WHAT NEXT.

I went to take a walk one day,
Around a little town,
I walked until I weary grew
And then I sat me down.
T'was in Queen's Square, I sat down
To rest my weary frame.
A goodly park it seemed to be
That bore this worthy name.
Along one side of this fair park
There runs a railroad track,
While up the hill three houses stand,
And two more further back.
A maiden came in sight, just then,
A bicycle had she.
I wondered why she came that way,
For no road could I see.
And coming to that railroad track,
T'was well, God made her strong,
For picking up that bicycle,
She carried it along.
Across the track, across a ditch,
And rough, uneven ground;
She carried it to where I sat,
And panting, set it down.
"Why don't you choose an easier path,
Said I, nor bear that load;"
"Why you must be a stranger here,
Said she; There is no road."
Those families upon the hill,
Have lived three years and more
Without a road or right of way,
To cross this railroad o'er.
Why did those people build up there?
It was a foolish plan.
Said she: They trusted in the word
Of a city alderman.
He promised they should have a road,
The time was to be brief;
"Who puts his faith in aldermen,
Is sure to come to grief."
And stepping on her bicycle,
She disappeared from sight,
While I was left to ponder on
These things of which I write.
Oh, alderman I ask you this
How have you spent your time,
How could you treat with such neglect
The subject of this rhyme.
And leave those worthy citizens
Upon a roadless hill,
You surely are not innocent
In treating them so ill.
I'm "the impecunious poet"
And a man of little fame,
But I'd make a better alderman
Than some that I could name.
I rose and up that track I went
Until a man I spied,
Whose arms were full of groceries
And other things beside.
Why don't you let your grocery man
Deliver such a load?
I asked. He quickly answered me
We haven't any road.
I turned away in pained surprise
And from that place I ran,
Nor passed until I reached my home—
A sadder, wiser man.
And as I sat alone this thought
Unto my mind was borne,
Man's inhumanity to man
Makes countless thousands mourn.
What town was this? I hear you ask,
I dare not tell its name,
For fear those worthy aldermen
Would die of very shame.
'Twas in the wild and woolly west
Or India's coral strand,
Ah, yes, you say, It must have been
In some far heathen land.
I was not looking for a chance
To find fault, I declare.
'Twas all because, because you see
I happened to be there.

SANDYVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)
Oct. 14.—Mr and Mrs Laurie Rideout, who have resided at this place for the past three years, will soon remove to their former home at Mouth of Nashwaak, much to the regret of the many friends they have made since coming to this place.

A dashing young dude from the country while spending the evening with his best girl, was suddenly interrupted by a well known agent for the St John Soap and Desk Co., who being slow at taking in the situation, meekly asked the dude to buy a box of soap. The reply was very sternly made: "Can't you see I am engaged?" The poor agent turned away muttering, for heaven's sake.

William Grant of Kingsclear, is spending a few days with his brother, Alex. Grant of this place.

Miss Lillie Grant and Mrs E Stewart who have been spending a short time in the Celestial, have returned home.

A special meeting was held in the Free Baptist church of this place, to decide upon the building of a new church at Sandyville.

We are all looking forward to a grand old time when Archie comes home.

A MOTHER'S PRAISE

For the Medicine that Restored Her Daughter's Health.

She Had Suffered from Severe Headaches, Vomiting and Extreme Nervousness, and Feared She Would Not Regain Her Strength.

Every prudent mother will watch carefully the health of her young daughter at the period when she is passing from girlhood to womanhood. This period is the most critical in the young girl's life. It is then that she becomes pale, easily tired and troubled with headaches, without apparent cause. The blood becomes thin and watery, and unless prompt steps are taken to restore it to its rich, red, health-giving condition, decline, and perhaps consumption will follow. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have cured more pale, anemic, easily tired girls than any other medicine, and mothers will make no mistake if they insist upon their growing daughters taking these pills from time to time. Mrs. P. Gage, a lady well known in Rowanston, Quebec, tells what these pills have done for her daughter. She says:—"My daughter, Catherine, aged fourteen years, was suffering greatly with severe headaches, vomiting and nervousness. She was so completely run down that we feared that she would not recover her strength. We tried several medicines, but they did not seem to do her any good. I then thought we would try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and the result has been up to our fondest hopes. She has fully recovered her health and strength, and I shall be very glad if this experience will help some other suffering girl to regain her health."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills make rich, red blood and give new strength with every dose. They cure anemia, headache, heart palpitation, dizziness and bring the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. These pills are also a certain cure for the ailments that make the lives of so many women a burden. Be sure you get the genuine with the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People," on the wrapper around every box. Sold by all medicine dealers or sent post paid at 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50, by addressing The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RAILWAY ROBBERIES.

Halifax, Oct. 16.—Ramifications of the railway and steamboats embezzlement case now agitating Newfoundland are believed to extend to Cape Breton. It is claimed that the employees of the Reid-Newfoundland Railway have been systematically robbing the company for years, and it is stated that pursers, conductors, porters and other employees are concerned. The chief sources of leakage thus far unearthed are from the collection of fares from passengers boarding trains and steamers at flag stations and landings, money collected for sleeping car accommodation, sale of meals on buffet cars, and it is even stated that tinned meats, provisions and other food stored on these cars have been sold for low prices to private parties or given away altogether. There also is a suspicion that the mails have been tampered with. The finding on the shore near St. Ann's, C. B., of a bag of Newfoundland mail with its contents rifled goes to strengthen the suspicion with regard to the robbery of the mails.

that the surest and only Painless Corn and Wart cure is "Patnam's." It was the first corn cure on the market, and still leads all competitors. Always refuse a substitute.

"I hear strange sounds in my ears doctor!" said the lady patient, languidly. "Well where would you expect to hear them?" questioned the tired physician. —Yonkers Statesman.

Mr. Banks had a very unfavorable time for the construction of this bridge owing to the heavy ice jam last spring, which caused him a good deal of extra trouble and expense, for which the government no doubt will make him an extra allowance over and above his contract.

TENDED BY KING'S OWN NURSE

King Edward, in his numerous acts of kindness and charity, is not a man to let his left hand know what his right hand doeth. As an instance this story is told by a Deside correspondent:

The king recently learned that a young man, William Donald, employed in Edinburgh, had come to Balmoral estate hopelessly ill of the same trouble through which the king recently passed, to be nursed by his mother. The king sent his physician Sir James Reid, to ascertain if anything could be done, but the great doctor found himself unable to do anything. The king then visited the cottage himself, saw the youth and expressed his deep sympathy for him.

Then he told Mrs Donald that the nurse who had attended him through his serious operation and illness, was still with him, and that he would send her every day to dress her son's wounds and make him comfortable; also that a water bed would be sent from Balmoral castle. He added that if she could suggest anything to please her son it would certainly be attended to.

AN ANXIOUS TIME FOR NEURALGIC SUFFERERS.

PAIN'S CELERY COMPOUND

The Only Medicine That Successfully Cures This Terrible Nerve Disease.

Experienced physicians know well that the variable weather of this autumn month decides the fate of thousands in ill health. At the present time, men and women are falling around us like leaves before the chilling north winds.

Amongst the diseases prevalent at this time, terrible neuralgia with its sharp, lacerating and darting pains is doing its intolerable work. The cold winds, damp air and sudden changes in temperature, favor this pain racking disease. The best physicians of all schools admit that Paine's Celery Compound is the only known specific for the cure of neuralgia. If you are experiencing the torments of this most terrible of nerve diseases, we counsel you to give Paine's Celery Compound an immediate trial. It has permanently cured others; it will, without fail, meet your case. Mrs. T. McMaster, Toronto, Ont., says:

"Ten years ago I was attacked with neuralgia, and though treated by six doctors, the disease grew worse and nearly made me insane. Day after day I suffered the most intense agony, and I became utterly disheartened. One day my deliverance came. A lady who had suffered as I had, told me that Paine's Celery Compound had cured her. I used the compound, and it simply made a new woman of me. The pain vanished, I grew well, and I never felt happier in my life. All this is due to Paine's Celery Compound."

"Has either of you ever been married before?" asked the license clerk as the leading man and the ingenue appeared at the window. "I've been married three times said the gentleman. "How many times have you Birdie—" "Dear me! How awkward," she exclaimed. "I counted them this morning and had a list but I left them at the hotel. I'm so forgetful."

An amusing story is told of a man condemned to death recently in France who was asked, according to custom what he preferred for his last meal. He chose mussels, which, though his favorite dish, always caused him a terrible indigestion. "This time, however," he added grimly "They will not have the chance."

"Thought your dad wasn't going to send you back to the U. N. B. "Yes, dad did kick at the expense, but I threatened to stay at home and help him run the business, and he decided college would be cheaper."

A COMFORT AND A CARE.

If Your Home is Blessed With a Baby You Will Appreciate This.

A baby is a priceless comfort, but in its utter helplessness is also a great care. Anything that will relieve the tired mother and add to baby's health and happiness is both a help and a friend. This is what makes the statement of Mrs. Thos. Little, of Kingston, Ont., so interesting to all mothers. She says:—

"When my baby was eighteen months old he was troubled with a sour stomach and was badly constipated. These troubles made him cross and restless, and I had to be up with him a number of times during the night. I finally got a box of Baby's Own Tablets, and after giving them to him for a few days his bowels became regular, his stomach was sweetened and he slept well. I think these Tablets are just what mothers need for their little ones." Baby's Own Tablets are the best and most convenient form of administering medicine to the very young. They are safe and harmless and free from opiates. Send post paid on receipt of price, 25 cents per box, by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Brockville, Ont., or Schenectady, N. Y. A book on the care of infants and children sent free on request. Write for it.

SUCCESSFUL EXHIBITION.

(Special correspondence to the Herald.)

Harvey Station, Oct. 15.—The Annual Exhibition of the Manners Sutton Agricultural Society No. 39 was held on the grounds of Robert Little, near the hall at Manners Sutton yesterday. The day turned out fine and a large number of people attended, numbers coming from Prince William and Kingsclear. The number of exhibits was fully as large as usual, and the quality showed that much interest was being taken in the improvement of the produce of the farm. The exhibit of cattle was particularly good. The exhibit of quilts, mats, cushions and other fancy articles by the ladies were very tastefully arranged in the Hall and presented a fine appearance. The list of prize winners will be given out later.

Harry Coburn who went to Manitoba on the harvest excursion, has returned home. He had a pleasant time and is well pleased with his trip.

Rev. J. A. McLean and Mrs McLean went for a trip to Nova Scotia last week. They are expected to return on Friday.

Mr Robert Watson of St Marys, preached last Sunday morning and evening, to large audiences, and his sermons were much appreciated.

The Misses Elva and Mabel Mowatt of St. Stephen are here for a few days visiting their many friends.

Miss Lizzie Robison has gone to St. John to attend the Provincial Sunday School Convention.

This standard book on medicine and hygiene, contains 1008 pages and more than 700 illustrations. It treats of the greatest and gravest problems of human life in simple English, from a common sense point of view. "What makes you think he would be a great success in politics?" "He can say more things that sound well and mean nothing than any other man I ever knew."—Chicago Post.

I heard a good story the other day," began the grocery man, "about a certain politician." "That will do," interrupted the disappointed office seeker. "In the first place there are no certain politicians."

A True Nerve Tonic.

Will act, not so much directly upon the nerves as upon the digestive functions and the abundant formation of red, vitalizing blood. Nerves can't be fed on medicine. They can, however, be restored and strengthened by assimilated food. The marvelous action of Ferrozone arises from its action over the digestive and assimilative processes. When you take Ferrozone the blood is purified, strengthened, and grows rich and red. Then you grow vigorous, healthy, and beautiful, ready for work, because you have the strength to do it. No tonic for the brain, blood or nerves compares with Ferrozone. Price 50c. Sold by C. A. Borchill.
