BOIESTOWN.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)

July 15.—A very pleasant entertainment was given in the Baptist church on Thursday evening. The programme consisted of readings by Miss Florence Rodgers, St. John; also solo by Miss Beatrice Hoskins, duett by Misses B. A. Hoskins and Jean Norrad, trio by Misses Jean and Marguerite Norrad and B. A. Hoskins also several choruses by choir, and address by Pastor Rev. Geo. Bolster.

The Forester picnic held in our town July 9th proved a grand success. The weather was good and although there were no excursions, yet a large number were present, the little city was looking its best, and a good time was spent by all.

The majority of our young people attended the picnic at Stanley July 1st, and although the rain poured in torrents, the picnic was a grand success.

Arthur Wayne of St. John is visiting at the homes of Beniah and Joseph Norrad. Mr. Maxon of Southampton is also a guest at the latter home.

Our little village has indeed become a veritable summer resort. Every day brings new sportsmen to its river banks, who evidently enjoy their holiday to the utmost, for although the mosquitoes are plentiful at one end of the fishing pole, the fish are plentiful at the other, and when the two bites are simultaneous, the fishermen heroically grin and bear it.

Miss Martha Fairley of Brainerd, Minn. is the guest of her brother J. S. Fairley.

H. H. Gunter has traded his trotter Chief, for D. Lynch's fast horse, much to the regret of his son, who fears that so fiery a steed may severely test the muscular strength of his fair companion who always holds the reins.

UPPER QUEENSBURY.

(Special correspondence to the Herald.)

July 14.—We are having some very nice weather of late and the farmers are now busily engaged hoeing.

A number of men who are rafting the Lawrence lumber on the shores of D. C. Parent are boarding at Upper Queensbury Hotel.

Rumor says that Ernest Hazelton, who has had charge of the Cream Separator Agency, in this locality, after a very successful season, will shortly hand over the business to Mr. Everett, the manager.

Roy Hagerman is driving the milk cart from this place.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Parent are now visiting relatives at Woodstock.

Our school examination which came off the latter part of June, was a complete success and pleased both parents and pupils alike. This speaks well for the teacher, Miss Clara McCollough.

The government road plough (lately a purchase of A. C. Whitehead, the Massey Harris agent) was at work in this district last week and gave excellent satisfaction.

Mr. Byron McNally of Lower Line, Queensbury, passed through this place last Saturday buying cattle.

The Misses Hilda and Hazel Mannel of Woodstock are spending a few weeks with their friend, Miss Augusta Coy.

Mrs. James Huestis is visiting friends at Keswick Ridge.

Joshua Morse, of Waterville, was in this place last Sunday, accompanied by his friend, William Hall, of Pokiok.

Miss Mary McDowell, of Allandale, accompanied by her friend, Miss Largee, of Boston, spent last week with their many friends in this place.

David Thornton, of Southampton, who is running a meat cart this summer, passed through this place a few days ago.

Herbert Ingraham is the owner of a fine driving horse, and it is pronounced a roarer by all who drive behind it.

We are pleased to say that our sick are all improving.

BLOOMFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)

July 14. James McClellan is putting up a new barn, he had two large barns but he thinks with the addition of the new one he will have to stack out. The outlook of the crops a short time ago was poor, but it will be the largest hay and grain crops for years.

The Boiestown picnic was a grand affair the best we ever attended. Mrs. H. Bloodwash and Mrs. Samuel Greer had charge of the cookery department, and the tables fairly groaned under the weight of good things. The horse race was hotly contested, D. McLeod's horse winning first heat and Welley Gunter's winning second.

Adam Currie is putting up a very pretty cottage, William Hinchey is building a new house and John G. Swan is finishing his new cottage.

The new bridges are completed and the commissioners are putting the roads in first class shape, thanks to the government. Duncan L. Kelly, with ten men and team, is repairing the road between Green Hill and Bloomfield and is doing good work. Mr. Kelly is the right man in the right place.

Lambs are in good demand. Thomas Boies, sr, was here buying for Mr. McDonald, when John McGivney of Stanley came along with $1,500 and cornered the market. He bought about 200 lambs and all the beef cattle he could get, and paid a high price. Mr. McGivney is an honest man to deal with, and leaves a lot of money here every year among the farmers. Mr. McGivney takes his first drove of 75 lambs in a few days.

The Miramichi River is alive with salmon. You can't cast a fly for a trout but it is sure to be taken by a salmon.

A school teacher that taught at Lower Southampton and is here on a visit, came very near being dragged into the river. She cast her fly for trout and it was taken by a big salmon which took to midstream, but the plucky teacher held on and landed her fish high and dry.

There are several parties in the woods logging; the McCoy Brothers of Hayesville had a party on Rocky Brook, and the Lynch Brothers have crews, also Wm. Richards & Co., Limited.

WOODSTOCK.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)

July 10.—The warm weather is most welcome and the crops and hay on dry ground are looking well. The farmers will commence haying about the 20th in this vicinity.

The smallpox outbreak in the village of Grafton is dying out and the quarantine is being removed from most of the houses. They were very mild cases.

The Woodstock Field Battery under command of Capt. Carvell, R. C., broke camp last Saturday after a most successful 12 days drill. The officers were Capt. Carvell, Surgeon Major Maud, Lieut. Fields, Lieut. Gray, Lieut. Kirkpatrick, 67th Regt attached, and V. S. Lieut. Pagley. The battery was up to strength with a good staff of N. C. officers. The corps was inspected by Col. Butterford, who expressed himself as well pleased with the general appearance of the corps.

The Brighton Engineers under the command of Major Tompkins are in camp at Florenceville. Lieuts. Neville and Carr are present. The corps is up to strength.

A deer was seen on one of our most public streets early last Sunday morning. The excursion to Plaster Rock under the auspices of the Free Baptist church last Wednesday was well patronized and a most enjoyable time was spent by all who participated.

July 14.—Saturday was a great day among the Orangemen up this way. There was a procession in Hartland and one in Houlton, Me. Hundreds went over with teams to the latter town and many hundreds more went by train. Outside of the procession, which was headed by the Houlton band, there was little else to see. Royal weather favored the occasion.

The races which were to come off at Bristol July 1st under the auspices of Gallagher Bros., came off July 8th under more favorable circumstances. A good many went up from Woodstock to see the sport. Over eleven hundred adults and many children paid their admission at the gates. The whole affair was most successful.

Our new hospital is well under way and is expected to be open for the admission of patients in a short time. Miss F. A. Bull and Miss Annie Rose, both graduate nurses, are to be the staff of nurses for a beginning.

The Woodstock Cornet Band was re-organized last week under the tutelage of Prof. Dixon, an old army bandman, who at one time led the band of the 71st Regt. Many of the old hands and some new ones were at the re-organization and it should be only a short time before they make their appearance in public.

PLEASANT VALLEY.

(Special Correspondence to the Herald.)

July 11.—The weather has been very rainy for the past and the farmers can hardly catch a fine day to do their hoeing.

The residence of Daniel Reid, of Wellington, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday last. Mr. and Mrs. Reid and their son Peter were away and there was no one at home but Mrs. Peter Reid and her two small children. Before help could get there the house and all that was in it was burned to the ground. Mr. Reid's loss is heavy as there was no insurance. The cause of the fire is not known.

Mrs. Mary A. Ross, of Monticello, Me., is visiting friends here, at Tay and Covered Bridge.

INVESTING IN INSURANCE.

Toronto, July 9.—A great deal of interest is being taken in this city in the flotation of the shares of the new Sovereign Life Assurance Company, which was launched in Toronto recently with a surprisingly representative board of directors and which has now passed successfully through the first stages of its organization. The company is the outcome of the agitation which began at the capital shortly before the sessions closed upon the subject of the investment by Canadians in American securities, and the consequent deprivation from the country of a large portion of its capital. In spite of the fact that a great percentage of the premiums on life insurance policies taken out in this country went to American corporations, the Canadian companies engaged in this class of business were yearly returning a large profit on the capital invested, prompted the organization of the new company. The backing which the company is known to have caused a ready demand for $100, shares of stock at a premium of 25 per cent.

The directorate announce that there will be but one call of twenty five per cent on the stock. Among the prominent directors are: Thomas Dunnet, Esq., Robert E. Manzie, Esq., James Granville, Esq., John T. Hornbrook, Esq., Edmund E. Sheppard, Esq., Addison H. Hoover, Esq., all of Toronto, Senator Peter McSweeney, Moncton, N. B., James Dixon, Esq., Hamilton, Ont., Walter Scott, Esq., Regina, N. W. T., Senator William Templeman, Victoria, B. C., E. Norman Spencer, Esq., London, Ont., Josiah B. King, Esq., Toronto, Ont., Alfred Gifford, Esq., Meaford, Ont., Edmund E. King, M.D., L.R.C.P., Toronto, Ont., William M. German, K.C., M.P., Welland, Ont., E. Gas Porter, Esq., M.P., Belleville, Ont.

THE COLONIAL PREMIERS.

Toronto, July 16.—The Telegram's cable from London says: "A banquet in honor of the colonial premiers was given at the National Liberal Club last night. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Sir Edmund Barton and Hon. Mr. Seddon were present."

Sir Wilfrid responded to the toast "Our Guests." He said no reform in the colonies had been so prolific of results as that of self-government. Touching on the question of free trade within the empire, Sir Wilfrid declared that the policy was impossible, local interests not being the same everywhere. It would be a great blessing if the empire united on a commercial policy, yet he doubted accomplishment of such a policy. The interests are too much diversified, he explained.

"Sir Edmund Barton, premier of Australia, declared the time for parchment bonds politically uniting the empire has not yet arrived. He was unable to see how such bonds could be made. Sir Edmund did not believe there could be any results from the conference."

"Hon. Mr. Seddon did not agree with the Australian premier. He thought their kinsfolk in Britain should be helped. Preferential trade, Mr. Seddon believed, should be carefully discussed. Manufacturers throughout the empire might be favored."

"Lloyds' register yesterday gave a lunch at their offices in honor of the colonial visitors and leading shipping owners. Sir William Mulock replied to the toast to prosperity of the colonies. He said marine insurance men in Britain do great injustice in making discrimination against Canadian waterways. Canada was determined her products should find markets through British ports. He wanted a committee of Lloyds to meet the Canadian ministers. He also suggested that there should be expenditures to improve ocean approaches to Canada by way of the St. Lawrence so that trade may not be handicapped."

HAVING A GOOD TIME.

For the first time in the history of Canada in England, the various Canadian provinces have come much to the front on the police occasions of the past few weeks in London. The various provincial premiers, Mr. Ross, Mr. Tweedie, Mr. Murray, Mr. Dunsmuir, Mr. Roblin and Mr. Houlton have been entertained, as have the Dominion Ministers, here, there and everywhere, given social honors of a very high order. Among the interesting functions of the week have moreover, been a garden party given by the Agent-General for New Brunswick, and Mrs. Daff-Miller, at 9 Warwick Square to meet the New Brunswick Premier and Colonel Pellat and the officers of the Canadian contingent and a reception by the Agent-General of Nova Scotia, and Mrs. Howard, at their house in Pall Mall.

A Wonderful Tonic and Strengthner.

Said a druggist to-day, "No doubt about it, the tonic that gives best results is the biggest seller, and that is Ferrozone. It enriches and purifies the blood, restores strength and energy to the feeble and is a scientific reconstructor that was always popular. In Chlorosis, Anaemia, Tiredness, Langour, Brain Fag, Indigestion and Dyspepsia its action is prompt and satisfactory cures always follow. Yes, I recommend Ferrozone to my customers because I believe it is the best tonic and strengthening medicine that money can buy." Large boxes cost 50c. Sold by C. A. Burchill.

A married man never realizes how much wealth there is in a family until he sees the number and variety of things that his wife insists on packing up to take away on the summer vacation.

A DAINTY BIT.

There's a Whole Lot in This Paragraph by the Lady Gay.

The professor thus writes: "When I was young, I saw that there were two aims in life—what one can 'enjoy' and what one can 'do.' The former is the usual aim of man, and perhaps rightly so, but I chose the latter. The world hasn't accepted my mission, and I haven't enough worldliness (that combination of smartness, bounce and slowness) to make it accept what it does not want. I have no taste for pottering. Life is earnest, and I wish to do everything in the best way attainable. I can't even play games because they aren't in earnest."

Now, I am hearing you say, what a prig of a man! And yet never in a varied experience have I met one who knew so many things perfectly and who could tell one so much in perfect clarity and unforgettability. In an exquisite nook of the garden land of England he wrote that he had worked so earnestly without appreciation, and wished for my "jovial spirit" of don't care. And while he wrote, the wise heads of one of the famous universities—maybe the most famous, if you knew—were remarking that my professor was so in earnest, so devoted, so thorough, that a vacancy about to occur must be filled best by him. And so to-day comes a brilliant little letter across the seas, modestly, almost unwillingly telling of his appointment, and it does make that long letter of patient submission to being unrecognized look like much less than thirty cents. And, I wonder, should kind fortune send me over to England some day soon, if my professor will be as ready for a bicycle run and tea in some quaint cottage, and Handel bits on his queer and beautiful harpsichord, and many a merry laugh at Canadian-English nonsense, as before the mantle of great honor encircled him. Why do I call him "my" professor? Well, he has been for a quarter of a century the most congenial friend I ever made, and a sort of squatter's right seems in order. One has so few Platonics nowadays!—Lady Gay in Saturday Night.

Experiences of Priests.

Here are a few samples of the absurdities arising out of the extreme simplicity of some Irish folk.

A young man came to confess to an Irish priest in London whose experiences of the horrors of his fellow-countrymen would fill a book. "Well, my man," said the priest, "and how do you earn your living?" "I'm a acrobat, your reverence." The priest was nonplussed. "I'll show ye what I mean in a brace of shakes," said the penitent, and in a moment was turning himself inside out in the most approved acrobatic fashion in and out of the pews.

An old woman who had followed him to confession looked on horrified. "When it comes to my turn, father," she gasped, "for the love of God don't put a penance on me like that; it 'ud be the death of me!"

I think it was the same good father who, observing the regular attendance at a Lent mission had done nothing to reform one of his parishioners, told him so, and asked him the reason of it. "Ah! father," he replied, "I can manage the faith right enough, but the morals bate me!"

On another occasion this priest was called upon to marry a man of whom he knew nothing to a girl of his congregation. On investigation he found the would-be bridegroom's knowledge of the Catholic faith very limited.

"Have you ever been baptized?" he asked. "Well, father, I can't trust me memory to that." "Are your parents living?" "The mother is." "Let's have her address." This was given, and a telegram despatched to the old lady on the spot, reply paid. The answer came in due course: "Vaccinated, but not baptized."—A Kerry Man in London Spectator.

Paint and Soap Mines.

A natural soap mine and a paint mine are two of the latest mineral discoveries in northwest Canada. Several soda lakes have been found in the foothills near Ashcroft, B.C. Their bottoms and shores are encrusted with a natural washing compound containing borax and soda. No two analyses agree exactly as to the composition of the material. A New York analysis gives 26 per cent. borax, while a Montreal chemist from the same sample gives 16 per cent. borax. Tests prove the substance to be equal to the washing powders in common use. Trials by blacksmiths and farm workmen show that it will remove grease and dirt better than soap. A syndicate of British Columbia men has been formed to put the product on the market. About 275 tons of the compound have been cut and taken out of the lake. It is handled precisely as ice is handled. The blocks are more than nine inches in thickness, are sawed into pieces of fifteen and eighteen inches and weigh fifty pounds each.

Squashes require rich, well manured soil.
