

YOUNG MOTHERS

A mother who is in good physical condition transmits to her child the blessing of a good constitution; sickly, ailing mothers, the reverse.

The tiny babe brings to her a living responsibility. At such a time too great care cannot be taken to build up the mother's general constitution, and restore her feminine system to a healthy, normal condition. The greatest assistance that any woman can have in accomplishing this all-important work is

LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Mrs. M. Gilmer, of West Union, S. C., writes to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass.

"I was greatly run down in health, suffering from a weakness peculiar to my sex. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and I was not only restored to health but am the proud mother of a fine baby girl. I wish every sick and ailing woman would give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial."

Mrs. Paul Oliver, of St. Martinville, La., writes to Mrs. Pinkham: "For years I suffered from the worst form of female troubles, and the doctor said I could not get well without an operation. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored me to perfect health, and I have the sweetest little baby girl. I will never cease to praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN. For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with the worst forms. Why don't you try it?

Just because a young woman tells a young man that she dreamed of him the night before, he has no authority to feel elated. She may have had the nightmare.

Are Lordly Chauffeurs.

Since it has become usual for younger sons of the English aristocracy to engage in the automobile business, it is extremely difficult for the ordinary purchaser to distinguish between the professional chauffeur and the aristocratic driver who occasionally exhibits a car to a client. There are at least thirty young Englishmen of noble families studying the fine points of motoring and taking customers for trial runs, with the result that some amusing mistakes are made.

Recently a young cousin of the Duke of Beaufort was instructed by his employer to exhibit a car to one of the London newly rich, the wife of a retired tradesman. The young man made himself agreeable, and when the car returned to the big house in Belgrave, the customer alighted and, pressing a half-crown upon the chauffeur, said:

"There my lad; and take care not to spend it foolishly!"

The young man drove back to his employer, a son of Lord Llangattock, and indignantly recounted his experiences.

"Well, you can consider yourself jolly lucky," was the consoling rejoinder. "The last time I saw the lady she gave me only a shilling."

Debts In China.

A DISPLAY OF QUICK WIT.

The American Saved His Pride and Observed Russian Etiquette.

The Yankee and the Russian story is again on its grand rounds, but as all attempts to name the original Yankee have failed, says London M. A. P., it is safe to pin the anecdote to any prominent American who may have visited St. Petersburg.

The Russian has been identified as the Grand Duke Constantine, younger brother of the Czar Alexander I., and the incident occurred about 1810.

The Yankee went out for a walk in March, when the snow was melting after sudden rain. The street was a maze of puddles, divided into sections by narrow ledges of snow at the crossings, over which pedestrians carefully felt their way.

The Yankee was just in the middle of such a snow bridge when he recognized the Grand Duke Constantine approaching in the opposite direction. The path being too narrow for two persons to pass, the grand duke being accustomed to every one getting out of his way, the Yankee being too courteous to turn his back on a brother of the czar to return whence he came and too proud to step servilely into the slush for a mere prince of the royal blood—such was the contretemps.

Quick as a flash our American whipped out his purse, presented it to Constantine and asked, "Even or odd?" "Even," replied the astonished prince.

"You win!" said the Yankee and stepped off into a puddle half a leg deep.

Constantine, highly pleased by this peculiarly American proceeding, mentioned it to the czar, and our Yankee was invited to dine at the palace next day.

TO SETTLE LABOR DISPUTES.

Scotch Railway Men to Try the Arbitration Plan.

The following information concerning a scheme of conciliation and arbitration between the representatives of labor and the Scotch railway companies for the settlement of questions relating to rates of wages and hours of labor is furnished by Consul Maxwell Blake of Dunfermline:

It is proposed to group the various grades of employees into sections, each section to choose by election one or more representatives for each district, and these will compose the employees' sectional board to meet the representatives of the company. Under the scheme there will also be formed conciliation boards for each company to deal with questions of wages and hours of labor which cannot be mutually settled through the usual channels.

In the event of the two boards indicated failing to arrive at an agreement the subject of difference is then referred to arbitration. The appealed reference is to go before a single arbitrator appointed by agreement between the two boards, or, in default of an agreement, to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Commons and the lord president of the court of sessions, or one of them. The decision of the arbitrator shall be final and binding on all parties.

Each side of the conciliation board is to elect its own chairman. Any proposal agreed to by a sectional board and rejected by the employees is referred to the central board (composed of fourteen employees' representatives, two from members of each sectional board), and a proposal agreed to by the central board and rejected by the employees is referred to arbitration. A proposal agreed to by a sectional board and rejected by the employees is referred to the central board, and a proposal agreed to by the central board and rejected by the employees is referred to arbitration. Where the central conciliation board fail to agree an arbitrator is appointed, and where the central conciliation board have agreed, but the decision is not accepted by the directors or employees, the arbitrator is called in as before.

The total number of employees' representatives on each sectional board is eight, two from the employees in the section in each of the four designated electoral districts. The central board is composed as indicated. The company's representatives on each sectional and central board do not exceed the employers' representatives.

Ebony.

Ebony was esteemed as an article of luxury by the ancients. In India it was employed by kings for scepters and images, and as it was supposed to annul the power of poisons, was often made into drinking cups.
