PUBLIC CHAMPIONS.

Dr. Pugsley, Col. McLean and Mr. F. B. Carvell seem to have scored heavily against the Conservative members from this province when the items for public works for New Brunswick were being voted Thursday night in the House of Commons.

Dr. Daniel and Mr. Crockett undertook to make some criticisms, but were apparently neatly tripped at every point, retiring in confusion, not, however, before the St. John M. P. was constrained to endorse Dr. Pugsley's policy as to wharf building on New Brunswick tidal rivers.

Mr. Crockett was taken to task for his anti-election attacks on the survey of the St. John river between this city and Woodstock, and Mr. Carvell made good use of the opportunity to show up the unfairness of the York M. P.

Dr. Pugsley's estimates relating to this province were run through in record time, and a feature of the discussion was the maiden speech of Col. McLean, who successfully supported the Minister of Public Works in his efforts to give much needed wharf accommodation at important points on the St. John river. Sunbury-Queens has now a live M. P., who makes it his special business to look after the interests of his constituency, and whose influence is felt and respected by the government and in parliament.

AN INNOVATION.

During their triumphant tour of Scotland, which has just been concluded by the Canadian curlers, they were everywhere received with the greatest enthusiasm and a display of hospitality that is characteristic of the warm-hearted Scottish people. Receptions, banquets, motor car tours to interesting historical points filled up all the time the Canadians could give to pleasure, for they were busy almost every day defeating the crack clubs of Scotland.

The Canadians won all the matches they played except two, and their defeats were achieved before they were entirely separated themselves from their sea legs.

Lieut. Governor Fraser of Nova Scotia, seems to have been the life of the party, the brunt of the speaking at the banquet and receptions fell upon his ample shoulders, and he acquitted himself to the entire satisfaction of his fellow Canadians, and made himself a persona grata with the Scottish people with whom he was thrown into contact.

Governor Fraser told many witty stories in his addresses, made his audiences laugh, but at the close of the tour he was a participant in a more serious function than a gala Scotch banquet.

A Glasgow despatch says:

On Saturday a party of Canadian curlers motored to Dirlerton, where they were the guests for the weekend of Rev. John Kerr. On Sunday they attended service in the parish church, and Mr. Kerr emphasized the occasion by talking about the warmth of the welcome that had been given them by Scotland. He said that Lieutenant Governor Fraser had done praiseworthy service. He had showed that the game of curling tendered greatly to foster a spirit of friendship and benevolence. It was particularly free from every form of vice, no betting or gambling being connected with it. It had also a great levelling influence, peer and peasant being alike on the ice. In the name of the churches of Scotland and of its curlers, he thanked the Canadians for the good they had done by coming over.

Then there followed something unusual—probably unique in Scottish church services. Lieutenant Governor Fraser—a member of the congregation for the time being—made a speech. No one except officiating clergymen have ever before spoken formally in the course of an ordinary Scottish church service. But Mr. Kerr is unconventional, and the occasion was exceptional. Mr. Fraser said the Canadians had been appreciated in Scotland far beyond what they had anticipated. They were enjoying their curling, but they were also learning much of the manliness and fairness of those whom they met. All had displayed a fine spirit of friendly rivalry, without any indication whatever that getting the advantage of opponents was the sole object of their play. He counselled them to do likewise in the contest of life, to take no unfair advantage of their fellowmen, and to do their best, showing no envy should they be surpassed. It was a fine bit of eloquence, worthy of the place and the occasion.

CURRENT COMMENT.

The Bond government of Newfoundland, has resigned, and Sir Edward Morris is forming a new ministry.

Fredericton does not seem to be in it for the Dominion exhibition grant of 1910. It happens to be our off year for an exhibition.

When Mrs. Hetty Green of New York, dies, her daughter will have an income of about $5,000 a day. Mr. Wilks, the Canadian who married Miss Green a few days ago, is himself worth about $2,000,000.

The province of Saskatchewan is negotiating with the Bell Telephone company with the objects of buying out the latter's franchises and other property in the western province, thus following Alberta's and Manitoba's lead.

An Ottawa despatch to the Globe says that the position of superintendent of Dominion public works in New Brunswick, vacated by the recent death of Mr. W. J. McCordock, of St. John, is likely to go to Mr. G. G. Scovil, ex-M.P.P. for Kings.

The Alberta legislature has passed a measure which is expected to result in a great era of railway building in that progressive province. It guarantees bonds to the amount of nearly $28,000,000, and covers new railway enterprises totalling 1,681 miles.

Rev. Clarence McKinnon of Winnipeg, is to be the new president of the Presbyterian College at Halifax. His acceptance is in the hands of the College Board. Recently Mr. McKinnon declined a call to a Toronto church, which offered him a $3,500 salary and an assistant.

Chatham World: The Fredericton police magistrate has fined the C.P.R. railway station agent in that town $50 for bringing liquor into the county. That may be good law, but it sounds very silly, as the station agent had nothing whatever to do with the bringing of the liquor into the county. He received and placed in the freight shed, in the performance of his duties, a number of packages that were subsequently discovered to be liquor.

Apparently Chatham stands a good chance of securing the Dominion exhibition grant of $50,000 for next year, over its competitor St. John. The fact has developed that a majority of the New Brunswick Liberal members favor Chatham, and Dr. Pugsley has stated that while he will cast his individual vote for his own constituency, the voice of the majority of the Liberal M. P.'s will rule, subject possibly to the judgment of the Minister of Agriculture, who it is said will likely send a special representative to see what accommodation the North Shore can offer for exhibition visitors.

Mr. Hazen and his political friends have ceased their efforts to get control of the St. John Sun, and are purchasing a plant to renew publication of the Standard, issued as a campaign sheet during the recent federal election. It will take a lot of cash and hard labor to establish the new paper in a field already fully occupied, and Mr. Hazen will scarcely have it going until some time after the legislative opening.

The Chatham World complains because "Fredericton has four representatives at the New York Sportsmen's show, and the county of Northumberland only three." As a matter of fact Fredericton has really no representative at the show, although one of the guides who hunts in Restigouche resides here a part of the year, and not one of the representatives has his hunting territory in York. The World therefore has no reason to kick at an over-representation from this part of the province.

FATHER GAVE BLOOD TO SAVE HIS BABY.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 25.—Columbus relatives and friends of Charles Mead, formerly of Ohio State University this city, but now an assistant in the department of zoology at Columbia University, have just learned of a remarkable operation of transfusion of blood performed in New York a month ago.

Dr. Roy McClure, of Columbus, a classmate of Mr. Mead at Ohio State University and a lifelong friend, assisted in the operation. He confirmed the story upon his return today.

A child was born to Mr. and Mrs. Mead four weeks ago. When the late was three days old it weighed only four and one-half pounds, and was so weakened by hemorrhages that it was decided transfusion was the only means of saving its life. Mr. Mead promptly consented to the operation. A cut four inches long was made in his left arm near the radial artery from which blood was taken. The blood was introduced to the body of the babe through the left temporal vein. A great deal of the blood was lost in the operation, but enough was transfused to put the babe on the road half pounds and it probably will live.

We make the claim to be the best dry cleaners in town—and dry cleaning is now the correct way to clean garments without doing them the slightest injury. We are patronized by the most particular people, who have found to their satisfaction that our work is all we claim it to be and that we are prompt and thorough in executing orders, and very reasonable in our prices. Hence our popularity.

Furs of all kinds cleaned by this process.
