PARLIAMENT TODAY.

Premier Introduced All Red Line Resolution
---Officials Want More Pay.

OTTAWA, July 9.—(Special)—The House of Commons this morning took up the All-Red Route resolution of Sir Wilfrid Laurier, asking parliament to endorse the project, as formulated at the Imperial Conference last summer, and urging that prompt action be taken by governments of Canada, Australia and New Zealand, to agree upon a definite plan for mutually sharing the subsidy required, said plan to be then submitted to the Imperial and Colonial parliaments for ratification.

Sir Wilfrid in introducing the resolution, did not go into details on the advantages which would result to Canada from the proposed Imperial fast service transportation line between Great Britain and the Orient. He said that public opinion as reflected in the press, and its expressions from leading men of the country had universally approved the scheme. Canada, he said, by its geographical position, would reap the greatest benefit by being the highway for passenger traffic to the Orient from Europe, which now goes largely via the Suez canal.

Sir Wilfrid said that this resolution was to put the government in a position to carry on negotiations with other governments to bring the scheme to a climax.

Mr. Foster and Mr. Borden followed, claiming for the Conservatives credit for the fast line service.

The Prime Minister, and the Minister of Inland Revenue this morning were asked by a large delegation of outside employees of the department, to grant an increase of salaries.

Sir Wilfrid said the question of a general salary increase was now engaging the attention of the govern-

YOUNG LADY KILLED

Run Over by North Sydney Tramcar and Met
Instant Death

NORTH SYDNEY, July 9.—(Special)—Yesterday afternoon Miss Emily Pitman was struck by an electric tramcar and instantly killed while crossing Queen Street.

When her body was removed from beneath the car it was found that a large portion of her forehead was broken in and head and face terribly bruised. The left foot was off at the instep. It was thought that death was instantaneous.

Miss Pitman was in her 32nd year and came to North Sydney about two years ago from St. Pierre.

WAS IT FOUL PLAY?

Clowes Patterson at the Hospital Suffering from Injuries sustained on Circus grounds.

A young man named Clowes Patterson, who lately returned from the west, is lying at Victoria hospital, suffering from injuries sustained on the circus grounds last evening. His right side is stove in, and the attending physician is none too sanguine as to his chances for recovery.

Whether or not he was the victim of an assault and robbery is a matter now being investigated by Chief of Police Winters, but as the unfortunate man is too ill to tell a coherent story of his doings last night, there is not much evidence at the present time to bear out the theory, which a good many people appear ready to accept.

Patterson was found shortly after ten o'clock lying upon the side trail leading from the show grounds to York street, which was made yesterday by the heavy wagons transporting the outfit from the railway station. He was in a semi-conscious condition, and seemed to be suffering great pain from injuries he had received. Quite a crowd quickly collected, and a message was sent for Dr. Vanwart, who was quickly upon the scene. A number of circus employees were in the crowd, and seemed anxious to render every assistance in their power. They wanted to place the injured man on a stretcher and remove him to the railway station, but Dr. Vanwart decided that the Victoria hospital was the proper place for him, and sent an order in for the ambulance.

Upon getting his patient to the hospital the doctor made an examination and found a severe bruise on his right side just above the hip, and further investigation disclosed that a bone of the pelvis had been broken. He pronounced the injuries to be of a very serious nature, but was unable to tell how they had been caused.

The unfortunate man passed an uncomfortable night, but this morning when the doctor called, he was resting easier, and though conscious he did not seem able to give out very much information about the case. The doctor regards the case as a very serious one, but does not think the man received any other injury except the blow on the hip. This he thinks was caused by a blow from some heavy instrument which must have had great force behind it.

Those who were with Patterson before the doctor arrived, claim that he talked in a rambling way about foul play, and this has given rise to the report that he was beaten and robbed. It is stated that he wore a gold watch and had three dollars in money in his trousers pockets, and that these were not disturbed, but a wallet containing $20, which he carried in his waistcoat pocket, has disappeared.

So far as can be learned Patterson did not attend the evening performance of the circus, but spent the evening with the crowd about the grounds. When the accident or robbery, or whatever it was, occurred, he must have been heading for the Westmorland street exit from the grounds. It was very dark in the locality where he was found, and many think that he may have been accidentally struck by one of the heavy circus wagons. If his money was taken it may have been done by some person who found him lying on the ground afterwards and supposed him to be intoxicated.

The injured man is a son of Mr. Saunders Patterson, who lives on Aberdeen street, and moved here from Kingsclear a few years ago. He has the reputation of being sober and industrious, and is not given to the use of intoxicating drinks, nor is he the kind of a man who would pick a quarrel. He was for some years in the employ of Mr. John Kilburn, but has for several years been in the west. He is about thirty years of age, and a widower, his wife having died about a year ago.

Supt. Potter of the circus, and the physician, Dr. Elliot, visited the hospital last night, and made enquiries about the injured man. They seemed to be very much concerned about the case, and wanted to know all about the man and his circumstances. This morning Mr. Potter made enquiries by telephone from Newcastle.

Chief Winters has been working diligently on the case this morning, and if he is satisfied that a crime has been committed, he will have the law set in motion. The unfortunate case is creating a great deal of talk about the city.

THE COUNTY COUNCIL.

theria cases at Springhill. The report was adopted.

The warden, in reply to Coun. Akerley explained that Dr. Weaver had been called to Springhill to attend an English family in rather straightened circumstances.

SCOTT ACT REPORT.

Coun. Pond submitted a report for the Scott Act committee. It showed that there had been four convictions, and a number of cases had been entered for trial and withdrawn. The expenses of the inspector amounted to $107, and on motion of Coun. Pond, seconded by Coun. Rogers, the report was adopted, and the bill ordered to be paid.

LIGHTING THE BRIDGE.

On motion of Coun. Goodspeed, a representative of the Monitor Manufacturing company was heard in regard to lighting the Fredericton bridge by acetylene. He spoke of the necessity of having the bridge lighted. He argued strongly in favor of having the bridge lighted by acetylene. His company were willing to install lights of 20 candle power. It had been proposed that the cost should be jointly borne by the government, city and county councils. The cost of installing an acetylene plant, not including a house for the generator, would be $1,050. On a moonlight schedule the cost per annum would be $500 per year for carbide, $100 per year for maintenance, and for labor, $100, making a total of $700. As an alternative proposition the company would undertake to light the bridge with its own plant from April 1st to Dec. 1st for $850, on a five years' contract.

The price submitted included all alterations to be made when the new spans are put in.

Coun. Pond moved that a committee be appointed to confer with the city council and government in regard to the matter.

Coun. Akerley, in seconding the motion thought a committee should act with the government in securing all information as to cost of lighting the bridge and report in January.

Coun. Brewer said he would not oppose the motion, but he did not propose to be bound by the committee's report. If the Fredericton bridge should be lighted other bridges in the county should be similarly dealt with.

Coun. Robison thought that there should be an expression of opinion as to what proportion of the cost the county would be willing to pay.

Coun. Rogers thought that the county should contribute to the costs.

The question was discussed by Couns. Timmins, Everett, Grant, McMullin, Graham, Morgan and Thompson, all excepting the latter expressing themselves as being opposed to the lighting proposition. Coun. Thompson said that he might favor a scheme to light all the dark bridges in the county.

Coun. Pond thought that perhaps an arrangement might be made whereby the city and government might defray the cost. No harm would result from appointing the committee.

The sentiment of the council seemed to be strongly against the county bearing any portion of the expense.

The motion was put and carried, and the warden appointed as the committee Couns. Rogers, Pond and Timmins.

Coun. Goodspeed moved that the matter be reconsidered. He thought that many of the councillors voted under a misapprehension.

Coun. Pond's motion was accordingly voted upon a second time, and lost by a vote of 14 to 10.

Coun. Hinchey thought that the government should pay the cost of lighting the bridge.

Coun. Brewer said the committee was appointed to procure information and had no power to incur expense.

On motion of Coun. Everett it was resolved that the council do not approve of the County of York bearing any share of the expense of lighting the bridge.

A CHAPLAIN NEEDED.

Coun. Rogers moved, seconded by Coun. Reynolds that a chaplain be engaged to open the future meetings of the council with prayer.

Coun. Hinchey, Cropley and Brewer strongly supported the resolution, which passed unanimously.

THE SECRETARY'S BOOKS.

Coun. Goodspeed moved seconded by Coun. Graham that members of the county council have access to the county books at any time.

Mr. Bliss pointed out that under the law the auditor had the right to examine the secretary-treasurer's books. He thought it would be inconvenient if every member of the council had the right to go over the books. He pointed out that a committee from the council now examined the accounts and secured all necessary information. This committee can carry out the duty in a more satisfactory manner than individuals councillors could.

Coun. Goodspeed said that the auditor had expressed the opinion that any member of the council had the right to examine the books. It was to remove all doubt in the matter that he had proposed the resolution.

Mr. Bliss said he was willing at all times to give any councillor information. He thought however, that it would be too great a demand on his time, if every councillor had the right to examine the books.

Coun. Hinchey thought the auditor and secretary-treasurer could do the work.

Coun. Goodspeed said that after the accounts had been audited by Mr. McCready, a mistake of $570 on jury fees had been discovered.

Coun. Brewer thought that one councillor from each parish should have access to the books.

Coun. Graham thought that every councillor at the board had the right to inspect the books. Mr. Goodspeed deserved credit for the work he had done. Mr. Bliss was paid for giving the councillors all necessary information.

Upon the vote being taken only Goodspeed, Carr, Graham and Brewer voted for the resolution and it was declared lost.

On motion the committee on the Secretary-Treasurer's accounts was ordered to be continued.

A PLEASANT INCIDENT.

Warden McNally called upon Coun. Hinchey to make a presentation to Coun. Robison, M. P.

Coun. Robison then stepped to the front and Coun. Hinchey in a speech of great eloquence presented him with a gold watch chain on behalf of the councillors.

He dwelt upon the greatness of Canada, a country of which all had reason to be proud. Coun. Hinchey paid an eloquent tribute to the worth of Coun. Robison and hoped he would be spared for many years to serve his country and province. Coun. Hinchey's effort was very able one and would have done credit to Solicitor General McLeod.

Coun. Robison returned his thanks in a neat speech. He spoke of his pleasant associations with the councillors and announced his intention of going out on his term with them. He would always appreciate the beautiful gift.

Mr. Bliss said that he was very glad to know that Coun. Robison had intended his intention of retiring from the council before the end of his term.

The Warden and Mr. Goodspeed were associated to procure the services of a chaplain.

Mr. Bliss informed the council that the bye-laws needed co-ordinating and intimated that he was quite willing to do the job.

The matter was briefly discussed but no action was taken.

Resolution of Coun. Sterling, seconded by Coun. Sreen, a vote of thanks was tendered the Warden for the impartial manner in which he had resumed over the meeting.

The Warden replied in a happy speech.

A vote of thanks was also tendered the new members for doing the ice cream.

The council then adjourned sine die and sang the National Anthem.
