EXPECTING EDISON.
(Special to Daily Herald.)

Sault Ste. Marie, June 12.—Thos. A. Edison is expected here soon to start his summer work in the Canadian nickel belt of northern Sudbury.

OFFICIAL ENQUIRY.
(Special to the Herald.)

London, June 12.—The War Secretary announced in the House of Commons today that it was the intention of the government to appoint a small imperial commission and institute a general inquiry into the South African war.

A GREAT INFLOW.
(Special to Daily Herald.)

Toronto, June 12.—At this morning's meeting of the General Presbyterian Assembly applications from nineteen ministers from other churches to be admitted into the Presbyterian church, were called and referred to a special committee.

No other business of importance was transacted.

LAYING DOWN THEIR ARMS.
(Special to Daily Herald.)

Pretoria, June 12.—Over ten thousand Boers have to date laid down their arms. The majority of them are under thirty years of age, some being mere children, but others are old.

Without exception they express pleasure at the termination of hostilities.

General Dewett says that youngsters were his fighters and frequently captured British positions after older burghers had cleared out.

A ROUSING SEND OFF.
(Special to the Daily Herald.)

Ottawa, June 12.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Lady Laurier, left this morning for London. There was large crowd of the Premier's friends at the station, and the Premier and his popular lady got an enthusiastic send off.

Sir Wilfrid and his lady sail from New York on Saturday, and will make a tour of the continent before returning three months hence.

Sir Richard Cartwright is acting premier during Sir Wilfrid's absence.

Picnic at Stanley.

The Oddfellows of the city are making arrangements for a grand picnic to be held at Stanley on July 1st. A special train will be chartered to convey the picnickers from this city and the 71st Regt. band will accompany the excursion.

Prevention.

Henley—Did you ever hear how Midler escaped a divorce suit?

Billings—No; how was it?

Henley—Simply by not marrying the lady. Prevention is better than cure, you know.—Boston Transcript.

Stage Villains.

There is only one "r" in revenge, but we have noticed that lots of people pronounce it as if it began with six r's. Look out for them. Their shooting may be better than their spelling.—Aitchison Globe.

CANADA IN ENGLAND.

The Wolverhampton Exhibition a Great Success—The Dominion's success in This Peace Triumph.

The Art and Industrial Exhibition at Wolverhampton was recently opened by the Duke of Connaught.

The site of Wolverhampton's latest and best Industrial and Art Exhibition is West park, which, possessing many natural advantages, and being quite close to the town, has readily lent itself to the charming designs of Messrs. Walker and Ramsay, of Glasgow, who have decidedly opened out a new field in the way of exhibition architecture. The whole of the main building forms a crescent. In this will be found an Industrial hall, the Canadian Pavilion, and the Machinery hall, the main front being an open arcade which has been prettily arranged as a tea terrace, and from which a charming view of the grounds and large lake meets the eye. The main entrance has been recessed and decorated with a bold stencil in color, while the towers, which are some 120 feet high, are capped with highly ornamental lanterns. Quite a novel feature is a musicians' gallery placed over one of the entrances, which will be used for band performances in wet weather. In the Industrial hall local manufacturers have made a remarkably good show of the industries of Wolverhampton and the surrounding towns. They range from expensive and elaborate silver work to musical instruments, iron work of every description, cycle making, dress goods, looms worked by electric motors (also a local industry), and a fine show of locks and safes by Messrs. Chubb. There are in addition industrial exhibits from India, Japan and Denmark. Our own colony of Canada has deservedly a building to itself, and fills it nobly, says Lloyd's Weekly.

In the Machinery hall, some 350 feet by 150 feet there are boilers of quite a new type, which will be used to generate the steam for the motor power necessary in the exhibition, both for lighting and driving the machinery. Mammoth engines, dynamos, motors, weaving looms, lathes, ventilators, warming and lighting appliances, and many machine tool and other exhibits are shown in actual work. Some labor-saving machinery by Messrs. Alfred Herbert, of Coventry, is especially worth notice. There are a large concert hall and two commodious restaurants, so that recreation and refreshment may help to a fuller appreciation of the merits of the exhibition. The grounds, which are particularly worthy of notice, will be lighted up at night by electric and gas light, the large lake, on which there are a number of motor launches and swan boats, which are driven by a water bicycle arrangement, both being also profusely decorated with fairy lights. The attractions consist of a new spiral railway or toboggan and a large water chute; while on the lake has been planned a new fairyland river. The Fine Art section contains a selection of pictures by the old masters, most notably fine specimens of work by Gainsborough, Sir Godfrey Kneller, Hogarth, Sir Peter Lely, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Constable and Turner, a collection of prints of Japanese art and a case of Renaissance jewelry, lent by the South Kensington Museum. These are on view in the Town Art gallery in Lichfield street, and do not form a part of the display in the exhibition grounds. Mr. H. A. Hedley, who successfully managed the Glasgow Exhibition, is at the head of affairs, and with the help of Mr. J. H. Cundall will, if first appearances prove anything, be quite as successful at Wolverhampton.

Old London Signs to Reappear.

The decision of the Lombard street bankers of London to celebrate the coronation of King Edward by reviving their ancient signs is likely to result in converting that home of money changes into a picturesque thoroughfare, says The Newcastle Chronicle. Some of these signs are quaint, and there is quite a store of interesting lore and legend associated with the origin of at least a large proportion of them. Among them are the halbert and hart, the ram, two bells and siren, bellows and bull, three angels, Bible and crown, fox and fleece, golden anchor, golden key, golden bottle, golden cross, three golden balls, and many others, there being upward of 100 altogether. These devices are to be shown by means of electric light during the coronation week, but the idea is to keep the signs up permanently, and there is no question that they will be a welcome relief to the somewhat too sombre stone fronts of the large banking houses.

The Virtues of Cold Water.

Lord Bulwer-Lytton was a profound believer in the efficacy of the water cure for everybody, but in particular for overworked literary men. Whenever he was tired out and felt the need of recuperation he would go to a water cure establishment for a few days, drink water in unlimited quantities and be sweated and soaked until he had lost half a dozen pounds in weight. When he felt sufficiently reduced, he would go back to business or pleasure, generally with a horrible cold, but under the conviction that he had been greatly improved by the treatment. He even wrote a pamphlet or book on the subject, in which he assumed the ground that water would cure anything if a man only took enough.

Like a kitten's tail, happiness is hard to catch, but there is lots of fun catching it.

MARYSVILLE NEWS.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)

June 11.—A quiet but very pretty wedding was solemnized at 7 o'clock this evening at the residence of Mr. George Titus, when Miss Agnes Farrell was united in marriage to Wesley Capens. Rev. Allen Rideout tied the nuptial knot. Only the immediate friends and relatives of the contracting parties were present to witness the ceremony. The bride, who is very popular, received quite a number of beautiful and costly gifts.

A jolly party of twelve young people drove up to John Sloat's at Durham Bridge, last Saturday and spent a very enjoyable evening in playing various parlor games. The affair wound up with an old time country dance, for which excellent music was furnished by the Meers, Hulme and Taylor. At eleven o'clock supper was served and the function came to a close, far too soon.

John Duncan, the one and a half year old son of George Richard Sloat, while playing on the verandah one day last week, fell and broke his arm.

Mrs. Page of Woodstock, a relative of Mrs. W. T. Day, is at present visiting that lady.

The "Evil Eve" is soon to entertain a few of his friends at his residence on the hill.

The Best Pin.

"Don't you consider it lucky to pick up a pin?" inquired the superstitious man.

"Not if you pick it up by sitting down on it," replied the schoolmaster promptly.—Philadelphia Press.

A Great Favor.

The clergyman was in his study on a Saturday night when a visitor was announced, and there entered one of his more working parishioners, who, having cautiously looked round to see that there were no listeners, addressed his clergyman with an air of grave, mysterious importance: "Mester Whitworth, you've been very kind to my ould girl when she wor sick so long abed, and I want to do you a good turn, and I can do you a good turn. There's going to be the gradeliest dog fight in this place to-morrow, and I can get you into the inner ring!"—Dean Hole's "Memories."
