. The battle was fought on July 8, 1889.

Kilrain did not stand up and fight like Mitchell and Ryan, but the length of the fight and the constant wrestling made it a hard, hard battle. So I will take this up as the greatest fight of my career for those reasons and because I won out in the end.

After the match with Kilrain was made, and nine weeks ahead of the date set, I went into training at Belfast, N. Y. Billy Muldoon was my training partner.

The articles by the way, were signed in Toronto.

Just one week before July 8th, Billy Muldoon and I pulled stakes from Belfast, and set out for New Orleans. We took a big cask of the water I had been drinking with us, and that is a plan I would recommend to all fighters today. All the time on the train and after we had arrived in New Orleans, and while we were in Richburg I drank the water I had been drinking in Belfast.

CHASED BY THE MILITIA.

These fellows who are talking to day have no idea of what we had to go through in order to hold a mill. While every sheriff was on the lookout for us, and the militia of two states would have camped on our trail if they had known the location of the battle ground.

The starting point for the fighting place was New Orleans. Nearly every body of note who wanted to see the mill gathered there to go up on special train. The State authorities in Louisiana thought that we were going to fight in that State, and we had some trouble in getting awayfrom them.

We got into Richburg the night before the day of battle, and I had a long sleep, awakening in the morning feeling fine.

We were scheduled to be in the ring at 10 o'clock, but I knew it would be nearer twelve. We were ready to start at 10.30 when we got word that there was some trouble with the sheriff. That was true, but it did not last long. It seemed that after the crowd had gathered about the ring the sheriff climbed over the ropes and read the Riot Act, or part of the law governing the case, and commanded the crowd to break up and leave.

BRIBED A SHERIFF.

Renaud climbed into the ring, and argued the case with him for afew minutes, but the sheriff said he was there to stay. Finally Renaud slipped $250 in his hand, and then several men gathered round him and hustled him out of the ring. That was all the trouble we had with the authorities.

Billy Muldoon and Mike Cleary, who were to be my seconds, and myself started out about eleven o'clock for the ring. Richburg is only a small town, and the ring had been pitched in a little piece of wood country about a quarter of a mile out of town.

I can remember that scene as if I had fought the battle yesterday, as I told you this man Fisk owned a lumber yard and he had built up great rows of seats on all four sides of the arena. These were jammed with excited men, yelling greetings and bets at each other across the ring. There were large trees all around behind the seats, and there were a lot of men perched up in these

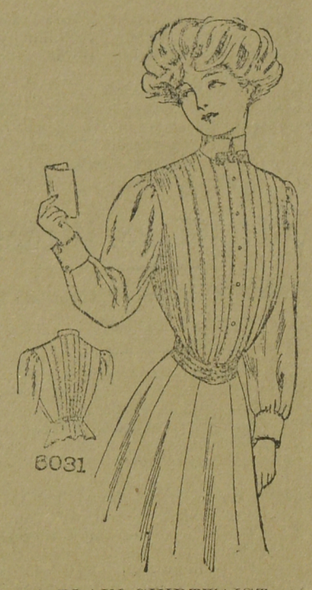
The betting was even money, and there were certainly money in bales coming in on both sides. I walked over to Kilrain's corner and shook hands with him. We made a bet of $1,000 there in the ring.

Both of us were stripped to the waist with long tights on our legs and the heavy spiked boots that were worn in fights on the turf fastened to our feet. It was a perfect summer noon day when the seconds and timers climbed out of the ring, the word was given and the fight was on.

Then Mr. Roxley didn't give according to his means? said the minister's wife.

No, replied the minister, merely according to his meanness.

A childless home is a cheerless home. The maternal instinct exists in every woman, and when it is ungratified, she is deprived of much of the happiness of life. It often happens that childlessness is due to some cause, which can be removed, and often is removed by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. The vigor and vitality which this remedy imparts to the delicate womanly organs puts them in a condition of normal health, the lack of which is often the sole obstruction to maternity. Every woman should read Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a book containing 1008 pages and 700 illustrations. It is sent entirely free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Send 21 one-cent stamps for the paper bound volume, or 31 stamps for the cloth covered. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce 663 Main street, Buffalo, N. Y



A PLAIN SHIRTWAIST.

In this age of elaboration in everything pertaining to dress, a shirt waist without trimming is a distinct ratification. Here is one made recently in washable material, having only the stitched tucks to relieve its evenness. The sleeves are made in the regulation shirt style and display the smart tailored finish. The cut and style of the waist are usually good, and are quite in line with the latest mode. Either silk, wool or linen may be used for 2¾ yards of 36 inch material.

"Any bottles? Any rags?"

"Queer combination you deal in, my friend."

"Not so queer. People as has bottles generally has rags."

"Mother, mother, mother, turn the hose on me!" sang little Willie, as his mama was dressing him this morning.

"What do you mean?" she asked.

"You've put my stockings on in side out," he said.

We fear Willie will grow up to be a newspaper humorist.

HAVE YOU WEAK LUNGS?

Do You Fear Consumption

If your color is poor, your blood is poor.

If you lack strength, can't get fat can't do your work, it's because your blood is too thin to nourish the body.

Your condition is like an expiring fire. Fuel must be added or the fire goes out.

Nutriment, new building material must be instantly infused into the blood—the vital stream must be quickened and enriched. Do this and your health is assured.

Simply take Ferrozone.

Its marvellously stimulating influence upon the appetite, upon the formation of rich, red blood makes available for building up of the system the very nutriment it requires.

The heart, strengthened by the increased nutrition Ferrozone supplies, is more regular in its action, and imparts an impetus to the circulation that ensures the proper discharge of all the functions of the body.

There very quickly sweeps through the whole body a stream of vitalized strength-giving blood.

Quickly color is restored to the cheeks.

Elasticity, endurance and vigor come to the muscular system.

In brief, the old time strength and vigor are restored, and those inestimable charms that spring from good health, high spirits and endurance, are gained by even a short use of Ferrozone.

A true uplifting tonic, a medicine that goes to the root of things—one that makes the weak strong, makes the despondent ones happy—that is Ferrozone. Truly a wonderful remedy, try it, 50c. per box at all druggists.

He—Boys, but I made a dollar slip great yesterday.

She—How?

He—I greased it.
