

ASTHMA FOR SEVEN YEARS

And for Three Months Previous to Taking
Clarke's Kola Compound Could
Not Work a Day.

DOCTORS PRONOUNCED HIS CASE INCUR-ABLE—NOW COMPLETELY CURED.

Clarke's Kola Compound has brought more genuine happiness to thousands of Canadian homes than any other medicine ever known. It is curing Asthma, a disease hitherto considered incurable, and bringing perfect health to thousands of one-time sufferers from this most dreaded disease.

Mr. Matthew Frost, of Port Arthur, Ont., C.P.R. employee, writes: "For over seven years I have been a most unfortunate sufferer from asthma and bronchitis. Many times for weeks I could not sleep or sit up in a chair, and for three months previous to taking Clarke's Kola Compound I could not work a day. Our doctors said they could do nothing for me, but give a little temporary relief. I was becoming weaker all the time. A sincere friend brought me a bottle of this grand medicine (Clarke's Kola Compound), and in less than two weeks I was back at work again. I took in all four bottles during two months and have not lost a day's work since, nor have I had the slightest symptom of the disease." This letter is also certified to by Mr. W. J. Clark, Port Arthur's leading druggist. Clarke's Kola Compound has permanently cured thousands of asthmatics. Sold by chemists everywhere, $2.00 per bottle, three for $5.00, or sent on receipt of price by The G. and M. Co., Limited, 121 Church street, Toronto. Send for Book on Asthma.

IN POTATO SACK

Man Goes in a Freight
Car to Chicago.

CONFINED 84 HOURS IN JOUR-
NEY OF ABOUT 700 MILES.

Won Bet of $300, but Nearly
Died in So Doing.

Chicago, March 14.—Billed as a sack of potatoes, a young man has arrived in Chicago from Kansas City, tied up in a sack. For three days and a half he had been confined in the sack, and during that time he had travelled close to 700 miles in a freight car. The sack which covered him was inclosed in an open fruit case.

The traveler, who is Martin J. Klansdigger, a machinist of Kansas City, was nearly famished when he was cut from his prison at the Chicago and North-western freight house by a friend, who had been waiting for a day and a half in the city for him.

Klansdigger began his journey with only a quart of water and two pounds of crackers in the sack with him, this being a condition of the wager of $300 which caused him to make the perilous trip.

When released Klansdigger was nearly blinded by the dust which had crept into the sack, and his throat and mouth were so parched that he could hardly speak, his little cask of water having been spilled after he had been on his journey only a day.

For nearly three days he had been without water and he stated when he was able to talk that had it not rained Wednesday he would certainly have died of thirst. During most of the storm the car in which he was packed was side-tracked out in some small country town and the water came through a crack in the roof and fell on the sack.

The burlap became quite wet and he was thus enabled to suck from the cloth a few drops, which allayed his thirst.

MAORIS OF NEW ZEALAND.

Efforts That Are Being Made to Save the Race—What the Scheme of Gov. and Lady Ramurly Is—Girls' School.

Considerable progress is being made in connection with the movement for providing a school for Maori girls. His Excellency the Governor and Lady Ramurly have, in furtherance of the scheme, recently had a most interesting gathering in the ballroom at Government House, Wellington. At the end of the room was a group of Maori chiefs, the dark faces and grizzled heads forming a picturesque dado round the gleaming amber colored walls. To some of the chiefs present their surroundings must have been strange, though they never lost their self-possession of dignity, and their eyes never wandered down the rows of people in idle curiosity. A few of them carried meros or clubs. The Governor, in a short opening speech, impressed on his hearers the necessity of educating the Maori girls, the future wives and mothers of the race. Among the more prominent items of the program was a Maori song by the chiefs. Then the Rev. F. Bennett (one of the native race), who is devoting himself to this crusade, addressed the gathering. In picturesque metaphor he showed the necessity of aiding the Maori to-day, who, if official returns are to be believed, and no aid comes from their white brothers, are dying as a race. In speaking about the question of dress, Mr. Bennett told a humorous tale of an old Maori who came to a northern town from a village some miles away, one hot summer's day. He had a little money and wanted to buy European clothes in the store. He stood puzzled by the choice of raiment. At last his gaze fell on a yellow oil-skin coat, gay with red flannel linings. To this he added a comforter and a sou'-wester, and, thus attired, strutted in the sunshine outside, his bare legs showing below the coat. All day he showed off his finery in the streets, but in the evening Mr. Bennett found him sitting outside a hut with nothing but a shawl twisted round his waist. "Where are your clothes?" asked the clergyman. "Too hot; no good," said the old man.

In summer money is fairly plentiful with the Maoris, and the natives buy clothes and wear flannel and substantial materials. In winter when money is scarce, they are often reduced to straits, and their clothing is of the most flimsy nature. This causes great mortality. The little children especially suffer through the ignorance of their mothers, and Mr. Bennett gave many sad instances where a knowledge of diet and nursing would have saved the lives of the babies. In one district the poor Maori mothers were told flour was a good food for infants. Probably baked flour was meant, but the women used it raw, mixed with water, and not one of the children survived.

Young Mr. Ngata, LL.B., a clever barrister, who is one of the lights of the Young Maori party, and who is a poet as well as a lawyer, next gave a recitation, an extraordinary and fascinating poem, whose rhythm was perfect. It was a description of the effect of an old war haka on the modern Maori. It was a magnificent piece of elocution.—Pall Mall Gazette.

Apple Trees in Tasmania.

Tasmanians plant apple trees close together. The average orchard is set out ten feet apart instead of twenty or forty feet, and as much as 600 bushels are sometimes gathered from a single acre.
