Six box cars loaded with horses, were shipped to Woodstock for the race meet which will come off there this week.

FUNERAL YESTERDAY

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Hallett, took place on Sunday afternoon from the residence of Mr. Chas. Pickard, at Douglas. Services were conducted by Rev. J. H. Macdonald, and interment was made at Douglas. A large number of friends turned out to pay their last mark of respect to the memory of the deceased lady. J. G. Adams was the undertaker in charge.

THE LAUGH ON HIM.

A prominent St. John gentleman who has been an unsuccessful candidate for the legislature tells a good joke on himself with the hero, his 8 year old grandson. The youngster with his grandfather and party was making an automobile trip to this city from St. John, and the lad an unusually bright and observant personage, having been over the grounds a couple of times pointed out the various places of interest to the party. "That's the Cathedral," said he as the party entered the city, "and this' he added a moment later "is the parliament building, where you tried to get and couldn't."

DEATH AT LAKEVILLE

Mrs. Sarah Nash, widow of the late Thomas Nash, died at her home Maquopid Lake, on Sunday, after an extended illness from the infirmities of old age. The deceased lady was 88 years of age. She is survived by one son, Thos. Nash, of Lakeville Corner, and one daughter, Mrs. Lyons of Burton. The funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon. Services will be conducted by Rev. W. R. Pepper, and interment will be made at the Lakeville Corner cemetery. J. G. Adams will be the funeral director.

TAMES THE CAKE.

While Robert Peppers was rafting logs at Morrison's Mill this morning a salmon jumped out of the river and landed fair on the raft at Mr. Pepper's feet. Hastily grabbing an axe he tried to kill the fish but missed his aim. He then secured the fish in his hands and despatched it with his pocket knife. The salmon weighed 22 lbs. Next.

VISITING ODDFELLOWS

Have Parade Hear Sermon and Take In Points of Interest.

A number of representatives of Canton Wabasso Independent Order of Odd Fellows from Fort Fairfield, Maine, who are on a tour through the Maritime Provinces were in the city over Sunday. On Sunday morning they marched to the Brunswick Street Baptist church when Rev. J. H. Macdonald preached an eloquent and appropriate sermon.

The visiting Odd Fellows were accompanied by the members of Fredericton and Marysville lodges.

At the conclusion of the services the procession reformed and marched through the principal streets en route to the lodge room headed by the Fredericton Brass Band.

A large number of citizens watched the procession and the members came in for many complimentary remarks on their appearance.

The visiting Odd Fellows visited the principal places of interest during their stay in the city and went down river by boat today on their way to Grand Lodge at Charlottetown.

MR. MCCARTHY'S FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Mr. John E. McCarthy, took place at nine o'clock this morning from the late home of the deceased, on King street. A large number of old friends turned out to pay their last tribute of respect to the memory of the deceased gentleman.

High mass of requiem was celebrated at St. Dunstan's church by Rev. E. L. Carney, after which interment took place at the Hermitage.

At St. Dunstan's church on Sunday morning, Rev. Father Carney paid a tribute to the memory of the deceased gentleman. He said Mr. McCarthy was an honorable, upright citizen, and one who, during his long business career had won a reputation for honest, upright dealing. He was a good, practical Catholic and was a regular attendant at all the services of his church. The young men of St. Dunstan's parish, the reverend gentleman said, should take an example from Mr. McCarthy's life, and they would be a credit to themselves and to their church.

GENERAL LAKE'S VISIT.

Major General P. Lake C. B. C. M. G., Inspector General of Canada, accompanied by his A. D. C. Colonel H. C. Heward arrived here on Saturday evening on a tour of inspection.

This morning the R. C. R. had a march out and had out post drill at Scully's Grove. The looks at the orderly room were next inspected and the General, lunched at the Officer's Mess at one o'clock. This afternoon the men are being put through target practice.

The company paraded to the different churches yesterday and at the General's orders every man turned out. They made a good appearance. The General and Col. Heward attended divine service at the Cathedral.

Rev. Dean Schofield, who is having trouble with his throat, goes to St. John this week for an operation at the hands of Dr. McLaren.

WORSE THAN HISSING.

Stone Throwing Was a Habit in Theaters of Ancient Greece.

Getting the bird, writes a correspondent, need not always prove a source of woe to the unfortunate actor, for there are still some nations that express their applause by hissing. The Basutos, for instance, and the natives of the New Hebrides employ this method of expressing their admiration. Even among ourselves any interruption of the actor who grips our attention is quelled with the hissing "Hush!" which is intended to silence the interrupter and show our admiration for the interrupted.

On the whole, authors and actors of today have reason to congratulate themselves upon the disuse of many of the ancient Greek methods of showing dissatisfaction in the theater. The worst that a playwright must reckon with now is an ironical cry of "Author!" followed by a boisterous demonstration. But it is on record that the Athenian audience at least once forcibly ejected an unsuccessful comic poet from the theater. The pelting of bad actors with vegetables and questionable eggs is rare now even in the remotest provinces. But the Athenians did not draw the line at figs and olives as missiles. Aeschines was said nearly to have been stoned to death during his stage career, and there is a story of a second rate musician who borrowed a quantity of stone from a friend to build a house with, promising to repay the loan with the stones collected at his next performance.—London Chronicle.
